BEING THE 'BEST' IS A LEGACY FOR FOUNDER OF LEONG'S 21

Ling Ling Lam sits at her favorite booth at Leongs 21

Ling Ling Lam considers it a great honor when Leong's 21 wins the Macomb Daily Best of the Best Readers Choice Award for Chinese restaurants in Macomb County.

Evident by the framed awards and news clippings hanging in the lobby of the restaurant, which she opened in 2001 and has grown to become a neighborhood, and even regional favorite for almond chicken, chicken fried rice and hot and sour soup.

Her godson, Qui Huu Phung, however, does not share his godmother's enthusiasm.

"He said awards are not important," said Lam, who retired and sold the restaurant to her godson but continues to serve as a consultant for the family business.

"He is young, a different generation," Lam said, during an interview in her office and the first booth to the left of the cash register, that customers do not usually use.

What Lam and Phung do agree on is the importance of never faltering on the signature Chinese dishes that Lam's late husband, Bing On Lam, learned from his father, and treating all of their customers like royalty.

"He treats customers very good," Lam said. Just ask them. One customer said she picked up an order for food and when she got home it was all wrong. She called Phung and instead of excuses or a token discount for her next meal, he packed up the correct order and delivered it to her house.

That is just one of the perks of being a steady customer. A shelf and cabinet behind the cash register is filled with Chinese tea and trinkets that both Phung and Lam bestow upon visitors to the restaurant who might be celebrating a birthday, anniversary or just because the family wants to acknowledge their friends.

Among those who are considered frequent customers are Rene Szlachetowicz, Brigitte McCracken and Kathryn Sommers. The ladies who are all retired have a longstanding tradition of meeting at Leong's 21 for lunch, a short drive from their homes in Mount Clemens, before playing cards. "We come here all the time," said Sommers. "It's a nice and bright. I love that and the food is great. My favorite is the Cantonese Chow Mein."

"I always get the almond chicken," said McCracken, referring to what is considered among the house favorites.

Lam said the reason for that is, her husband's recipe calls for special flour that makes the batter crispy without being oily. The fried rice is also made with a recipe that was handed down from one cook in her husband's family, to the next.

"Every customer expects good fried rice, good egg rolls and good soup," Lam said. If you cannot do that right, they won't stick around for the almond chicken, no matter how good it is said Lam, who has two sons who went on to attend a university, leaving the family business in the capable hands of Lam's godson.

"We've been here almost 20 years," said Lam, who will be turning 66 years old in July. "I still come here, many times but now I have more time with my family."

That includes her new granddaughter, Addison Lam, who lives in California.

"My family always said I am the only person who visits everybody," said Lam, who was born in Guangdong, China. At least once a year she returns to her homeland to see her family. Her mother, who passed away, is the one who convinced her and her husband to move to the United States after they got married, knowing they could prosper there.

She did and this past year the Chinese Restaurant Foundation in California, presented her with one of its highest honors: The Legacy Award, given to restaurants in America who have celebrated decades of excellence.

"Awards are important to me and this one is very special," Lam said.

They'll notice your Smile!

"I have been a patient of Dr. Siegel's for over 20 years. She is the most caring and compassionate dentist I have ever met and she is highly regarded in the dental community. I wouldn't trust my care to another dentist. Even when I lived in Clarkston, I made the long drive just to see Dr. Siegel. Since I have been under her care, I have gone from nearly losing my teeth to the beautiful smile you see today."
