Great summer weekend with Palisade Riverfest celebration

By ANN SCHWARTZ

The little hamlet of Palisade came alive with Riverfest on August 11 and 12.

Saturday saw beanbag and horseshoe tournaments, mud volleyball, a bake sale, a parade down the main street, Kids Tractor Pull, Back to School Bash, vision screening, music, kiss the pig, hot dog eating contest, beer garden and more.

Sunday there was a walk for diabetes and the Lakes Area Firefighters Competition in Berglund Park.

Four area departments competed in the Lakes Area Firefighters Competition held in Palisade on August 12.

Cuyuna took first; Aitkin, second; McGregor third followed by Palisade. Josh Spolarich of Palisade won the Ultimate Firefighter runoff. Over 300 spectators enjoyed the show.

New child support law reflects parenting expenses more accurately

A new law, that took effect August 1, could help thousands of families who have a child support order that includes parenting time. The new parenting expense adjustment law uses a new formula to change how courts adjust basic child support for parenting time expenses based on the number of court-ordered overnights parents spend with their children. The new law helps reduce conflict between parents over parenting time, acknowledges increased parenting time means increased expenses, and recognizes a child's need to have the "basics" in both homes. Child support orders will not change automatically because of this new law, so parents must take action, if they want to pursue an adjustment. Depending on how their existing court order determines parenting time, parents interested in pursuing a change must file a motion or petition with the court. They can also call their county child support office for more information about how the new adjustment could affect their child support. The court may modify child support if the new amount is a least $75 and 20 percent higher or lower than the existing order. "This change in the law provides for a better calculation for parents that have court-ordered parenting time," said Karen Holt, Crow Wing County Child Support Supervisor, "and it allows for and acknowledges actual time spent with each parent. This change will affect each case differently. Parents may want to make use of the online child support calculator before seeking any formal change to their order." "Crow Wing County child support officers work closely with our county attorney's office and benefits children by enforcing parental responsibility for their support", said Sheila Skogen, Crow Wing County Operations Manager. "Both have worked closely with the state through various community forums and workgroups in an attempt to solve some of the most difficult child support issues, such as this parenting time adjustment". County and State child support offices provided services to almost 346,000 parents and their 240,000 children in 217,000 cases in federal fiscal year 2017. This new law is likely to affect at least 38,000 of these cases and possibly more depending on the details of the additional cases. Crow Wing County Child Support serves 3391 cases and collected 8.3 million in child support in federal fiscal year 2017.

DNR predicts challenging harvest season this year for wild rice

Wild rice harvesting season is open until Sept. 30 and wildlife managers from the Minnesota Department of Natural Resources say it's shaping up to be a challenging harvest season.

More than 1,200 lakes and rivers in 54 counties contain wild rice, with concentrations of rice being the highest in Aitkin, Cass, Crow Wing, Itasca and St. Louis counties. But harvestable stands of rice can be found from the Canadian border down to the metro area. "This year, wild rice conditions are variable across much of the state," said Ann Geisen, DNR wildlife lake specialist. "In some parts of the state, rice stands are poor due to lots of rain and flooding. But in other parts of the state, the rice is looking really good. Harvesters who spend some time scouting waters for harvesting will probably have the best success." Peak harvesting dates are estimated to be in late August to early September as long as weather remains mild and dry. Like other forms of gathering, finding a mentor who is willing to share skills and knowledge can greatly improve success. Scouting lakes ahead of time can also be very helpful for finding harvestable stands of rice and locating access sites. Minnesota's green rice law makes it illegal to harvest unripe or "green" rice. So even though rice beds may look like they are maturing well, ricers must make sure the grain is ripe before attempting to harvest it. With many rice beds impacted by storms, harvesters will need to take extra care this year to make sure they are not harvesting too early and damaging the limited rice stands that remain. Aitkin – Several large rain storms hit the area in June and July, drowning out or uprooting beds on many lakes and rivers. Some popular harvesting spots were completely washed out or severely impacted. Lakes with harvestable stands are limited this year, so pre-harvest scouting is highly recommended. Brainerd – Several scattered large rain storms this summer impacted many rice beds and resulted in overall rice production fair to below average for the area. Scouting will be key for harvesters as some rice beds were entirely wiped out by rains, and others may not be ideal for harvesting because rice stalks will not be high enough out of the water. Cloquet – The wild rice crop is expected to be average to below average throughout southern St. Louis County, all of Carlton County and the northern part of Pine County. The southern part of Pine County is expected to be below average to very poor due to multiple floods. Much of the area has had abundant rain and flooding in June and July. Grand Rapids – Rice conditions are very spotty. Isolated thunderstorms in July dropped considerable rain that caused water levels to fluctuate quickly, uprooting rice plants on some rice beds. If the high water levels drop quickly, rice will be in danger of falling over. Pre-season rice scouting will be necessary to assess rice conditions.

A license is required to harvest wild rice, unless a harvester is a Minnesota resident age 17 or younger and is accompanied by a licensed harvester. Wild rice harvesting regulations are available at mndnr.gov/wildrice with management and harvesting information at mndnr.gov/wildlife/shallowlakes/wildrice.html

Those interested in harvesting wild rice are reminded that it is unlawful to take wild rice grain from any of the waters within the original boundaries of the White Earth, Leech Lake, Nett Lake, Vermilion Lake, Grand Portage, Fond du Lac and Mille Lacs reservations except for American Indians or residents of the reservations listed. The Tribal websites have more information about which rice lakes are within the reservation boundaries.

Crosby citizens — you are the boss

The city council and Mayor of Crosby have a real dilemma on their hands, with the arbitration report, BMS Case No.17-PA-0260 finding the police leadership lied, altering evidence by adding three paragraphs that were not on the original document submitted as evidence, using interview techniques for criminals on their own officers, distorting the truth, failing the city through a prejudiced and biased investigation, and making it virtually impossible for the council to pass fair judgement. These facts are partly what make the police leadership Brady/

Giglio officers. Their continued employment is destructive, their honesty and integrity will forever be called into question. Firing these officers is commonly accepted by most courts. Their continued employment may require disclosure of their Brady/Giglio status to prosecuting attorneys and their names added to the Brady/Giglio list. The current council is under the impression this is a good situation. They must protect the other officers in the PD from continued exposure to this leadership. As citizens, you're the boss of the council and mayor, call for the immediate termination of the two who lied, you protect their careers. The police leadership, threw them, and you, under the bus. They chose to destroy their entire careers and can no longer be trusted. Good leaders recognize their failure and resign with pride, others, who don't possess the moral fortitude to, have to be fired. Don't forget the council members and mayor you get to vote out in November, vote for people who will protect your city and officers from failed leadership. Kelly Avelsgard, Deerwood Concerned Observer
