EARTH DAY: SAVE OUR SPECIES

Penitentiary Glen Reservation

Sunday, April 28 • Noon to 4 pm • Free event

"When one tugs at a single thing in nature, he finds it attached to the rest of the world." – John Muir

All of the Earth's plants and animals have value and are part of the web of life. We can do a lot to help the species around us –recycling, planting a garden or turning out your outside lights at night. This year's theme, Save our Species, will allow visitors to learn how species are connected from the tiniest insect to people through fun interactive activities, games, crafts and demonstrations. Join the fun as Lake Metroparks celebrates Earth Day between noon to 4 pm on Sunday, April 28 at Penitentiary Glen Reservation in Kirtland. Admission is free for all ages.

Find out what local conservation-focused organizations and agencies are doing to help our planet at the Eco-Fair. Browse locally made and eco-friendly merchandise for purchase at the Earth Day Marketplace. Other activities include:

Complete an obstacle course and learn about recycling
Take a tree sapling home. (1 per family).

Meet native Ohio wildlife.

See farm animals from Farmpark.
Make an eco-friendly craft.

Get trimmed at the Haircut-a-thon presented by Ladies & Gentleman Salon & Spa.

Ride the miniature trains provided by the Lake Shore Live Steamers between 1 and 3 pm, weather permitting.

Browse our selection of unique gift items in The Nature Store.

Plants and animals rely on water for life. Enjoy an art show featuring paintings and carvings all related to water. Ebb and Flow – The Magic of Water is on display in the Nature Center.

Earth Day at Penitentiary Glen Reservation is presented by Ganley Subaru East.

Penitentiary Glen Reservation is located at 8668 Kirtland-Chardon Rd in Kirtland.

Traveling Exhibit Amazing Butterflies at Cleveland Botanical Garden

Interactive Exhibit Explores the Amazing and Beautiful Butterfly

The Cleveland Botanical Garden invites visitors to embark on an exciting journey, transforming from caterpillars into butterflies, at Amazing Butterflies, a special exhibit running now through Sunday, April 28.

Visitors will experience the challenges of being a caterpillar as it morphs into a beautiful butterfly through an interactive maze of larger-than-life leaves, grass and trees. Amazing Butterflies includes engaging features like a butterfly zip line, a climbable spiderweb, and a giant caterpillar entry tunnel. Parents and children can play games to learn about nectar, lifecycles, and mating, and they can even climb into their own pupa pods as they make their way through the maze.

The Botanical Garden's regular butterfly collection will be highlighted during the exhibit with additional live butterflies to be released throughout the show. "This is a perfect exhibit for us to bring to Cleveland," said Brian Gibbons, Cleveland Botanical Garden Director of Gardens and Glasshouse. "This exhibit gives us the opportunity to tell the story of the butterfly, which we do every day in our glasshouse, in an interactive way that families can enjoy together."

Minotaur Mazes of Seattle created Amazing Butterflies with scientific input and interpretation from the Natural History Museum in London.

Amazing Butterflies highlights include:

- Larger-than-life caterpillar tunnel

- Butterfly maze

- Climb-on spider's web

- Leaf climb

- Caterpillar crawl

- The Mating Game dress up

- Bean bag caterpillar feed

- Friend's foosball

- Hairy plant attack

- Climb-in pupa pods

Amazing Butterflies: thru April 28

Hours:

Tuesday, Thursday, Friday & Saturday:

10am – 5pm

Wednesday: 10am – 9pm

Sunday: Noon – 5pm

Monday: Closed

Admission:

Family Matters with Amber

Tis This Season For Gardening

In January I made a One Word Resolution of passion. Part of my goal for that word this year is to do more gardening. I was a container gardener way before I learned anything about actual in-the-ground-cultivating. I grew up in a small city in Connecticut, with zero experience, but when I moved to the country with my husband I quickly used my DIY skills to plant something. Anything. Containers were already there on our rental house deck, so I began to plant some annuals. Then, when seven years later, when we purchased an empty two-acre lot to build a house on, I went big! With some great soil and some training from my in-laws I started planting perennials, fruits, veggies, and herbs. Any annuals by then were just for color and variation in my front beds. I was becoming a pro! I even sent out daisy seed packets for my girls to announce the new birth of their baby brother Justice. Those flowers are probably still growing, in everyone's yard, including mine.

To me, gardening was just a hobby that I kept expanding on. But, to some, it's they do it because they or someone they love might have allergies to processed foods, or they might have a desire to eat organic pesticide free produce. Either of which can become costly. If you don't garden, you should try it...start small in a container like I did! If you don't want to, I still suggest you get your kids to try it.

When I moved to Cleveland in 2007, I would be forced to go back to container gardening because I was living in a high-rise apartment. I had no yard, and missed my hobby so much. I couldn't let it go. Every year for five years the kids and I planted seeds on the balcony and enjoyed the fruits of our labor. From the time they were little they have learned the joy of growing your own food. When I bought our house four years ago, I didn't have a lot of time, so we stayed with containers, even though we have a larger than normal back (and front) yard. This year, passion is driving me. I'm making the time to go big again!

I'm in awe of the timing that one of my friends had a few months ago when she invited me to become a member of the local garden club. I'm pretty sure I already knew what I was doing in the garden, however, none of us could ever know everything, so why not meet up with others who share the same hobby and learn more while I'm at it? I can't wait! (Thank you Shonda Rhimes and your Year of Yes book!)

If you want to start gardening, or it's already a hobby of yours and you want something new to add to your collection, the Willowick Garden Club holds its Annual Plant Sale on Saturday May 11, 2019, at the Dudley Field House, from 9:00 am to 3:00 pm. Mark your calendar's. Maybe you can even get the mom in your life some plants for Mother's Day while you're there!

If you'd like some inspiration, or want to gather with fellow green thumbs, visit the Willowick Garden Club. They hold regular monthly meetings on Wednesdays. Their next one is Wednesday, April 3, 2019, at 7:00 pm, at the Lake Metropark Lakefront Lodge, 30525 Lakeshore Blvd Willowick. Their special presentation for April will be Container Gardening with Succulents presented by member Debbie McKinney. This is very popular right now, look in any home decor store and you will see. Their May 1, 2019 program will be Container Gardening with herbs by Meghan Davis (I highly recommend it, especially if you enjoy cooking with herbs but don't have a lot of space to grow them.)

Summer Camps Provide Grief Support for Children

Looking for a summer camp to support a grieving child or teen? Western Reserve Grief Services offers Together We Can grief support camps. The camps connect children with peers who have also experienced a loss, and incorporate art, music, play and nature exploration. They are led by trained children's grief support specialists from Hospice of the Western Reserve. No family experience with hospice is required to attend.

Red Oak, 9057 Kirtland-Chardon Road, Kirtland, is a three-day grief camp (ages 6-13) scheduled for August 6-8, 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Activities include commemorative crafts, drum circles and storytelling to encourage memories, coping skills and the expression of feelings. The cost is $25/camper (scholarships available). Registration is due by July 8. More information and applications for Red Oak Camp are available by calling 216.486.6838.

"Children tend to process their grief differently than adults," said Diane Snyder Cowan, Bereavement Center Director. "Our camps are tailored to support needs in a way that is beneficial and comforting for each age level.

They provide a 'safe zone' where kids can feel comfortable sharing big emotions and where they can ask questions in a supportive environment. Camp activities encourage memories and the expression of feelings."

"There's nothing better than seeing all these kids who have experienced so many different losses come together in a beautiful natural setting to share stories, learn new ways to handle their grief and have fun with other children who understand what they're going through," said Karen Hatfield, Team Leader.

About Western Reserve Grief Services

Western Reserve Grief Services, the community-based bereavement center of Hospice of the Western Reserve, provides a comprehensive range of grief programs to anyone needing support on their grief journey. A family member does not have to have a loved one in hospice care to take part in children's bereavement camps, family programs, special events, art therapy groups, online forums and a wide variety of grief support groups. Crisis response in the community and in-school grief programs are also available. For more information on available resources, visit hospicewr.org/griefandloss.

GRAND RIVER CANOE AND KAYAK RACE

Ashtabula County Metroparks
Harpersfield Covered Bridge Metropark to Hidden Valley Park (south entrance)
Saturday, April 20 • Boats depart between 9 and 10
Registration required

Paddlers from around the midwest meet at the Ashtabula Metroparks Harpersfield Bridge Covered Bridge Metroparks every spring to compete in an 8½-mile canoe and kayak race on the wild and scenic Grand River to Hidden Valley Park south entrance (Madison). Some are former national champions, some are paddling this stretch for the first time, all experience the river like it was meant to be experienced, in its wild and scenic state. Racers come back year after year and pass racing down to the next generation. This race has become a family tradition for many in Lake County and beyond

The Grand River Canoe and Kayak Race is known for its “maddest hat” contest, in honor of the canoe club with the same name that started the race in 1964.

Awards are presented to top three finishers in each race category (determined by skill level and boat type).

Visit goto.lakemetroparks.com/canoe-kayak-race for race information, directions and flyer. Fee applies.

Wild Animal Babies Fun Day Friday

St. Gabriel School Performing Arts Presents Sound of Music, Jr.

St. Gabriel School's Performing Arts Club presents Sound of Music, jr. on Thursday, April 11th at 7:00PM and Saturday, April 13th at 7:00PM. The play is in the Fr. Pahler Center at St. Gabriel School and tickets are available at the door: Adults: $6.00 and Students: $4.00. Mrs. Andrea Karpuszka and Mrs. Michelle Kuch are the directors and will lead the students through this wonderful production!

The cast and crew are very excited to perform! Carley DeRespiris (Maria) shares, "The role of Maria is challenging. She is a very complex woman and she is in love with music. That is how she brings joy to the Von Trapp family. Maria is kind, thoughtful and always wants people to be happy. Being a part of the St. Gabriel School Performing Arts has changed my life. For the past few years I have learned so much about music. I have also made so many friendships throughout this experience. I would like to thank Mrs. Karpuszka and Mr. Kuch for believing in me and helping me put on a great show. I hope to bring joy to all when I sing for the audience The Hills are Alive with the Sound of Music."

Captain Von Trapp is played by Connor MacDonald who stated, "When I joined the play I was nervous. When I found out I was going to play Captain Von Trapp, I was petrified. When I started going into the practices and motions of it, suddenly it became exciting. Being a part of the school performance has brought me new self-confidence, new friends, fun times, and memoirs to hold forever."

"Being able to be in the St. Gabriel Performing Arts this year has been life changing! The Sound of Music is such an amazing production and being blessed enough to partake in it has been absolutely outstanding. My fellow peers and I have worked hard and are looking forward to opening night. The Directors, Mrs. Karpuszka and Mrs. Kuch, spend so much time with us and truly love their actors/actresses and only wish for the best. This year's show is definitely one worth seeing!" said Cameryn Brandetsas, who plays the part of Liesl Von Trapp.

We sincerely hope the community will come to support and enjoy these young thespians as they share their talent in Sound of Music, jr.!
