Second Graders Learn About Germ-Killing and Handwashing

FLORENCE--Handwashing is something that we can never do enough during the height of the flu season. Some area second graders received a fun lesson on handwashing last week as part of a demonstration by Essity on Global Handwashing Day, October 15. Essity is a leading international hygiene, health and paper goods company with a plant in Barton. The company is part of the Global Handwashing Partnership, an initiative now in its tenth year that focuses on the importance of handwashing properly with soap and water to avoid spreading germs.

Twenty second grade students in Ms. Dawn Gray's classroom at Forest Hills Elementary received the first local demonstration and handwashing

By Patsy Glenn for the Courier Journal

There are two ways to learn about UNA and its origins and changes, triumphs and low points. There are two ways to learn about the people who have contributed to the school and its alumni who have contributed to the world. The first is to spend countless hours doing research. The second is to take advantage of Robert Steen's countless hours of research and get one of his books.

Colonel Steen, who retired from the military in 1982, credits his time in the UNA ROTC with giving him a head start in his career. He graduated from UNA in 1960 with a BS in Social Science. According to Steen, Allen Thornton gave him a teaching job until he

ASK THE ATTORNEY

Thomas McCutcheon

Ask the Attorney is sponsored by local attorneys, McCutcheon & Hamner, PC, as a service to the residents of NW Alabama.

THE TRIFECTA

In the previous column, I wrote about truck accident cases and this week I want to explain the three parts necessary for a successful resolution. These cases are very valuable because truck drivers are held to a higher standard as a professional driver and the injuries inflicted by a tractor-trailer truck are often fatal or catastrophic.

Usually when we have these cases our clients are contacted by "investigators" for other law firms. In the old days we just called these people runners. They try and run cases to a law firm that otherwise would not get the business. We have had to ask them to stop on several occasions.

There are three parts to successfully handling a truck wreck case. First, you need an attorney who has experience handling these cases. That attorney will know to write a letter demanding that the truck owner preserve all available evidence. This keeps the truck from being used before the black box download can be performed. This keeps the tires, the brakes, the log books and the driver's employment information available.

Second, that attorney must promptly send an accident reconstruction specialist to the scene of the accident. You might think of this type of expert as someone you would see on CSI. They actually go and determine the speed of the truck, as well as the condition of the tires and brakes. They look for retreads on the front, mismatches in the rest of the tires and brakes that are unadjusted side to side which in turn causes swaying and the driver to lose control of the vehicle.

Third, the attorney must engage a DOT expert witness. We use a retired state trooper who regularly did truck inspections and wrote part of the Alabama version of the Federal Motor Carrier Safety Regulations. There are both federal and state regulations that govern the hiring of professional drivers. Often we find a driver who is not qualified and should not have been on the road in the first place. When these guys cause injury or death, juries are unforgiving.

That is a trifecta. Buckle up, drive safely and as always, your referrals are appreciated. 256-764-0112.

Steen...

went on active duty in the Army infantry.

Steen's Army years were busy. He earned two Masters Degrees - one in Business Administration from the University of Iowa; the other in Personnel Management from Troy State University. As soon as he returned to Florence, Steen went to work for the city as Personnel Director.

Steen was hired by UNA in 1989 as Personnel Director of the University. He stayed on in that position for 17 years until his retirement.

Steen became their go-to-guy when anyone on campus had a question about anything historical. It became his job to dig and deliver the information about the Lagrange Military Academy or which graduates had served during World War II. Steen found that Helen Keller's sister was a graduate, and that during the Civil War the school's library books were distributed to the townspeople for safekeeping. After the war, the volumes were returned to the shelves.

Because the university's ROTC program holds a special place in Steen's heart, he was instrumental in establishing the ROTC Memorial Garden. It was also during his tenure at the university that the idea of writing books about the history came to fruition. Steen had already written a number of articles, but he had never considered putting them into book form. Steen attacked the project with the same meticulous attention he has given to everything he's undertaken.

He's responsible for the text on most of the historical markers around the Tennessee Valley. What he has written and so beautifully photographed are soft cover masterpieces.

Anyone with a connection to the university will want copies whether purchased themselves or received as a special gift.

There are six books in all:

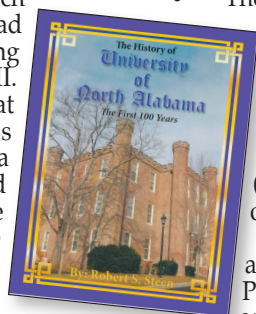

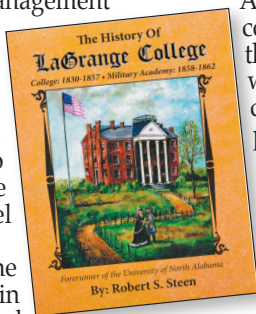

- The History of LaGrange College
- Florence State Teachers College Heroes of WW II (1941-1945)
- History of Simpson House •Irvine Place •Coby Hall and Early City of Florence
- History of Foster House •Courtview •Rogers Hall and Early City of Florence
- The History of University of North Alabama - The First 100 Years

Historical Sites and Markers (1818 - 2018) City of Florence

All six books are available at Pope's Tavern and the Florence Lauderdale

Tourism Office as well as from Robert Steen. Order directly from him at 256-760-6400 or rssteen@icloud.com

Books range from $7 to $30 and various titles can also be purchased at the City of Florence, Kennedy-Douglas Center for the Arts, Florence-Lauderdale Public Library, the Shoals and Rogersville Chambers of Commerce, Veterans Memorial Museum, Florence Federal Credit Union, LaGrange College Welcome Center, and Herald Printing. They are not available online.

Kanye, Brown Have Left the Plantation

Kanye West was a hero in the liberal black community not too long ago. No one criticized him in 2005 when, while standing beside comedian Mike Meyers at a fundraiser for Hurricane Katrina victims, Kanye flatly stated, "George Bush doesn't care about black people."

Few of his race seemed to care when he inappropriately interrupted and insulted Taylor Swift as she was accepting an MTV video award in 2009.

Yet, let him accept a lunch invitation to the White House with THIS president and NFL legend, Jim Brown, and he is automatically the scourge of the liberal and black communities. Don Lemon's CNN panelists didn't hold back last week. Outspoken leftist commentator, Bakari Sellers, said, "Kanye is what happens when negroes don't read."

Other comments from black folks on that show alone were, "Kanye is the token negro of the Trump administration," "Black folks are about to trade Kanye West in the racial draft," and "Kanye's an attention whore... like the president." Still other comments referenced a past mental condition as an excuse.

Never mind that the topic was all about the urban black community, violence, education,

Scholar and Reenactor is a Founding Father

SHEFFIELD Most people do not expect to hold a live conversation with Thomas Jefferson. However, that is exactly how Bill Barker describes his reenactment of the third President of the United States.

Barker will appear as the Sage of Monticello at 7:35pm, October 25-27 at the Ritz Theatre in downtown Sheffield. Admission is $15 for adults and $10 for students. Tickets may be purchased online at tvaa.net, at the Tennessee Valley Museum of Art, 511 N. Water Street in Tuscumbia, 256-383-0533, and at the door. Audiences are invited to join President Jefferson in the Ritz' Education Studio following performances.

Jabba and Kav Rule

Editor:

I was a bit under the weather when I got the news. "Mike, we have a new justice and his name is Kav." Even under serious sedation, I swore and whispered, "Wait for my letter when I start feeling better."

So, we now have a seriously conservative jury to pass judgement upon the rest of us. Perhaps the final go ahead was the faux passion of a poor little rich brat crying about how ruined his life had become since Jabba nominated him to sit on the high court.

He was accused by more than one young woman of attempted sexual conquest. After staying silent about the advances, these women got exactly what they expected: Poo-poo'd and a loud Tsk-Tsk! How dare those women

Insights from the Cold War

Powers' Records Provide Us With an Amazing Story

TUSCUMBIA— Francis Gary Powers, Jr. is the son of the most famous Cold War pilot, Francis Gary Powers, Sr., who was shot down in a U-2 spy plane over the Soviet Union in 1960. He has spent many years searching for answers to questions about his father and the events of his capture.

His lecture, entitled "The U-2 Incident: A Son's Search for the Truth" will take place at 11am on Wednesday, October 31 at Tuscumbia's Roundhouse located at 204 W. 5th St. in Tuscumbia beginning at 11am.

The Helen Keller Public Library, the City of Tuscumbia and the Tuscumbia Parks and Recreation Department are sponsors of the event. Tickets are $15. and include lunch. Tickets can be purchased at the Helen Keller Public Library located at 511 North Main Street, Tuscumbia, AL. The proceeds will help fund library programs.

For information call: 256-383-7065.

Gary's research and co-author of the book "Letters from a Soviet Prison" comprises a collection of his father's letters home and a journal while his father, Francis Gary Powers Sr., was held captive by the Soviets. It is a riveting account of his father having taken off in his U-2 flying from Peshawar, Pakistan on a CIA reconnaissance mission over the Soviet Union where a Soviet

SA-2 surface to air missile exploded near the jet at 70,500 feet over the city of Sverdlovsk forcing him to bail out resulting in his capture, interrogation and eventual release.

The U-2 Incident gained renewed notoriety by Hollywood film director Steven Spielberg's "Bridge of Spies," a 2015 film where Powers served as technical advisor concerned with how the U-2 pilot might be portrayed.

Powers Jr. founded The Cold War Museum in 1996 to honor Cold War veterans, preserve Cold War history, and educate future generations about this time period. He lectures internationally, is married and has one son.

challenge. Essity's Karen Haddock explained how easily germs can spread and led the demonstration. Her interactions included visuals and several questions for the children that generated some well-reasoned answers.

Then, using simple dabs of special glow in the dark lotion to represent germs on their hands and a florescent flashlight just a few moments later, the students experienced firsthand how quickly those germs can spread.

Gunky Gus

The students then washed their hands thoroughly for 20 seconds with soap, dried with paper towels, then held them back under the light. End result? Seeing who washes their hands better.

School administrators and teachers throughout the Shoals may order free Handwashing Works kits online to demonstrate for their classes as well. The kits include a helpful lesson plan for teachers and colorful materials reinforcing the five handwashing steps for posting in classrooms.

The goal of Handwashing Works is to help establish and reinforce proper handwashing habits among young children. This will work to decrease the spread of germs throughout schools and in the home. As the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) stated, the 2017-18 flu season was the worst since 2009. Being prepared for 2018-19 flu season to keep children healthy and in school is more critical than ever, and proper handwashing is an important component of this.

Ms. Gray's students know that very well.

INSTEAD OF DRYER SHEETS

If you don't want to spend the money on dryer sheets or you are sensitive to the fragrance, you can take a piece of foil and ball it up to about golf ball size to get rid of the static without fragrance. And, it'll last you all year.

KIDS CLOTHING

If you're looking for kids clothing deals, check eBay. Search for "Boys size 6 Lot" for example (LOT is the important word here). It'll be a big jumble of clothes. Instead of going through consignment stores piecing it all together, you can get a ton of pieces for about $20.
Melanie via Facebook

PET FOOD

We all love our pets, but feeding them can be expensive even if the food is purchased at a big box store. I adopted two strays and they are not picky about what they eat, so I'm always on the lookout for "closeout" cat food. After doing a little research and making a few calls, I found out that when a new product from one company is coming on the market, they will close out and markdown one or two that are already on the shelf. By watching, I have been able to stock up on cat food and save a ton! It doesn't go bad and my cats love the variety of flavors. I have spent as little as a dollar a bag!

RECEIPT PROTECTION

The one thing I have found out the hard way is that receipts seem to fade and vanish within a year or two and sometimes sooner. I suppose it depends on what type of paper and ink the company uses. I say that I learned this the hard way because after completing a major house remodel, some items failed before the warranty ended. Although I had kept meticulous records, when I went back to get a receipt, it was as good as useless. It was faded badly. Now I keep a folder on my laptop for scanned receipts for almost all of my purchases. I haven't had an issue pursuing a claim in years because of those scanned receipts. I also scan warranty terms and conditions. I just thought this tip might benefit someone else.
Sharon

THIS CHRISTMAS

Last year, my brother, sister, and I decided that we wanted to make Christmas easier and spend less. I think I've come up with a solution. With so many people suffering because of hurricane Harvey, instead of buying each other things we don't need, I'm going to suggest that we each make a donation now to a charity that's serving hurricane victims. We'll save time near Christmas and do some good now when people really need the help.
Lisa

REDUCE DRYING TIME

Everyone knows that an electric clothes dryer is an energy hog. One way to reduce the cost is to cut down the amount of time that it runs. There are a couple of things you can do to reduce drying time. First, when your clothes are through the wash cycle, run an extra spin cycle. That will ring more water from your clothes. Next separate out some clothes that don't or shouldn't go in the dryer. For instance, your delicates should be hung to dry. And t-shirts can be hung to drip dry.
Debra

HOW TO START MEAL PLANNING

Don't try to plan for a whole week or month at first. You don't want to get overwhelmed. Instead, just try to plan for perhaps three to four days. Note those meals on index cards. Plan on a leftover day and then plan different meals for another three to four days. Repeat the whole process until you build up your stock of menu cards. Then you can begin planning for longer blocks of time.
Claudia via Facebook

EASY DECOR TRICK

Ever feel like you want to change up your decor but don't have any big inspiration or a big budget to do the job? Try this. It costs about $5! Remove your wall light switch covers and spray paint them a color that contrasts or compliments your room color. It doesn't seem like much, but it can give the room a different vibe. If you find that you don't like the change, you can replace the covers for about $1 each.

THE DOLLAR Stretcher

WIN/WIN LOSING STRATEGY

I've been unhappy with my weight and my credit card balances. Both went up after my daughter (now 6) was born. I had trouble losing the weight I had put on during pregnancy and the cost of daycare wasn't helping our budget. Here's what I did. I promised myself that I'd use my elliptical trainer every other day for 30 minutes. For every calorie I burn (it's displayed on the trainer), I add to my debt loss fund. On the same day that I go online to pay my bills, I add the money from my fund to my minimum payment. Most days that I exercise, I add between $3 and $4.50 to the fund. It's not so much that it pinches my budget, but it is enough to make a difference to the account balance. Also, it's a great motivator to help me lose the weight! It's also a whole lot cheaper than buying $300 worth of food every month from one of those weight loss programs.

FRESH TOMATOES ALL FALL

If you live up north, you're always expecting an early freeze. For years, I lost nearly ripe tomatoes to that frost. Then a neighbor told me that he had a method to save them. He uproots the whole plant and hangs them upside down in his basement. The plant shouldn't touch the ground. The tomatoes will continue to ripen gradually. It's not unusual for us to have tomatoes six or even eight weeks after the first frost!

STOVE TOP CLEANING

Spray-on oven cleaner works great on the outside of the stove. I use it on the stove top every two weeks. After spraying it on, I wait a few minutes and then wipe it off. Now I have the cleanest stove in town!
Becca

SAVING ON PET HEALTHCARE

Become a "client" of every vet near you and then call to price check procedures. In my area, two vets wanted $200 for an extraction of one tooth. A third wanted $50, and a fourth wanted only $25. However, when our cat passed away, it was less expensive to cremate our cat at the first vet.
Donald via Facebook

HOMEMADE FINGER PAINTS

I created my own finger paints by mixing a few drops of food coloring into a spoonful of vanilla yogurt. I can create almost any color I want, and it only costs pennies. It is also non-toxic and safe for my kids. The best part is whatever yogurt is left in the container makes a good snack for the artists!
Julie

MAXIMIZING YOUR RETIREMENT PLAN

We usually get an annual pay increase at my job, usually 2% to 4%. When my annual evaluation rolls around, I find out what the increase will be and then I go to our HR department and have the additional percentage added to what they deduct for my 401k plan. I add more to retirement savings and never miss the additional money.

BEFORE YOU BUY ANYTHING

I've found that readers' product reviews are a great way to check out something before I buy it. This is great not just for big things like a TV, but also for smaller electronics and even new foods. Some companies manage to get in some paid fake reviews, so I check the bad reviews. I read them to see if there are complaints about things that would bother me. I've avoided a bunch of bad buys this way.
Cilia

MY WEEKLY CASH CALL

My wife and I both work and need to buy lunches and snacks during the week. We try to bring our lunch as often as we can, but some days that's not practical. Therefore, we're trying out a new system. We read that our brains resist spending bigger bills. Each week, both of us go to the ATM and take out two $10 bills. We also have a $20 in our wallet from the previous week. Our goal is to get through the week without touching the $20 bill. Most weeks, we're successful. It probably doesn't make a huge difference in what we spend, but every little bit helps.

Rudy

CREATIVE DATE NIGHTS

Our kids are mostly grown (meaning our day isn't dominated by their activities), but my husband and I still seem to be constantly busy. We decided to start up our date nights again. Instead of doing the typical dinner/movie thing, we went another way. We started with a couple of adult coloring books! It seems silly, but it was a lot of fun and opened us up to some fresh ideas. Next I think that we'll take on a craft project to see how that goes. After that, perhaps we will refinish a piece of furniture. It's brought us together in a way that we thought we'd lost years ago.
Chris

JUST CHECKING...

One advantage of being retired is that I can spend a few minutes checking my bills for errors. Just this month I noticed that my auto insurance didn't include the 55+ discount. I called my agent. He said that it was just a mistake, and they'd put the credit back on my account. Last spring, I found an error on my phone bill. They added a monthly fee for a service that I didn't order. It was only $8.95 a month, but I am not sure how long it was there before I caught it. Even if you are not retired and don't have much time, it's still worthwhile to check your bills to make sure you're not being cheated!
Molly

INEXPENSIVE BRIDAL SHOWER GIFT IDEA

Here is a tip for bridal shower gifts. My mother-in-law is a genius! She buys everything at a dollar store for her gifts. She fills a small cleaning bucket with bathroom cleaning supplies and then bundles it in pretty clear wrapping. She does the same with a tall kitchen trash can and fills it with dish soap, scrub sponges, paper towels, pot holders, a tea towel set, etc. She's never had a disappointed bride-to-be yet!
Kimberly via Facebook

SMALL CHRISTMAS GIFTS

Recently I was buying a necessity on Amazon and only needed to spend one more dollar for free shipping. Did you know that when this happens on Amazon, you can do a search of items that cost less than $1? I looked and found cute little coin purses for $.59 each, so I ordered nine of them to give to the members of my book club. We usually exchange little gifts, and these are perfect. Not only did I save on shipping, but also I got nine Christmas gifts for less than $6. I can now check these off on my Christmas shopping list!

presentation to fit the social and national debates of our time within the context of like scenarios in Jefferson's time."

Barker welcomes audience participation and any questions and ideas audiences have about Jefferson.

"Many people have the misconception that Jefferson was an atheist, insincere about ending slavery, a spendthrift, a womanizer and a political antagonist. I hope to alter their opinion," he said. "I am hopeful that the audience will attend wanting to experience Thomas Jefferson, the person, as well as to learn something new about him and his times."

Barker's portrayal of Jefferson began 40 years ago at Independence Hall, and he has been the resident Jefferson Historical Interpreter at Colonial Williamsburg for 25 years. He has been featured as Jefferson in Time, People, Southern Living, Reader's Digest and in programs aired on ABC, NBC, CBS, PBS, CNN and C-SPAN.

Additionally, Barker is the Jefferson image in the Visitor Center videos at the Jefferson Memorial in Washington, D.C., Monticello, and the Virginia State Capitol. He also was the model for the statues in the Jefferson Library at West Point and in the Virginia State Capitol Building.

Barker has received commendations from the Hellenic Ideals Foundation, U.S. Department of Defense, the Jefferson Legacy Foundations and the cities of Philadelphia, St. Louis and New Orleans.

Theatre also plays a big part of Barker's background, but a variety of dramas play into the view audiences have of Jefferson. From Lin Manuel Miranda's smash Broadway hit "Hamilton" to the HBO production of "John Adams" and even older productions such as "1776" have featured different versions of Thomas Jefferson.

"These works help the younger generations grasp the realities and relevance of history," Barker said. "As Shakespeare wrote, 'The play's the thing through which to capture the conscience of the King.'"

3 Things

The three things that the world and the devil want to get away from the born-again child of God are: 1. Your Bible. 2. Your faith in that Bible. 3. Your testimony of what God has done to and for you through that Bible. The Bible is an authoritative book. The worlds educators want to replace your biblical authority with themselves as the final authority. But God says: 1 Corinthians 3:19 "For the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God. For it is written, He taketh the wise in their own craftiness." Many with many degrees will never submit themselves to any authority. Secondly, after your Bible has been removed, your faith in that Bible is the target. But God says: 2 Peter 2:1 "But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction." God again in: 1 Corinthians 2:5 "That your faith should not stand in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God." Thirdly, after your Bible and your faith in that book are removed, the testimony of what God has done for you lies dormant in the depths of your soul, and you are then labeled "disabled" by the world and the devil. Not a pretty picture on the destruction of a born-again child of God, but it's happening every day.

God is not there just for us to have emergency care or a first aid kit. History repeats in: Jeremiah 2:32 "Can a maid forget her ornaments, or a bride her attire? yet my people have forgotten me days without number". The same is so true today. 2 Peter 1:5-9 "And beside this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge; And to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness; And to godliness brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness charity. For if these things be in you, and abound, they make you that ye shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ. But he that lacketh these things is blind, and cannot see afar off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his old sins." You are either trusting men or Christ. In the end, you'll get what you have coming. You had better trust Christ.

We Need To Pay Attention!

STAN DEAN

Have you ever discovered something that you could have discovered long before if you had just been paying attention? Let me explain. About a year ago my wife decided it was time to change the color in our master bathroom. Of course, as most of us have learned by experience, when you start a project like this - one thing leads to another. So, what started out with changing the color of the paint, led to new curtains and then new towels, which led to new... well you know how the story goes.

Included in this "little" updating job were a couple of new plaques with inspirational messages that went on the walls on both sides of our vanity. Now keep in mind that this took place about a year ago. Yet, if you had asked me a week ago what the message was on either plaque I could not have told you.

But the other morning as I was getting ready for the day, I happened to look up and my eyes focused on the one that has been hanging within two feet of my head for twelve months. The message only contained four words, but they have stuck with me now for four days. It says simply, "Be Awesome Every Day."

Now I have to be honest and say I have a lot of work to do to be awesome every day, but the message has made me do a lot of thinking. First and foremost, I was reminded that Christians serve an awesome God and we should strive to be like Him (cf. Deuteronomy 7:21; Matthew 5:48). But what really got the cogs turning in my head is that He desires for each one of us to have an awesome life - every day! He declared for His people, "I came that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly" (John 10:10).

So, let us consider just one component of that abundant life - happiness. Surely, most of us agree that life would be awesome if we could just find lasting happiness. As a result, countless people are desperately searching every day, yet they cannot seem to find it.

But note, Jesus taught almost 2000 years ago, "These things have I spoken to you, that My joy might remain in you, and that your joy may be full" (John 15:11). This message and the means of achieving it have been in our reach for centuries. Yet, many are still looking for what has been right at their fingertips all along.

So, we need to pay attention to God's word (cf. 2 Timothy 3:16, 17). It is awesome! And it will make us awesome!

come forward now and voice their concerns! They should have reported this kind of sexual assault to the police right after it happened. Besides, they were (gasp) drinking while under-aged.

Judgement was meted out by the members of the American Inquisition, ruled in favor of sitting on the bench to judge women, democrats, the left, George Soros, the Clinton's, and Obama's he swore were out to get at and expose his rich white privilege. He was vehement in his condemnation. Therefore, I see no fair outcomes in the future of these fine people by this judge.

A very large amount of money was spent to protect Jabba with the kind of rulings we can expect from this guy.

Meanwhile Jabba pounded upon his Fox pulpit, "All will pay who disagree with me!"

The Spot for His Buddy

Editor:

This Johnny Mack Morrow vs. Senator Larry Stutts race is all about Morrow trying to get the senate seat back for his little buddy Roger Bedford who chose not to run again.

I was at one of the AT&T wireless internet meetings for the public in Phil Campbell for that wireless broadband internet that we never got. It was a lovefest as Morrow still called Roger "Senator Bedford" even though he no longer held that office.

Apparently, nobody could figure out that cell towers are too short to provide wireless broadband internet to a lot of people unless it's on a high hill overlooking subdivisions. That kind of internet just doesn't do very well going through trees. If the cell towers were about three times as high as they are, it might work.

I haven't heard any denials from the Morrow camp about statements made by Stutts such as campaign contributions to the Hillary campaign and that she was his role model. Morrow just comes up with the lottery idea again that is supposed to appeal to the voters who could least afford spending money on tickets, but who are looking for a big win. He is hoping they may vote for him because of that. He'll need a lot of support from the state legislature to pull that one off. So, don't buy into that idea.

It's time to send Johnny Mack back to the farm to retire for good - For A Better To" Morrow." What are the plans for that better tomorrow?

Digital Walking Tour

FLORENCE—You can now explore the hidden history of downtown Florence with a simple touch of your phone, as the Muscle Shoals National Heritage Area unveiled its new cellphone walking tour this week. The downtown Florence tour includes about 20 buildings which is hosted by OnCell, a company that offers mobile apps for museums and historic sites across the country. Anyone can access the tour for free using a smart phone or tablet to scan the QR code displayed at participating businesses. "After scanning the code, you can access photographs, maps, oral histories, advertisements and other items related to the buildings, along with a historical narrative and an architectural overview," said Brian Murphy, curator at Florence Arts and Museums.

Historic preservation consultant Katie Randall and Murphy spent months compiling information about each building. The MSNHA and participating businesses also helped fund the project. "This tour really allows users to interact with these buildings on a completely different level," Randall said. "It allows people to see them in a way they might not have thought about before."

In conjunction with the tour, the Kennedy-Douglass Center for the Arts is hosting an exhibit based around the architecture of downtown Florence. Designed by Florence Arts and Museums program coordinator, Christi Britten, the exhibit is open until November 1. It features historical and contemporary photographs of the buildings featured on the tour and has QR codes that visitors can scan to access the tour.

The Kennedy-Douglass Center for the Arts is located at 217 E. Tuscaloosa St. Hours are from 9am-4pm Mondays- Fridays.

Debunking Bankruptcy Myths: But Won't Bankruptcy Ruin My Credit for Seven Years?

B. Grant McNutt
Managing Attorney

This question, or some form of it, is asked by virtually every person that comes in to see us to discuss their financial problems. The answer is usually fairly simple. By the time they have come in to see us, their credit is already ruined! This doesn't necessarily mean that they have a bad credit score. Some folks manage to keep making minimum payments each month. Unfortunately, this is often accomplished by taking cash advances against another card and/or borrowing money from a payday loan store. But even in these cases, the poor individual is hopelessly over extended and living with a great deal of stress.

The old myth about bankruptcy ruining a person's credit for seven years seems to come from a belief that a bankruptcy filing can be listed on a person's credit report for seven years. But even this belief is incorrect. A bankruptcy filing can, in fact, be listed on a filer's credit report for ten years from the date of filing. This does not mean, however, that a person has bad credit for ten years. In fact, a bankruptcy discharge can often make it EASIER to obtain credit.

Doesn't make sense? Well think about it from a practical perspective. Say you go to a banker to borrow money today. You have NEVER filed bankruptcy. You have, however, been a week or two late on your mortgage or car payment a couple of times. You have about $25,000 in credit card debt and have only been making minimum payments for a while now. You may even have a payday loan or two. In other words, you are barely getting by. If the banker lends you money today, he will be competing with all of your other creditors to be paid on his loan. You barely have enough money to pay them. How are you going to pay this new debt? In addition to all this, the banker will have to consider the fact that you could file bankruptcy on the other creditors and him after he lends you the money.

Now fast forward. You filed a chapter 7 bankruptcy last year and discharged all of your debt except your car and house debt. Since that time, you have made your house and car payments on time every month. You have no other creditors. If the banker lends you money now, he will not be competing with other creditors. Furthermore, he will not need to worry about you filing another chapter 7 bankruptcy. You cannot file again for eight years after the first bankruptcy was filed. From this perspective, you are less of a risk now than you were before filing your bankruptcy.

If you question this logic, call the finance manager at your local car dealership. You will likely learn that you can qualify for an automobile loan the day after you receive your bankruptcy discharge. Call a real estate agent. You will also learn that many people qualify for a mortgage within a few short years after a bankruptcy discharge.

In practice, we typically find that a good waiting period after finishing a bankruptcy is not 7 years, but actually about 6-9 months before trying to make any large credit purchases, such as a new car. That is typically enough time for your credit to rebuild such that you shouldn't have too much trouble getting a good interest rate. For very large purchases, like a new mortgage, the general rule of thumb is to give it 1-2 years from the bankruptcy discharge.

Now this doesn't mean that bankruptcy is the best option for you. Bankruptcy should never be your first choice. If, however, you are struggling with debt, please give us a call and sit down with us and fully explore how a bankruptcy will affect your credit. We offer free private and confidential consultations. We can help you!

Elderly and the Little Things

Editor:

When we find ourselves old and alone, either we learn to live a life that is approved by God and look forward to heaven, or we don't.

So many people are depressed because of their human and materialistic losses on this earth that they have turned to alcohol, sex drugs, opiates and anything else that can give them a temporary escape.

The key to living is not to escape, but to embrace.

Embrace the pain of loss, embrace that your loved ones dead or alive are not coming back.

Work toward a God-approved relationship of love and forgiveness for yourself and for others.

I love doing for others what they cannot do for themselves.

I love dressing and nurturing the elderly. I love putting sugar and cream in their coffee.

Little things make elderly people happy.

Elderly people are hopefully looking forward to heaven, too.

When I think about heaven, I don't see windows and walls. I see a big open space filled with people who are enjoying being with each other and their Creator.

I imagine Perfection because all things are possible with God THE Creator.

Until then I encourage all who suffer the loss of loved ones to go into the world and find someone who has less faculties than you and nurture them with your loving kindness.

And feel heaven on earth.

Joy Willow
Florence

Jail Should Be the Priority

Editor:

Recently Sheriff Singleton addressed the problem of overpopulation in the Lauderdale Detention facility on local television. In addressing the issue Sheriff Singleton showed plans for adding a second story and why the addition is needed. This has been a problem for several years.

The county commissioners spent $2.6 million to purchase land for which no feasibility study has been done. Now they want the taxpayers to give them a credit card with an unknown final price tag and then expecting the taxpayers to make the payments. Well, I assume the county commissioners haven't ever heard of deficit spending or considering the safety of the public over building an AG Center that and life skills. He accepted an invitation to discuss these matters from the wrong president. He deserves some kudos for voluntarily and publicly leaving the shackles of the plantation after three generations of democrat supervisors whipping the residents into line. That's not saying that Kanye or Jim Brown will agree with everything right or even most things right. What it does affirm is that black people have the same rights to varied opinions as do white people, Hispanics, and any other classification of people. We don't assume all whites are conservatives or liberal. Why should we assume such with blacks?

In December of 2016 Jim Brown met with Donald Trump before his inauguration. Afterward Brown said he admired what Trump went through to become the president. "He's got my admiration. I fell in love with him because he talks about helping African American/black people, that he was very receptive to what was needed in the black community... he was very receptive, funny, cracked some jokes, understood it very well, and said he was in."

After having lunch with Trump and Kanye West last week, Brown described the discussion as very positive.

When Brown was asked, "What has been the reaction of the football community to your support of this administration and this president, Brown replied, "I don't know. I really don't... and I don't really care, because this is the President of the United States. He allowed me to be invited to his territory. He treated us beautifully, and he shared some thoughts. And he will be open to talking when I get back to him. That's the best he could do for me. So, I'm happy to say on that, it's been very successful."

All the popular black commentators want to channel most of their rhetoric through their liberal base where it will be received favorably. However, people like Thomas Sowell, Walter Williams, and Sylvia Thompson have been taking strong positions as black conservatives for years.

Maybe Don Lemon's guests should have been reading real American history instead of the revisionist history absorbed these days on many college campuses. They either ignored or were not taught that it was the first republican President, Lincoln, who signed the Emancipation Proclamation into law abolishing slavery in the U.S. and essentially giving his life for it. Because there remained pockets of slavery afterward, Republicans introduced and passed the 13th, 14th and 15th Amendments that clarified the illegality of involuntary servitude, granted freed slaves U.S.

citizenship, and recognized the right of former slaves to vote. Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower created a Commission on Civil Rights in 1957, and in 1960 he sent Federal Inspectors to the Voter Registration polls. Democratic president, Lyndon B. Johnson, relied on the Republicans to pass the Civil Rights Act of 1964, an anti-discrimination law. Had it been left up to democrats led by southern senators Robert Byrd and Albert Gore, Sr, the legislation would have been in trouble. Even republican President Richard Nixon was the one to enforce Affirmative Action through Art Fletcher's Philadelphia Plan in 1969. President Ronald Reagan designated Dr. Martin Luther King Jr's birthday a national holiday. President G.W. Bush appointed a record number of blacks to high-level positions in the federal government.

What is the most telling is that it was the Republican Congress that voted to fund the school voucher program in Washington DC, which now enables mostly minority, poor students to attend top private schools in that area. This was in response to President Obama and Harry Reid stripping the funding earlier to satisfy their union donors.

By the way, how many of the current whiners know that all of the black Congressman elected during Reconstruction were Republicans, including James T. Rapier who was born in Florence and served in the U.S. House, representing Alabama from 1873-1875?

Republicans generally have a long history of illustrating support for blacks through legislation. So, while Democrats were generally the party of slavery, Jim Crow, black codes, and the KKK, republicans were the party of Lincoln, reconstruction, anti-lynching laws, and the civil rights acts of 1875, 1957, 1960, and 1964. Now, amid unprecedented backlash, President Trump is quietly making history in employment, education, and community efforts for minority students and residents. He gets nothing but taunts and ridicule from the media and those satisfied with the Democrat promises and the unchanging view on the plantation.

The NFL's Jim Brown recently endorsed Trump's re-election bid as well. He added, "Now, that would make me very unpopular in the black community, very unpopular with a lot of Americans. However, I think that there are certain good things that are coming out of this presidency because we've never seen anything like it."

How foolish we are when closed-mindedness and politics are more important than tackling issues that can salvage generations of many on the lower end of the economic ladder of all races and nationalities simply because the wrong president is finally addressing them.

SPECIAL GUEST OPINION EDITORIAL

Kayne, Trump Meeting Exposes Liberal Democrats as the Gate-Keepers

I WANT TO GIVE KANYE WEST props for standing up for free speech and free thought.

Recently, we all watched how the media and Dems tore into Justice Brett Kavanaugh and his family with disgusting lies and down-right demonic slurs.

Why attack Kavanaugh? Because Trump selected him. They would have attacked anyone Trump nominated.

With Kanye, it's pretty much the same thing. It's as if the media is saying "how dare anyone, especially a black person, have a friendship with -- or support this President of the United States."

So, then comes the derogatory name-calling: minstrel, Uncle Tom, coon, "negro," and the other "n" word delivered by plantation blacks to the delight of their white colleagues.

Are we really surprised? Unfortunately, no.

The Dems and liberals will always attempt to marginalize black people who "step out of line."

I experienced similar attacks years ago when I decided to compete in the formerly all-white Miss America Pageant* rather than compete in the all black pageant.

I received racially charged name-calling and death-threats from white people as well as racial slurs from many blacks.

Note to Kanye: Sometimes it's hard to stand in the midst of an overwhelming flood. So, you learn to swim -- and even float.

I know I did, and in a very small way, I helped to change the face of America's girl next door. Kanye and I don't agree on much, but regarding President Trump, I stand with him as one of the thousands and thousands of black so-called "tokens" who truly believe President Trump -- with God's grace -- has the ability to make America great, maybe even greater than ever before.

* Day Gardner as Miss Delaware 1976 was the first black woman to place in the semi-finals in the Miss America Pageant.

Jail Should Be the Priority

a lot of people object to!! The need for a jail that is adequate to meet the needs of the public and their safety seems to have been secondary. The plans the sheriff showed on television clearly show the county was aware of the problems with the jail and certainly should have acted on them before going out and spending $2.6 million for land for the AG Center.

Our county commissioners need to begin learning that they need to prioritize their financial needs and live within their means just like we do as taxpayers. That doesn't include going out and getting a new credit card and having to make payments on things you WANT while really not having the money to pay for them.

I won't be voting for any tax increase because the county government clearly is not capable of prioritizing.

I will vote against any of my elected officials who have failed to spend in a frugal manner. I don't spend what I don't have, and I am not going to put anything on a credit card that I can't pay when the monthly statement comes in!

Too many elected officials aren't being responsible with the taxpayer's money. I resent their putting any new tax proposal before the public. I urge everyone to consider this issue and consider why you should vote for deficit spending that YOU will have to pay for.

Yes, we need an addition to our county detention facility. We need it more than an AG center that will cost $45 million dollars with the potential of costing us more. If you thought traffic on Florence Blvd is bad, wait until you see what it will be like once the proposed AG Center is built.

God bless America and Lauderdale County.

Philip Goodale

Blood-Stained Roll of Loot

Dear editor:

My resume mixed with years of professional gambling and decades of following and fighting legal-but-lethal tobacco, forces me to wager a pint of my 66-year-old blood that former U.N. Ambassador and Governor of South Carolina will follow former Speaker of the House John Boehner (Republican "Pro-Lifer") by accepting a highly paid tobacco ambassadorship spot that gives her a discretionary blood-stained roll of loot to grease palms in high places to promote tobacco in low places.

News & Tips on the Shoals Market

TIMES HAVE CHANGED

Remember the movie about the guy who was in ice for hundreds of years and woke up in the 21st century? I can't think of the name of the movie, but I think it would be really neat for an agent from 2018 to go back in time, say to the 1970's and try to sell real estate, or for that matter, an agent from the 70's to wake up in 2018 and try to sell.

Can you imagine explaining to a realtor from 1980 that you can take a picture of a new listing from your phone and upload it immediately, right there on the spot, so anyone in the world could look at it on their phone? Or that we all have a phone for that matter?

What about being able to email a buyer the neighborhood covenants as you are standing on the property they are looking at, right then, right there, from your phone?

The real estate business has changed so dramatically over the past 30 years that it's almost unimaginable for it to be done any other way.

Today's consumer is much more likely to email you for information than to call, and why not, it's easier. In fact, it's not unusual for someone to send a text message to set up an appointment or request additional information. In fact, most sellers would prefer a text message to set up a showing over a phone call, and most agents prefer a text as well.

Video tours are quickly becoming a buyer's preferred method of looking at a home online and in most cases the buyer tells the agent which MLS numbers they want to see instead of describing the type of home they want.

Times have definitely changed. Over the past 18 years I have watched the internet become a bigger and bigger part of not only Real Estate sales, but also how we communicate, both with clients and fellow REALTORS. Like it or not, it is a major part of selling homes today.

From the mortgage application to the closing table, most everything involved with a real estate transaction today would be unrecognizable to someone from only a decade ago, much less 30 years. -mr

DAVE Says

by DAVE RAMSEY

PAY IT OFF!

Dear Dave, I can't decide what to do about my car. I owe $8,000 on it, and I have the cash to pay it off with plenty left over. One of my co-workers said I shouldn't pay it off, because I have a very low interest rate on the loan. What do you think?
Derricka

Dear Derricka, What do I think? I think your co-worker is broke. Taking financial advice from broke people is like taking dieting advice from fat people. In other words, it's dumb.

Pay off your car, and never borrow money to buy a car again for the rest of your life. If you want to win with money, you have to get out of the land of car payments. The idea that you're stuck with car payments — that you're always going to have one — is the mantra of those who've given up hope. You are in charge of your life. You are in charge of your financial situation. Don't be like all those folks out there who whine about stuff like stagnant wages and are unwilling to get up off their stagnant butts to make their lives better.

Derricka, pay off your car today. And please, don't take any more financial advice from broke people!
—Dave

EMERGENCY FUND IN CASH?

Dear Dave, My wife and I are completely debt-free. We would like to have part of our emergency fund in cash inside a heavy duty safe at home. How should we document this cash in the event of fire or theft? Also, would our homeowners insurance policy cover cash?
Will

Dear Will, Typically, homeowners insurance policies have a limit as to how much cash they will cover. I'd advise re-reading your policy, and double checking with your insurance agent just to be sure. When it comes to documenting valuables, I'd suggest making a video or taking photographs. Just to be extra cautious, you could store these in a safe deposit box at your local credit union or bank.

Having some cash on hand is never a bad thing. When it comes to the portion of your emergency fund you keep at home, I'd recommend just being reasonable. If you've got $10,000 set aside for emergencies, I'm okay with you keeping $5,000 at home in a quality safe. I wouldn't put all, or even most of it, in a safe, though.

Again, just make sure your homeowners policy covers anything you might put in there. A strong, fireproof safe is a must!

Medicare Minute "Medicare Advantage Plans"

Medicare Annual Enrollment Period (AEP) extends from October 15th through December 7th. This is the time of year you can sign up for or make any changes to your Medicare Advantage Plan (MA) or Prescription Drug Plan (PDP). Over the next few weeks we are going to look at MA and PDP plans and what to look for when choosing these plans.

Medicare Advantage Plans, or Part C Medicare, are offered through private insurance companies that Medicare approves. If you join a Medicare Advantage Plan you still have Medicare but will receive your Medicare Part A and Medicare Part B coverage through the private insurance company offering the MA plan you join. Medicare Advantage Plans are not Medicare supplements.

Here are a couple of rules to remember if considering a Medicare Advantage Plan. To be eligible to join a Medicare Advantage Plan you must be enrolled in Part A and Part B Medicare. You must also live in the service area of the plan. For example, if you live in Lauderdale or Colbert counties you are only eligible for plans that are offered in your county. Just because a plan is offered in Huntsville or Birmingham does not mean it's available in Lauderdale or Colbert counties. Also, you do not have to be 65 to join an Advantage Plan. If you have been on Social Security disability for 24 months and have Medicare you can join a plan.

Over the next few weeks we will begin to look at the six things to consider when choosing a Medicare Advantage Plan. Those six things are premium, copays, coinsurance, deductibles, provider networks and the drug formulary of the plan. We will also discuss the difference between your plan options such as a HMO and a PPO. In the meantime if you have any questions about Medicare Advantage Plans you can contact our office.

If you have questions regarding any aspect of Medicare or Medicare health plans feel free call us at Alabama Health Guidance (256-648-5710), stop by our office at 885 Florence Blvd (Four Lane Shopping Center) or email me at ikey@alabamahealthguidance.com. Alabama Health Guidance is an independent insurance agency and is not affiliated with Medicare or any other government agency.
