Reid Hillview Airport hosts Hot San Jose Nights charity event

Free nostalgic cars, aeronautics and military history show helped children learn about careers

By Kevin Larsen
Times Staff Writer

A large enthusiastic crowd attended Hot San Jose Nights 10th annual charity car and airplane show at Reid-Hillview Airport on Sat., September 8th.

The event focuses on charity and giving back to the community with a very large dedicated group of volunteers to make it happen.

Cars were parked everywhere and throngs of people walked to the entrance just next to the San Jose Little League field off of Capital Expressway.

The event is a labor of love given by all who donate their time and effort, like no other event in San Jose history.

Always evolving, this year the wonderful addition was the focus on S.T.E.A.M. that was seen in all booths and presentations. This acronym is big in schools right now for it helps the children understand that art is a part of science, technology, engineering and math.

The event name goes way back and has evolved to meet the needs of the ever changing community to take place in the breezy days of September during the morning and afternoon.

Mike Hennessy, creator of this event, said it was the best family show of them all and guests were treated to cooler weather compared to last year's high temperature. "We don't make money on the event. We just want to promote education S.T.E.A.M. (Science, Technology, Engineering, See NIGHTS, page 12

Classroom air quality reviewed at Dove Hill Elementary School due to Cal OSHA complaint

Scrubbing completed in the classrooms during the summer

At the June 14, 2018 board meeting (item 9.2) it was stated in a letter from Superintendent Gomez to the school board that on February 16, 2018, "a complaint had been issued from Cal-OSHA."

The letter went on to state, "that a complaint had been filed alleging that the conditions of Dove Hill E.S. have violated safety orders found in Title 8 of the California Code of Regulations."

Four concerns were listed in the Cal-OSHA requested investigation.

At the same board meeting it was stated that "some classrooms were kind of "musty and stale." Some teachers were said to use oil based perfume in the classrooms.

Over the summer scrubbing was done in the classrooms. Testing has been completed, a report has been presented, and a follow up of testing may occur. "The consultant for the Evergreen School District wanted the classrooms lived in before testing again, to make sure we can make an apples to apples comparison," said Charles Crosby, communications director for the Evergreen School District.

It was stated that use of the Measure M Bond monies was used in the cleaning of the classrooms.

Special to the Times

Tonya Bailey is the new principal at Norwood Creek Elementary.

Bailey is no stranger to Evergreen where she began her career as a student teacher, and served in various capacities, from teacher, to administrator over the course of 17 years. "When the opportunity to return to this incredible district was available, I jumped at the chance to return home," she says. "I am grateful to be back in a place that I love."

Bailey returns to Evergreen from having served in the Oak Grove District where she was principal of Julia Baldwin School. In a recent round of school closures in that District, Baldwin was See PRINCIPAL, page 3 caught in the closure net, which happened to coincide with a new vacancy at Norwood – the timing turned out to be ideal for Norwood and ESD.

“We’re so thrilled to have Tonya back in Evergreen,” says ESD Superintendent Kathy Gomez. “Things couldn’t have worked out better in terms of timing and I know the families and staff at Norwood are going to love having her there for the upcoming school year.”

As it happens, Norwood was right where it all began for Bailey as a student teacher in the mid-90s. She followed that up with a stint as a teacher at Katherine Smith, Montgomery and Silver Oak. She was also a project specialist at Dove Hill, Assistant Principal at Silver Oak, Matsumoto, and LeyVa.

With a long Evergreen history, this new move feels like coming home. “I treasured the years I spent in Evergreen, because of the incredible leadership and high-quality instruction model,” Bailey notes. “I feel honored and blessed to be given the opportunity to serve in this capacity.”

For her first year at Norwood she is excited to build on the school-family partnerships that have been so crucial to the school’s success. “Norwood has a strong dedicated community and one key hope is to continue to strengthen the partnership between home and school in order to develop our students’ skills articulated in the ‘Profile of a Learner,’” she said.

Bailey brings with her a distinct leadership philosophy: To identify needed change, validate successes and guide our community to fulfill our vision with inspiration. “The bottom line is for our students to make gains toward academic excellence with 21st Century learning skills as productive, positive members of society.”

In the report done by HazMat Doc, eight recommendations were listed on page 27.

1. “...Classrooms should be given a good airing out...”

2. “...Use of oil based air fresheners should be suspended...”

3. “...Venilation system should be kept on ‘continuous flow’...”

4. “...HVAC systems should be examined to ensure that it is operating according to manufactures suggested capacity...”

5. “...HVAC filters should be replaced on a regular cycle...”

6. “... Housekeeping of the classrooms, while visually acceptable, could benefit from additional cleaning...”

7. “After all the classrooms have been given a thorough deep cleaning during the summer break of 2018, Classrooms 16 and 33 should be re-sampled to help assess if the detected anomalous Significant Mold Genera was caused by passive transference of the room occupants and/or carried through open doors/windows or if there actual concealed interior source.”

8. “ Although Classrooms K1, K2, 5,6,8,10,19,20, and 35 only indicated anomalous readings for Non-Significant Mold Genera, (Mold Genera with no history of infection in humans), the district may consider having the rooms re-sampled as well as after the summer break of 2018 deep cleaning, again to help access if the detected anomalous Non Significant Mold Genera was caused by passive transference of the room occupants and or carried in through open doors/windows or if there is actual concealed Interior source.”

Rose petals fall from the sky

By Kevin Larsen
Times staff writer

On a special Sunday, September 2, a parade float carried a Holy Book (Guru Granth Sahib) and devotion was shown by the Sikhs and others in the community to honor words of enlightenment at the Gurdwara on the Hill.

Little girls sang from parade floats with words that were 500 years old, singing, "Keep praying to God, God is one, serving us all."

A devout man and woman walked slightly ahead of the main parade float and sprinkled water in front of its path. They said, "it is to purify the way."

A wise woman

The event caused people to reflect upon their views of God and one woman fervently stated her personal truths saying, "Throughout the centuries those with deep religious convictions from all religions brought light to our world. They capture a powerful energy and one pure positive person who is connected to Source is more powerful than one million who are negative."

Her views were enlightening to many and she went on to state, "there is physical and non-physical energy and they work together. We all have the power to bring more and more light into our world."

An eleven year old named Jovan Singh Bains reflected while walking the parade route with his dad, "I feel proud. It's nice to see our religion get bigger with more people. Our president of the Gurdwara is nice and a good person. His name is Bob Dhillon. He goes to city politics and tells them who we are. His wisdom is strong."

A wise man

A man at the Gurdwara explained his view that, "The purpose of the parade is to unify all human beings as one. We are like drops of water merging into the ocean."

Flying metal bird

As the Guru Granth Sahib (Holy Book) was brought out and placed on the float to start the peace parade, a helicopter flying in the sky tilted, rocked, and maneuvered just above the float holding the Holy Book.

As a special respect and honor to Guru Grant Sahib, Jasvir Singh Powar (Jesse) along with others inside helicopter, scooped fresh scarlet rose petals into the breeze that carried them twirling and spinning down to the Holy float and the throngs of people below.

Message from the president of the Gurdwara on the Hill

"Ek Onkar - There is only one God, Sat Namm - His name is True or Truth. Truth fights with Falsehood all the time and always wins. Not fully grasping the above line makes us unable to recognize Truth even within ourselves which is the cause of all the problems in the world."

Bytes and Notes sing for a 20th anniversary celebration.

Amazing music in our neighborhood

By Frank Shortt
Times Staff Writer

Bytes And Notes, a family owned business has been providing music to the Evergreen Neighborhood for the past 21 years and still going strong.

Owners, Lewis and Ann-Marie Tecson, faced difficulties getting the funds to purchase the needed equipment to start a music studio at their residence. They were eventually able to purchase a piano, speakers, microphones, etc. and eventually were able to convert a part of their home into a well-outfitted studio. Bytes and Notes now have a staff of 10 teachers and staff.

Ann-Marie relates, "We chose to open a home-based music studio because it allowed our students to be comfortable and welcomed everyone into our family and into our home."

"When we first came to the Bay Area from the Philippines, it was Lewis' idea that we start a music studio and tap into our passions. I loved music and had teaching experience and loved to hone talents and build strengths in others. Lewis' passion for computers and technology helped in getting the right equipment. He is still the technological force behind the effort."

Lewis and Ann-Marie both have Bachelor's degrees. Ann-Marie's is Bachelor of Music, with a Major in Music Education. Lewis' degree is Bachelor of Electronic and Communications Engineering.

Ann-Marie continues, "Our Bytes and Notes Chorale is composed of 30-36 students in voice. Most of them started with us when they were five years old, most are now in High School. Anthony Mine, Chorale Director, and I spearheaded the third Generation Chorale."

Evergreen School District exploring options to generate revenue including land swap

The Evergreen School District has been working with Terry Reality Consultants, with approval from board members, to explore swapping land for revenue generating properties as well as future exploration of leasing opportunities.

A report was presented by the hired consultant company to the Joint Facilities Advisory Committee of the school district. In the report all 18 school sites are reviewed and some schools have comments listed as to how potential land use might be initiated in the future. (The information is available on the Evergreen District website and going to PARENTS, JOINT USE FACILITIES ADVISORY COMMITTEE and clicking on the April 12 meeting presentation.)

“The District is exploring options for joint use and other possibilities to maximize the potential of our spaces. If there are ways to bring more revenue to the District in the face of severely declining enrollments due to housing costs, we’re prepared to carefully consider them,” said Charles Crosby, Communications Director for the Evergreen School District.

Below are some comments stated in the report:

Cadwallder Elementary School: low enrollment of 388 children is highlighted.

Carolyn Clark Elementary School: “Slope impacts usable land. If buildings are re-purposed, potential housing on current fields. Not easily accessible from major streets.”

Dove Hill Elementary: “School is primarily portables. Potentially good location to re-purpose for housing.”

Evergreen Elementary School: “Potential overhead power line impacts site. Topo impacts portions of the site. Close to Silver Creek High School.”

Martin Site: “Potential land to exchange or enter into a Joint Occupancy ground lease to create revenue.

In the report more detailed information is listed for each school.

Closed school board meetings taking place on land trades and leasing exploration

Several closed session board meetings, including August 9, 2018 closed session reflect exploration with land trading and or leasing. The possibilities of new homes or other construction may be under future consideration to be proposed to be built on school land which may be leased or traded. Below is the agenda item which reveals some information.

Omar's Dream Run 2018

Omar Hassan was a student at Tom Matsumoto Elementary School and our very own superhero.

Having battled leukemia from age 2, he had to undergo a bone marrow transplant in 4th grade.

Rather than face months of isolation, he participated in all his classroom activities via videoconference from his hospital room. He stayed in touch with his friends and remained a vital part of the class. Omar had a dream of extending this program to other children.

Omar lost his battle to leukemia in 2012, his legacy continues through Omar's Dream Foundation.

Mike Hennessey is the owner of Mike Hennessey Automotive in Santa Clara, California where for over 35 years he's specialized in purchasing, restoring and selling antique, classic, and collector cars. He's has won the W.A.V.E and CreaTive awards for his Car Guy Channel television show where he takes his viewers to exciting automotive events around the country. For over 9 years Mike has hosted the Hot San Jose Nights.

Art and Math) at each of our events."

Hot San Jose Nights was specifically designed to entertain children, grandchildren and the whole family. "There is something here for the entire family," said Hennessey.

Say hi to Mike

When asked why he puts so much time and effort with his wife in creating the legacy event, Hennessey stated, "Growing up I did not have too much and I want to give back to the community. People have helped me growing up." He also stated that, "My passion is nostalgia (cars, aviation, military history and more) and the youth need to know that the older cars and planes are of great value for one can learn so much from their design. They should be thought upon as 'current', and working on older cars gives one an avenue of adventure in how engineering works. Older values are 'current.' I have fun getting into aviation and other things too because looking at things makes you think."

As Mr. Hennessey was being interviewed a young man walked by and Mr. Hennessey kindly asked the teenager..."How did you like the event?" to which the student responded, "I liked it a lot!" Mr. Hennessey asked, "Did it get you thinking about careers in mechanics, aviation, autos?" To which the young man named Diamantae stated, "Ya, I really got a lot out of it and I am thinking about such careers in my future." Mr. Hennessey commented, "We need so many people in careers that they may be unaware of, for example we need pilots."

This event was free and it broke down the barriers of not hindering anyone to attend. Hundreds of cars lined the perimeter of the Reid Hillview Airport and throngs of people walked into the event. When pressed as to why Mr. Hennessey puts on such an event with his wife, working tirelessly with so many who contribute with such great planning he responded, "It is really for the children and families." It was clear Mr. Hennessey is selfless in his quest to put on the show each year and from the expression on his face it was seen that he is invigorated by helping others and the community.

More volunteers needed for next year

The event is one of a kind and represents the good values of San Jose. The Boy Scouts were there and many other agencies and non-profits in Santa Clara Valley. It was expressed that volunteers are welcomed each year for this helps keep the event free for all. The entire community pitches in! Even the booths that promote educational information are often provided in complementary ways, as the entire event is to give back to the children and families and to stimulate the quest for learning and plant the seeds of careers awaiting the youth! Mr. Hennessy stated, "Where is there anything like this in the Bay Area that has free admission, where a family can come attend who may be on a budget (Free Parking too). I could not do it without the Airport and County leadership. The Reid Hillview Airport leadership team is to be complemented for we could not do it without their help and generosity!"

A golf cart pulled up to complement the announcers Gary Plump and Tony Karis who kept the show going from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. with excellent banter for all to hear, and the man in the cart says, "you guys (announcers) were great!" To which both announcers responded with a smile, "We are coming back and doing it again next year!" It was this kind of intrinsic enthusiasm of giving back to the entire community that fueled the entire event. All were giving back to the community with joy in their hearts and the children with bright smiles was the motivational factor; The enlightenment of learning.

When the two announcers were asked about Mike Hennessy they said, "He does a great event for the Bay Area and he does other events too! He brings a lot of the nostalgia to the shows and a lot of happiness to the people. He has a boisterous personality and does it all with a big heart! Today was a great combo event the way Hennessy combined the aviation history side with military history, classic cars, RC (remote control contests) and more. People love it because there is something for everyone!"

Very low tech Clippity Clapper Cart a bit scary

Some say we can be afraid of things we do not understand. Sure enough, some kind of new technology was in place and a man had a cart that walked with the use of solar energy.

It had four clippity clopper moving feet set in the front where one might envision a donkey powered by hay but this contraption was all powered by sun pulling forward the back wheels. The very sight of it embodied the S.T.E.A.M. concept as he rode the cart giving free rides to people with a hidden solar collector, which gave shade to the occupants. It reminded people of some kind of Star Wars technology but it was actually low tech and this is an example of what Mr. Hennessy meant when he said that kids need to embrace the classic things. Because the technology of the older things actually is current in that it is integrated into the modern cutting edge things in our world. By the way, Darth Vader was said to be seen walking the event and engaging those with curt comments all in the name of fun.

Mr. Castonguay strikes the pose he took during the bank robbery movie.

Nights

Peter Castonguay's 1921 Studebaker involved in old time bank robbery

There sitting in the shade with his lawn chair was local resident Mr. Castonguay. He sparked up conversations with anyone who wanted to know more about his classic car. "This is an EJ Lite 6 and I got it from a friend when I lived in Connecticut. The car was in pieces so I put it on a trailer, my company moved and I went with it to San Jose where I put it together in my home garage. I farmed the engine work out to a machine shop and the upholstery to a local shop too. That's it and I did all the other restoration myself. I also made my own spray booth in my garage with draped plastic and gave it three coats of the paint color I loved. It took me three years to restore.

Back in the day, most cars were shipped with black paint. However, the dealer also shipped the cars with primer and the dealerships would paint the car whatever color the buyer liked. I choose the brown color because I like it and it is contemporary with the 1920's.

On the bank robbery story, about four years ago in downtown History Park the word went out for classic cars to be part of a movie. I went and my car was in the movie. I had it set up for the camera where I knelt on the front sideboard and shot at the get-away car with others using a make believe tommy gun. I guess that was my big contribution to the film industry! Don't know the name of the movie or if it ever came out of production.

Why am I here? Well, I just love getting out of the house and I love to show kids how cars looked way back when and go over how the engine works. I also notice that lots of adults harken back and say things like their grandpa had one of these."

When looking at the well-designed engine he was asked if it could be driven to New York as is. Castonguay said, "Well, it will go faster than 40 miles per hour, but it has two wheel brakes, so you can go, but you got to stop too so best to keep it at 40."

Eagle Field Foundation displays military history items so all can learn

The kids were right at home hopping into 1940's tanks and specialized war Jeeps. They grabbed the guns and put on big smiles. Lots of docents were on hand to explain any questions to all and provide military history.

Anders Hudson, Vice President of the Eagle Foundation, stated that the organization works with middle schools and high schools in the Bay Area to help everyone understand the importance of the military and the history. "I do this because I would like to see our communities education platform be expanded in history and understanding the sacrifices of our community (both military and civilian) during times of war." One can contact the organization for more information. Lines formed behind each nostalgic military history machine so all could get an up close look at how things are made and how they work. Getting in a war machine helped the kids get in touch with the value of the military need in America.

The majesty of flight

"Once you've tasted flight, you will forever walk the earth with your eyes turned skyward, for there you have been, and there you will always long to return," stated Leonardo Da Vinci. Such is the case with Andreas Hotea who flies his famous 1942 N2S-3 out from Holister to bring joy to the crowds. He has his own website and when interviewed he said, "It is a challenge to keep the older airplanes alive and in pristine condition. It's a lot of fun to fly aerobatics and also in formations."

Hoea's website (stearman-aero.com) states that you can get in his plane. "We take passengers up in our beautiful Stearman N2S-3 for joyrides. Depending on the time and weather, we take off from Holister... We have goggles and helmets, you need to bring a camera (if you want pictures), a wind breaker depending on the weather and season, solid shoes (no slippers or high heels).

As he took off to fly home, as a gift to the crowd, Mr. Hotea flew a couple of circles around the airport and came in low with jets of beautiful white smoke trailing behind his plane. Announcer Plomp commented, "Don't worry folks; the smoke you see is non-polluting and is from vegetable oil. It also has a pleasant smell to it too."

Remote Control Show amazes

Baylands RC Group directed by Ray Manuel put on "The Greatest Little Air Show in the World" with all RC planes and commentary. There was a static display of various RC Airplanes, Jets, Helicopters and Drones. Aircraft ranging from WWII all the way up to modern times with some on display costing an excess of $10,000.

They had simulators for anyone to try out flying an RC aircraft without fear of breaking anything...they were all free for the public to use and there were instructors there to help as well.

There was a HANDS ON section for anyone to see what it takes to get an RC aircraft working. Drones and Airplanes were shown with discussions on what makes them work.

The purpose was achieved in showing the community that their hobby is fun and safe! It is also the gateway to STEAM for school age kids and adults ages seven and up!

Local air museum ready for your visit

Ed Stricker from the Wings of History

aviation museum in San Martin encouraged all to drop by. "We have a nice array of antique aircraft mostly pre 1950's." They are located south of San Jose between Morgan Hill and Gilroy and all the monies they make go back into the museum. Open weekends too, their museum is run by volunteers and they have kept their prices down so all can visit. Their facility has an approved FAA repair of wind propellers and they make them there too. It is a hands-on working and flying museum dedicated to the "Golden Age of Flight." You can visit their website at; wings of history.org.

It was seen that the pilot community is made up of very friendly people including Eric Peterson, director of the county airports of Santa Clara County who helped out as a volunteer all day. He stated, "It is a collaboration of County Airports, Mike Hennessy (Hot San Jose Nights-Airport Day-S.T.E.A.M), Walt Guyer of Caapso and many more!" Peterson then reviewed the many exciting booths and events which took place for the day that made the event so rewarding to all, both the volunteers, display booth organizations and the general public who came.

As Mr. Mike Hennessy was rolling up his sleeves and helping all with the close of the day, he looked at the beautiful classic cars for a moment and said, "they are art you know." This is another example of how math, science, engineering and technology combine with art in the products come to market. It is a key

SAN JOSE GURDWARA

3636 Gurdwara Ave. San Jose, CA 95148 The word Sikh (see-kh) means "disciple" or "student." A Sikh is a practitioner of the faith founded in the 15th century by Guru Nanak in Punjab of old British India. A Guru who is a "teacher" or "enlightener" completes the relationship of teaching and learning. Sikhism is monotheistic and stresses the equality of all men and women. Sikhs believe in three basic principles; meditating on the name of God (praying), earning a living by honest means and sharing the fruits of one's labor with others. Currently there are close to one million Sikhs living in the USA and Canada and 25 million Sikhs living around the world. Sikhism is the 5th largest religion in the world. At the Gurdwara (House of God) in San Jose we welcome all. We pray daily for peace and prosperity for everybody in the world. Come to visit and enjoy Langer (food) in our kitchen which is open 365 days of the year and serves complementary vegetarian meals. We also encourage you to enter our history room on site and walk the beautiful grounds. Learn more about us and community events we sponsor by visiting our website; <http://www.SanJoseGurdwara.org> reminder that the classics of things are all “current” with regard to design. This was the take away for the entire event which was inspiring, joyful and educational to all and especially for the youth who formulate their future careers in their life ahead.

In summary of one of the most wonderful events in San Jose

Hot San Jose Nights is sponsored in partnership with Chris Wilder of the VMC Foundation, President and 3rd District County Supervisor Dave Cortese & County Supervisor District 2 County Supervisor Cindy Chavez.

Classic, vintage and special interest cars were on display and there was an array of aircraft and the largest display of military tanks and vehicles on the west coast.

Talented Victoria Thuy Vi McDowell, 14, sang the National Anthem. Victoria sings in 5 Languages – she plays the piano and also the violin in her high school's Orchestra and has a Black Belt in Tae Kwon Do.

Commentators described and presented activities during the event, including Gary Plomp, Tony Karis, Susan Hennessy and Lori Nelson.

The Eagle Field Foundation gave rides in more than six military tanks and vehicles. Baylands RC Group will be putting on a fantastic RC airshow to delight the crowds.

The EAA62's Young Eagles offered free flights in small aircraft to kids aged 8 – 17. S.T.E.A.M. oriented displays engaged the youth to fill their minds with the excitement of controlling robots. Team 254 from Bellarmine College Preparatory displayed their robot “Lockdown.” FRC Team 5027 Event Horizon from Andrew Hill High School demonstrated their latest robotic creation, “Skyscraper.”

A number of notable citizens were honored for their service to the community. Canned foods were collected to benefit Second Harvest Food Bank.

Baylands RC Group, directed by Ray Manuel, put on “The Greatest Little Air Show in the World” with all RC planes including interesting commentary. There were three plane simulators for the crowd to enjoy.

Ed Archer showed off his 1915 Ford Model T Race Car. The Model T raced from 1915-1920 and was rescued in Long Beach in 1958.

Music headliners included Big Mike & The Hartbeats.

For information regarding next year's event and other S.T.E.A.M related activities, contact Mike Hennessey at: hsjmike@sbcglobal.net, or call 408-615-1454.

Editor's note: Mike Hennessey is owner of Hennessey's Automotive Repair in Santa Clara and is the host of the popular Car Guy Channel TV show.

Five ways to squash back-to-school stress

(Family Features) Heading back to school is exciting for both kids and parents, but with all the thrill and anticipation, there can be quite a bit of stress, too. As a parent, you can approach the impending school year with a positive attitude and these tricks can help minimize stress and give your kids extra confidence when heading into the classroom.

Lifestyle expert and mother of two Jeannette Kaplun recommends these tips:

Start adjusting bedtimes before school starts. It's common for bedtime rules to be broken in the summer. However, an abrupt transition to early mornings can lead to stress and irritability. The National Sleep Foundation recommends implementing earlier bedtimes two weeks before school starts and setting the alarm a bit earlier each morning.

Curb the summer slide. Screen time isn't just for passing time; leverage technology to keep the reading skills your kids learned in the classroom sharp all summer long. A device like the Fire Kids Edition tablet from Amazon is built from the ground up for kids with a two-year worry-free guarantee, a kid-proof case and a one-year subscription to Amazon FreeTime Unlimited, giving kids access to 15,000 kid-friendly books, videos, educational apps and games. Parental controls like Learn First encourage learning before playtime and allow you to set screen time limits to help get kids back into a routine for the school year.

Dress for success. There's a reason grownups tend to dress up for special events - when you look good, you feel good. Give your kids that same boost by helping them choose a special outfit for the first day of school that he or she feels comfortable and confident wearing. Shopping for clothes is an opportunity for your child to express individuality, so have fun with it. For added stress relief, lay out the complete ensemble the night before and have your child try it on to head off any concerns.

Simplify the shopping experience. Every back-to-school season comes with classroom supply lists and new wardrobe needs. A one-stop shop retailer like Amazon lets you complete your shopping on your own schedule, and its back-to-school store offers deals and a wide selection, making it easy to find everything from must-have items like binders, backpacks and shoes to fun gear such as glitter glue, donut erasers and emoji stickers that allow kids to express their personalities.

"Back-to-school shopping doesn't have to cause anxiety," Kaplun said. "By shopping online at Amazon from your phone, tablet or computer, you can buy everything you need without having to find a parking spot, tracking down a sales associate to help you find your child's size or standing in line to pay, saving you precious time. Plus, Prime members receive unlimited, free two-day shipping on more than 100 million items all year long."

Share the excitement. It's perfectly normal for parents and kids to feel anxious about the new school year. Instead of revealing your own apprehension, share your favorite memories from your time in your child's upcoming grade. Ask your kids what they're most excited for and what they're a little nervous about and come up with solutions together.

Get a jump start on your stress-free transition back to school with more tips and resources at amazon.com/backtoschool.
