Seyed Emadian, MD, PhD
Neurosurgeon

Dr. Emadian living childhood dream in Tullahoma.

Growing up, Dr. Seyed Emadian's role model was a fictional country doctor. "I loved watching Marcus Welby, M.D., when I was a kid," he said. "I knew that if I ever became a doctor, I wanted to be like Dr. Welby. Working here in Tullahoma gives me this opportunity because I'm able to establish relationships with my patients and even occasionally make house calls."

Dr. Emadian is one of the region's foremost neurosurgeons and was named president of the Tennessee Neurosurgical Society for 2018. He specializes in treating disorders of the nervous system, including the brain, spinal cord, peripheral nerves and extra-cranial cerebrovascular system. In private practice at Premier Neurosurgery & Spine Center since 2002, Dr. Emadian performs surgery at Tennova Healthcare - Harton. The majority of his patients have spinal disorders—congenital-, age- and trauma-related conditions—and come from as far away as Georgia, Mississippi, Alabama and the Carolinas.

"When I first came here, there were no neurosurgery services," he said. "But Tennova and this community committed to and invested in state-of-the-art equipment and facilities. Now we have one of the best operating rooms in the Southeast, and our staff is among the best in the nation.

"I love being here because the people here are genuine and highly educated. There's a family atmosphere here. My patients and my staff are like my family."

For more information about neurosurgery services at Tennova Healthcare - Harton, please call toll-free 1-855-TENNOVA (836-6682) or visit Tennova.com.

Dr. Emadian is an independent member of the medical staff of Tennova Healthcare - Harton.

Your health. Our passion.
