Showing winning livestock is really picking up for the various FFA chapters around here. The 4-States Fair at Texarkana, Arkansas, last weekend brought kids from Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Arkansas together. Here's some local winners in FFA and Jr. FFA chapters at Sulphur Springs High School and Como-Pickton ISD. CONGRATULATIONS!

SULPHUR SPRINGS WINNERS INCLUDE:

SSHS Cash Vititow with CC and Charlie, Grand Champion Red Brahman

SSHS Hayden Daniel showing Beefmaster Heifer, Patsy

SSHS Sydnee Swatsell with Beefmaster heifer Dot

SSHS Jodie Tippit with Mags, Beefmaster Heifer

COMO-PICKTON WINNERS INCLUDE:

CP 5th grade Jr FFA Claire Jaluka with 1st Place Brahman

CP 8th Grade Chloe Jalufka Reserve Brahman

CPHS Senior Blaine Flemens 2 Place Santa Gertrudis

CPHS Freshman Micah Flemens 3rd Place Santa Gertrudis

And another Como-Pickton sibling team, Canyon and Rayne Thomas, garnered 5 awards between them. So, follow their lead. Whether it be fishing, birdwatching, Dutch oven cooking, gardening or just mowing, get outside and do it with enthusiasm this Fall! Our Mother Earth has something fascinating and satisfying for everyone! Til next week, I will watch for you at the corral gate!

Are You Caring For Someone With Memory Loss? Join "Terrific Tuesdays"

A Sulphur Springs Respite Care Program for seniors with memory loss.

This program is open to everyone with Alzheimer's or dementia. It gives the participants an opportunity to spend each Tuesday meeting new friends and participating in cooperative activities.

It also gives the caregiver a few hours to run errands and to take care of personal healthcare needs, etc.
knowing that their loved one is well taken care of in a safe and enjoyable environment.

*The cost is $20 each Tuesday from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.
and that includes lunch!*

"Terrific Tuesdays" meets at the First United Methodist Church Family Life Center at 301 Church Street, Sulphur Springs.

10 Facts You Should Know About Childhood Cancer

1. Childhood cancer is the number one disease killer of children in the U.S. It's the second leading cause of death (following accidents) in children ages 5-14.
2. Every two minutes a child is diagnosed with cancer. That's 300,000 kids around the world every year. Learn more about this statistic.
3. The average age of a child diagnosed with cancer is 6. But you don't have to be a child to be diagnosed with childhood cancer. Childhood cancer is diagnosed in all ages, from newborn infants to children and young adults.
4. 80% of children diagnosed with cancer are in developing countries. Childhood cancer is a global problem, and one institution can't solve it alone.
5. The most common childhood cancer is acute lymphoblastic leukemia (ALL). In the 1950s, almost every kid with ALL died. But today, thanks to childhood cancer research, about 90% of children with ALL will survive.
6. In 80% of kids with cancer, the cancer has already spread to other areas of the body by the time it is diagnosed. That's why so many children with cancer need to begin treatment right away. Many adult cancers can be diagnosed early. Learn more about the differences between adult and childhood cancers.
7. Much of what we know about treating adult cancers has been learned from childhood cancer research. Some aspects of cancer treatment today, such as combination chemotherapy, can be traced to pediatric cancer research.
8. There are over a dozen types of childhood cancer and hundred of different subtypes. The more rare types, when added together, account for about 30% of cancers in children and adolescents. But because so few children are diagnosed with each type, it's very difficult to do research on these cancers.
9. One in five children diagnosed with cancer in the U.S. will not survive. For the ones who do, the battle is never over.
10. Because of the treatments they had as kids, more than 99% of childhood cancer survivors will have a chronic health problem and 96% will have severe or life-threatening conditions. By the time they're 50 years old, survivors of childhood cancer experience about 5 severe or life-threatening chronic health conditions on average.

THE IDLE AMERICAN

'Old School' Pharmacist...

Commentary by Dr. Don Newbury

Wayne West has been "old school" for decades, long before Mary's lamb thought about following her to school.

He's "old school" for many reasons. The son of a sharecropper who grew up near Midlothian, TX, he's come a long way from cotton fields and livestock pens to head Best Value pharmacies.

He has been dispensing medications--personally compounded, in many instances--since doctors gave up prescribing leeches....

*****

This may seem like the cadence to The Twelve Days of Christmas, but he's a God-fearing, Bible-believing, Sunday school-teaching, community-leading, people-serving family man. He and Betty, his wife of 58 years, have four daughters. All are involved in the business, and one followed her daddy's footsteps to become a registered pharmacist.

He was encouraged by longtime pharmacist A. G. Hilley who encouraged him through pharmacy school at the University of Texas. Then, the late Hilley continued his role as mentor, employing him and later paving the way for West to move into ownership. West's longest stints have been in Mineral Wells, 26 years, and Burleson since 1988.

The group he heads has stores in 14 communities. Wherever he's lived, he has found places to serve--in his church, community and civic initiatives, including Rotary International. West has been elected to school boards, and is an all-around "go-to" guy when wise counsel is needed....

*****

It's his pharmacy service--the "above and beyond kind"--that sets him apart, thus the "old school" moniker.

Consider these policies, the kind he has followed throughout life. The Wests have a listed home phone number, and when emergencies occur outside posted store hours, customers have "rousted him out." Countless times he's responded, "I'll meet you at the drugstore."

Though he has a delivery person, he's often the deliverer himself, providing critical prescriptions and sometimes compounds he still prepares. He takes pride in overnight preparation of compounds that require a week or more at most stores....

*****

His encouragement and genuine commitment to meet others' needs are well known.

He is not one to "toot his own horn," but some of his acts of kindness are shared by those who are befriended.

A while back, he delivered medication to a home-bound patient who faced the need for daily hypodermic injections. West illustrated exactly how it should be done. This is particularly noteworthy, since the patient is totally blind, but has managed to live independently for many years....

*****

Betty is right beside her hubby in the "brother's keeper" role--and the "sister's keeper" as well.

She is secretary of the Sunday school class and makes announcements, and Wayne takes over for the teaching portion.

Wayne and Betty almost never miss, and are ever present for hospital visits. His cousin, Raymond West, leads music, so the "West Class" is aptly named.

TWISTY TEX THE TEXAS RUBIKS MAN

Tumbleweed Smith

Tumbleweed Smith

Casey Weaver of Austin had a successful career as a computer expert and retired at the age of 51. Now he makes complicated Rubik's Cubes as a hobby. Some are shaped like rectangles or triangles.

"I build them for my own enjoyment," says Casey. "I send them out to other cubing enthusiasts who make videos about them and show them off. The original Rubik's Cube was 3 pieces on each side, commonly known as a 3 by 3. Now there are also 2 by 2 and others, 17 by 17 being the world's largest mass-produced puzzle. The other puzzles that are mass-produced are 8 by 8, 9 by 9, 10 by 10, 11 by 11 and 13 by 13. The 17 by 17 puzzle sells for about $600."

Casey has a workshop filled with drawers full of cube making material. And although he doesn't sell any of his pieces he spends a lot of time with his hobby. He is known around the world as Twisty Tex.

"I have a friend in France who assembled a 33 by 33 by 33 Rubik's Cube. Nobody has solved that one yet. Another friend in England made one that's six feet tall on each side, currently the world's largest. The larger or more intricate puzzles, which I've become well known for making, don't look anything like a typical Rubik's Cube when they are scrambled. Some of my pieces resemble architecture models or a Mondrian painting. They take on a very sculptural, very modern art look to them. When you get into the big ones like a 7 by 9 by 11, which is the biggest that I've made, they're practically unsolvable. It took the best solver a couple of days to figure it out. I make puzzles that I can't solve." He makes parts for his cubes on a 3D printer.

"One thing you want to do is make puzzles that nobody has made before. It takes a lot of just sitting and figuring out the different combinations. One of my puzzles has just one color. Instead of solving it by color you solve it by shape. There is also a type of puzzle called cuboid which has different dimensions. A common cuboid is a 3 by 3 by 5. Some cuboids have an odd, odd and even dimension."

He has been creating Rubik's Cubes for 10 years.

"By being able to change the puzzles you can introduce new strategies that are required. It makes the hobby more dynamic."

Casey says scrambling a Rubik's Cube is as important as solving it.

"In the case of some hard puzzles you actually have to learn not only how to solve them but also how to properly scramble them."

In taking the Rubik's Cube to a higher power, he encourages young people to experiment. He has a creative group on Facebook where he and others get together and talk about the cubes.

Gold In September

was founded by Annie Bartosz, from Hartland, WI, who lost her twin brother, Jack, to cancer in 2012 and her father, John, in 2016 to the long-term effects of cancer treatments he received when he was in his early twenties. She saw the nation turn pink in October for breast cancer and became determined to unite the country through the color gold in September to raise money for childhood cancer research. Annie knows it will take everyone to join in the fight to bring new and innovative treatments to those who need it most.

We are ALL impacted by childhood cancer.
