The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has approved Aimovig (erenumab-aooe) for the preventive treatment of migraine in adult. The treatment is given by once-monthly self injections. Patients often describe migraine headache pain as an intense pulsing or throbbing pain in one area of the head. Additional symptoms include nausea and/or vomiting and sensitivity to light and sound. Approximately one-third of affected individuals can predict the onset of a migraine because it is preceded by an aura-transient sensory or visual disturbances that appear as flashing lights, zig-zag lines or a temporary loss of vision. People with migraine tend to have recurring attacks triggered by a number of different factors, including stress, hormonal changes, bright or flashing lights, lack of food or sleep and diet. Migraine is three times more common in women than in men.

Two new studies of patients with difficult-to-control asthma show that the ecxema drug dupilumab alleviates asthma symptoms and improves patients' ability to breathe better than standard therapies. Dupilumab, an injectable anti-inflammatory drug, was approved in 2017 by the Food and Drug Administration as a treatment for ecxema, a chronic skin disease. The studies appeared in The New England Journal of Medicine.

Over time, half of the people taking dopamine agonists for Parkinson's disease may develop impulse control disorders such as compulsive gambling, shopping or eating, according to a study published in Neurology, the medical journal of the American Academy of Neurology. ELECTRICIANS NEEDED
April 10-21

KenyaRelief.org operates a medical clinic, orphanage and school in Migori, Kenya. Since its inception, teams have treated more than 100,000 patients and performed thousands of surgeries. The efforts of those who have served have improved the lives of Kenyans and other areas of East Africa.

The Brase Clinic has electricity supplied by Kenya Power. Due to frequent power outages there are two on site generators that provide backup power. In addition the main power room houses two motor generators which provide 120 volt / 60 Hz power to equipment that has been donated from the United States. Because of this the facility essentially has two electrical distribution systems that operate on voltages ranging from 440 volts / 50 Hz to 120 volts / 60 hz.

The electrical systems currently do not have the ability to automatically transfer power from the primary source to the backup generators, so onsite personnel manually switch breakers that are wired to create an interlock system to prevent any two electrical sources from feeding into another source. If this system were to fail, the backup generators could potentially be damaged beyond repair and catastrophic damage to the main electrical distribution center and medical equipment for the clinic would likely occur. The ultimate goal will be to have automatic transfer switches, eliminating the safety risk to personnel and the risk of damage to the electrical systems and equipment. The first phase to make the system safer is to install 200 amp three phase contactors, interlocked to control switching from one electrical source to another instead of the current configuration.

In addition to the challenges related to safely switching three electrical sources and the motor generators, there are several challenges in the electrical wiring throughout the clinic: 1) service from Kenya Power being undersized and needing to be increased to a minimum of 200 amps, 2) one generator is out of service for unknown reasons, 3) undersized wiring feeding more than one panel, 4) overloaded panels with multiple circuits tied to one breaker and 5) wiring is exposed or has not been properly installed in junction boxes, conduit or other enclosures that would reduce the risk of arc flash especially in the main electrical distribution building.

KenyaRelief.org needs qualified electricians willing to serve and begin correcting the challenges with the electrical systems so continued quality healthcare can be offered to the people of Kenya. The electricians need specific skill sets. Electricians with extensive experience in industrial electric systems installation and repair and with three phase motors, motor control centers and experience with motor generators. Experience installing three phase and single phase electric services, installation of three phase panels and single phase panels and downstream distribution. Electricians with diesel powered generator experience would be beneficial.

SHOP TODAY'S LOW PRICE TAGS:
We have HUNDREDS of non-advertised items marked down throughout our entire store. More savings passed on to our customers. Just look for blue tags on the shelves.

NO LIMITS:
Our competitors also have advertised specials. The difference is, in most cases, they have a limit on how many of an item you can buy at the sale price...we don't have any limits to family shoppers.
