Saving Forgotten Warriors & Brandin' Iron Steakhouse

The 3rd Annual Thanks-Giving Dinner (providing a FREE HOME COOKED THANKSGIVING DINNER to our local veterans and their family) will be Monday, November 25 from Noon - 6 pm!
We encourage you to invite every veteran you know and please take the time to come with them and share in the fellowship!

We will also be taking names of any disabled or homebound veterans who may not be able to attend to be certain to send their meal in a "to go" box delivered by the Cullman County Sheriff's Office.

We need your help!
Please consider participating in this event by asking Josh or a cashier about sponsorship packages available to individuals and local businesses (all donations are 100% tax deductible!) or leave your name and number if interested in volunteering during the event either serving, cooking or cleanup!

Only around a fifth of women at higher risk of developing breast cancer think they need to take a drug proven to help prevent the disease, according to new research published in Clinical Breast Cancer. Around 72% said they were worried about the long-term effects of tamoxifen and 57% believed that the drug would give them unpleasant side effects. 29% of the women thought doctors prescribed too many medicines, and 35% thought doctors would prescribe fewer drugs if they had more time. 24% of the women thought people on medication should take regular breaks from the drugs; 23% said they were very sensitive to medicines and 17% believed natural remedies were safer than medicines. Fewer than 15 per cent were taking tamoxifen despite having discussed preventive therapy with a healthcare professional.

Men who use androgenic anabolic steroids-such as testosterone-may face a higher risk of early death and of experiencing more hospital admissions, according to a new Journal of Internal Medicine study.

A new study published in JAMA shows that patients already at higher risk for gastrointestinal bleeding gain a marked protection from this risk when they take a proton pump inhibitor (PPI) in combination with an oral anticoagulant. Oral anticoagulants, which prevent blood clot formation, are among the most widely prescribed medications in the United States. They are predominantly used for patients with an irregular heart rate called atrial fibrillation, prosthetic heart valves and those with or at risk for deep vein thrombosis and cardiovascular diseases. Unfortunately, a major side effect of oral anticoagulants is the risk of significant bleeding, particularly upper gastrointestinal bleeding. PPI use reduced the risk of gastrointestinal bleeding by 34 percent.
