At The Corral Gate

Out in the Southeastern part of Hopkins County live some interesting and endearing people. They may be friends of yours too! Let's check in on a couple of them.

Marlon and Donna Webb live on FM 1567 West, in the Arbala area. Webb's Farm Fresh Produce is what keeps Marlon the busiest. He's out there from first light til last light... from "can til cain't" as some would put it....watering, pruning, gathering as well as offering farm fresh produce to neighbors who stop by. Sometime's he's up on the tractor and sometimes he's bent low over the ground, but he sure stays lean with all that exercise! Not to mention brown as a berry! Right now, there's tomatoes, okra, purple hull peas and a variety of cucumber called "Pioneer Pickle" that's from 1-6 inches long and perfect for pickle-making. Cucumbers take a lot of careful watching because they grow too big real fast! But not much gets past Marlon Webb out on his acreage. Oh, don't let me fail to mention, they possess a king's treasure in life that not that many folks can claim...Marlon and Donna own both True Love AND Homegrown Tomatoes, two of life's real treasures that money just can't buy!

Spent a few happy hours with some friends out at Roger "Tex" Maynard's place recently. Watched the catfish feed on the pellets he threw out, and watched his great-grandkids maneuver the aluminum boat like experts. Listened to a few of his many tales from a long history as a peace officer in Hopkins County, and a few of his favorite Cowboy tunes, too. He even saddled Old Smoky and brought him out to meet everyone. Then he took us on a hayride around his "Twin Oaks" haymeadow, pulled by his flatbed truck. Tex hosted this small gathering, mainly of Posse members, on a purely perfect evening, just as the summer weather had modified. We sat on his cabin porch at the "Lonesome Dove Tex Maynard Cattle Company" overlooking the pool and the cattle which had come to drink. My, what great memories we made! Thanks, Tex! Til next week, I will watch for you readers at the Corral Gate!

Tumbleweed Smith

Robert Lewis of Colorado City collects bottles, arrowheads and coins. But of all his hobbies, there is one he likes the best. He makes fiddles. Each one takes a year to complete. His living room is decorated with fiddles he has made from scratch.

"I'll tell you a little secret about making fiddles," says Robert. "If you're not in the mood to work on a fiddle don't go out to the shop. If you're in the mood to work on it, you'll do good. But if you aren't you're going to mess up something."

His daddy made a fiddle and Robert thought that was cool. "I had my grandfather Lewis's old fiddle, you know. So I went to the lumberyard and got me a white pine board wide enough so I could draw that fiddle off with a pencil. I made my first fiddle with just a pocketknife and coping saw 'cause I didn't have any other tools. I bought a book for $3 How To Make Your Own Violin." He made that first fiddle in 1966.

Robert worked in the Mitchell County road and bridge department 23 years. He has been retired 24 years, retiring in 1995 at the age of 62.

"When I was working for the county I'd go to dump grounds and get coffee tables and stuff that had pretty good wood and make them out of that."

He has made 24 fiddles, one from cedar, another from mesquite. Most are from fine woods. He bought his first batch of good wood from a violinmaker in Abilene.

"I went over there when I retired from the county and asked if he would sell me wood to make a fiddle. He said, 'naw I wouldn't sell you wood to make just one fiddle but I'll sell you enough to make 10.' So I asked how much and he said a thousand dollars. And that was just boards in the rough. But it was wood that you're supposed to use."

He says a fiddle has 52 parts. He makes all of them by hand from his wide selection of tools. He has sold only two of his fiddles. He put a price tag of $2,000 on each one. Both customers thought it was a bargain.

"I didn't make them to sell. It's just a hobby. I don't know how to play one other than to just plink around on it." Robert has a bunch of granddaughters.

"I thought I'd give them as wedding presents. A hand made bow and fiddle in a case."

He is quick to point out the difference between a violin and a fiddle. "I make fiddles. They carry a violin in a case. They carry a fiddle in a gunny sack."
