Albion school buys 540 Chromebook computers for students to use in class

By Tom Rivers, Editor Posted 9 July 2019 on OrleansHub.com

ALBION – The school district is buying 540 new Chromebook laptops for students. The Board of Education on Monday approved spending $119,700 for the Chromebooks, which also includes 18 charging carts. The district is buying them from CDI Technologies of Ontario, Canada, which submitted the lowest bid.

The district currently has about 200 Chromebooks. The Chromebooks are used by classrooms, with the laptops staying at the school and not going home with students. Teachers can sign out use of a cart of Chromebooks, with 30 of the computers in a cart.

The district also has a bank of desktop computers in most classrooms or about 1,000 of those computers total. Rather than replace some of those desktop computers, the district will upgrade the memory and processors on 250 of those computers. The board accepted a bid for $25,002.50 for the components to upgrade those computers. CDW Government LLC of Vernon Hills, Ill., was the low bidder.

The new Chromebooks plus the desktop computers gives the district about 1,740 computers. The enrollment is about 1,800 students. "We're nearing the point where we have one device per kid," said Michael Bonnewell, the district superintendent.

The Board of Education also approved a bid from Connection Public Sector Solutions of Merrimack, NH, for $6,724.60 for "peripherals," including new printers.

The STREAM & LAKE MAP OF NEW YORK resembles another map--known to Pennsylvania anglers as the "Lost Stream Map."

It was completed in 1965 after a 30 year effort by Howard Higbee, a former Penn State Professor.

Professor Higbee painstakingly plotted by hand, the location of 45,000 miles of streams onto the map. It sold extremely well - until the printer declared bankruptcy and hauled Higbee's work to the landfill.

But reprints were impossible because the maps were printed in non-photographic blue. Higbee was even offered $400 for one of his last maps. And state agencies were forced to keep their copies under lock and key.

Then, at the age of 91, Howard Higbee's dream came true. Computers made it possible to reprint the map.

Then the STREAM & LAKE MAP OF NEW YORK was created.

WE ARE GOING TO BE LOSING SOME OF OUR TREES

By Douglas H. Domedion

Our ash trees will soon be gone.

Next time while you are driving thru the country, the "swamp" or even in the city take note of the tree tops. You will probably spot masses of trees dying along the small woods in our area, even in your yard. The trees dying are ash and it is a pretty good bet that we are going to lose them all to a non-native beetle that is sweeping across the state at an alarming rate.

The problem has developed in recent years and is caused by a non-native insect, the emerald ash borer, that probably got into this country riding on pallets of imports from Asia. It was first discovered in Michigan in 2002 and has spread to 13 states (including New York) and two Canadian Provinces.

The emerald ash borer is a very small but very destructive beetle. It has four life stages: adult, egg, larva and pupa. The adult beetle has a shiny emerald green body with a coppery red or purple abdomen. The beetle can measure 1/2 inch long and 1/8 inch wide. Adult beetles leave distinctive D-shaped exit holes in the outer bark of the branches and the trunk after they lay their eggs. Adults are roughly 3/8 to 5/8 inch long with metallic green wing covers and a coppery red or purple abdomen. They may be present from late May through early September, but are most common in June and July.

Signs of infection in the tree canopy include die back, yellowing, and browning of leaves. Increased woodpecker activity is often the first sign of an EAB infestation. This activity can lead to large strips of bark falling off as the larva chew their way into area around the tree that supplies the tree with water and nutrition from the root system. On the trunk and branches, there will be small, D-shaped holes that are left by emerging beetles. When the tree's bark splits or falls off, S-shaped larval galleries may be visible. So how does this insect kill an ash tree? Adult beetles lay eggs on the bark of the tree and when the the eggs hatch, the larvae (immature beetles) bore into the bark and feed on the transportation tissues of the tree. This disrupts the movement of nutrients and water within the tree, girdling it and causing it's death. When they leave as adults they leave that D-shaped hole.

Adult EABs typically fly less than 1/2 mile from their emergence tree so there is a gradual spread effect but the main cause has been man made by the transporting of ash wood around the State. There has been a regulation against transporting fire wood more than 50 miles in NYS, but we all know how that works! It only takes a one violation to mess things up and it is almost impossible to control. Someone picks up a bundle of firewood from an infested area and hauls it to their cabin or cottage for campfires and the damage has been done.

In Michigan, the first state in the U.S. infested with EAB, the greatest economic impact has been on communities faced with removal of thousands of dead ash on streets and in yards. Many of these dead trees pose significant public safety hazards and liability problems for municipalities. Ash is also a common and valuable forest species. Ash seeds are a food source for birds and mammals. Ash species (white, green and black) comprise almost 8% of all trees in NY State. Ash is a commercially-valuable species, and is used for baseball bats, flooring, furniture, lumber, and pallet manufacture. The estimated annual contribution of forest-based manufacturing and forest related recreation and tourism to the New York State economy is over $9 billion.

Can the ash tree in a park or your yard be saved? Yes. If the tree is still in healthy condition a certified arborist should be hired to evaluate the trees to see if it is worth the effort. Treatment can be by soil injection, trunk injection, bark spray or canopy spray. The ash trees in a woods or along a big hedgerow? No, it is just not practical or cost effective on a large scale.

There is also another enemy of ash and that is ash die back caused by a fungus is present in this country and overseas. It too is kill a lot of the ash. Ash is not the only tree in our forests and parks that is in danger. Our white and red oaks are now in danger from Oak Wilt which is a fungus and has been detected in several areas in NYS.

Next week we will get into this problem and another that is going on with our sycamore trees.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY NATHAN D. PACE
ATTORNEY AT LAW

CONTEMPTUOUS BEHAVIOR

When a judge believes that someone is being disobedient or disrespectful toward the court, that person may be declared to be "in contempt of court." Criminal contempt occurs when the defiant person (contemnor) actually interferes with the ability of the court to function properly, as in making an outburst. This type of contempt, called "direct" because it occurs directly in front of the judge, is punishable by a fine, jailing, or both. Civil contempt occurs when the contemnor willfully disobeys a court order. Known as "indirect" contempt because it occurs outside of the judge's immediate proximity, this type of contempt requires that evidence of it be provided to the judge in order that it might be proven.

There's a lot to think about when planning for your own medical well-being and end-of-life decisions. Choosing the right legal document for your needs will make all the difference, and an estate planning attorney can help. Get a head start today by contacting the Law Office of MACK & PACE at (585)798-1000. Our areas of specialization include living wills and trusts, mortgages and foreclosures, powers of attorney, small business, probate and estate law, and vehicle and traffic law.

Tips on how to write CLASSIFIED ADS that sell!

- 1 USE A KEY WORD. This immediately tells the reader exactly what you have to sell.
- 2 Make your description CLEAR AND FACTUAL. State the year, make, model, color & size and tell what condition the item is in. Also, state the special features.
- 3 STATE THE PRICE. Successful classified advertisers have learned that the price in an ad helps increase the chances for results.
- 4 IF THERE IS A GENUINE SENSE OF URGENCY, say so. The words "We're moving," or "Must sell fast," suggest that readers respond immediately.
- 5 INCLUDE YOUR PHONE NUMBER. Classifieds get results fast and often generate immediate sales. If you cannot be available to answer the phone at all times, be sure to specify special calling times such as "after 9pm" or "before 11am."

Brad (sales) and Jeremy (finance) were fantastic to work with. They answered all my questions and got me in a vehicle that I LOVE. The vehicle was used and needed a couple minor touch-ups that were addressed without question; and Brad went above and beyond, changing my brakes and rotors without me even asking. I am super pleased with my buying experience at Bidleman and if I'm ever in the market again I will be back.

The website was easy to use and search through vehicles. Jason, our salesman, was knowledgeable, friendly and did everything he could to make us a good deal. Vehicle was ready to take home same day and we're very pleased with the overall experience.

I recently purchased a Silverado 2500HD from Bidleman Chevrolet. The staff was very professional and made my purchase easy. I want to thank their sales and finance team for explaining everything to me in layman's terms. Thank you Britney and Jen, my sales representatives, and Jeremy, finance, for a job well done.
