Tips on how to write CLASSIFIED ADS that

- USE A KEY WORD. This immediately tells the reader exactly what you have to sell.
- Make your description CLEAR AND FACTUAL. State the year, make, model, color & size and tell what condition the item is in. Also, state the special features.
- 3 STATE THE PRICE. Successful classified advertisers have learned that the price in an ad helps increase the chances for results.
- IF THERE IS A GENUINE SENSE OF URGENCY, say so. The words "We're moving," or "Must sell fast," suggest that readers respond immediately.
- S INCLUDE YOUR PHONE NUMBER. Classifieds get results fast and often generate immediate sales. If you cannot be available to answer the phone at all times, be sure to specify special calling times such as "after 9pm" or "before 11am."

On wedding day, couple visits fair where they met as 4-H'ers

By Tom Rivers, Editor Posted 27 July 2019 on OrleansHub.com

Chantelle Kidney and Zack Blackburn first noticed each other at 4-H Senior Council Stand

KNOWLESVILLE — Zack Blackburn and Chantelle Kidney stopped at the Orleans County 4-H Fair on July 27 after their wedding. They made sure to get a photo with a steer.

Blackburn, 23, was a member of the Beef Club seven years ago when Kidney, 21, showed sheep at the fair. They started dated on July 27, 2012. Three years ago they were engaged on July 27. Blackburn asked Kidney to marry him in the sheep barn.

Blackburn and Kidney met at the fair while they were working in the 4-H Senior Council Stand, selling refreshments. Blackburn said he first noticed Kidney's barn boots "and her cute little smile."

Kidney works as an EMT for COVA in Albion, while Blackburn is a pipe layer for a company in Rochester. They are both active in the Ridgeway Volunteer Fire Company.

Chantelle's mother, Cindy Kidney, expected the fair would be part of the couple's big day. "I'm surprised they didn't get married here," she said.

written contract is considered to be more ironclad than an oral contract because it not only contains a promise made, but it also serves as its own proof of said promise. An oral contract is a promise that has been plainly spoken but not written down. When this promise is broken, it could be considered to be a breach of oral contract. State laws dictate how ironclad they can be by force of law. Those with proof of an oral contract may have legal grounds to pursue litigation if the promise is broken. However, it is generally better to have a written contract in hand if a breach of contract has been made. In the business world, delays happen, financial problems can crop up, and other unexpected events can occur to hinder or even prevent a successful contract from being carried out. When a breach of contract occurs or is alleged, one or both of the parties may wish to have the contract enforced on its terms, or may try to recover for any financial harm caused by the alleged breach. SUMMER PRODUCTION

By Douglas H. Domedion

Spring weather conditions were not ideal but wildlife adapted and in most cases came through with good production this summer.

Wet and cold springs can but a damper on bird nesting, but that didn't seem to bother the Canada geese. I have seen a lot of young geese this year, especially when the adults were molting and the birds where concentrated in certain areas. Several mornings I observed around 150 geese, the majority young, on Sour Springs road where Ringneck Marsh borders it. Now that they are finished molting and can fly they are on all the dikes in the INWR and State WMA's. It should be a good hunting for our early September goose season.

The early goose season is to target the resident geese (the ones who remain year round and don't migrate south) because their populations have exploded in recent years and they have now become a nuisance. They have evaded the suburbs, parks, many public areas, do crop damage and have become a real problem.

During that early September season these resident geese have learned that when the shooting starts it is time to head up to the suburban areas and parks for protection. This actually cuts down on the amount of reduction the DEC has been looking for to solve this resident goose over population. Are these geese this smart? Geese can live up to 20 years and they learn quickly so what was learned a few years ago is passed on to the young. If you don't think these birds are smart just ask any goose hunter!

So what's the problem? Their feces is the problem and with so many resident geese around now it is a major concern. Their feces pollutes ponds and drinking water supplies, messes up lawns, playgrounds, parks, golf courses, walkways and etc. Besides that they become very aggressive during nesting time and have become a safety hazard near roads and airports.

At present the daily bag limit for the early goose season is 15 per day which is quite an increase from when I use to put in a lot of effort into it. In reality this increased bag limit has not kept the resident goose population in check and it is still a growing problem.

The irony of it all is that NYS didn't have resident geese many years ago so the DEC decided to do some stocking around the state. It worked!

In the mean time the migrating Canada geese, the ones who nest up in Canada and migrate through here to their southern wintering grounds, are having population problems. They travel through our area in the fall starting in mid-October and the bags limits are smaller and the hunting season later for them. This apparently hasn't been working to well so this year the bag limit in this area has been dropped from 3 per day to 2 per day and the season length has been shortened considerably (Nov. 2 to Dec. 1 here in Region 8) for the later migrating

Our Bald Eagles have not done as well this year. I monitor nine eagle nests and three have been failures this year and only one eaglet was produced at each of the other nests except Ringneck Marsh birds that fledged two. Two is normal for eagles and sometime three.

So what's going on with the eagles? I honestly don't know. Two of the nest failures this year were also unsuccessful last year and the third didn't nest at all even though they were in the area. State wise the eagles are doing great and their recovery from the 1970s has been a remarkable story.

Is this drop in our local eagle production just normal fluctuation in nature or is there something going on we are not aware of yet? The DDT problem with birds went on for a long time before it was discovered.

Duck production seem good in this area this year, but mallard and pintail ducks are having problems overall and this season will see a reduction in the bag limit for both species. Mallard bags limits have bee reduced from four per day (only 2 could be hens) to two per day with only one hen allowed. Pintail daily bag limit was reduced from two to one.

The duck season in our area (Western) begins Oct. 19 and runs until Nov. 10 and then opens again Nov. 30, running to Jan. 5.

So summer production for geese was good but not really what we want and I have concerns about our local eagle production. Mallard and pintail ducks are having problems everywhere and we are working on those, but local wood duck production seems to be up from last year.

UINE PEOPLE, REAL PRICES

Victoria C. ★★★★★

I couldn't have asked for a better car buying experience. My salesman, Larry Bruning, was top notch. He was really there to listen to me, explain all the options and not talk down to me. Everyone that I worked with at Orleans Ford was super nice. I would 100% recommend them to anyone looking to buy a new vehicle!!

Anthony L. $\bigstar \bigstar \bigstar \bigstar \bigstar$

After researching various vehicle prices on the internet, I found the perfect truck at a great price. It was a bit out of the way but very much worth the drive. Aaron was our salesperson and we enjoyed our experience with him.

Mike D. $\Rightarrow \Rightarrow \Rightarrow \Rightarrow \Rightarrow$

First time buying from Orleans Ford was a positive experience all the way around! The staff are very knowledgeable and helpful and I even had the opportunity to meet the owner. I would definitely go back when ready to buy again!!
