THE NEW YEAR IS HERE!

The question I receive when I go to look at a possible listing is when is the best time to list. Should we wait till March or April? The answer I always give is why are you going to wait till the market gets flooded with listings. If you are thinking about listing, jump on board now. Buyers look at houses every day. They don't stop looking because it's January. That is the best time to look. You can see many things that could happen to a home in the winter months. If you are going to list your home beat the rush, get on now while the inventory is low. Get a jump on the market. If you have any questions please call.
