I was driving when I saw the flash of a traffic camera. I figured that my picture had been taken for exceeding the limit even though I knew that I was not speeding.

Just to be sure, I went around the block and passed the same spot, driving even more slowly, but again the camera flashed. Now I began to think that this was quite funny, so I drove even slower as I passed the area once more, but the traffic camera again flashed.

I tried a fourth and fifth time with the same results and was now laughing as the camera flashed while I rolled past at a snail's pace.

Two weeks later, I got five tickets in the mail for driving without a seat belt.

Shipwrecked

There were two men shipwrecked on this island. The minute they got on to the island one of them started screaming and yelling, "We're going to die! We're going to die! There's no food! No water! We're going to die!"

The second man was propped up against a palm tree and acting so calmly it drove the first man crazy. "Don't you understand?!? We're going to die!!!"

The second man replied, "You don't understand, I make $100,000 a week."

The first man looked at him quite dumbfounded and asked, "What difference does that make?!? We're on an island with no food and no water! We're going to DIE!!!"

The second man answered, "You just don't get it. I make $100,000 a week and I tithed ten percent on that $100,000 a week. My pastor will find me!"

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

- * It was American author and futurist Alvin Toffler who made the following sage observation: "Profits, like sausages, are esteemed most by those who know least about what goes into them."
- * A leech can consume 10 times its own weight in its victims' blood.
- * King James VI of Scotland also was, after the crowns of England and Scotland were united in 1603, King James I of England. He may have been doubly noble, but those who study such things say his personal habits would not have been out of place in a commoner of the time. He reportedly never bathed, claiming that baths were an unhealthy practice, and he would wear the same clothes for months on end.
- * A newly married couple sued the upscale resort in Chile where they spent their honeymoon after a swim in the pool turned the bride's waist-length blond hair green.
- * If you remember the early-1960s TV series "Route 66," you might be surprised to learn that the show was actually shot in Florida and Oregon, nowhere near the fabled highway.
- * Those who live in the state of Minnesota might want to keep in mind that in that state it's against the law to sleep with no clothes on.
- * Those of you who need your daily java fix probably won't be surprised to learn that coffee is one of the most popular drinks worldwide and is one of the most traded agricultural commodities. Due to limitations in cultivation, however, Hawaii is the only state in the U.S. that produces the beans.

Thought for the Day: "Half of the harm that is done in this world is due to people who want to feel important. They don't mean to do harm, but the harm does not interest them." -- T.S. Eliot

The animal shelter in Danville has always been prepared for natural disasters. We have a supply of water for the animals to drink, have a supply of food that would last for a few days, and even have crates and carriers stored in cases of evacuation.

Last Thursday afternoon, we had watched the track of Hurricane Michael and felt that the shelter would be safe from the worst effects of it. The shelter is located high above the river. We had problems with flooding in a hallway and cat room during heavy rainstorms, but that is due to a drainage problem and not the river.

However, we were not prepared for how quickly and how powerfully water can rush into a building. Thankfully, the hurricane did not hit full force during the night when no one was at the shelter.

It seemed that one minute the shelter was secure and dry and the next minute, employees were shouting about water rushing into the adoption center. Cats in Camp Meow Meow and Kitty Corner jumped onto the trees and storage benches and dogs stood on their resting beds to escape the water. Employees quickly evacuated them from the adoption center and put them into dry parts of the shelter. The three men from Daniel Builders who were working on the renovation that day jumped in to help with no hesitation. All of the animals were saved.

The next day, a large group of volunteers worked for hours helping us to clean up the mud and helping us to restore order to the shelter.

To end the week, we had our annual Paws & Claws event and were able to raise thousands of dollars to help the animals.

We are grateful to a community of compassionate people who realize that the human heart is big enough to love humans and animals.

After Hep C Is Treated, What About Cirrhosis?

DEAR DR. ROACH: I am a 59-year-old woman who was recently diagnosed with hepatitis C and cirrhosis. I have never been a drinker. I was treated with Harvoni for three months. I understand the medication is intended to cure the hepatitis C. What about the cirrhosis? My doctor hasn't explained any of my long-term effects from taking this. -- C.J.

ANSWER: Hepatitis C is a common infection of the liver. It is caused by a virus, which can be transmitted by blood and blood products, as well as through sharing needles for injection drugs. It is rarely transmitted sexually.

Anyone with a history of injection drug use, who received blood transfusions or organ transplants before 1992, or who received clotting factors before 1987 should be tested, as should anyone with a known blood or sexual exposure to someone with hepatitis C. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention also recommends testing all adults born in the United States between 1945 and 1965, anyone who is HIV-infected, who received hemodialysis or was incarcerated.

The treatment you have taken (Harvoni) is a combination of ledipasvir and sofosbuvir, and has an excellent cure rate. The cure rate is 99 percent in people who had never been treated before and who did not have cirrhosis. Even people like you, with cirrhosis, had a cure rate of 94 percent with 12 weeks of therapy in the trial that got the medication approved. Cirrhosis is liver damage and scarring as a result of liver disease. Once it has developed, it is not reversible; however, a successful cure of the hepatitis C virus greatly reduces the risk of further damage, specifically reducing the need for liver transplant and the rates of death, liver cancer and other liver-related complications.

These medications are so new that I can't estimate how much lower your risk of further damage to your liver is post-treatment; however, there is little doubt that your likely successful treatment will substantially improve your expected length and quality of life. But, since you still have cirrhosis, you will need to take some important precautions. These include continued abstinence from alcohol, careful monitoring of prescription and non-prescription medications, avoiding raw shellfish and making sure your immunizations are up-to-date. You should keep asking your gastroenterologist questions until you are satisfied. I recommend you make a list of questions to ask, and bring a friend to help make sure you understand the answers you get.

DEAR DR. ROACH: Should your blood pressure go higher as you age? Is the top number or the bottom more important? I don't like medicine, and my blood pressure was 145/82, but the top number sometimes goes to 150-158. -- J.S.

ANSWER: Both the systolic (top number) and diastolic blood pressures are important, and the difference between them is occasionally important (for example, a blood pressure of 160/60 is more worrisome than 160/85). Blood pressure does go up with age, but even in people over 60, the recommendation is still to get the BP down below 150, and I try to aim for 140 if there aren't too many side effects. It often takes several tries to find a regimen that gets the blood pressure where it should be without affecting quality of life.

Dr. Roach regrets that he is unable to answer individual letters, but will incorporate them in the column whenever possible. Readers may email questions to ToYourGoodHealth@med.cornell.edu.

HOLLYWOOD

by Tony Rizzo

HOLLYWOOD — Two-time "Braveheart" Oscar-winner Mel Gibson (for best picture and director), now forgiven for all past transgressions, will co-write, produce and star in a remake of "The Wild Bunch." The original starred William Holden, Ernest Borgnine, Robert Ryan, Edmund O'Brian, Warren Oates and Ben Johnson. I can't wait to see how they cast this one. But before that, Gibson will be seen in "War Pigs," with Colin Farrell, and helm the war drama "Destroyer," reportedly with buddy Mark Wahlberg. Wahlberg hits screens Nov. 16 in "Instant Family," with Rose Byrne, Octavia Spencer, Margo Martindale and Tig Notaro.

Disney darling Lin-Manuel Miranda hits screens Dec. 19 in "Mary Poppins Returns" as Jack the lamplighter, former apprentice of Bert, played by Dick Van Dyke in the original. Van Dyke, who also played Mr. Dawes Sr., now is playing his own son, Dawes Jr., in the sequel. Also starring are Meryl Streep as Topsy, Angela Lansbury as The Balloon Lady and, of course, Emily Blunt as Mary Poppins. Miranda is currently filming the fantasy adventure "His Dark Materials," with James McAvoy and Ruth Wilson.

The smash Broadway musical "Cats" is headed for the big screen with "Dreamgirls" Oscar-winner Jennifer Hudson, pop star Taylor Swift, talk-show host James Corden and Sir Ian McKellen. "Les Miserables" director Tom Hooper will direct for a December 2019 opening. Meanwhile, Cameron Crowe's Oscar-winning screenplay "Almost Famous" is being adapted into a musical for Broadway, while the London musicalized version of "Network," which starred Michelle Dockery in London, also is headed for Broadway (opening Dec. 6). Bryan Cranston and "Orphan Black" star Tatiana Maslany will take on the roles that won Oscars for Peter Finch and Faye Dunaway.

Depositphotos

Mel Gibson

Joaquin Phoenix, currently on screens in "The Sisters Brothers," with Jake Gyllenhaal and John C. Reilly, and awaiting "Mary Magdalene," in which he plays Jesus (delayed by the Weinstein Company mess), is going very dark as "The Joker," playing a failed stand-up comedian/talk-show host during the 1980s who turns to a life of crime. Robert De Niro co-stars. If the plot sounds familiar, and ironic, De Niro starred in "The King of Comedy" (1982) as Rupert Pupkin, an autograph hound and mentally deranged aspiring stand-up comic who kidnaps a talk-show host, played by Jerry Lewis.

De Niro has reteamed with his "Goodfellas" (1990) co-stars Al Pacino and Joe Pesci in director Martin Scorsese's Netflix film "The Irishman," premiering in 2019. Andrew Dice Clay has been bragging that he beat out both Robert De Niro and John Travolta for the role he is in the current release of "A Star Is Born," with Lady Gaga and Bradley Cooper. Don't know how De Niro will react, but in the good old days those were considered fighting words. Andrew Dice Clay should know better than take on "The Raging Bull."

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) The high standards you set for yourself don't always translate into the behavior you expect of others. That relationship problem can be resolved if you're more flexible and less judgmental.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Not enough party bids to satisfy the Bovine's fun-loving side this week? Go ahead and throw one of your own. Then prepare for some serious work coming up early next week.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) A new and intensely productive cycle is about to kick in. Be careful not to get too stressed out, though. Make time to restore your energies by relaxing with family and friends.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) This could be a good time to share some of your plans with those closest to you. Their comments could give you some added insight into how you might accomplish your goals.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) An attack of self-doubt might be unsettling for the usually super-assured Feline. But it could be your inner voice telling you to hold off implementing your plans until you've reassessed them.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) This is a great time for you to reward yourself for all your hard work by taking a trip you haven't spent months carefully planning, to somewhere you never thought you'd be going.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Some misunderstandings resist being resolved. But your sincerity in wanting to soothe those hurt feelings wins the day. By month's end, that relationship should begin to show signs of healing.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) A hectic job schedule begins to ease just in time to blow off all that work-generated steam on Halloween. A family situation runs into an unexpected complication.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) A cutting remark in the workplace needs to be handled with finesse. Remember: How you respond could determine the depth of support you gain from colleagues.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Once again, that Capricornean stubborn streak sets in and could keep you from getting much-needed advice. Fortunately, it lifts by week's end, in time to make an informed decision.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A surprise trip early in the week could lead to other unexpected offers when you return. Word to the wise: Avoid talking too much about this until you've made some decisions.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Learning dominates the week for perspicacious Pisceans, who are always looking to widen their range of knowledge. A series of important job-linked commitments begins late in the week.

BORN THIS WEEK: Your sense of humor generates good feelings and good will everywhere you go.

Flashed Glass Decanters

Is a red-and-white glass decanter made of cased glass, flashed glass or stained glass? All three were methods of adding color to a clear glass piece to make it more decorative. The cost and quality of each is different, and collectors should look carefully and ask questions before they buy.

These 19th-century Bohemian flashed glass decanters were blown, flashed with red glass, cut and then decorated with orange and black enamel and gilt. The 20-inch-high pair auctioned for $1,920.

Stained glass is the least expensive way to color glass. This method uses a staining material that is brushed on, becomes red or amber, and adheres to the glass when heated. The layer of material is very thin, and if cleaned too vigorously, it could wear off. It often is used to color pressed glass.

Flashed glass is made by using an added thin layer of glass over a different color glass. It is made by taking a "gather" of hot glass, dipping it into a second colored glass, then blowing it into shape. It leaves a thin layer of glass but makes a piece that appears to be made of one solid color, which would be more valuable.

Cased or plated glass is the most expensive. It is made by putting a thick layer of glass over a glass piece of a different color. It can be decorated on the outside layer or cut to expose the inside layer. Look at the rim at the top of a cased vase, and you'll see two distinct layers. Some glass, like rubina verde, is made with a yellow glass body and red glass added inside. It makes a two-color glass.

To make this even more difficult for beginners, there are many different ways to decorate the outside of any of these glass pieces. The glass can be cut through to a different color or just in a clear section. It can be painted on the outside with gilt and enamel to make decorations in many colors. A very elaborate pair of Bohemian flashed glass decanters with cut and enameled decorations sold at a recent Cowan auction for $1,920.

Q. When did Judith Leiber start making her jeweled purses? I have my mother's purse, which looks like a pile of books. Is it valuable?

A. Judith Leiber purses were first made in 1963. She sold the company and the name in 1993, but she continued designing until 2004. Her jeweled handbags in great condition sell for hundreds of dollars. The pile of books purse has sold for $700.

New Opportunities for Inspiration Coming to Danville Science Center

DANVILLE, Va., Oct. 15, 2018 – In 2016, the leadership of the Danville Science Center ranked a major refreshment of its core exhibits as its top priority moving forward. This major initiative would create better experiences to help guests make more connections to the world around them. A recent gift from the Danville Regional Foundation helped the Science Center nearly achieve its interior enhancement campaign goal, enabling the organization to turn dozens of innovative ideas into reality.

Located in the Danville Passenger Rail Station since 1995, the Science Center offers curious guests of all ages the chance to explore STEM concepts and skills with interactive exhibits, hands-on activities, live demonstrations, touring exhibitions and special events. While the Science Center is the Dan River Region’s educational and cultural anchor, inspiring nearly 49,000 guests each year, an extensive community engagement process revealed the need for enhanced experiences as permanent galleries at the museum have not been updated since its opening.

To accomplish this, the Science Center developed a master plan that included a $9 million interior refurbishment. The $3 million from Danville Regional Foundation combined with $5.25 million awarded from the state and $250,000 from the Hughes Memorial Foundation allows the Science Center to begin the work, which is scheduled to conclude by December 2020.

“This funding is instrumental in completing our first phase of interior improvements and enriching the guest experience outlined in the master plan,” said Science Center Executive Director Adam Goebel. “This allows us to deliver a world-class dynamic community resource, and puts us on the trajectory of being the pre-eminent regional destination for informal learning and discovery for a diverse, multi-generational audience by 2025.”

The financial support will underwrite the fabrication and installation of four signature, permanent displays that will have lasting impact on the education, economic and community health of the Dan River Region:

- Young Learners Gallery – This 1,800-square-foot train-themed space is dedicated to preschool-age children and their families. Aimed at introducing families to important STEM fundamentals, it is a one-of-a-kind experience in the area.
- “Water” – This signature 4,600-square-foot gallery will help guests understand water differently, from its chemical makeup, to the ecology of bodies of water like the Dan River and the power we can generate from this resource.
- “Go!” – Addressing the physics of motion through kinesthetic (physical interaction) learning, this 4,500-square-foot space engages participants in social and inquiry-driven challenges prompting collaboration to generate results.
- Creativity Lab – Offering guests access to craft and design tools – from construction paper to digital design programs – this lab offers a hands-on entry point into STEM learning.

While interior renovations take place, the Danville Science Center Foundation will be working to raise an additional $1.5 million from individuals and businesses to achieve the overall campaign goal, thus enabling the Science Center to implement the full master plan adopted in 2017.

Delegate Danny Marshall and Senator Bill Stanley sponsored budget amendments to obtain state funding for this project. The entire Southside delegation, Senator Frank Ruff, Delegates Les Adams, James Edmunds and Charles Poindexter, co-sponsored and were also instrumental in obtaining the state funding for this project.

“The Science Center is a very important educational resource for students. It offers science, technology, engineering and math (STEM) training through hands-on science,” said Delegate Danny Marshall. “I am proud to have sponsored the House budget amendment that will help fund a national caliber array of new exhibits.”

The Science Center is a satellite location of the Science Museum of Virginia in Richmond, which completed the last of its major interior refurbishments this fall with the opening of a permanent makerspace, The Forge. This multi-year project created new opportunities to highlight how informal educational organizations, such as science museums and centers, can enrich a community and inspire guests to enjoy the process of discovery.

“STEM literacy is a fundamental competency in today’s world,” said Science Museum of Virginia Chief Wonder Officer Richard Conti. “It informs our choices at the gas pump, grocery store and ballot box, how we care for our lawns, pay our bills and connect with our communities—both locally and globally. By offering a lens through which to view our world and fostering an inquiring outlook informed by science and data, we are encouraging guests to practice science in their everyday lives.”

Potter Hired as Director of Planning, Effectiveness, and Research at DCC

Danville, Va., October 1, 2018 – Danville Community College (DCC) hired its new Director of Planning, Effectiveness, and Research in September.

Cory Potter, originally from Mansfield, Ohio, came to DCC from Bethune-Cookman University (BCU) in Daytona Beach, Florida, where he most recently served as the executive director of institutional assessment. Potter began as a faculty member teaching student life skills courses, later serving in a variety of capacities including department chair, general education committee chair, quality enhancement plan co-chair, and member of the strategic growth and sustainability task force and SACSCOC compliance certification writing team. Potter also brings over 17 years of strategic planning experience to DCC, as he previously served as the senior operations and strategic initiatives manager for a major mortgage company and as director of marketing for a super-regional bank.

Potter is currently completing his dissertation for his doctorate in curriculum and assessment from the University of West Florida. He has earned an educational specialist degree in curriculum and instruction from the University of West Florida, a master of divinity degree from Liberty University, and a Bachelor of Science degree in orthotics and prosthetics from the University of Texas Southwestern Medical Center in Dallas.

Potter is married to his bride of 25 years, Susan. They have two daughters. He is also an ordained pastor actively involved in church planning.

“I am excited to join the DCC team and contribute my expertise to all of the innovations and success already happening at DCC,” Potter said. “I look forward to identifying opportunities and providing vision for continuous improvements based on data-informed decision making that includes data collection, analysis, and interpretation to strategically position DCC for growth and operational effectiveness and efficiency. My role as the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools (SACS – Commission on Colleges) liaison will assist the college to remain fully compliant with accreditation requirements, as well. I get the sense that everyone at DCC wants each and every student to succeed and reach their career goals and personal potential. The staff and faculty are helpful and friendly. The students that I have met are energized and happy to be here.”

Carrigan Wins Faculty Showcase Award

Danville, Va., October 10, 2018 – Danville Community College (DCC) Associate Professor of Information Technology Steven Carrigan was recognized last week for winning the 2018 Virginia Community College Association (VCCA) Faculty Showcase Award during the annual conference in Fredericksburg.

Criteria for the award include excellence in teaching, significant contributions in education, significant contributions to the community college, and professional development activities related to higher education.

Carrigan is also the director of the DCC Cyber Center.

Carrigan was instrumental in DCC becoming the first rural community college in Virginia to earn a prestigious cyber security designation from the National Security Agency (NSA) and the Department of Homeland Security (DHS). The college was designated as a National Center of Academic Excellence in Cyber Defense Two-Year Education (CAE2Y) in 2017.

Most recently, Carrigan launched the college's new unmanned aerial systems or drone flight program, which prepares students for licensure to legally operate drones in professional areas such as photography, videography, agricultural management, and many other applications.

New student enrollment at the college begins November 1.

Longtime DCC Honor Society Advisors Pinned

Danville, Va., October 3, 2018 – Danville Community College (DCC) Phi Theta Kappa advisors Vickie Taylor and Sherry Gott were recognized for 30 and 15 years of service to PTK, respectively, during the college's monthly faculty meeting on Tuesday, October 2.

DCC President Bruce Scism presented pins to Taylor and Gott from PTK, while highlighting their achievements as advisors, including taking the student organization to five-star status, after the Upsilon Phi chapter had fallen to no stars in 1988.

“We eventually rose to five stars and have maintained it for most of the last 25 years,” Taylor said. “Last year, we were the outstanding chapter in the region and we won two chapter awards at the international level.”

Taylor and Gott are joined this year by a third advisor, Mary Motley, who was in the first group of new members during Taylor's first term as advisor.

"The Chief Fudge Officer"

Most preachers do either all pastoring or all evangelism. As one of the rare preachers who for a very long time has done both, I can tell you that they are radically different tasks, and generate radically different emotions.

As an evangelist I will be at a church for a few nights and then be gone. I do make friends most everywhere I go, sometimes very good friends, but I am not usually around long enough to develop bonds of deepest affection, unless it is one of the churches I go back to year after year. But as a pastor, I get oh, so very attached to people...

Our church recently lost a very special person to me and to all of us. In fact, she held a lofty and powerful position among us; she was our CFO, our "Chief Fudge Officer."

Brenda was saved, but she was not rich. She had only a basic high school education, and she did not travel in the high echelons of the popular and powerful. She did not have much money to give. She did not sing specials, or even in one of our choirs. She was not on any committees. She did not teach Sunday school. She did not work in the bus ministry. She did not play any instruments. By all of the "normal measures" of service, she may have seemed to anyone who did not know her to be one who did not do much.

But if anyone was ever discouraged, she showed up with home made fudge for them. Other times she showed up with fudge even if no one was discouraged. And if it was not fudge it was her world famous mandarin orange cake, or a Butterfinger cake, or some other delectable treat guaranteed to sabotage any diet all while making the recipient glad to fall off of the calorie counting wagon.

In other words, she found something she was good at, and put it to use in the Lord's work.

In 1 Samuel 17 we find the historical account of David and Goliath. On the conservative side, Goliath was at least nine feet, nine inches tall. If the longer cubit, the king's cubit, was being spoken of, he may well have been over eleven feet tall. Either way, he was the most fearsome warrior to ever pass across the pages of Scripture and the path of Israel.

And yet, by the time the battle was over, a kid named David had cut him down. Everyone knows this. But many have never considered the two unnamed people who made it possible for David to fight and win this battle.

1 Samuel 17:20-22 says, "And David rose up early in the morning, and left the sheep with a keeper, and took, and went, as Jesse had commanded him; and he came to the trench, as the host was going forth to the fight, and shouted for the battle. For Israel and the Philistines had put the battle in array, army against army. And David left his carriage in the hand of the keeper of the carriage, and ran into the army, and came and saluted his brethren."

The keepers. One man who kept the sheep so he could go, and another who kept the carriage so he could go. Without them he could not have done what he did. The sheep could not be left unattended, and neither could the carriage. But two unnamed individuals did the anonymous work of "keeping" while David did the famous work of killing Goliath.

How often does the work of the Lord suffer, not for lack of giant killers, but for lack of keepers?

Nursery keepers, those precious souls who make sure that young mothers can hear the gospel message without being distracted by a fussy child. Security keepers, those brave folks who silently stand between the worshipers within and any harm that wants to get in. Custodial keepers, people willing to wield plunger, broom, and mop in the cause of the Lord.

The potential list is well nigh inexhaustible. Sunday school teachers. Bus workers. Homeless ministers. Sound technicians. Singers. Musicians. Soul winners. Vacation Bible school workers.

Those who minister to the nursing homes week after week, bringing church to those who cannot come to church. Givers. Or, like Brenda, those for whom the love of Christ flows from fingertips to oven and comes out in the form of baked goods.

God never, ever, saved anyone to sit. Whoever he saves, he saves to serve. He may not always be looking for a king, he only occasionally looks for a giant killer, but he is always looking for more keepers.

So long for now, Brenda. Tell the angels I expect them to save me a slice of my personal favorite, your orange mandarin cake.

VETERANS POST

Lazy Provider Faked Blood-Pressure Readings

A potentially life-threatening practice had been going on at one of the Department of Veteran Affairs medical facilities, until the Office of the Inspector General caught them at it. A primary-care provider had been falsifying blood-pressure readings to cut down on the workload.

This is a big deal. High blood pressure can lead to all kinds of ugly outcomes such as stroke, kidney disease, heart failure and heart attack.

Specifically, the OIG responded to a report that the primary-care provider was entering fake blood-pressure readings into the patients' records, indicating normal readings. When the OIG investigated, the care provider had put 128/78 into the record for 83 percent of the patients. The OIG reached out to 10 patients with that reading and was told that their blood pressure hadn't been taken at all.

At that point the OIG looked at 5,000 of that provider's patient records. Of those, 1,370 had conditions that required blood pressure to be tracked and controlled, and 1,364 of those had the same reading (128/78) entered into their record. In that group, 64 patients were ill with hypertension, which could have led to death. Additionally, lab work wasn't always done when prescription changes were ordered. The patients were scheduled for follow-up in nine months, no matter how serious their conditions.

Why on earth would a care provider falsify information like this? The OIG reported that the normal 128/78 reading was entered to turn off the clinical reminder -- an automatic note to the physician about whether lab work, referrals or medication changes are needed -- which served to reduce workload because a normal blood pressure would not require any other intervention or documentation.

Worse, the care provider may have received a performance bonus based on all the "improved" patient blood-pressure readings.

BUTTERMILK LEMON SQUARES

INGREDIENTS:

SHORTBREAD CRUST:

- 1/2 cup salted butter, melted and cooled slightly
 - 1 cup plus 2 Tbsp all purpose flour
 - 3 Tbsp powdered sugar
 - 1 Tbsp cornstarch
- LEMON FILLING:
- 3 large eggs, at room temperature
 - 1 1/2 cups granulated sugar
 - zest of 1 lemon
 - 1/2 cup lemon juice, fresh is absolutely best
 - 6 Tbsp all purpose flour
 - 1 1/2 Tbsp buttermilk
 - 1/2 tsp baking powder

FOR SERVING:

- powdered sugar
- lemon slices

INSTRUCTIONS

Preheat oven to 350 degrees F. Line an 8x8" baking pan with aluminum foil or parchment paper, set aside.

Combine crust ingredients (melted butter, flour, powdered sugar and cornstarch) in a mixing bowl, then press into bottom of prepared pan. Keep crust in an even layer, as much as possible. Bake 10 minutes, then set aside.

While crust is baking, combine filling ingredients (eggs, sugar, zest, juice, flour, buttermilk, and baking powder), and whisk to combine. Try not to whisk too vigorously, as you don't want to incorporate a lot of air into the filling.

Pour over baked crust and bake (still at 350 degrees F), for 22-25 minutes, until filling has set and edges are lightly golden brown.

Cool completely, cover with foil, then refrigerate.

To slice bars, I find it easiest to lift up on the foiling lining in the pan, to remove the bars from the pan. Slice into 12 bars. Before serving, dust bars with powdered sugar and garnish with a lemon slice if desired

Simple Home Renovations

7 projects that improve resale value

FAMILY FEATURES

Even if you have no immediate plans for leaving your home, it's a good idea to approach renovations with resale value in mind. Upgrades that are likely to appeal to future buyers protect your investment while also improving your enjoyment of the home.

One key to a successful renovation is figuring out how to personalize the space without making it so customized that it's not attractive to other potential owners. For example, eliminating a bedroom to create a giant walk-in closet may help achieve your dreams, but losing that bedroom can be a major hit to your home's value.

A good rule of thumb is to focus on aesthetics when it comes to integrating more of your personal tastes, because these can be easily changed with a coat of paint or minor work. However, that doesn't mean you can't make other, more significant changes to enhance your home.

These renovation ideas – which include both cosmetic touch-ups and more labor-intensive suggestions – can help boost your home's value.

Open space

Older homes were often designed with a boxy, formal layout that is less conducive to most modern families' needs. Today's open floor plans offer functionality for everything from keeping an eye on the kids while making dinner to entertaining guests. This type of floor plan can also make small rooms feel larger and invite more light into darker parts of the house.

The most cost-effective way to create an open space is to remove non-load-bearing walls (load bearing walls help support the roof; while they can be removed there's typically quite a bit more time, labor and expense involved). Removing a wall may not be that complicated unless you encounter plumbing or HVAC ductwork that needs to be relocated. You'll likely have some electrical outlets to move, and both the floor and ceiling will need attention to remove lingering signs of the former wall.

Color change

Although paint is one of the easiest ways to personalize your home, it's also one of the least expensive, simplest ways to improve its value and appearance. A fresh coat of paint, inside or out, can create an appealing illusion of newness no matter the age of your home. For maximum resale value, stick to neutral tones so future buyers can focus on envisioning the place as their own, without the distraction of your own vibrant choices. If you don't like the thought of boring beige, consider adding accent walls for pops of color that can be easily changed down the road.

Climate comfort

Not every aspect of home improvement is visible at first glance like a fresh coat of paint; some value-boosting upgrades are more behind the scenes. One example is climate management. If you renovate a space that needs better climate control, or if you add a new room where extending the existing ductwork is impractical, a split-ductless HVAC system may be the perfect solution. The ductless design saves HVAC contractors time during installation, therefore saving homeowners money.

An option like Mitsubishi Electric's MLZ One-Way Ceiling Cassette fits between standard 16-inch ceiling joists, eliminating the need for more complicated construction. The sleek, narrow-body design can be easily installed in existing homes and new construction projects. Additionally, these ceiling cassettes can be serviced from directly beneath the unit itself without an access panel, further eliminating the need to modify the surrounding area which can also provide significant cost savings on installation. Learn more at mitsubishicomfort.com.

Adjustable lighting

A room's ambiance can be completely transformed with lighting. For multi-purpose rooms, an option like dimmer switches lets you customize the lighting to fit the use, which can vary throughout the day. A well-lit living room is essential for a large gathering or a small group gathered for game night. That same space can be equally inviting for an intimate conversation or a casual movie night with the lights turned down low. One of the best parts is minimal experience is needed to swap out standard switches for the more versatile dimmers. Plus, in today's technology-driven world, there's an app for seemingly everything – including lighting. Homeowners can control the ambiance from their phones by installing smart lightbulbs and lighting strips.

Grunge-free garage

Even though a garage's functionality is the top concern for most buyers, a dingy, unkempt space can be a real turn-off. One way to instantly brighten and refresh the space is an epoxy coating on the floor. Applying the coating is relatively easy and once dry it helps prevent unsightly stains and damage in the future. Combine that with a thorough sweeping, wiping down walls and other surfaces, and organizing the clutter to create a more inviting space you can utilize to the fullest.

Understated elegance

Features like crown molding and other wood accents such as chair rails are elegant upgrades that can elevate a home's value with a relatively modest investment. An office or dining room is the perfect place to introduce these design elements to add a bit of formality to the space. You can also find crown molding in spaces like the living room, with the molding coordinating with built-in shelving flanking a fireplace. While getting the angles and fit just right is hardly a beginner's endeavor, it's a project that can pay dividends in the long run.

Better bathrooms

Many homeowners approach a bathroom upgrade with big projects in mind, like swapping out the vanity, replacing the tub or installing tile flooring. However, it's possible to make a noticeable impact with much smaller changes. Simply updating bathroom fixtures and fittings such as shower heads, faucets, towel racks and lighting can transform the space with minimal effort and far less work and expense than a large-scale renovation.

Now here's a tip!

by Jo Ann Derson

- * Stretch shoes with a zipper-top baggie! Insert a plastic bag into the shoe, where your feet go. Then add water just to fill. Put them in the freezer until solid. The ice expands as it freezes, which stretches the shoe.
 - * If you're replacing a hinge to re-hang a door and you need to use the same holes, add grip by placing a matchstick or toothpick in the hole before rescrewing the attachments. Just break it off flush with the door jamb. It will add some security to the hole so it won't be so loose.
 - * "Got kids? Take a tip from a furniture salesman: Get a couch that has a patterned fabric. Patterns hide stains and discoloration. The smaller the pattern, the more forgiving." -- W.S. in Idaho
 - * "Stick a dryer sheet in the bottom of your trash can. It will give off a bit of fresh smell whenever something lands in the bag." -- R. in Pennsylvania
 - * Sometimes old tricks are the best tricks: Use a cut half of a lemon liberally sprinkled with salt to scrub a wood cutting board clean. The salt acts as an abrasive while the acids in the lemon neutralize odors and bacteria. Rinse and dry.
 - * When defrosting meats in the fridge (never on the counter, right?), make sure they are sitting in a tray or plate with a lip. If the plastic leaks, you don't want meat dripping on your other groceries. Defrost meats on the bottom shelf, just in case.
