Rabies Positive Goat in Livingston County

According to Livingston County Public Health Director, Jennifer Rodriguez, the New York State Health Department laboratory has confirmed that a goat in northern Livingston County tested positive for rabies on December 8, 2018. The goat was reportedly bitten by a raccoon approximately 1 month earlier.

Rabies is a deadly virus that attacks the central nervous system in mammals. It is most frequently found in raccoons, skunks, and bats in Livingston County. All mammals, including unvaccinated dogs, cats, and farm animals, are at risk for getting rabies.

It is important to note that there is no way to tell if an animal is rabid just by looking at it. Wild and feral animals should always be avoided. Signs of rabies in wildlife include: inability to walk, appearance of "drunkenness," unwillingness to drink water or eat, drooling, aggressive behavior, or any significant change in temperament. All potential rabies exposures should be reported to the Livingston County Department of Health.

Below are important steps to prevent rabies.

- Stay away from unfamiliar animals, either wild or domestic, even if they appear friendly.
- Thoroughly wash any wound from an animal with soap and water and seek immediate medical attention.
- Avoid wild and feral animals, especially if the animal is showing any sign of rabies.
- Be a responsible pet owner by keeping your pet's vaccinations current. Getting your pets vaccinated can help stop the spread of rabies from wild animals to humans.

New York State Law requires that all dogs, cats and ferrets have current rabies vaccinations, beginning at 4 months of age. An unvaccinated pet that comes into contact with a rabid animal must be kept in strict confinement for six months or be euthanized. Free rabies clinics are offered for dogs, cats, and ferrets every year in Livingston County.

It is important to be aware of the facts and use caution to protect both your family and your pets. If you have any question or would like further information on rabies or rabies vaccination clinics, please contact the Livingston County Department of Health at 243-7280 or 335-1717 or visit www.livingstoncounty.us/eh.

Thank You!

On Thanksgiving Day, over 400 people in our community received a turkey dinner with all the trimmings delivered to their doorstep through the Thanksgiving-2-Go outreach. Many people responded that receiving this outpouring of love during the holidays meant so much to them. This was only possible because of the very generous support of the many area churches, stores, and individuals who donated food, money, and time to the effort of blessing our community. Special thanks to Wegmans of Geneseo, Tops Market of Dansville and The Mount Morris Shopper for their generous contributions. We'd like to express a HUGE and heart-felt THANK YOU to all who took part in this fun and impacting outreach! What a great team effort. It couldn't have happened without you!

Times are a-changing, and so are our prices...

Dear Advertiser,

Due to the rising costs of virtually everything, we have seen multiple price increases on various aspects of our business over the past few years.

While we've tried to maintain our pricing schedule for the benefit of our customer base, it has become apparent that we can no longer absorb these rising costs.

As we look back, we see that our last price increase took place in 2014. After five years, we knew it was time to make a change.

So, beginning January 1st, 2019, our new pricing schedule will take effect.

We appreciate your patronage over the years and we look forward to many more years of working with you to serve you better.

Please call with any questions. (585) 658-3520

Thank You ~

National Influenza Week was December 2-8, 2018

Mount Morris, NY- This winter, when you see signs reading "Get Your Flu Vaccine," you might ask "Isn't it too late to get vaccinated?" No, it's not too late! The Livingston County Department of Health recommends that flu vaccination efforts continue throughout the flu season.

For millions of people every season, the flu means a fever, cough, sore throat, runny or stuffy nose, muscle aches, fatigue, and miserable days spent in bed. Millions of people get sick, hundreds of thousands are hospitalized, and thousands to tens of thousands of people die from flu each year.

There is a vaccine that can help reduce the risk of flu and its potentially serious complications. While the vaccine varies in how well it works, there are many studies that show that flu vaccination reduces flu illnesses, doctor visits, and missed work and school due to flu, as well as prevents flu-related hospitalizations. A 2017 study showed that flu vaccination reduced deaths, intensive care unit (ICU) admissions, ICU length of stay, and overall duration of hospitalization among hospitalized flu patients. CDC estimates that during the 2016-2017 flu season, flu vaccine prevented approximately 5.3 million flu illnesses, 2.6 million flu-related medical visits and 85,000 flu-associated hospitalizations. However, fewer than half of the people in the United States reported getting a flu vaccine during that season; leaving millions of people unprotected. If just 5% more of the population had gotten vaccinated during the 2016-2017 flu season, an additional 504,000 illnesses, 233,000 doctor's visits and 6,000 hospitalizations would have been prevented.

News from Livingston County, NY

CDC recommends a yearly flu vaccine for everyone 6 months of age and older as the first and most important step in protecting against seasonal flu viruses. This season, CDC recommends that providers use any licensed, age-appropriate influenza vaccine (Inactivated influenza vaccines (IIV), Recombinant influenza vaccine (RIV), or live attenuated influenza vaccine (LAIV4)) with no preference expressed for one vaccine over another.

Some people are at high risk for serious flu-related complications that can lead to hospitalization and even death. People at high risk include pregnant women, children younger than 5, but especially children younger than 2 years old, people 65 year of age and older, and people who have certain medical conditions, such as asthma, diabetes, and heart disease. Vaccinating pregnant woman helps protect them from flu illness and hospitalization, and also has been shown to help protect the baby from flu infection for several months after birth, before the baby can be vaccinated. Flu vaccination has also been associated with lower rates of some cardiac events, such as a heart attack, among people with heart disease, especially among those who had had a cardiac event in the 12 months prior to flu vaccination.

For those at high risk of serious flu complications, getting a flu vaccine is especially important. It's also important to get the vaccine if you care for anyone at high risk, including children younger than 6 months who are too young to get a flu vaccine.

Flu vaccines are offered in many locations, including doctor's offices, health departments, pharmacies, health centers, and travel clinics, as well as by many employers and schools. So, next time you see a sign that says, "Get Your Flu Vaccine Here," stop in and get one, and encourage your friends and family to do the same. Use the HealthMap Vaccine Finder to find the nearest location where you and your family can get vaccinated. For more information or questions regarding flu, please call the Livingston County Department at 243-7299.

Could You Use a Prayer of Faith?

- We are here to pray for the sick, for those whose doctors have done all they can do.
- We are here to bring the power and love of God into situations that seem impossible.

Jesus told His followers to go and lay their hands upon the sick and the sick would recover (Mark 16:17,18). We have a fervent passion to see God's healing and miracle working power show up. And the great thing is that it does not matter if you've never gone to church. This isn't about church, it is about His love for you.
