Welcome To Cheyenne

On behalf of the City of Cheyenne's Governing Body and the residents of Cheyenne, I am pleased to welcome you to our community. Cheyenne was founded in 1867 and within five months boasted a population of over 4,000 people, earning the nickname "The Magic City of the Plains." I believe our community truly is magical.

The City of Cheyenne is inextricably linked with the military. In fact, the city was "born" on the same day Fort D.A. Russell (now F.E. Warren Air Force Base) was selected as a site for an Army Post. Cheyenne is home of the Wyoming Air Guard and Army National Guard and will soon have the only National Veteran's Cemetery in the state of Wyoming. Cheyenne deeply values our military personnel and those who have served.

While you are here, I hope you will enjoy the rich history that makes Cheyenne great. During the last full week of July, Cheyenne will host the 123rd Cheyenne Frontier Days™ also known as the "Daddy of 'em All"®. This annual western celebration is the largest outdoor rodeo in the world and is the pride of our city. The "Daddy" is staffed by thousands of volunteers who dedicate countless hours year-round to make the last full week of July a one-of-a-kind experience. These men and women are the backbone for the CFD™ experience – a 10-day celebration chocked full of parades, pancake breakfasts, the biggest names in country music, Championship Bull Riding, western art shows, Native American arts and culture, and of course, the famous award-winning rodeo itself. The addition of a newly constructed multi-purpose building located in the heart of the CFD™ park provides a modern upgrade to this world-class event and opens the door for year-round opportunities for conferences, events, and so much more.

Cheyenne boasts cultural and recreational opportunities as well. Our Civic Center, home of the Cheyenne Symphony Orchestra, offers numerous productions throughout the year. Cheyenne Little Theatre productions are some of the finest you will attend, with performances shared between the Mary Godfrey Theater and the Historic Atlas Theater. The historic Union Pacific Depot is the crown jewel of our downtown. The first train rolled into town over 150 years ago and since that day Cheyenne and the Union Pacific have been close partners. Although this downtown fixture is noted for its historical significance, the area will soon receive a modern upgrade thanks to a $150,000 donation by Microsoft to install free public Wi-Fi in the Historic Depot and nearby Depot Plaza.

Our parks and Greenway system are some of the best you will find. I encourage you to visit my personal favorite addition to our community, the Grand Conservatory and Orangerie at the Cheyenne Botanic Gardens located in Lions Park. Also, one is never too old to visit the Paul Smith Children's Village while you are there. The High Plains Arboretum is located just five miles northwest of Cheyenne at an elevation of 6,200 feet and is one of our hidden gems.

A 40-mile, non-motorized Greenway path allows hikers, bikers, skateboarders, and strollers to navigate around the city. We have numerous public and private museums including the Wyoming State Museum, Historic Governors' Mansion, and the Old West Museum. Our state Capitol is undergoing a monumental renovation and restoration with an anticipated finish date in 2019. We can't wait to see the results.

Again, welcome to Cheyenne, the "Magic City of the Plains". I hope your time spent here is memorable and magical.

Mayor Marian Orr

Magic City of the Plains

Cheyenne, Wyoming, “The Magic City of the Plains,” is the State’s Capital as well as home to one of the nation’s foremost military installations, F.E. Warren Air Force Base, and host to the largest outdoor rodeo in America, Cheyenne Frontier Days™.

With a population of over 64,000 people, Cheyenne has become an anchor in the growing economy of the Front Range of the Rockies. It is home to numerous museums, art galleries, theaters, parks and Laramie County Community College. Some of the best outdoor recreation and scenery in the country is within an hour’s drive of the city. Cheyenne maintains the charm of the Old West, while still offering all of the amenities of a modern city.

“The Magic City of the Plains” sprang into existence in 1867, when General Grenville Dodge of the Union Pacific Railroad established a tent city here for workers of the first transcontinental railroad. Shortly thereafter, Army General C.C. Auger established Fort D.A. Russell for the protection of the growing new community. Soon settlers began to arrive and brought with them new cultures, as well as new businesses, which included cattle, trading and mining. This influx of new people to the open prairie forever altered the lifestyle of many of the nomadic Plains Indians, including the Cheyenne, after whom the city was named.

The Transcontinental Railroad, eventually connecting both coasts, was the first modern mode of transportation linking Cheyenne to the rest of the country. Today, Cheyenne remains a major hub for interstate transportation with I-25 North and South, and I-80 East and West.

We welcome you to Cheyenne, whether you are just visiting or planning to stay. We know you’ll love it here as much as we do.

Cowgirls of The West

In 1995 the Cowgirls of the West, 501c(3) non profit, organization was formed. Under the guidance of one of the founding ladies, Gerrie Bishop, the group has grown to nearly 200 members. The mission of the Cowgirls is to provide a free museum where the public may learn of the rich heritage of women and their role in settling the Wild West that continues to this day. Women suffrage is also featured in our museum. There is a plaque on 17th Street, downtown Cheyenne, honoring the women who won the right to vote. The museum and gift shop are located at 203/205 West 17th Street in downtown Cheyenne.

The Cowgirls sponsor a monthly luncheon/program during the months of September thru May. The programs feature historical ranch history, cowboy and cowgirl history and many stories of the families who homesteaded or founded businesses in the West. All events are open to the public as the Cowgirls of the West continue in their role to help educate and share the rich history of the area.

The Cowgirls of the West membership of both women and men host an annual bunch/fashion show on the first Monday of Frontier Days. This fundraiser enables our volunteers to open the museum free of charge during the months of May thru September. In 2019 the brunch will be on July 22, 2019. It is held at Little America. This brunch is the major event for ladies attending Frontier Days, hosting nearly 600 women and men. During the year of 2019 the Cowgirls had the honor of serving as greeters for the Governors Gala. Our membership does not require that you rope or ride but that you have the Spirit of the West inside.

Our museum was noted in the New York Times and several other magazines as a place not to be missed when visiting Wyoming. We welcome school groups or other groups interested in history. If your group would like to visit please call 307-638-4994 or write to P. O. Box 525, Cheyenne, WY. 82003. ■

Francis E. Warren Air Force Base

Francis E. Warren Air Force Base is celebrating 152 years of active duty on July 4, 2019. Warren is the oldest continually active base in the Air Force and is the home of the 90th Missile Wing, charged with maintaining 150 Minuteman III Intercontinental Ballistic Missiles. The complex spans 9,600 square miles across Wyoming, Colorado and Nebraska. The base is one of Cheyenne's leading employers; over 4,300 civilians and military personnel work on the base.

F.E. Warren AFB today is a far cry from its beginning as Fort D.A. Russell back in July of 1867. Fort Russell was established to protect Union Pacific Railway workers from attacks during the construction of the Transcontinental Railway. The first troops stationed at Fort Russell, under the command of Colonel John D. Stevenson, lived in tents during the first year while building wood framed quarters. The fort was made a permanent post in 1884 and rebuilding began in 1885 with $100,000 from the War Department. The original wood structures were replaced with 27 brick buildings and the fort was landscaped with over 1,000 trees. Fort Russell was the training center for the Artillery along with being a cavalry post. In 1889, the Medical Corp was established with Fort D. A. Russell as one of two posts chosen to officially train Hospital Stewards. As you can see, the post had a varied military past.

During the Spanish-American War in 1898 the 8th Infantry departed Fort D.A. Russell for Cuba along with the Wyoming National Guard, which was mobilized and mustered, into the Army service in the Philippines during the Battle of Manilla. During the 1901 Philippine Insurrection, units from Fort D. A. Russell served in the Philippines. The 10th Infantry returned with a Queen Mary Tudor cannon forged in 1557. The cannon is still displayed on base today.

Times were changing, however, and the cavalry was becoming obsolete. In 1927, after 60 years of service, the cavalry left the fort forever, with the last horse leaving in 1943. While being used as a training facility during World War II, Fort Russell became one of the largest military posts in the country.

In January 1930, the post was renamed Francis E. Warren in honor of Wyoming's Territorial Governor and first State Governor. Warren had received the Medal of Honor at age 19 during the Civil War and served as a U.S. Senator for 37 years. The post was renamed in his honor. F.E. Warren became an Air Force base in 1947. Interestingly enough, the post has had only one dirt airstrip, which was built as a cross-country mail airstrip. Although modern pilots never used the field, it was made famous when WWI Ace Captain Eddie Rickenbacker survived a crash on the field. In 1919, the "Western Flying Circus," led by Major Carl Spatz also used the field.

On February 1, 1958, the 4320th Strategic Missile Wing was activated at F.E. Warren. The wing was re-designated shortly thereafter as the 706th Strategic Missile Wing with three squadrons; the 549th, 564th and 565th Strategic Missile Squadrons. These Airmen stood up the first Atlas D model ICBMs on Warren. The first missiles arrived in November 1959, from Vandenberg Air Force Base, California. The wing re-designated on July 1, 1961, as the 389th Strategic Missile Wing. The wing deactivated on March 25, 1965, and was replaced as the 90 Strategic Missile Wing. With the deactivation went the Atlas D missiles.

Over the last 57 years, the base has gone through much realignment of missile systems. From the Atlas D to Minuteman I, Minuteman III and to the Peacekeeper, the base has transitioned from Strategic Air Command, Air Combat Command, and Air Force Space Command to Air Force Global Strike Command. On July 1, 2008, the wing at F.E. Warren AFB was re-designated the 90th Missile Wing.

Some famous people have been stationed at F.E. Warren AFB over the years. They include: General Billy Mitchell, General Mark Clark and General Benjamin O. Davis, Sr., Doctor Walter Reed, Sammy Davis Jr., country singer Chris LeDoux and music legend Neil Diamond grew up on the base. ■

A balanced religious education with a strong academic structure

There is also indoor and outdoor seating for visitors to relax and take in the beautiful surroundings.

The Paul Smith Children's Village is a must-see children's garden for all ages. The Village's underlying theme is to teach concepts of sustainability through design and function. In following its commitment to sustainability, the Children's Village received the LEED Platinum award, the highest level of certification for a green building and landscape, from the United States Green Building Council. The Paul Smith Children's Village was the first in the nation to receive this award and our staff and volunteers work very hard to maintain this honor.

The exterior gardens provide visitors a chance to experience a vast range of landscape designs. These unique landscapes present a beautiful assortment of native, xeriscape perennials and annuals cared for and maintained by our volunteers.

There would not be a Cheyenne Botanic Gardens if it were not for our enthusiastic and devoted volunteers. They provide over 90% of the physical labor for the Gardens and help to keep our staff minimal. In addition, they have helped us grow and plant over 50,000 bedding plants that are used throughout the Cheyenne City Park System. Cheyenne Regional Medical Center Named to Healthgrades 2019 America's 250 Best Hospitals

Cheyenne Regional recognized for being among top 5 percent of U.S. hospitals for clinical outcomes

In February 2019 it was announced that Cheyenne Regional Medical Center had received the Healthgrades 2019 America's 250 Best Hospitals Award™.

The distinction places Cheyenne Regional in the top 5 percent of more than 4,500 hospitals assessed nationwide for its superior clinical performance as measured by Healthgrades, the leading online resource for comprehensive information about physicians and hospitals.

Cheyenne Regional is the only hospital in Wyoming to receive this award.

"Caring for others is a calling, and not always an easy one. But I've witnessed firsthand how much the people who work at Cheyenne Regional Medical Center genuinely care for our patients and one another," said Jean Halpern, MD,

President of the Cheyenne Regional Health System's Board of Trustees. "This recognition is a reflection of that caring and also the focus on quality that I see taking place here at Cheyenne Regional each and every day. On behalf of the leaders and trustees at Cheyenne Regional, I want to thank and congratulate our providers and our entire workforce for this much-deserved recognition."

Every year Healthgrades analyzes three years of Medicare Provider Analysis and Review data to produce a detailed report on mortality and complication rates in America's hospitals. For the 2019 report, approximately 45 million patient records were analyzed, assessing hospital performance relative to 32 common conditions and procedures.

According to Healthgrades, if all hospitals performed similarly to those achieving the Healthgrades America's 250 Best Hospitals Award, 168,165 lives could potentially have been saved.

Recipients of the Healthgrades America's 250 Best Hospitals Award also stand out for their overall clinical excellence across a broad spectrum of care, said Dr. Jeffrey Chapman, Cheyenne Regional's Chief Medical Officer.

According to Healthgrades, this select group of hospitals shows superior performance in clinical outcomes for patients in the Medicare population across at least 21 of 32 of the most common inpatient conditions and procedures, as measured by objective performance data that considered risk-adjusted mortality and in-hospital complications from 2015 through 2017.

"Consumers have several hospitals to choose from, so it's important they understand which hospitals achieve the best clinical outcomes," said Brad Bowman, Chief Medical Officer at Healthgrades. "Recipients of the Healthgrades America's 250 Best Hospitals Award are setting the bar in patient care."

Cheyenne Regional was also recently recognized by Healthgrades for being among the top 5 percent of hospitals in the nation for overall pulmonary services in 2019 and for being among the top 10 percent of hospitals in the nation for cardiology services, stroke treatment, gastrointestinal services and general surgery in 2019 as well as for overall pulmonary services for three years in a row (2017-2019).

"Being selected as one of the Best 250 Hospitals in America is an amazing accomplishment," Dr. Chapman said. "I want to thank all our providers and the entire workforce at Cheyenne Regional Medical Center for their day-to-day focus on providing great care and a great experience for our patients. This recognition is something that everyone who works here should be extremely proud of and is something our community can take great pride in." ■

Cheyenne Civic Center (510 W. 20th St.)

The Civic Center is home to a range of entertainers, including Broadway musicals, magicians, musicians, dancers, comedians, body builders, cooking shows and more! We've welcomed the likes of B.B. King, Trombone Shorty, Daniel Tiger's Neighborhood, Eddie Izzard, Gabriel Iglesias, Willie Nelson, and Mamma Mia!, as well as played host to local nonprofits, educational institutions, and for profits looking for a stage to call their own. The Civic Center is always looking to expand show offerings to challenge and meet the cultural needs of the community. If you think there's "nothing to do in Cheyenne!" then you haven't checked out the fun, affordable entertainment at this spot.

For more information on the Civic Center:

Civic Center Commons (Across from 2101 O'Neil Ave.)

What used to be a rarely used parking lot is now a gorgeous multi-level park in the hip West Edge District of Cheyenne. Set to open in Spring 2019, this park will host a number of performances, movie screenings, vendor fairs, and food truck picnics. It will also be available for the community to rent for their own entertainment needs.

Call Community Recreation & Events Admin at 307-637-6370 for rental availability.

Depot Plaza (Corner of Capitol Ave. & Lincolnway)

Designated a National Historic Landmark, this former Union Pacific Depot has been restored to its original glory. Home to a visitor center and restaurant, the Depot also features the Cheyenne Depot Museum, rich with railroad history, exhibits, and interactive displays. The interior lobby often hosts the Winter Farmer's Markets, national tech conferences, bull auctions, art shows, and more. Outside, the Cheyenne Depot Plaza plays host to Fridays on the Plaza, a Friday night concert series, as well as Hispanic Festival, Celtic Festival, Brew Fest, and other Fests that are too fun, and too numerous to count.

Cheyenne Aquatic Center (931 Martin Esquibel St.)

The Cheyenne Aquatics Center recently renovated and opened two water slides, a lazy river, a zero-depth entry pool with play features, and three additional lap lanes. This pool is located on the outskirts of Lions Park. Across town, in South Cheyenne, the Johnson Pool is outdoors and offers a water slide and diving board. Open swim is offered daily during the summer, weather permitting. Looking for something more unstructured? Head over to Sloan's Lake to take a spin in the paddleboats, canoes or kayaks that are available during the summer for rental. A lifeguard is always on hand to get you set up and ensure safety!

Golf Courses

Cheyenne's prime golf season runs from mid-to late-May through October. Cheyenne has five golf courses, two of which are maintained by the City: Airport Golf Course (18-hole), Kingham Prairie View Golf Course (9-hole), Little America Golf Course (9-hole), Cheyenne Country Club (18-hole), and the F.E. Warren Air Force Base Golf Course (18-hole). The Airport Course hosts the Wyoming Open every July. The County Club Course is by membership only, and the Air Force Course is for military members, families and their guests. If you're looking to take up the game, try a lesson from the pros at the Airport Course, or take your time and learn with the best over at Kingham, where it's a show-up-and-play kind of game.

Ice & Events Center (1530 W. Lincolnway)

The Ice and Events Center is available for year-round fun. Outside is a world-class mini golf course with landmarks you might recognize from the state or around town! In the winter, ice skating is available on the NHL sized rink. Learn to skate in both figure and hockey styles during the entire ice season (mid-August to late-March). There's also roller skating, Cheyenne's only Laser Tag room, and bumper cars with lights and wheels that can be used both on and off the ice! This facility is available for birthday parties, corporate outings, weddings, and more! Keep an eye out for our concerts, sporting events, trade conventions, and home/antique shows.

Recreation Division (1317 Parsley Blvd.)

If you're looking for something long-term to get you up and moving, look no further! The City of Cheyenne Recreation Division offers basketball, softball, dodge ball, baseball, horseback riding, dog obedience, stained glass art classes, HIIT (high-intensity interval training) cardio classes, Zumba, and so, so much more to ensure your heart rate stays up! Most classes require a sign-up in advance, but if you're looking to jump on a team solo, there's always a spot for you. Be sure to check out the Recreate Guide, located on www.CheyenneRec.org for descriptions on the classes. Not here for the activity? This division is also in charge of the childcare and after-school programs, which offer shuttles to/from schools to the Youth Activity Center (kiddos get to burn off energy, play games, make crafts and have a snack for a low, low price!).

Cheyenne Parks

Did you know that Cheyenne has more than 140 public green spaces, including parks, right of ways, and fields? Combine that with the 40+ miles of Greenway, and there's a whole lot of outdoors here in town. While Cheyenne Parks will eventually offer a website and Facebook (coming Summer 2019!), for now, we're trying to spread the word through the other websites the City has to offer (Cheyenne Events and Cheyenne Rec). Soon, you'll be able to get even more information about the Parks, Cemetery, and Weed & Pest Divisions, as well as the upcoming projects happening within our sports complexes, greenways, and parks!

WHAT DOES BEING OUTSIDE LOOK LIKE TO YOU?

Explore Cheyenne.

Lions Park

Lions Park is located across from Frontier Park, home to Cheyenne Frontier Days™, and has something for everyone. At the center of the park is Sloan’s Lake, open to boating, fishing, and paddleboats. Just to the west of the lake sits the City of Cheyenne Kiwanis Community House. The facility is available to rent for weddings, reunions, birthday parties and seminars. Behind the Community House is the William N. Brimmer Amphitheater, where summer concerts and movie viewings are held. Don’t miss the tree house from the Urban Forestry Division, hiding on the edge of the park! This multi-story structure gives you the opportunity to look at Cheyenne from a bird’s point of view. Lions Park also has a mini golf course, the Cheyenne Aquatic Center and Spray Park, Botanic Gardens, playgrounds, covered shelters (some are rentable!), volleyball courts, softball, and soccer fields.

Holliday Park

Holliday Park is located on Lincolnway, east of downtown Cheyenne, and is home to the largest steam locomotive ever built, the “Big Boy 4004.” Tipping the scales at 540,000 pounds, it’s one of only eight surviving of the original 25 made. In the park, there are two large shelters that can be reserved for any special event. Holliday Park wraps around Lake Minnehaha, and if you’re lucky, you might see the City of Cheyenne abatement dog helping keep the park free from bird overcrowding. The park has basketball, volleyball, tennis courts, horseshoe pits, and two playgrounds.

David R. Romero Park

The David R. Romero South Cheyenne Community Park, located off Parsley Boulevard in South Cheyenne, is the newest of our locations, and features rehabilitated wetlands, eight acres of parkland, and the Youth Activity and Community Center. The wetlands rehabilitation included restoring the original path of the waterway and re-vegetating the area with more than 10,000 wetland plants. The park itself includes a large picnic shelter that can be used as an amphitheater, with a large play space for sports practice. The Community Center is available to rent for weddings, reunions, birthday parties and seminars. There’s a large community room and an activity side, complete with a computer lab, arts and crafts area, social area, and large activity space. The City uses the space for after school programs and summer youth programs, as well.

Greenway Bike and Walking Path

Forty-three miles of concrete path connects parks, schools, neighborhoods and shopping areas throughout Cheyenne. It’s 100% handicapped accessible and is continually expanding for more access throughout the city! Check out the map for the closest location near you!

Activity and Sports

Check out the Clay Sturman Bike, Blade, and Skate Park. Opened in 2007, it has half pipes, ledges, rails, and bowls for the beginning to extreme riders, bladers, and skaters. The skate park is in Brimmer Park on Pershing Boulevard. If you’re looking for indoor sports, pick up a recreation guide, printed 3 times a year, for a list of classes and programs at low or no cost to residents! ■

Cheyenne Frontier Days™ Daddy of 'em All®

Each July, thousands of visitors descend on our friendly western town to enjoy the World's Largest Outdoor Rodeo & Western Celebration. "The Daddy of 'em All®" celebrates its 123rd year as the leader of rodeo action. Over 1,000 contestants will compete for cash and prizes, worth approximately $1 million during the 2019 season rodeo tour.

Cheyenne Frontier Days™ (CFD) all began in 1897. It seemed the "Magic City of the Plains" that had grown so rapidly needed a tourism boost. In late August, Frederick Angier, Traveling Passenger Agent of the Union Pacific Railroad, approached Colonel E.A. Slack, editor of the Cheyenne Sun-Leader, about staging an event in Cheyenne that would attract train travelers from Denver. Angier cited successful excursions earlier that summer to Loveland, Colorado, for Corn Day and Greeley, Colorado, for Potato Day.

Angier and Slack convinced the new mayor, William M. Schnitger and local businessmen to have the first Frontier Day on September 23. The first CFD committee was formed to develop an event that would attract visitors and attention to Cheyenne. They had less than one month to publicize it; and some critics said it wouldn't amount to much. They were mistaken.

Cheyenne Frontier Days™ has grown from a small event into the World's Largest Outdoor Rodeo and Western Celebration. For Cheyenne, it is the biggest attraction a city could hope to create. Visitors from all over the nation and different parts of the world travel to Wyoming each July to take part in the "Daddy of 'em All®."

Historically, the rodeo has been the main event of Cheyenne Frontier Days™. Other activities have come and gone through the years. Baseball games were popular during the first years. Riding, roping and bison wrestling were also part of the week's events. Until the mid-1920s, non-rodeo activities took place downtown. In 1927, the licenses for street-side entertainment were denied, and the midway and carnivals began. In 1929, "Frontier Nights®" opened as an evening attraction. Visitors could also gamble in false saloons or spend the evening in the dance hall.

Beginning in the early 1930s, an increasing number of celebrities began to attend the festivities. Actors came to have fun and promote their new films. In the 1950s and 1960s, stars from television westerns participated in Cheyenne Frontier Days™.

Native Americans weren't a part of the first event, but public demand brought them to the second annual Cheyenne Frontier Days™. Shoshones from the Wind River Reservation took part in the early years. By the late 1920s, Oglala Lakotas represented the Native Americans. The Southern Plains Indian Dancers participated for the first time in 1980 and they returned each year until 1996. Several different groups have taken part since 1997, including the Wind River Dancers and the Little Sun Drum and Dance Group.

Parades have long been a part of CFD, and the early parades featured cowboys and military regiments. Daze Bristol, a prominent citizen and CFD volunteer, designed floats for the parades and created saloons and a lynching bee. Some of these historic floats can still be seen in the parades.

Through all the changes, the rodeo has been the heart of it all. By the 1920s, two or three women's events were included in the rodeo. The economy and World War II changed women's roles, and by 1948 women's events were no longer part of CFD. In 1973, barrel racing was offered and then dropped after 1981; and brought back as a night show feature in 1991.

The rodeos have brought fame and glory as well as tragedy and sadness to Cheyenne. In 1989, bull rider Lane Frost was killed after completing one of his best rides during that year's CFD. A statue now stands in tribute to his life and legacy outside the Old West Museum.

Cheyenne Frontier Days™ is a special gathering, and it couldn't happen without volunteers who donate their time and effort to the event. Tasks range from sorting stock; caring for the world's largest horse-drawn carriage collection and a remarkable period clothing collection; mucking horse stalls; directing traffic; manning gates; the care of a large media contingent; serving as hosts to the tens of thousands of spectators who enjoy the variety of events; the care and maintenance of a 100-acre park with barns, grandstands, exhibit halls, food facilities and arenas and thousands of other grizzly little details that must be accomplished for the event to succeed.

Visitors from around the globe make Cheyenne Frontier Days™ a destination for an authentic Western experience, and a learning opportunity about the history and culture of the West. The past 122 years have seen millions of people travel to Cheyenne to experience this great event, located in the heart of the American West.

Daddy of 'em All. ®" For an hour or two, the Museum invites you to travel back in time through the rich history of Cheyenne Frontier Days™ and relive the Western legend.

In 1978, a group of volunteers established the Museum with the goal of preserving the historic carriage collection used in the annual Frontier Day Parades. Today, with a collection of over 160 carriages, the Museum boasts one of the largest carriage collections in the United States. Guided by a mission to cultivate and preserve the Western legacy of Cheyenne Frontier Days™, the Museum houses a collection of over 149,000 artifacts relating to Cheyenne and Cheyenne Frontier Days™. A truly volunteer-oriented organization, the Museum recognizes that Cheyenne Frontier Days™ volunteers make the history this Museum preserves.

This family-friendly institution features interactive elements in the galleries, so everyone can explore the history of Cheyenne Frontier Days™ and the stories of those who helped make it happen. From our interactive Hole in the Wall Children's Gallery to permanent pieces in the Museum's collection, including our extensive carriage exhibit, the Museum brings the past to life and invites visitors to immerse themselves in this thrilling history. Through the Museum's presentation of original Western artwork and two seasonal art shows, visitors can experience traditional and contemporary visions of the West to deepen their understanding of Cheyenne Frontier Days™ importance to this community.

The Museum is open 9am–5pm daily, year-round with extended hours during Cheyenne Frontier Days™. We are located in Frontier Park, at 4610 Carey Avenue. Military, senior, and group discounts available; children six and under free. The
STORY

Tucked away in a grove of trees, nearly hidden from the view of modern-day travelers, is a piece of Wyoming history.

The old Little Bear Inn is nestled on a ranch north of Cheyenne (2 miles north on I-25 to exit 16 - Horse Creek Road, left on Horse Creek Road, over the interchange bridge to Little Bear Road, right on Little Bear road, 2 miles to The Little Bear Inn on the left). In its heyday, it was a stop for weary travelers. A saloon and casino.

The Cheyenne Deadwood stage route passed by the inn, and though it was not a scheduled stop, the stage often would use the inn as a rest stop. The post office at Horse Creek closed in 1877, moving to Little Bear and making it a regular stop.

The next life of the Little Bear Inn was as a gambling hall, saloon and restaurant. When gambling was outlawed in the 1950's, it became a restaurant and bar. Little Bear Inn is Cheyenne's original steakhouse, and has been operating since 1958 at the current location.

TERRY BISON

Way You Want It!*

The company started in 1987 when Dan Thiel incorporated under the name of Horseshoe Bison, Inc., as a small bison meat distribution and horse trading company. Terry Bison Ranch began its current story in 1993 when Ron Thiel (Dan's father) originally bought the Terry Ranch for the purpose of raising Bison. Dan thought it would be a great idea to start a company that would allow people to be able to get up close and personal to the "great North American Bison". Today, the size of the ranch is 27,500 acres and stretches into Colorado. It is still owned and operated by the Thiel family.

At the beginning of Terry Bison Ranch, there was no Senator's Restaurant, as they would serve chuckwagon dinners in an old barn called the Wagon Wheel. This building only had 3 walls and a roof and the food was cooked at the old Cookshack building. (This building is now the Tombstone Café at the Depot). Every year, there are improvements somewhere on the Ranch! Today there is so much more that goes on at this working ranch and resort!

Climb aboard The Terry Town Rail Express, our own private train which is Wyoming's only privately owned tourist railroad operating on standard gauge rail, and ride out to the middle of our bison herd. Or saddle up, and go for an authentic Wyoming horseback ride, and see the prairie the way the pioneers did when they went through this area in covered wagons. Round up the kids and watch their faces light up in our Kid Corral. They can catch their own fish in our private stocked pond, and we'll clean and cook their catch for them (and you!). Stay in our RV park or enjoy one of our historic cabins. And take a break and enjoy the Senator's Restaurant, featuring what famed chef Bobby Flay and the Food Network called the Best Burger in Wyoming, or sample our 1st place award-winning ribs (Cheyenne Ribfest 2013). There is a lot to see and experience, either for an afternoon or several days!

We're on the Colorado border just south of Cheyenne, Wyoming right off Interstate 25. Wave to the buffalo as you drive by!

The Cheyenne Regional Airport

The Cheyenne Regional Airport was “put on the map” on September 8, 1920 when the Chicago-to-San Francisco leg of the Columbia Transcontinental Airmail Route was inaugurated. It was one of only fifteen national locations to serve as an airmail station. In the late 1920s, in an effort to increase revenues, airmail companies, such as Boeing and Western Air Express, began to augment their airmail service with passenger service. In 1929, after changing their name to the United Aircraft and Transport Company, Boeing established their main overhaul base in Cheyenne. The number of jobs created by this base grew to exceed 500 in subsequent years.

The late 1920s and early 1930s provided a gradual shift in the aviation industry from delivering the mail to transporting passengers. Several changes occurred at the airfield as a result of this new trend. In 1925, four brick hangars replaced the original wooden hangar that had burned down in 1924. The building that currently houses the Wyoming Department of Transportation-Aeronautics Division was originally built in 1929 as the passenger terminal. Flight safety was improved through the use of nationwide radio-range-finding stations. Cheyenne’s station, one of 400 across the nation, was located at Fort D.A. Russell, now F.E. Warren Air Force Base, and provided a fix to the east-west runway.

The United States’ entrance into World War II in December of 1941 would bring additional business to the airport. In an effort to maintain the supply of B-17s being used on the battlefronts, a modification center was set up on the north side of the airport. B-17s would leave factories on the west coast and stop in Cheyenne for final outfitting prior to departing for the air front lines. The Cheyenne Modification Center was a huge facility that employed 1,642 workers at its peak. After the war, United Airlines took over the modification center in a lease agreement with the government and moved most of their equipment and machinery from their overhaul base at the airport to the modification center.

The introduction of the DC-4 in 1939 changed the face of the commercial aviation industry. The DC-4 could fly from Chicago to California nonstop at an altitude of 18,000 feet. The ability to cross the Rocky Mountains without having to follow a mountain pass made a stop in Cheyenne unnecessary. While the war may have brought more business to Cheyenne, it did nothing more than delay the inevitable. In 1947, United's maintenance facilities moved to San Francisco while their flight training division moved to Denver. In what almost appeared to be a compensatory move, United did move its stewardess training school to Cheyenne in 1947. However, 14 years and 83,000 graduates later, the training school also left Cheyenne to make a new home in Chicago.

The new terminal construction was completed this past Fall as a replacement for the aging terminal facility built in 1960. The new terminal and vehicle parking lots are located on Airport Parkway, to the east of the previous facility. In addition to the convenience of the new terminal, SkyWest Airlines was a welcome arrival, providing daily non-stop service to Dallas/Fort Worth for Cheyenne and surrounding communities since November 2018. With the new terminal and new air service, Cheyenne Regional Airport stands as a welcoming gateway to the State of Wyoming and the Capitol City of Cheyenne.

Cheyenne is a city rich in aviation history. What was once a 200-acre field is now a multi-million dollar industry covering over 1,000 acres. The airfield is the base of operations for the Wyoming Air National Guard and several corporate flight departments. With strong leadership and support from the community, there is little doubt that Cheyenne Regional Airport will continue to maintain an exciting position in the aviation industry. ■

The Wyoming State Capitol: Restoring the Grandeur of the People's House

When the restoration efforts are complete in 2019, the return to Wyoming Capitol's original grandeur will certainly astound visitors, especially considering that the decorative paint designs, higher ceilings, and hidden archways have not been seen for many decades.

The Capitol has been closed for its first comprehensive renovation in its 130-year history. The historic building was not large enough to meet the current level of demand for public meeting space and critical infrastructure failures had to be fixed to protect the Capitol for future generations. Additionally, the Capitol suffered from dangerous life-safety issues, including inadequate smoke and fire detection systems and non-existent smoke and fire suppression systems. The renovation has addressed these issues.

The invasive work to repair the building has created an opportunity to restore historic elements that were significantly altered during previous renovation projects. Historic paint studies have revealed that very extensive trompe l'oeil patterns dating back to 1888 were located throughout the Capitol corridors and in the historic Wyoming Supreme Court Chamber. Additionally, studies have uncovered 1917 decorative paint in the chambers and galleries of the Senate and House. Thanks to the discoveries, the Capitol will be restored to its beautiful and ornate grandeur.

Additionally, the original ceiling heights have been restored; exposing even more historic decorative elements such as stenciling, cornice molding, and arched doorways. The restoration of lay lights and skylights have returned more natural light into the building.

The historic Wyoming Supreme Chamber, where the state's Constitution was signed giving women the right to vote, has been restored to its original two-story height with its stained glass lay light and chandelier. This magnificent chamber will become the largest public meeting room in the Capitol and visitors will be able to visit this historically significant room where women were first given the right to vote, serve on juries, and hold public office. The Capitol's National Historic Landmark status is attributed to the women's suffrage debates that occurred here.

The Capitol and its grounds are closed to the public during the restoration, which are scheduled to open mid-2019. The Wyoming State Museum offers a Capitol exhibit detailing the building's significance to national history and the architectural and design elements. The museum, located at 2301 Central Avenue, just a short walk from the Capitol, is open 9 a.m. to 4:30 p.m., Monday through Saturday and admission is free.

The 1888 Territorial House Chamber, which was later occupied by the Supreme Court in 1890, is being restored. The chamber has been returned to its original size by eliminating a partition wall and reclaiming the two-story volume and public balcony.

An investigative study in July 2017 revealed extensive decorative designs in the historic Supreme Court Chamber. The Supreme Court Chamber was originally painted in a style called trompe l'oeil, which means to "fool the eye." The 1888 decorative painting scheme has been restored to the upper level of the historic Supreme Court Chamber, which will become one of the largest meeting rooms in the Capitol.

The restoration of the spectacular 1888 trompe l'oeil pattern in the Capitol Rotunda is complete. This style of painting is an art technique that creates an optical illusion that the depicted objects exist in three dimensions.

The removal of the elevator has opened up the lobby to the Wyoming Senate gallery on the third floor. The 1888 paint design returns the grandeur to the lobby; a restored skylight brightens the area with natural light; and new black and white marble tiles have replaced the carpeting. ■ can point you in the right direction. On each floor, you'll find library staff at the Ask Here desks to assist you.

As we mentioned, the library's colors are inspired by the Wyoming prairie in bloom. On each floor, you can find the elevators and stairs on the yellow walls, the meeting rooms on the purple walls, the restrooms on the green walls, and copiers on the blue walls.

Our first floor is home to our multimedia, magazine, and fiction collections, along with our Cards and Accounts desk where you can get a library card and find more information about your account. You can check out the Book Sale Room and purchase books to help support the Library Foundation, and return your books in our new energy-efficient, user-friendly sort machine.

Our second floor is dedicated to children from birth to teens. This vibrant space is full of computers, books, and interactive play stations for kids of all ages. This floor is home to our My Library Place, an interactive literacy center for infants and toddlers; our Early Literacy Center, where young readers can play while strengthening their literacy skills; and our Teen Zone, where teens can study, use computers that are up-to-date with the latest gaming software, and enjoy the expansive young adult collection.

Our third floor houses our extensive non-fiction and reference collections along with our Computer Center. You can peruse the Special Collections Room that contains Wyoming history, genealogy, and family history or head to the Capitol Room and read silently while enjoying the fantastic view of the Wyoming State Capitol Building.

We host diverse programs, events and exhibits daily that explore a variety of themes and topics. You can listen to an author read an excerpt from his latest book, watch a screening of an award-winning film, participate in an art project, and more!

Our library can help make the most out of a visit to Laramie County; our materials, exhibits, and programs will assist any visitor in learning more about our western community or anything else they may be interested in! So, whether you are a local resident, or a brand new visitor, Laramie County Library System can provide you with a big western welcome, every time you walk through the door.

Laramie County Community College

Whether you're hoping to begin or complete a degree program or certification, enjoy a life enrichment class, or improve your workforce skills, your new story is ready to begin. As we like to say at LCCC: "It starts here."

It starts with a campus featuring new facilities that have opened up opportunities and experiences for students:

The Clay Pathfinder Building is the new "front door" for campus, featuring nearly all student services housed conveniently in one location, in addition to multiple community-use areas

Flex Tech features innovative space and functions that allow the college to train in the most needed technical fields in the area.

It all started with a determined group of individuals who had a dream for higher education in the Cheyenne area. Surviving a host of challenges, those leaders created and opened Laramie County Community College in 1968.

Now, more than 50 years later, LCCC has solidified its role as one of the nation's best two-year colleges.

The Ludden Library, the newest renovation on campus is a stunning structure that provides high-tech opportunities for students while retaining all the services and amenities that modern libraries offer.

In the next few years, the college will also see new construction of a 350-bed residence hall, a new performance space and gallery, and the renovation of the Fine Arts Building.

LCCC offers associate degrees and certifications in a wide variety of fields. In fact, LCCC leads the way in the state for transfer agreements with the University of Wyoming and other four-year institutions, greatly easing students' transition in many programs.

It can start around your schedule and your location. With campuses in Cheyenne and Laramie, outreach centers in Pine Bluffs and Warren Air Force Base, and online classes that can be taken anywhere, LCCC is easily accessible to just about everyone.

With the mission of transforming students' lives through the power of inspired learning, LCCC aims to do just that with high-quality faculty and staff.

It starts with affordability. In addition to highly competitive tuition rates, the college's financial aid team offers student employment, scholarships and numerous other forms of aid to help ease the cost of education. In fact, 90 percent of all students receive some kind of scholarship, grant or benefit. On average, LCCC students' tuition and fees are covered through financial aid.

In fact, LCCC is paving the way to help adult learners in the state with the Rediscover LCCC program, which provide a free college education to eligible Wyoming adults in a number of high-demand fields.

It starts quickly, with diverse vocational and technical programs get students of all ages and backgrounds into jobs and earning money in less than a year.

It starts with a chance to enjoy life enrichment courses, from fly-fishing to photography, finances to Wyoming history.

Athletically, with highly competitive and nationally ranked programs in soccer, basketball, volleyball, and rodeo.

And it starts with a creative spirit. LCCC arts and performance programs have won national awards and gained respect across the region for the level of talent found in the students, faculty, and performances.

Finally, it starts with you. If you're ready for the next chapter in your life, visit lccc.wy.edu or call 307.778.1212. ■ rifle range, air gun/archery range, classroom and small shooting sports supplies shop. Outdoor facilities include a 100-yard rifle range, 50-meter pistol/rifle range, and a 25-yard pistol range. Two voice activated trap fields are completed and operational. We also offer outdoor archery to 60 yards.

The LCSSC is operated by Laramie County for the purpose of being accessible to everyone. The range can be used on an hourly pass basis, or a yearly access fee can be purchased for families and individuals who participate in recreational shooting activities more frequently. To honor military, law enforcement, veterans and seniors of the community, discounts are given on yearly access fees.

LCSSC provides the public with many firearms training courses, including NRA Basic Pistol, Rifle, and Shotgun courses. Range Safety Officer, Refuse to be a Victim, Concealed Carry Education, Home Firearm's Safety, Archery, Women's Only, and Firearms Instructor courses are also available, as well as more advanced firearms training.

Providing safe, fun recreational shooting opportunities are the primary goals of LCSSC staff and volunteers. Some of these activities include themed shooting events for Halloween, Valentine's Day, Thanksgiving, Veteran's Day, etc. Watch for these fun events! Everyone is welcome to participate.

Wide ranges of recreational shooting programs are also available at LCSSC. Children's programs include 4-H Shooting Sports, Post 6 Shooting Sports and Girl and Boy Scouts of America. The children of the community are given the opportunity to learn safety first, while enjoying recreational shooting activities. LCSSC also offers NRA/Winchester Marksmanship programs for rifle and pistol shooters (junior and adult), as well as Wyoming Game and Fish Hunter Education classes. Other anticipated fun activities may include leagues and a bowling night (shoot bowling pins for points and prizes).

LCSSC provides the community a high-quality, first-class shooting experience. Its goal is to make the Laramie County Shooting Sports Complex a community center for recreational shooting activities, along with firearms education. The range emphasizes firearms safety, youth programs, corporate events, recreational and competitive shooting.

Join the fun at Laramie County Shooting Sports Complex, 13802 Bullseye Blvd., Cheyenne, Wyoming 82009. (307)775-7484. Tuesday through Friday 10:00 a.m. to 8:00 p.m., Saturday 10:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m., Sunday 10:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m.

The Historic Governors' Mansion

The Wyoming Executive Mansion, located on the corner of 21st Street and House Avenue, served as home to 19 of Wyoming's governors and their families, including the nation's first female governor, Nellie Tayloe Ross. Stepping onto the political stage in 1924 to win this monumental election, she changed America's history as well as the history of Wyoming. The mansion has been host to United States presidents, famous authors, and neighborhood children. It is now your turn to be our guest.

The stately mansion, designed by Charles Murdock, was modern in 1905 because of its central plumbing, hot water heat, and combination gas and electrical fixtures. This two-and-a-half story structure's portico features solid sandstone Corinthian columns that were quarried in four sections, carved on-site and assembled. Construction of the mansion began in the spring of 1904 and was completed that fall. Governor Bryant Brooks and First Lady Mary Naomi Brooks opened the house in January of 1905, beginning a long tradition of entertaining and community service at the mansion by Wyoming's first families.

Governor Stanley and First Lady Bobby Hathaway were instrumental in listing this historic home on the National Register of Historic Places in 1969. In July 1977, the Historic Governors' Mansion opened to the public as a historic house museum. In 2004, an extensive restoration was done on the mansion and it now reflects the history of the home through the various eras throughout.

Enjoy self-guided tours enhanced with cell phone audio tours, as well as videos providing information about Wyoming and its first Executive Residence. To schedule a group tour, or for more information, call (307)777-7878 or visit www.artsparkshistory.com. There is no admission charge but donations are accepted. Messenger's Old West Museum Messenger's Old West Museum, located at 616 Crook Avenue, contains one of the area's largest private collections of Old West Memorabilia. Charles Messenger started the collection over 30 years ago and opened the museum to the public 18 years ago. There are now nearly 30 horse-drawn vehicles on display including Buffalo Bill Cody's personal carriage and harness. Several are presented in natural settings. They have a collection of firearms dating back to the early 1800s and an impressive 600-piece Indian arrowhead collection.

Come see their Old Fashioned kitchen, bedroom, spinning wheel, rope maker and much, much more. Take a stroll down memory lane as you view the historic wagons in a realistic setting as they crossed the United States in the 1800s and cars dating back to 1906. Their Royal Coach is a must see, as it is similar to the Royal Coach the Queen of England may have ridden in.

Messenger's Old West Museum is open Monday-Friday from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and special hours during Cheyenne Frontier Days™. ■

Cheyenne LEADS: Economic Development in Cheyenne

Cheyenne LEADS is the economic development organization for Cheyenne and Laramie County Wyoming. LEADS strategically promotes and markets the area both regionally and nationally working with companies to encourage and facilitate relocation into, or expansion within, Laramie County.

As the capitol of Wyoming, we may be known for our western heritage, but we combine that with new technology and business opportunity as part of the Rocky Mountain Corridor. Cheyenne is located at the crossroads of key transportation routes I-80 and I-25. There are also two Class I railroads (BNSF and Union Pacific), and we are just 90 minutes away from Denver International Airport.

Innovative in encouraging growth, Cheyenne is an attractive location with everything a company needs: five business parks, an average commute of 14 minutes, workforce training grants of up to $4,000 matched dollars per employee for new positions, and a labor market population of over 741,800 within an hour's drive.

Wyoming is consistently ranked #1 by the Tax Foundation's State Business Tax Climate Index due to our favorable tax model of no state corporate, inventory, individual tax, etc.

Several major companies like Microsoft, Schlumberger, Brenntag, VAE Nortrak, and Wal-Mart and Lowe's Distribution Centers have chosen Cheyenne specifically for the ability to operate efficiently with access to large metropolitan area amenities and workforce. In addition to our ability to meet business needs, Cheyenne's quality of life is what most people hope for. Cheyenne provides the restaurants and shopping opportunities, while maintaining low crime rates, great outdoor spaces, good schools, clean air and an involved community.

Above all else, Cheyenne LEADS is here for you. Cheyenne LEADS will provide dedicated staff from its Business Development team to assist you with all steps of development. In addition, LEADS staff will continue to support you through any potential grant projects, including grant submittal and administration, as well as support through construction of any grant funded projects, all at no cost to you.

Cheyenne LEADS works hard for the community thanks to its members! If you'd like more information on Cheyenne LEADS or would like to contribute to economic development, please go to cheyenneleads.org.

Cheyenne Little Theatre Players Turns 90!

In the late 1920's and early 30's, the vaudeville circuit was dying. With the advent and popularity of motion pictures, live travelling performances were becoming less profitable, and so communities across the country had access to fewer and fewer opportunities to experience live theatre. In order to fill this gap, many cities and towns started up their own acting groups and began performing plays with community members doing the acting and directing. It was known as "little theatre".

In February of 1930, here in Cheyenne, a group of friends had met for their usual bridge night, and as the evening wore on this idea of "little theatre" was brought up and discussed. Four of the attendees felt that this type of performance theatre was just what Cheyenne needed to fill the cultural gap that was growing as live touring shows became scarcer, and in May of 1930 the Cheyenne Little Theatre Players produced their first performance, beginning a decades long tradition of quality regional theatre.

2019-2020 marks the 90th season of The Cheyenne Little Theatre Players! And we look pretty good for our age!

Our season opens, July 11th – August 4th, with THE OLD-FASHIONED MELODRAMA, as it has for the last 63 years! Join us this summer to find out if the heroine and handsome hero will be able to stop the villain and his henchmen at The Historic Atlas Theatre! Loaded with hisses, sighs, boos and cheers, THE OLD-FASHIONED MELODRAMA has something for everyone!

Next, Be Our Guests at The Mary Godfrey Playhouse as we bring to life DISNEY'S BEAUTY AND THE BEAST directed by Ceara Madsen, with book by Linda Woolverton, music by Alan Menken and lyrics by Howard Ashman and Tim Rice. This fanciful retelling of the classic tale has all your favorite Disney characters, and the songs you and your family have come to love, with a few new favorites as well! This show opens September 20th and runs until October 6th.

In November we will be presenting THE SUNSHINE BOYS at The Mary Godfrey Playhouse. This classic play by Neil Simon will be directed by John Lyttle. Vaudeville is dead, but some of the performers are still alive and kicking...each other! Enjoy the fun as two old vaudevillians are asked to come out of retirement one last time and perform one of their classic routines on television. After 47 years of performing together there's only one problem: they can't stand each other! You'll truly love this show that will run November 8th-24th!

Coming in December to The Historic Atlas Theatre stage, we present the holiday classic, A CHRISTMAS CAROL. This beloved Christmas tale has been entertaining audiences for decade. Join Scrooge, Marley's Ghost, Tiny Tim and all of the other great Dickensian characters! This show will be will be directed by Nancy Stange. Mark your calendar for December 6th-22nd. And don't forget to ask about our dinner theatre performances!

In February 2020, we return to the Atlas stage for THE GLASS MENAGERIE by Tennessee Williams, directed by Brenda Lyttle. Come see this powerful production February 7th-16th.

This is a memory play, with strong autobiographical elements. Its action is drawn from the memories of the narrator, Tom Wingfield and is set in St. Louis in 1937.

He is an aspiring poet who toils in a shoe warehouse to support his mother, Amanda, and sister, Laura.

We go back to The Mary Godfrey Playhouse in March for our youth production this season: THE WIND IN THE WILLOWS directed by Jason Gilbert. Relive and share your childhood memories of Badger, Mole, Rat and the irrepressible Mr. Toad, in their adventures along the Thames and throughout the English countryside! Performance dates are March 13th-29th, 2020.

Our 90th performance season concludes with our second dinner theatre: the musical spectacle of CABARET at the Historic Atlas Theatre. This multiple Tony Award winning musical was written by Joe Masteroff, with music by John Kander and lyrics by Fred Ebb, and will be directed by Jay Batson. In Berlin in 1931, American cabaret singer Sally Bowles meets British academic Brian Roberts who is finishing his university studies. Despite Brian's confusion over his sexuality, the pair become lovers, but the arrival of the wealthy and decadent playboy Maximilian von Heune complicates matters for them both. This love triangle plays out against the rise of the Nazi party and the collapse of the Weimar Republic. Come see CABARET at The Historic Atlas Theatre May 1st-17th!

Season tickets and single performance tickets are available online at cheyennelittletheatre.org, or by calling our box office at 307-638-6543! ■
