CENTRAL

Researchers have found that the anti-parasite drug benznidazole may improve the long-term prognoses of patients with chronic Chagas disease, according to a study published in PLOS Neglected Tropical Diseases. Caused by exposure to the protozoa Trypanosoma cruzi, Chagas disease is a leading cause of cardiopathy and death in Latin America. An estimated 5.7 million people in Latin America are infected with Chagas, yet few treatments exist, and among known treatment options, specific therapeutic benefits are not well understood. Researchers in Brazil observed 1,813 patients who had tested positive for T. cruzi infection for two years, comparing clinical outcomes of those who had previously received benznidazole treatments with those who had not taken benznidazole. The authors found that Chagas patients treated with benznidazole while still in the early stages of disease had improved clinical and parasitological outcomes after a two-year follow-up period. Compared to the untreated group, researchers observed lowered mortality rates, lower parasite counts, and a lower risk of Chagas-related heart disease.

Results from a major clinical trial published in the New England Journal of Medicine may have direct implications for patients who remain at increased cardiovascular risk despite taking statin therapy. Icosapent ethyl reduced the risk of important cardiovascular events by 25 percent, including a 20 percent reduction in death due to cardiovascular causes, a 31 percent reduction in heart attack, and a 28 percent reduction in stroke. Icosapent ethyl is a prescription medication approved to reduce triglyceride levels in patients with very high triglycerides. Studies have suggested that icosapent ethyl may have additional attributes such as anti-inflammatory and cell membrane-stabilizing properties that may also contribute to reducing cardiovascular risk.

Sponsor A Local Veteran For $10

Saving Forgotten Warriors & Brandin' Iron Steakhouse

The 3rd Annual Thanks-Giving Dinner (providing a FREE HOME COOKED THANKSGIVING DINNER to our local veterans and their family) will be Monday, November 25 from Noon - 6 pm!

We encourage you to invite every veteran you know and please take the time to come with them and share in the fellowship!

We will also be taking names of any disabled or homebound veterans who may not be able to attend to be certain to send their meal in a "to go" box delivered by the Cullman County Sheriff's Office.

We need your help!

Please consider participating in this event by asking Josh or a cashier about sponsorship packages available to individuals and local businesses (all donations are 100% tax deductible!) or leave your name and number if interested in volunteering during the event either serving, cooking or cleanup!

Childhaven Annual Appeal

What Will Your Thanksgiving Day Be Like This Year?

Every day at Childhaven we see two realities:

Bruises on the outside
Invisible scars on the inside

In a nutshell, this describes the children and families served by the Childhaven ministries.

Our work with struggling families is literally touching hundreds of souls each year. Our family preservation and reunification ministry is successful 88% of the time. This means that children are living at home, where God intends for them to be. We are making a real difference.

Your support makes it possible. Contributions make up most of Childhaven's income. At this time of our annual Thanksgiving Appeal, please be as generous as possible.

Please visit our website at www.childhaven.com to make a secure gift and learn more, or mail your gift to P.O. Box 2070, Cullman, AL 35056-2070. Call 256-734-6720 for more information.

ELECT WILEY KITCHENS
 CHAIRMAN
CULLMAN COUNTY COMMISSION

Upon leaving office of County Commission our county was blessed having all bills paid and a surplus of over 11.5 million dollars. County Commissioners responsibility are "to collect and distribute" tax revenues to all county departments according to their needs.

Besides roads and bridges, another problem very serious is alcohol and drug abuse. To families who are dealing with this problem it is a very serious and devastating issue. Working in a rehab program for over 17 years, I am very much aware of this problem.

My pledge to you:

1. Sit down with law enforcement; sheriff-judges-mayors and even include local ministers, all with an input as to how we can deal with this problem. Regular meetings trying to help resolve this problem.
2. I will work with all departments the commission funds to make sure greatly needed funds are given as much as possible to do the job and challenge us all, as citizens of Cullman Co. have.
3. Only as we unite together will we be able to accomplish this challenge.
4. My goal will be to work in a united way with our commissioners to achieve our mission. We all are elected by you, the public, and all should be held accountable to you for our tax dollars spent.

My door will always be open to you; your phone call will be answered very courteous; your presence will always be respected by my office.

Thank you for your vote and support.
