Soon after our last child left home for college, my husband was resting next to me on the couch with his head in my lap. I carefully removed his glasses.

"You know, honey," I said sweetly, "without your glasses, you look like the same handsome young man I married."

"Honey," he replied with a grin, "without my glasses, you still look pretty good too!"

Backpacking

After eight days of backpacking with my wife Linda, we were looking pretty scruffy. One morning she came to breakfast in a baseball cap, her shoulder length hair sticking out at odd angles.

"Terry," she said, "does my hair make me look like a water buffalo?"

I thought for a moment, then said, "If I tell you the truth, do you promise not to charge?"

HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD — Steven Spielberg terrorized us in 1975 with his $471 million epic "Jaws." The three subsequent sequels couldn't touch the original grosses, but when last year's "The Meg" grossed $520 million, lo and behold, a remake of "Jaws" was born, to be co-produced with "Titanic" producer/director James Cameron. Already considered to star are Harrison Ford, Chris Pratt, Jesse Eisenberg and Gwyneth Paltrow.

Spielberg, now working on the remake of "West Side Story," has cast 17-year-old New Jersey native Rachel Zegler as "Maria." Zegler was discovered after posting a 30-second clip on social media of her singing "Shallow," the Lady Gaga/Bradley Cooper Oscar-winning song from "A Star Is Born," which had 83,000 retweets and 335,000 likes. Her Tony will 25-year-old Ansel Elgort, who starred in "The Fault in Our Stars," "The Divergent Trilogy" and "Baby Driver." Both Natalie Wood (original Maria) and Richard Beymer (original Tony), were 23 when they played the star-crossed lovers.

Josh Gad

up is the sequel "Frozen 2" (out Nov. 22); "Little Monsters," with Lupita Nyong'o; "Artemis Fowl," with Judi Dench (May 2020); as well as the HBO sci-fi series "Avenue 5," with Hugh Laurie.

Talk about the old switcheroo! When "Beauty and the Beast" was released last year, people were talking about how enamored Gaston's (Luke Evans) sidekick, played by Josh Gad, was, fawning all over him. Of course, Gaston only had eyes for Belle (Emma Watson). A funny fact, Josh Gad has been married to Ida Darvish since 2008, and they have two children, while Luke Evans is actually an "out" gay man since 2002.

Evans can now be seen in the scary "Ma," with Octavia Spencer, and Netflix's "Murder Mystery," with Adam Sandler and Jennifer Aniston. He's just completed "Midway" (opening Nov. 8) and is currently working in "Dreamland," with Armie Hammer, Gary Oldman and Evangeline Lilly, for a 2020 release.

Josh Gad has "A Dog's Journey," with Dennis Quaid (now in theaters), and "Angry Birds 2" (Aug. 19). Next

Summer Sun Bakes Mail-Order Meds

DEAR DR. ROACH: I get all of my medicine by mail. Since the manufacturers stress keeping the pills at cool room temperatures, I wonder what the excessive heat does to them. The medicine must cook all day in the mailbox -- way over 100 degrees here in Florida. I wonder how much the pills or liquids are deteriorating, and how the effectiveness is influenced. -- F.N.

ANSWER: You are right to be concerned. All medicines should be stored in a cool and dark place, as direct sunlight and heat can damage their effectiveness. Hormones, such as oral contraceptive pills, thyroid hormone and insulin, are among the most sensitive. Nitroglycerine is as well. Although some are shipped in packaging with cold packs and insulation, that's not always the case. I recommend using a local pharmacy, but many people have prescription plans that require them to use mail order. If that's the case for you, try to make sure the medicine will be delivered when you are available to receive it. If you have a temperature-sensitive medicine, such as the ones I mention above (ask your pharmacist about others), ask your mail-order pharmacy to send it in special packaging during warm-weather months.

DEAR DR. ROACH: I am a 68-year-old male. I had triple bypass surgery two years ago. Post-surgery complications included diabetes, pneumonia and renal failure. I spent approximately three months in intensive care. After discharge I started physical therapy, as my arms and hands had atrophied. I am still doing therapy, but continue to have limited use of my arms and hands (I cannot curl my hands without force). Any insight you have as to why I am unable to use my hands would be appreciated. -- C.M.

ANSWER: Muscle weakness is common after an ICU stay (it's seen in more than 25 percent of patients), due to several separate causes. Prolonged immobility can lead to weakness, atrophy and even contractures (involuntary bending at certain joints, such as the elbow and ankle). Both critical illness myopathy (affecting muscles; it's common in people who received steroids, like prednisone) and critical illness polyneuropathy (affecting nerves; it's common in people with severe infection, like sepsis) can lead to weakness and atrophy. Medications are sometimes needed to paralyze muscles in surgery or in critical illnesses, and these can have long-lasting side effects, including weakness. Malnutrition is common in ICU patients, not because ICU doctors and nurses don't know to or don't want to feed patients, but because the body may be unable to absorb necessary nutrients. Some or all of these may combine to leave lasting physical effects from a long ICU stay. Physical and occupational rehabilitation services are the key to the recovery of function. Return of physical strength is slow and may be incomplete, so it may be necessary to use aids and to learn new ways to perform tasks. It has been my repeated experience that almost everyone can benefit from therapy, and patients who work harder, are more driven and are more optimistic tend to have the best results. Although most benefit is seen in the first year after loss of function, you still may continue to improve with therapy, perhaps utilizing different modalities. Definitely seek an occupational therapist if you haven't already.

Dr. Roach regrets that he is unable to answer individual letters, but will incorporate them in the column whenever possible. Readers may email questions to ToYourGoodHealth@med.cornell.edu.

PIEDMONT PETS
June 20, 2019
By Paulette Dean

Many times, people bring dogs to us because they no longer have time for them. A couple of days ago, we received a cute German short-haired pointer mix puppy. The owner said the puppy was lonely and he did not have time to spend meeting her needs. I remembered what I had learned from the three dogs I have adopted since 1992. Dogs (and most companion animals, actually) need a friend.

The very first dog I adopted after beginning my employment with the Danville Area Humane Society was a young puppy with deceptively small paws. She was the only surviving puppy of a litter that had been thrown in a dumpster.

It seems as soon as I adopted her, Molly's paws grew and by the time they finished growing, she was an 80 pound, lovable, energetic dog that was a poor match for my level of energy and physical health.

What a wonderful dog she was! Then-shelter manager, Hilary, had a big lovable, energetic dog that she brought to the shelter for playdates with Molly. Shelby and Molly were best friends until Molly was tragically killed through an accident caused by a dear friend of mine.

A few weeks after Molly was killed, a one-year-old dachshund mix came to the shelter. Sugar won my heart, I adopted her and re-named her Katey. By this time, Hilary had quit to take a job in the field she had a degree in and April became our shelter manager. April adopted a sweet little dog she named Bobo. Bobo and

996 South Boston Rd., Danville, VA 24540
Phone: (434) 799-0843

Katey were best friends for over ten years. They were daily companions at the shelter and Bobo also hosted playdates with Katey at her house on Saturdays.

When Katey died at the age of 12, Bobo grieved for weeks and refused to leave my side during that time. I also grieved for her and did not want another dog. A few years after that, we grieved for Bobo when she died as a frail 17 year-old girl.

That changed eight years ago when a young wirehaired dachshund mix was picked up as a stray. April brought him to my office; I named him and adopted him.

Now, Wally is best friends with April's dogs. They have playdates and are always happy to see each other. In fact, when Wally spends the weekends there, he is exhausted for a couple of days!

The great lesson I have learned is that animals really do have emotional needs that we need to be aware of and do our very best to meet.

Rookwood Fountain

Flowers were an important part of the lives of Americans from the 1880s to 1950s. Technology had advanced to a time when pottery could be made in multiples in molds and large kilns. New types of plants had been introduced to the country, flower arrangements were a sign of wealth and good taste. Formal gardens were important.

in 1902 that were groups about 3- to 5-feet high, with water pouring from rock crevices or mouths of large fish.

Today, a Rookwood fountain can sell for $3,000 to $8,000, depending on the artist, subject and condition. It is not unusual to have many chips, stains even firing cracks in a fountain after years outside, but it still sells for thousands of dollars. It also pays to get expert repairs that will raise the value and add to the life of the fountain. A Rookwood fountain sold by Brunk auctions a few years ago brought $2,300 even though it was damaged. Wear and tear on a garden piece adds to the romance and aged look. Check the backyards of house sales or even houses for sale for overlooked fountains and birdbaths or ornaments. You might find a forgotten treasure.

Q. I have a print by Henry Aiken and wonder if you could tell me anything about it — the year and someplace besides eBay where I can sell it.

A. Henry Thomas Aiken (1785-1851) was a British artist known for his pictures of sporting scenes. Some of his oil paintings sell at auction for thousands of dollars, but many original works have been reproduced and are available online for as little as $10 or less. Your print should be seen by an expert to determine if it is an original and what its value might be. If it's an original, it would sell for a satisfactory price at an auction.

This 32-inch-high Rookwood faience fountain featuring a child and a dolphin spouts water from the dolphin's mouth into a pond. The water recirculates thanks to a pump, and when the water evaporates either a hose or rain refills it. It cost $2,300 at a Brunk auction in North Carolina a few years ago.

Collectors can find many flower vases by Rookwood, Weller, Roseville, Grueby, Fulper and many other important factories. And urns, flower vases, wall pockets, flower frogs and even chairs, benches, garden ornaments and fountains were popular. Life-sized frogs, rabbits, turtles, squirrels, even deer, dogs, elves and large mushrooms were created to display outdoors. Talented artists made the expensive garden fountains. Many were sculptures of groups of children with birds, fish, plants, shells and large rocks. The Rookwood Pottery started making architectural pottery fountains

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Get your facts together and become familiar with them before you have to face up to that interview. The better prepared you are, the easier it will be to make that important impression.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) New information might warrant changing your mind about a recently made decision. Never mind the temporary confusion it might cause. Acting on the truth is always preferable.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Creating a loving atmosphere for those you care for could pay off in many ways. Expect to hear some unexpected but very welcome news that can make a big difference in your life.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Stepping away from an old and seemingly insoluble problem might be helpful. Use the time to take a new look at the situation and perhaps work out a new method of dealing with it.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) You're still in a favorable goal-setting mode. However, you might need to be a little more realistic about some of your aims. Best to reach for what is currently doable. The rest will follow.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) A setback is never easy to deal with. But it could be a boon in disguise. Recheck your proposal and strengthen the weak spots. Seek advice from someone who has "been there and done that."

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Coming up with a new way of handling a tedious job-regulated chore could lead to more than just a congratulatory memo once the word reaches the "right people." Good luck.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) What you might call determination, someone else might regard as stubbornness. Look for ways to reach a compromise that won't require a major shift of views on your part.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) You're still in a vulnerable mode vis-a-vis "offers" that sound too good to be true. So continue to be skeptical about anything that can't be backed up with provable facts.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Thrift is still dominant this week. What you don't spend on what you don't need will be available for you to draw on should a possible (albeit temporary) money crunch hit.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Staying close to home early in the week allows for some introspection about your social life. Sort out your feelings before rejoining your fun-time fellows on the weekend.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) It can be a bit daunting as well as exciting to find yourself finally taking action on a long-delayed move for a change. It helps to stay with it when others rally to support you.

BORN THIS WEEK: Your love of home and family provide you with the emotional support you need to find success in the outside world.

THE TRAVEL TROUBLESHOOTER

BY CHRISTOPHER ELLIOTT

American Airlines couldn't get us to grandmother's funeral — now it's keeping our money

When American Airlines delays and then cancels Jeanette Franz's flight, she and her family miss her grandmother's funeral in Illinois. Are they entitled to a refund?

Q: My family of four was scheduled to fly from Austin, Texas, to Quad City International Airport for my grandmother's funeral in Moline, Illinois. The first leg of our American Airlines flight from Austin to Dallas was initially delayed because of a crew problem. Then, it was delayed even more because the plane had been mistakenly overfueled and they needed to drain some fuel. These delays made us miss our connection in Dallas.

After waiting eight hours for the next flight, American Airlines canceled that flight. We had to fly back home to Austin, and we missed the services. If it weren't for the delays, which were solely the responsibility of American Airlines, we would have made our connection with no problem. I was supposed to sing at the funeral and my husband was going to be a pallbearer.

I have contacted American Airlines and they are trying to give us vouchers that have to be used this year. I explained that we no longer have a reason to fly since we've missed an experience we can never get back. I believe we are entitled to a full refund. Can you help us? — Jeanette Franz, Austin, Texas

A: My condolences on the loss of your grandmother. American Airlines should have transported you and your family to Illinois as promised.

But wait. A closer look at American Airlines' conditions of carriage, the legal agreement between you and the airline, notes, "We do our best to be on time, but our flight schedule is not guaranteed and not part of this contract." So, American Airlines wasn't required to get you to your grandmother's funeral on time, unfortunately.

This is what's called a "trip in vain," and it's a gray area for airlines and other travel companies. And for good reason. They don't want to advertise that they will offer a refund or credit if you can't make it to your destination on time. But they do. That's because the airline's published schedule certainly implies some kind of guarantee, even if the contract says otherwise.

American Airlines offered you a voucher, but as you note, vouchers expire within a year of the initial purchase. For you, the funny money was worthless — and you're right, American Airlines could do better. After all, the crew problem and the mechanical issue were within the airline's control.

I list the names, numbers and email addresses of the American Airlines customer service executives on my website. A brief, polite email to one of them might have yielded a better outcome.

I contacted American Airlines on your behalf. A representative called you and offered the airline's condolences on your loss. American Airlines has issued a full refund.

Danville Utilities receives national award

Danville Utilities has received the E.F. Scattergood System Achievement Award from the American Public Power Association (APPA). This award honors public power systems with outstanding accomplishments.

In winning the award, the APPA cited projects by Danville Utilities that provide reliable energy and diversify its power supply portfolio. Last year, Danville Utilities celebrated the completion of the six-megawatt Kentucky solar project, and it has agreements in place for the purchase of up to 22 megawatts of solar power from projects planned in the Whitmell and Ringgold communities.

In addition to the use of solar power, Danville Utilities operates the Pinnacles hydroelectric complex in Patrick County, which generates up to 10 megawatts of power, and it receives more than four megawatts of power, depending on water flow, from the Schoolfield hydroelectric plant on Memorial Drive.

Also, Danville Utilities is a participant in American Municipal Power's hydro projects, the largest deployment of run-of-the-river hydro in the country.

The award was presented last week at the APPA's national conference in Austin, Texas. The APPA is the service organization for the more than 2,000 community-owned electric utilities that serve more than 49 million Americans.

Danville Utilities provides natural gas, water, wastewater, and telecommunications services in Danville and distributes electricity to approximately 42,000 customer locations in a 500-square-mile service territory covering Danville, the southern third of Pittsylvania County, and small portions of Henry and Halifax counties.

Cops and Critters

The Danville Area Humane Society is thrilled to announce a new partnership with the Danville Police Department to provide a shelter experience for children, ages 5-12 years. The first Cops and Critters will be held on Wednesday, July 24, 2019, from 1-3 p.m.

Paulette Dean, executive director of DAHS, said, "Since we operate the City animal shelter, we have always had a close working relationship with everyone in the Danville Police Department. They have provided protection for us, but we are also gratified by the compassion exhibited by each one who serves in any capacity in that department. They are true heroes for the animals."

Sergeant Nicole Jeffries with the Community and Youth Engagement Unit said, "The Danville Police Department is excited to partner with the Danville Area Humane Society as we work together to protect all things, great and small."

The Danville Area Humane Society and Danville Police department have dealt with hundreds of cruelty cases and thousands of neglect cases through the years. Sadly, several have been because of the actions of children or youth. Although some children are born with a natural love for animals, they must be guided and taught appropriate behavior. Empathy is the ability to recognize and feel what another living creature (human or animal) is feeling and then act appropriately and compassionately.

Dean said, "Empathy for animals can be developed through positive interaction and it is our hope that through a Cops and Critters experience, children and youth can learn more about how to respect and care for animals."

Each participant in the Cops and Critters event will receive a t-shirt, provided through the generosity of The Community Foundation of the Dan River Region.

Cops and Critters will be a hands-on experience. There will be a mini-class on the care of companion animals, presented by Dr. Laura Luffman of Animal Medical Center. A turtle and rats will visit with their human, Dayne Scott. The children will help the police officers in bathing puppies, walking dogs, and playing with kittens and cats.

An hour before the event begins, we also invite the media to attend an announcement of another partnership between the two agencies that has the potential of saving both human and animal lives.

Parents may request a registration form for this event by e-mailing dahsinc@yahoo.com or by calling 799-5036. Participants should not have allergies to any animals.

Due to budgetary cutbacks the Sheriff's Department introduces the new attack Chihuahua K9 Unit.

HELL HATH NO FURY LIKE A TODDLER WHOSE SIBLING LOOKED AT THEM.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

* It was American pastor, politician and activist Andrew Young who made the following sage observation: "Nothing is illegal if a hundred businessmen decide to do it."

* Tony Curtis, who co-starred with Marilyn Monroe in the famous film "Some Like It Hot," once said that kissing Ms. Monroe was "like kissing Hitler." Makes you wonder how he knew what kissing Hitler was like.

* If you're like the average bearded man, your facial hair grows at a rate of about 6 inches every year.

* You might be surprised to learn that the highest reward ever offered for the capture of Henry McCarty -- the infamous outlaw better known as Billy the Kid -- was $500.

* In a recent survey of people who admitted to drinking beer, wine and spirits, more than 40 percent of respondents said that drinking spirits made them feel sexy, and more than half said that it made them feel confident and energetic. About one-third, though, said that spirits increased their aggression.

* The first telephone book ever issued was published by the New Haven District Telephone Company and was distributed in New Haven, Connecticut, in February 1878. It contained a grand total of 50 names.

* You may know that on Oct. 4, 1957, the Soviet Union earned the distinction of putting the first human-made object into space with the launch of the satellite Sputnik 1. You may not know, though, that in Russian, the word "sputnik" means "fellow traveler."

* The outermost layer of the skin on your face is made up almost entirely of dead skin cells.

* In the Scandinavian country of Norway you can find 1,800 lakes that contain no fish whatsoever. ***
