The most important thing on our schedule is your mammogram.

October is Breast Cancer Awareness month but for us, fighting breast cancer is on the calendar every day. We know early detection of breast cancer is key. One of the best methods of early detection is an annual mammogram. If you're 40 or over, the American Cancer Society recommends scheduling one every year. Put this screening on your calendar and enjoy the peace-of-mind that an annual mammogram brings.

Reduce your risk. Call to schedule your 3D mammogram today.

Six Little Stories With Lots of Meanings

1. Once all villagers decided to pray for rain. On the day of prayer, all the people gather, but only one boy came with an umbrella. That is faith.
2. When you throw babies in the air, they laugh because they know you will catch them. That is trust.
3. Every night we go to bed without any assurance of being alive the next morning, but still be set the alarms to wake up. That is hope.
4. We plan big things for tomorrow in spite of zero knowledge of the future. That is confidence.
5. We see the world suffering but still, we get married and have children. That is love.
6. On an old man's shirt was written a sentence "I am not 80 years old; I am sweet 16 with 64 years experience". That is attitude.

Have a happy day and live your life like these six stories. Remember good friends are the rare jewels of life, difficult to find and impossible to replace!!

By Samantha Weaver

* It was multitalented Robert Anton Wilson -- he was, at various times in his life, a novelist, essayist, psychologist, editor, philosopher, playwright and mystic -- who made the following observation: "It only takes 20 years for a liberal to become a conservative without changing a single idea."

* It took between 75,000 and 80,000 workers to build the Panama Canal, linking the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans across the Isthmus of Panama.

* When the Barbie doll was first introduced in 1959, it was described in The New York Times as a "crushing bomb." So much for early reviews. Since then, more than a billion Barbies have been sold in more than 150 countries. Mattel, the doll's maker, claims that more than 100 dolls are sold every minute of every day.

* William Howard Taft, the 18th president of the United States, was quite a large man. Quite a large man, indeed. In fact, he was so large that his 300-pound bulk got stuck in a White House bathtub, and he had to summon help to extricate himself.

* Pope Benedict IX held the office three different times.

* There are lots of sports fans out there, and a lot of sports to enjoy: football, basketball, soccer, baseball, hockey ... olive oil wrestling? OK, maybe there aren't a lot of oiled wrestling events here in America, but in Turkey it's the national sport. Kirkpinar, as it's known there, has been popular since the Ottoman Empire. The Turkish town of Edirne has been hosting the annual tournament since 1361.

Thought for the Day: "Even a purely moral act that has no hope of any immediate and visible political effect can gradually and indirectly, over time, gain in political significance." -- Vaclav Havel

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You could be caught in a torrent of advice from well-meaning friends and colleagues this week. But remember, Lamb, you are at your best when you are your own inimitable self.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Expect strong efforts to get you to accept things as they are and not question them. But ignore all that and continue your inquiries until you're sure you have all the answers you need.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Heavier than usual family and workplace duties compete for your time this week. Try to strike a balance so that you're not overwhelmed by either. Pressures ease by week's end.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) It's a good time for the Moon Child to show off your uniquely inspired approach to the culinary skills -- especially if they're directed toward impressing someone special.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) You might be happy about the re-emergence of a long-deferred deal. But don't pounce on it quite yet. Time can change things. Be sure the values you looked for before are still there.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Try to rein in your super-critical attitude, even if things aren't being done quite as you would prefer. Remember: What you say now could create an awkward situation later on.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Although you can expect on-the-job cooperation from most of your colleagues this week, some people might insist on knowing more about your plans before they can accept them.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Creating another way to do things is commendable. But you could find some resistance this week from folks who would rather stick with the tried-and-true than try something new.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) You usually can keep your aim focused on your goal. But you might need to make adjustments to cope with unsteadiness factors that could arise over the course of the week.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) News arrives about a projected move. Be prepared to deal with a series of possible shifts, including starting and finishing times, and how much the budget will actually cover.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A new relationship needs time to develop. Let things flow naturally. It could be a different story with a workplace situation, which might require faster and more focused attention.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Accept a compliment without trying to troll for any hidden reason beyond what was said. After all, don't you deserve to be praised every now and then? Of course you do.

BORN THIS WEEK: You like to weigh all possibilities before making a decision. You would be a fine judge, or even be a star in a jury room.

FAMILY FEATURES

Morning routines, homework, practices and more are all part of back-to-school season, and even when time is short, flavorful meals can be, too.

Whether it's breakfast and dinner together as a family or sending your little learner out the door with a nutritious lunch, making tasty recipes in your own kitchen doesn't have to be a drain on an already busy schedule. With dishes like a new take on French toast to a quickly packed lunchbox and bolder burgers, you can keep your loved ones fueled for everything the school year brings your way.

For more back-to-school recipes, visit Culinary.net.

Freshen Up Family Breakfasts

A truly beneficial start to the day is usually centered around breakfast. Start your family on the right foot with a meal that delivers sweet flavor along with nutritious fruits.

This Honey Leches French Toast recipe swaps out syrup for hot honey combined with the crisp taste of raspberries, blueberries and strawberries.

Visit honey.com for more family-friendly recipes.

Honey Leches French Toast

Recipe courtesy of chef Rob Corliss on behalf of the National Honey Board

Servings: 4

Honey Leches:

- 2 tablespoons blueberry honey
- 1/4 cup evaporated milk
- 1/4 cup light coconut milk
- 3 large eggs
- 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
- 1/2 teaspoon ground cinnamon

Berry Garnish:

- 1/2 cup fresh raspberries
- 1/2 cup fresh blueberries
- 1/2 cup fresh strawberries, sliced

Hot Honey:

- 1/2 cup blueberry honey

- 1/2 teaspoon cayenne pepper

Pound Cake:

- 8 small slices premade pound cake
- nonstick cooking spray

To make Honey Leches: In mixing bowl, whisk blueberry honey, evaporated milk, coconut milk, eggs, vanilla extract and cinnamon to evenly combine. Keep chilled.

To make Berry Garnish: In mixing bowl, lightly toss raspberries, blueberries and strawberries to evenly combine. Keep chilled.

To make Hot Honey: In small mixing bowl, whisk blueberry honey and cayenne pepper to evenly combine. Keep warm so hot honey is pourable.

Heat electric griddle to 375 F.

Arrange pound cake slices, side by side, flat, in casserole dish or pan with sides. Pour Honey Leches over and around pound cake slices; soak 1 minute.

Lightly coat griddle with nonstick cooking spray. Remove pound cake slices from Honey Leches, allowing liquid to drain off, then place each slice on hot griddle.

On griddle, cook pound cake slices approximately 2 minutes on each side until golden crispy and hot throughout.

To serve, place two overlapping pound cake slices on plate (four plates total). Top each with approximately 1/4 cup mixed berries then drizzle each with approximately 2 tablespoons hot honey.

A Healthy, Happy Midday Meal

Back to school means back to packing daily lunches, and for parents aspiring to send healthier options with their children, look no further than a bento box loaded with the nutritional values of fruits, dairy and protein.

Surprise your little one with this Happy Lunchbox, a sweet treat to help keep him or her hydrated throughout the school day. Start with watermelon, a portable, versatile and easy-to-serve staple composed of 92% water for a hydrating snack. Add in a favorite yogurt flavor, mixed berries, cheddar cheese cubes and smoked turkey breast for a well-rounded lunch to maintain energy all day.

By assembling this nutritious meal using a divided bento box, you can add a little fun to an already flavorful lunch. Find more refreshing recipes for back-to-school season at watermelon.org.

A Bigger, Bolder Burger

Making a meal everyone loves can sometimes be a challenge when tastes differ and each member of the family craves something different. However, turning to a nearly universally enjoyed staple – a burger – may be just the solution.

Next time your group debates the night's dinner menu, turn to a customizable creation like the Brooklyn Bacon Bonanza Burger created by celebrity chef and author George Duran for Jarlsberg's Global Burger Campaign. Topped with melted cheese and optional garnishes like fried eggs and tomato slices, this burger can be personalized to appease the taste buds of everyone under your roof.

Find more back-to-school meal solutions at jarlsberg.com.

Brooklyn Bacon Bonanza Burger

Recipe courtesy of chef George Duran on behalf of Jarlsberg

Servings: 4

- 4 thick chunks Jarlsberg cheese
- 1 tablespoon hot sauce
- 1/4 cup mayonnaise
- 1 pound ground beef
- 1 pound ground pork
- 1/2 onion, finely chopped (about 1 cup)
- 1 cup chopped cooked bacon
- 3 tablespoons sundried tomato paste
- 3 tablespoons breadcrumbs
- kosher salt
- freshly ground black pepper
- nonstick cooking spray
- 4 eggs for frying (optional)
- 4 hamburger buns
- 8 thin slices tomato

Place cheese in freezer about 1 hour ahead of time.

Heat grill to medium-high heat. In small bowl, mix hot sauce and mayonnaise; set aside.

In large bowl, season beef, pork, onion, bacon, tomato paste and breadcrumbs with salt and pepper. Using hands, mix until well combined.

Using hands, form meat mixture into four balls. With thumb, make indentation in centers of balls and place one chunk cheese in center of each. Begin shaping burgers around cheese until patties form.

Spray grill grates with nonstick spray. Grill burgers, turning frequently, until cooked through and cheese begins to ooze out, about 8-10 minutes.

In nonstick skillet, fry eggs, if desired; set aside. Serve burgers on hamburger buns with chipotle-mayo, tomato slices and fried eggs.

Chickenpox vs. Shingles

DEAR DR. ROACH: Do people who have never had chickenpox get shingles? -- K.C.H.

ANSWER: Ninety-nine percent of people have had chickenpox and are at risk for shingles, and this includes most people who think they haven't had chickenpox. (Some cases are so mild that they go unrecognized.) But only people who have had chickenpox (or the vaccine, which is a weakened form of the live virus) can get shingles. People who had the vaccine seem to be at lower risk of shingles than those who had the infection.

If the shingles vaccine technology can work for a chickenpox vaccine (and I see no reason it shouldn't), then it's possible we could see the end of chickenpox and of shingles forever, the way we were able to eliminate smallpox.

DEAR DR. ROACH: Is there medical help or gene therapy to prevent excessive height? My niece is 6 feet, 1 inch tall and soon will marry a man who is 6 feet, 11 inches tall. Life was not always easy for her, as she was mocked at school. And he has had a daily life of "How's the weather up there?" Could they prevent their children from growing to such a height? -- D.B.

ANSWER: No, there is no medical treatment to prevent excess height, and there is no medical reason to do so. Instead, I'd advise your niece and her fiance to encourage their children to be comfortable how they are, no matter what their height, and to recognize that many of the comments they will hear are based on envy.

I'd especially recommend that if they happen to have a tall girl (if they do have a girl, one formula for predicting height would estimate her height at 6 feet, 4 inches), they encourage her to have excellent posture. I see too many tall women hunched over, as if trying to hide their height. There are good medical reasons to have an erect posture, especially for taller people.

DEAR DR. ROACH: I recently was diagnosed with kidney cancer, and my wife is now getting treatment for breast cancer. Would cooking on a nonstick skillet have caused the cancers? My wife used one for quite some time. -- B.R.

ANSWER: When someone is diagnosed with any serious disease, but especially with cancer, it is a human trait to think back on possible causes. We want to have as much control over our fate as possible. However, most cases of cancer occur without a specific risk (smoking cigarettes is the biggest exception). Cancer happens, among other reasons, when there is an error in replicating DNA, when we are hit by natural radiation or when something in our environment damages our DNA. There certainly are behaviors we can do to reduce cancer risk, but there is no way to entirely prevent cancer from occurring. In the case of nonstick cookware, there is no increased risk. Workers who make nonstick coatings for pans or clothing are potentially at risk due to a chemical used in manufacturing called PFOA, but there is none of this (probably) carcinogenic chemical in the final product. Overheating a nonstick-coated pan can cause irritating, but not cancer-causing, chemical fumes.

Dr. Roach regrets that he is unable to answer individual letters, but will incorporate them in the column whenever possible. Readers may email questions to ToYourGoodHealth@med.cornell.edu.

- "Toys in the Attic," by Aerosmith, in 1975. The first single was "Sweet Emotion," followed by "Walk This Way."
 - "All Things Must Pass," released in 1970. The cover shows him surrounded by garden gnomes, thought to be representative of the Beatles.
 - "Sunshine Superman," in 1966, which became the title of Donovan's third album. The song is considered to be one of the first examples of psychedelic music.
 - Rush, on their "Permanent Waves" album in 1980. The song was tested at a number of concerts before being put on the album.
 - "Everybody's Somebody's Fool," by Connie Francis in 1960. The song was intended to be the b-side of a single with the Italian ballad "Jealous of You (Tango Della Gelosia)" but radio stations preferred the b-side. It went to No. 1.

HOLLYWOOD

by Tony Rizzo

HOLLYWOOD — Hollywood tried to compete for viewers in the 1950s with Cinerama, CinemaScope, Smell-O-Vision, scratch-and-sniff cards and, of course, 3D, which gave new depth to black and white horror films like “Creature from the Black Lagoon,” “The Scorpion” and even the musical “Kiss Me Kate,” starring Kathryn Grayson, Howard Keel and Ann Miller. When the movie moguls realized it wasn’t working, they produced bad TV shows to drive people back into movie theaters.

Now IMAX and 3D rule the box office, and films that don’t go big and three-dimensional may have action, but no WOW factor. In today’s marketplace, a film must make twice its cost to break even. “Dark Phoenix” had the benefit of the “X-Men” franchise, as well as James McAvoy, Michael Fassbender, Jennifer Lawrence and Nicholas Hoult, but is considered a flop because it cost $200 million and earned only $252 million.

“Godzilla: King of the Monsters” would’ve benefited from IMAX and 3D, and a big name star (Kyle Chandler and Vera Farmiga didn’t draw big) because costing $200 million and earning $386 million didn’t impress. The reboot of “Shaft,” despite starring Samuel L. Jackson and Regina Hall, fell short of its $35 million cost, making just $21 million. “Once Upon a Time in Hollywood,” with Brad Pitt and Leonardo DiCaprio, should have killed, but grossed only $330 million, less than a blockbuster when you compare it to DiCaprio’s Oscar-winning film “The Revenant” (cost $96 million and amassed $533 million).

Director Quentin Tarantino’s previous film, “The Hateful Eight,” cost only $50 million and earned $156 million. Judging from reviews, Brad Pitt’s current release, “Ad Astra,” will probably make more than “The Hateful Eight” and “Once Upon a Time in Hollywood” combined. The problem with making films by the numbers is that most of the time, the numbers don’t add up.

“Superman” Henry Cavill, who stars in the Netflix series “The Witcher,” is trading his cape for a magnifying glass as Sherlock Holmes in “Enola Holmes.” The story revolves around Holmes’ child sister, played by Millie Bobby Brown, who at age 13 broke out in the Netflix series “Stranger Things” as Eleven and the aforementioned “Godzilla: King of the Monsters.” She returns with Alexander Skarsgard for the sequel, “Godzilla vs. Kong.”

Skarsgard passed on another season of “Big Little Lies” to topline the CBS Access miniseries “The Stand,” with James Marsden and Whoopi Goldberg. The Stephen King novel was a miniseries in 1994 starring Molly Ringwald, Jamey Sheridan and Laura San Giacomo, and it won Emmys for make-up and sound mixing. But can a “Superman” succeed as a “super sleuth” playing second fiddle to a 15-year-old? Stay tuned!
