Summer At Home- MAKE IT GREAT!

Summer Vacation Projects for Kids

Here are some ideas to help kids busy in the summer.

- Learn to ride a bike, roller skate or skate board...
- Create a family picture wall diary of the summer on a big sheet on the wall to which drawings of summer activities can be constantly added.
- Start a nature collection e.g. shells, stones.
- Build a playhouse from salvaged wood & decorate it
- Raise caterpillars and watch them transform into butterflies
- Raise tadpoles and watch them transform into frogs
- Create a summer long scavenger hunt
- Start a business selling cookies, lemonade, crafts
- Raise money for a local charity... set a target to hit and try and beat it
- Hold a kids jumble sale encouraging kids to swap the toys they no longer want
- Research family tree by talking to grandparents
- Create a star chart of what can be seen across the summer from your house
- Keep a nature journal... recording all the creatures and plants seen
- Volunteer for someone elderly throughout the summer e.g. watering plants, helping pick up shopping

Tips For Hiring the Best Roofer for Your Home

Tip #1: Take Your Time
It may seem completely counterintuitive, especially if your home is critically damaged as a result of severe weather, but it's a good idea to talk to a few roofing professionals. In the event of storm damage, be sure to contact your insurance company first to get your claim started, ask for recommendations, and make an informed decision.

Tip #2: Get Recommendations
It pays to know thy neighbor, because you can learn from their successes and failures. While you're at it, find out not only who they ultimately used for the work and why they chose that roofing contractor, but also who else they considered for the project.

Tip #3: Meet Your Roofer (and Ask Lots of Questions)
If, like many homeowners, you have decided on a new metal roof, make sure that your candidates have ample experience installing metal roofing systems. Be sure to ask about factory certifications, metal roofing installation methods, and find out what they do to ensure a watertight fit. A contractor should be able to communicate easily and clearly, articulate his or her ideas for the project and give examples of work they've done on similar projects.

Tip #4: Get Bids
Compare bids carefully, knowing that they probably won't all line up perfectly. It's likely that you'll have questions about your bids after receiving them, so don't be bashful; ask questions and look for clarification. Weigh the pros and cons of each estimate, double-check recommendations, and then schedule your work.

Tip #5: Get it in Writing
A handshake is nice, but a contract is better. A good contract from a reputable roofer will include the scope of work, a clear notice provision, duration of job, total cost, product and material list, permits, warranties, payment arrangements, license number, and named parties.

Tip #6: Understand Your Payment Options
Make sure that the payment schedule is clear and that your payment options are agreed upon. On a typical re-roofing or repair, expect to pay an initial deposit, a second payment when the roofing materials are delivered, then a final payment upon job completion and final inspection.

Summer At Home - MAKE IT GREAT!

Helpful Gardening Tips

- Snip off the old flower clusters from rambler roses to encourage them to bloom all summer.
- Water deeply in the morning and avoid light sprinklings. Water at the roots.
- Start herbs such as parsley, dill, and basil in pots for indoor use over the winter.
- Harvest tomatoes, zucchini, beans, and other fruiting crops frequently to encourage production and avoid attracting pests.
- Slugs? Put out shallow dishes of beer; handpick in the early morning. Also, deter with eggshells and other sharp objects.
- Prevent weeds from seeding. Pull weeds as they grow and use mulch in your flower beds to prevent them from sprouting.
- Remove tomato suckers to keep the energy focused on the fruit on main branches.
- Lightly fertilize long-season plants, such as onions, tomatoes, and peppers, to help encourage growth.
- Newly planted trees and shrubs need one to two thorough soakings per week and lawns need 1 to 1.5 inches of water per week. Soak, don't sprinkle.
- Remove any dead flowers from your annuals and perennials to encourage new growth.
- Garlic and onions are ready when their tops start to bend over. Remove their tops after they've dried for a couple weeks and store in a cool place.
- Plant iris and daylilies. Prepare soil now for fall planting.
- Dig up and divide crowded spring-blooming bulbs whenever they are dormant.

Summer At Home - MAKE IT GREAT!

Summer Home Improvement Tips

Focus on your windows

There's nothing like a great summer storm through a big picture window. And there is no better time than summer to invest in new windows to keep out the cold in winter and minimize heat in the summer — or just expand your view all around.

Think Shade

A super-hot summer can leave your patio and barbecue areas neglected. Consider using the summer months to plant new trees in strategic places that will afford you some great natural shade at some point down the road. Shading devices come in so many shapes and colors, so you can embrace your own style and keep things cool.

Prepare for winter

Any large-scale construction jobs are best done in the summer months for a lot of obvious reasons. Whatever grievances you have — from the leaky roof at the last big spring rain to that room that you can't live without — break ground on those improvements in the summer.

Repaving

Summer is definitely the time to repave your driveway. It's just a generally bad idea to repave when it's raining or snowing." Summer is also the time to do work to any walkways on your property.

Refinish outdoor surfaces

A beautiful gloss to a wooden deck will not only protect it, but make it look like new. Summer is the time to re-oil wood, refinish the deck, or just scrape off old paint and repaint. These are projects that are easy do-it-yourselfers, and are best accomplished, and then enjoyed, in the summer months.

Design-Build Landscape Services

Jeff Garrett had a dream to own his own landscape business and 3 years ago he made it happen. Having been in landscaping for 13 years, he has gained practical knowledge and experience about the industry. He loves bringing an idea to reality and the gratitude customers have for making their vision for their yard or outdoor space come to life.

Jeff is a 2007 Alma High School graduate and in his spare time he stays busy snowmobiling and fishing. He and his wife Kelsey Garrett (Cleveland) are expecting their first child in the fall.

He would like to extend his knowledge and work ethic to the people of the Alma area, where he grew up. Working with residential and commercial customers, Jeff is always willing to give free estimates on any outdoor project.

Please give him a call today and let him help you make your outdoor space something to be enjoyed for years to come.
