THE LAW AND YOU

BY NATHAN D. PACE
ATTORNEY AT LAW

TAKING THE FOURTH

According to the Fourth Amendment of the U.S. Constitution, which protects people from unlawful searches and seizures, the police cannot search a person or a home without a warrant or probable cause. However, the Supreme Court, in an effort not to hinder the work of law enforcement, has allowed exceptions to the Fourth Amendment's warrant requirement. For instance, no warrant is required for a felony arrest in a public place, nor are warrants necessary for searches related to lawful arrests. In addition, once a vehicle has been pulled over in the reasonable belief that the driver has violated a traffic law, a police officer may search the vehicle. If you have questions regarding reasonable searches, contact a lawyer for clarification.

The Fourth Amendment contains significant protections against abuse by law enforcement. However, there are many exceptions that allow for the warrantless collection of evidence against you. At the Law Office of MACK & PACE, we help individuals and families craft estate plans that suit their needs and provide stability and security for the future. We emphasize vehicle and traffic law, legal issues in business, will and trusts, probate, and mortgage and foreclosures. To schedule an appointment, please call (585)798-1000.

HINT: If police officers reasonably believe that criminal activity is occurring in a public place, they are authorized to stop anyone suspected of that criminal activity and to conduct a carefully limited search of the suspect's outer clothing for weapons.

Help Make Your Poinsettias Last Longer

Poinsettias are synonymous with the holiday season. These colorful plants brighten up homes with their vibrant hues in variations of red, white and pink, making them a holiday decoration many people cannot live without.

While they’re most visible during the often chilly holiday season, poinsettias prefer warm weather. Poinsettias are native to Central America and originally flourished in an area of southern Mexico. The Aztecs used the plant for decorative and medicinal purposes.

The poinsettia may have remained a regional plant if not for the efforts of Joel Roberts Poinsett, who was the first United States Ambassador to Mexico under President James Madison. Poinsett, who would later found the Smithsonian Institution, had a love of botany and became enamored with the brilliant red plants he saw in Mexico. Eventually, Poinsett began growing the plants at home in South Carolina, and friends and others soon coveted them.

Poinsettias are beautiful and the bracts (modified leaves) can be vibrantly colored. That signature vibrancy is why many people would like to preserve their poinsettias to last beyond the New Year, which is possible with the right care. The following are some tips, courtesy of Mother Nature’s Network, Habersham Gardens, Oregon Live, and Phoenix Flower Shops, to keep poinsettias thriving past the holiday season.

- Start with healthy plants that have full leaves, bracts and deep colors.
- Poinsettias do best when the temperature is between 65 and 75 F. Temperatures below that or drafts from cold windows can cause leaves to drop.
- Position the plant in a room that gets indirect sunlight for at least six hours per day. If direct sunlight can’t be avoided, diffuse the light with a sheer curtain.
- Poinsettias need well-drained soil. Overwatering or allowing roots to sit in wet soil can cause the leaves to fall off prematurely. Water thoroughly only when the pot looks dry. In households with temperatures around 70 F, the plant should be watered about once a week.
- Fertilize the plant after the blooming season with a balanced, all-purpose fertilizer.
- Try placing poinsettias in or near a bathroom, as they prefer high humidity.

It may be possible to get poinsettias to rebloom next season. Allow the poinsettias to dry out a little more in the spring. In May, cut about four inches from each stem to produce a lush, full plant during the winter. The plants can be moved outside in June and during the summer, but keep them away from direct sunlight. Return the poinsettias indoors beginning around October. Make sure the plants get at least 12 hours of darkness per day for around eight weeks in October and November. This will help them develop a deep hue and bloom on time for Christmas. ■

Sunday Morning Positive Perks

from your Sassy Small Town Missus

WHAT A FACE, WHAT A PURPOSE

Meet Weezie. She is My Girl and this face can make anyone's smile Perk Up! We have been together since she was 6 weeks old. This week she turned 16 years young on Thanksgiving Day. This Positive Perk is not only meant to bring you Joy, but to celebrate this Girl's gift to me. The gift of purpose. Some of you know her already. She is Sassy and has an attitude to match. She knows what she likes and tells you if she doesn't like something. For those who think Dogs are the best because they don't talk back, you never met My Girl. She thinks she is the Boss..and well.. most of the time she is. I am sure many of you can relate to what I am trying to convey. However, she also makes us laugh so much and has been the motivation of alot of eye rolling these last 16 years. I like to reward her good behavior with lots of kisses which she considers a punishment :). If you are in need of some good companionship then I highly recommend a Dog or a Cat too! Dogs are cheaper than therapy. They are always happy when you walk in the door. They let you know that you are needed and appreciated. Isn't that what we all want in life? It is the feeling that some living soul is depending on us, loving us and needing us. Giving us a sense of purpose. Whether you opt for a new puppy or a dog that needs rescuing, you never go wrong with sharing your love. So as we end this week I hope that Weezie's little 16 year old face and big brown eyes can be a reminder as we all go into the Holiday Season that the value in being needed and helping others is magical. Seek out a situation where you are needed. Whether adopting a Dog or extending your help to a person who could use some encouragement, your day will shine a bit brighter for it. It is the power behind Giving. So Happy Birthday to little Weezie and thank you for letting me know I am needed. Let those big brown eyes be the window that lets you see the power of helping others.

The greatest purpose of all. Carry the image of these big brown eyes with you as a reminder.

Happy Perks to Everyone! To view My Blog live online just go to www.positiveperksposts.com/ blog were you can Join in, Like and Share Your Comments, especially what has made you feel needed that you are grateful for.

Truly,

Debbie Burgoon London

Football may be returning to the N-O League

By Mike Wertman, Sports Writer Posted 26 November 2019 on www.OrleansHub.com

For the first time since 1990 Niagara-Orleans schools may be competing together as a league in football next fall if a current proposal is adopted by the Section VI Athletic Council.

The proposal put together by the Section VI Football Committee would have the current Section VI Football Federation alignment replaced with a return to individual leagues including the N-O League, Niagara Frontier League (NFL), Erie County League (ECIC), the Chautauqua-Cattaraugus League (CCAA) and the City of Buffalo League.

The Section VI Federation was formed in the early 1970's and the N-O schools remained together as a division until 1991 when the current enrollment based classification system (AA, A, B, C and D) was adopted. That change resulted in Albion, Medina, Newfane and Roy-Hart playing in Class B and Akron and Wilson in Class C. Roy-Hart later moved into Class C in 2006.

This past fall the 20 Class B teams were split into four five team divisions with Medina/Lyndonville/Barker playing in the B2 Division, Albion in the B3 Division and Newfane in the B4 Division. That alignment had Albion playing divisional contests against distant foes Olean and Springville while Medina's division foes included Dunkirk.

Akron, Roy-Hart and Wilson were all in the C North Division. Now all six N-O football playing schools would be reunited as a league. "It's very interesting to us," said Medina Athletic Director and variety football Coach Eric Valley. "It would do a lot to bring back some traditional rivalries and reduce some of the long trips some schools have had to make. And I think it would do wonders increasing interest for some teams which are having trouble with numbers."

The proposal is slated to be voted upon by the Section VI Athletic Council on December 11. If approved the details of finalizing the league lineups and setting up a point system to determine show teams would qualify for the sectional playoffs would begin.

Ironically, neighboring Section V just this past fall switched from individual leagues to a Federation system for football.

County Leg approves making highway, buildings and grounds a “DPW”

By Tom Rivers, Editor Posted 26 November 2019 on www.OrleansHub.com

ALBION — The Orleans County Highway Department, which includes Buildings and Grounds, is now a Department of Public Works.

The County Legislature had a public hearing on the name change last week and on Thursday approved forming a DPW, with the combined highway and buildings and grounds workers.

John Papponetti, the highway superintendent, advocated for the change, saying a DPW better describes the work of the department, which is more than caring for 200 miles of county-owned roadways. Highway workers also maintain other publicly owned lands, including the Orleans County Marine Park. Buildings and Grounds employees take care of county properties, including cleaning the inside of the buildings, clearing sidewalks and maintaining the buildings.

Highway and buildings and grounds used to be separate with their own superintendent. They were combined about a decade ago with the highway superintendent leading both. Together, there are about 30 county employees in those departments.

Papponetti was appointed as highway superintendent on March 27, following the retirement of Jerry Gray. He said the change to DPW should eliminate any confusion in the public, and reflect a streamlined chain of command.

The highway staffs in the local villages are known as DPWs. The towns in Orleans County all call them “Highway Departments.”

With the town highway departments, the superintendents are all elected. The DPW leaders are all appointed by the Village Boards. At the county level, the position is made by appointment of the County Legislature.

RAVE REVIEWS

“It is in showing where to find out-of-the-way trout streams that makes the map such a treasure to the fisherman.”

—Joe Gordon, TRIBUNE-DEMOCRAT, Johnstown, PA

“I have one of the original Higbee's Stream Map of Pennsylvania on my wall behind my desk. It's the best thing available as far as streams are concerned. I use it all the time for reference. I don't know of anything more extensive and it is the most accurate map out there as far as streams are concerned.”

Food Service Students Thank First Responders, Military and Law Enforcement

Students in Jessica Kronenberg's Food Service program at the Orleans Career and Technical Education Center recently used their culinary skills to help make lunch for first responders, military representatives and law enforcement to thank them for their service.

The guests were at the Orleans/Niagara BOCES center as part of a career fair for the career and technical education students. Ms. Kronenberg volunteered her students to make their lunch and dessert. "My students made Red, White and Blue chicken wing chili and assorted desserts to honor those who do so much for our community and our students," says Ms. Kronenberg. "They did an awesome job of not only preparing the food, but decorating the table to make it a pleasant luncheon. I am really proud of them and the hard work they put in to make it special."

Roy-Hart FFA Team Are National Event Winners at FFA Competition

Congratulations to the Environmental Science FFA team of Ashton Becker, Aidan Covert, Tagen Decker and Lorna Becker who came home to Royalton-Hartland as national winners from the 92nd National FFA Convention and Expo in Indianapolis, Indiana.

The team, who are taught by Agriculture Educator and FFA Advisor Matthew Sweeney, finished 25th out of 45 teams across the country and were awarded a Silver ranking for their efforts. As individuals, Ashton received a Gold ranking, Aidan and Tagen a Silver ranking and Lorna a high Bronze ranking. No small feat considering they had just several weeks to prepare for competition as opposed to the months the other teams had to get ready. "The silver ranking is an excellent showing for New York State," says Mr. Sweeney. "Ashton receiving a Gold ranking means she placed in the top 50 of those competing. She was the 31st place in the entire competition. The team did extremely well considering how little time they had to prepare once they learned they had won at the state level. I am very happy how they performed."

The National FFA Environmental and Natural Resources CDE (Career and Development Event) challenged the FFA members to develop critical thinking skills and effective decision-making skills, foster teamwork and promote communication while recognizing the value of ethical competition and individual achievement. It allowed the students to apply their classroom knowledge to real-life situations. The team was tested on problem solving and decision-making skills in environmental and natural resources. They utilized their knowledge of soil profiles, water quality, waste management and the use of global positioning units. The students had a lot of studying to do to prepare and Mr. Sweeney and the professors at Paul Smith's College helped them as best they could, but a bulk of their preparing fell to them to complete. "We were able to get some old tests to prepare with and we took them over and over until we improved our scores," says Aidan. Ashton adds, "We were at a disadvantage because of how little time we had to prepare for this contest. Some had been preparing for almost a year and some were taking conservation classes at their school or going to BOCES." Although Ashton, Tagen and Aidan are attending classes at Orleans/Niagara BOCES, they are taking Health Occupations Technician, Certified Personal Trainer and Welding respectively, none of what they learn there pertains to the competition. "Because we didn't have that background, I think it pushed us to do better because we knew we were coming in at a disadvantage," says Ashton.

Lorna, who is the youngest on the team at 14 says, "There were a lot of intimidating teams there. It was a little scary because they are all seniors. Mr. Sweeney told me that I am the first freshman to go to Nationals. That is pretty cool." Tagen says not only was it a great experience, but they learned a lot from preparing and participating. "Personally I didn't know 99% of the things we used during the completion before this. This entire thing allowed us to learn so much. When we were at the competition, every free moment we had, we were studying. That helped us a lot on the tests. It will also help us later in life if we want to pursue a career in this or just want to be educated on these topics." Aidan adds, "The whole competition was so much fun despite all the ups and downs as a team. We made a lot of new friends from all different states."

Mr. Sweeney says, "On day two of the competition they were transported to a tree farm, where they competed in the practical portion of the contest where they did their identification exams of different wildlife as well as different items that are used in the environmental science industry." Aidan laughs at the memory of the tree farm. "It was so cold that day, but we were all on a level playing field with the other teams and it turned out to be a lot of fun to share that experience."

The team was stunned at how well they did at the competition, they were after all competing not only against seniors in high school, but college students as well. "At the awards, we were shocked that we weren't in the bronze category. It was a great surprise to get silver," says Tagen. "Once they got past silver in the individual category and they didn't call me, I thought they had forgotten my name," says Ashton. "We were saying to her, you got gold! She didn't believe it!" says Tagen.

The students are very grateful for the experience they had and the people that helped them along the way. "We would not have been able to go and compete if it weren't for all the support we had," says Ashton. "Our superintendent, board of education and the professors at Paul Smith's College who helped to prepare us and figure out what we needed to study and of course Mr. Sweeney, who was very supportive and helped to make this all possible. We want to thank the sponsors we had, because it was very expensive to go. It was such a great opportunity for us." Mr. Sweeney says he hopes that people can appreciate how hard this was for his students to achieve success. "I am a coach for athletics and our athletes receive a lot of recognition for what they achieve. I think our FFA students should receive the same sort of accolades for what they were able to do at this competition. Just as an athlete puts in that time to better themselves and succeed as a team, these students have done the same on a national level. I am really proud of them."

How to Build a Holiday Giving Budget

Spending time with loved ones and reflecting on all of the blessings the previous year has bestowed is a great way to celebrate the holiday season. But giving, entertaining and traveling are part of the season as well, and that can leave many people wondering how to finance their holiday season.

The first step to establishing a holiday shopping budget is to make a list of all the people with whom you intend to exchange gifts. Jot down charitable gifts and entertaining/social expenses as well. With paper in hand, it can be easier to visualize just how many people are on the gift list, making it easier to allot a certain amount to each person. Friends and coworkers may receive less than family members.

Next think about a total dollar amount to earmark for the holidays. This amount is something that you should be able to comfortably pay off in full at the end of the holiday season — no more than a month or two after New Year's Day.

Do not feel obligated to purchase more than one gift for each person on your list. Parents who want to have a few extra items under the tree for their children or who have to finance presents from Santa Claus can set aside more money to make such purchases. However, these gifts should also be factored into the overall budget.

It's important to keep track of spending even after the budget has been created. This way you can see if you are adhering to your budget. Record gifts as you would checks in a register. Take home receipts and tally your spending to see if it aligns. Make adjustments as necessary if you are on track to go over your budget.

When budgeting, keep in mind the potentially inflated costs of hot items for the year. It can be tempting to splurge on the latest video game console, but will it be obsolete in a few months? Budgeting and frugal buying go hand-in-hand.

Budgets do not need to remain fixed from year to year. If this year was a banner year in terms of finances, you may be able to afford more. If it wasn't, you may have to cut back. True friends and close family members should understand that the value of the gift is not based on its price tag.

Budgeting is important for holiday spending. With a budget in hand, consumers can avoid holiday hangover and potential financial ruin for months to come. ■

Orleans - Recovery Hope Begins Here

FIRST WEEK OF DECEMBER

ARIES – Mar 21/Apr 20

Do your best to put power struggles at work or at home into proper perspective, Aries. Looking at things through a new vantage point can serve you well.

TAURUS – Apr 21/May 21

Taurus, you are ready to break out of a rut that has kept you in neutral for some time. You may have to sacrifice some comfort to get up and moving.

GEMINI – May 22/Jun 21

Gemini, you are outgoing in the days ahead, and the stars are aligned with your interpersonal relationships. This combination could prove rewarding.

CANCER – Jun 22/Jul 22

Cancer, take some time this week to do something that makes you feel good. Don't just focus on the physical; concentrate on your emotional well-being as well.

LEO – Jul 23/Aug 23

Leo, you do not need a reason to be self-indulgent this week. Just step out there and go get what you desire. You're a hard worker and have earned the privilege.

VIRGO – Aug 24/Sept 22

Virgo, you may be compelled to drop by a friend's or family member's house unannounced this week. Better to pick up the phone and talk things out first.

LIBRA – Sept 23/Oct 23

Libra, it is time to spread your wings and try something new this week. You'll get restless tied behind a desk. Take some time off to indulge your wanderlust.

SCORPIO – Oct 24/Nov 22

Scorpio, loosen up the purse strings a little bit this week, as you have been quite disciplined with your finances lately. If you are ahead of the game, splurge.

SAGITTARIUS – Nov 23/Dec 21

Don't try to rein yourself in this week, Sagittarius. The cosmos are certainly against it. Pour your heart out to someone or take on a grand project.

CAPRICORN – Dec 22/Jan 20

Take your foot off the gas pedal this week, Capricorn. You have a funny way of always being on the move. Sometimes you need to scale back and do nothing.

AQUARIUS – Jan 21/Feb 18

Sometimes the most exciting things happen when you allow them to develop organically, Aquarius. Let things unfold without too much oversight in the days ahead.

PISCES – Feb 19/Mar 20

Pisces, many people see you as gentle and cooperative. These are valuable traits that can benefit you and those around you in the coming weeks.
