Who do you want to be tomorrow?

Pa never had much compassion for the lazy or those who squandered their means and then never had enough for the necessities. But for those who were genuinely in need, his heart was as big as all outdoors. It was from him that I learned the greatest joy in life comes from giving, not from receiving.

It was Christmas Eve 1921. I was fifteen years old and feeling like the world had caved in on me because there just hadn't been enough money to buy me the rifle that I'd wanted for Christmas. We did the chores early that night for some reason. I just figured Pa wanted a little extra time so we could read in the Bible.

After supper was over I took my boots off and stretched out in front of the fireplace and waited for Pa to get down the old Bible. I was still feeling sorry for myself and, to be honest, I wasn't in much of a mood to read Scriptures. But Pa didn't get the Bible; instead he bundled up again and went outside. I couldn't figure it out because we had already done all the chores. I didn't worry about it long though; I was too busy wallowing in self-pity.

Soon Pa came back in. It was a cold clear night out and there was ice in his beard. "Come on, Matt," he said. "Bundle up good, it's cold out tonight." I was really upset then. Not only wasn't I getting the rifle for Christmas, now Pa was dragging me out in the cold, and for no earthly reason that I could see. We'd already done all the chores, and I couldn't think of anything else that needed doing, especially not on a night like this. But I knew Pa was not very patient at one dragging one's feet when he'd told them to do something, so I got up and put my boots back on and got my cap, coat, and mittens. Ma gave me a mysterious smile as I opened the door to leave the house. Something was up, but I didn't know what.

Outside, I became even more dismayed. There in front of the house was the work team, already hitched to the big sled. Whatever it was we were going to do wasn't going to be a short, quick, little job. I could tell. We never hitched up this sled unless we were going to haul a big load.

Pa was already up on the seat, reins in hand. I reluctantly climbed up beside him. The cold was already biting at me. I wasn't happy. When I was on, Pa pulled the sled around the house and stopped in front of the woodshed. He got off and I followed. "I think we'll put on the high sideboards," he said. "Here, help me." The high sideboards! It had been a bigger job than I wanted to do with just the low sideboards on, but whatever it was we were going to do would be a lot bigger with the high sideboards on.

After we had exchanged the sideboards, Pa went into the woodshed and came out with an armload of wood---the wood I'd spent all summer hauling down from the mountain, and then all Fall sawing into blocks and splitting.

What was he doing? Finally I said something. "Pa," I asked, "what are you doing?" You been by the Widow Jensen's lately?" he asked. The Widow Jensen lived about two miles down the road. Her husband had died a year or so before and left her with three children, the oldest being eight. Sure, I'd been by, but so what? "Yeah," I said, "Why?" "I rode by just today," Pa said. "Little Jakey was out digging around in the wood pile trying to find a few chips. They're out of wood, Matt."

That was all he said and then he turned and went back into the woodshed for another armload of wood. I followed him. We loaded the sled so high that I began to wonder if the horses would be able to pull it. Finally, Pa called a halt to our loading, then we went to the smoke house and Pa took down a big ham and a side of bacon. He handed them to me and told me to put them in the sled and wait.

When he returned he was carrying a sack of flour over his right shoulder and a smaller sack of something in his left hand. "What's in the little sack?" I asked. "Shoes. They're out of shoes. Little Jakey just had gunnysacks wrapped around his feet when he was out in the woodpile this morning. I got the children a little candy too. It just wouldn't be Christmas without a little candy."

We rode the two miles to Widow Jensen's pretty much in silence. I tried to think through what Pa was doing. We didn't have much by worldly standards. Of course, we did have a big woodpile, though most of what was left now was still in the form of logs that I would have to saw into blocks and split before we could use it. We also had meat and flour, so we could spare that, but I knew we didn't have any money, so why was Pa buying them shoes and candy?

Really, why was he doing any of this? Widow Jensen had closer neighbors than us; it shouldn't have been our concern. We came in from the blind side of the Jensen house and unloaded the wood as quietly as possible, and then we took the meat and flour and shoes to the door. We knocked. The door opened a crack and a timid voice said, "Who is it?"

"Lucas Miles, Ma'am, and my son, Matt. Could we come in for a bit?"

Widow Jensen opened the door and let us in. She had a blanket wrapped around her shoulders. The children were wrapped in another and were sitting in front of the fireplace by a very small fire that hardly gave off any heat at all. Widow Jensen fumbled with a match and finally lit the lamp. "We brought you a few things, Ma'am," Pa said and set down the sack of flour. I put the meat on the table. Then Pa handed her the sack that had the shoes in it.

She opened it hesitantly and took the shoes out one pair at a time. There was a pair for her and one for each of the children -- sturdy shoes, the best, shoes that would last. I watched her carefully. She bit her lower lip to keep it from trembling and then tears filled her eyes and started running down her cheeks. She looked up at Pa like she wanted to say something, but it wouldn't come out.

"We brought a load of wood too, Ma'am," Pa said. He turned to me and said, "Matt, go bring in enough to last awhile. Let's get that fire up to size and heat this place up." I wasn't the same person when I went back out to bring in the wood. I had a big lump in my throat and as much as I hate to admit it, there were tears in my eyes too. In my mind I kept seeing those three kids huddled around the fireplace and their mother standing there with tears running down her cheeks with so much gratitude in her heart that she couldn't speak. My heart swelled within me and a joy that I'd never known before filled my soul. I had given at Christmas many times before, but never when it had made so much difference. I could see we were literally saving the lives of these people.

I soon had the fire blazing and everyone's spirits soared. The kids started giggling when Pa handed them each a piece of candy and Widow Jensen looked on with a smile that probably hadn't crossed her face for a long time. She finally turned to us. "God bless you," she said. "I know the Lord has sent you. The children and I have been praying that he would send one of his angels to spare us."

In spite of myself, the lump returned to my throat and the tears welled up in my eyes again. I'd never thought of Pa in those exact terms before, but after Widow Jensen mentioned it I could see that it was probably true. I was sure that a better man than Pa had never walked the earth. I started remembering all the times he had gone out of his way for Ma and me, and many others. The list seemed endless as I thought on it.

Pa insisted that everyone try on the shoes before we left. I was amazed when they all fit and I wondered how he had known what sizes to get. Then I guessed that if he was on an errand for the Lord that the Lord would make sure he got the right sizes.

Tears were running down Widow Jensen's face again when we stood up to leave. Pa took each of the kids in his big arms and gave them a hug. They clung to him and didn't want us to go. I could see that they missed their Pa, and I was glad that I still had mine.

At the door Pa turned to Widow Jensen and said, "The Mrs. wanted me to invite you and the children over for Christmas dinner tomorrow. The turkey will be more than the three of us can eat, and a man can get cantankerous if he has to eat turkey for too many meals. We'll be by to get you about eleven. It'll be nice to have some little ones around again. Matt, here, hasn't been little for quite a spell." I was the youngest. My two brothers and two sisters had all married and had moved away. Widow Jensen nodded and said, "Thank you, Brother Miles. I don't have to say, 'May the Lord bless you,' I know for certain that He will."

Out on the sled I felt a warmth that came from deep within and I didn't even notice the cold. When we had gone a ways, Pa turned to me and said, "Matt, I want you to know something. Your ma and me have been tucking a little money away here and there all year so we could buy that rifle for you, but we didn't have quite enough.

Then yesterday a man who owed me a little money from years back came by to make things square. Your ma and me were real excited, thinking that now we could get you that rifle, and I started into town this morning to do just that. But on the way I saw little Jakey out scratching in the woodpile with his feet wrapped in those gunnysacks and I knew what I had to do. Son, I spent the money for shoes and a little candy for those children. I hope you understand."

I understood, and my eyes became wet with tears again. I understood very well, and I was so glad Pa had done it. Now the rifle seemed very low on my list of priorities. Pa had given me a lot more. He had given me the look on Widow Jensen's face and the radiant smiles of her three children.

For the rest of my life, whenever I saw any of the Jensens, or split a block of wood, I remembered, and remembering brought back that same joy I felt riding home beside Pa that night. Pa had given me much more than a rifle that night; he had given me the best Christmas of my life.

Don't be too busy today.

Christmas Toys

If you don't want to play the antique Christmas board game you own, you can prop it against the wall near your tree. The Christmas scenes of children in the snow and Santa Claus hard at work checking on his toys will add thoughts of the past.

a preservative. The dough was clay-like and pressed into wooden molds that were delicately carved with pictures that told the stories of Christmas and the saints, like St. Nicholas. When trade routes opened, spices were added to the dough, making it more like it is today.

Lebkuchen is still made around the holidays, and molds and recipes can be found online. Your mold is probably from the 19th century, and if clean, there is no reason why it couldn't still be used.

Christmas toys were popular in Victorian times. Hundreds of different family card and board games were manufactured and sold. Today they are collectible as complete games or parts. The box decorated with an attractive Christmas picture of Santa and snow scenes can be propped on a shelf. The board for the game can be framed or hung with removable hooks. The playing cards often picturing children, Christmas characters or decorations can be displayed in groups or slid under the protective glass top on a table. Just the 19-by-10-inch board of "Game of the Visit of Santa Claus" was auctioned for $275 by Soulis Auctions recently. The game was made by McLoughlin Brothers in 1897.

Q. We have a wooden board that is 8 by 9 by 1 1/2-inch thick. In the center is a 7 1/2-inch round elaborately carved design that is 1 inch deep. The design looks like some sort of house with a figure on each side surrounded by falling leaves. The bottom and the border have repeating crescent patterns and the inner rim is fluted. We would like to know what this was used for.

A. Your mold probably was made for lebkuchen, a soft ginger honey cake popular in Germany for centuries at Christmas. Lebkuchen dates back to 14th-century Germany. The earliest was made in monasteries, where, long before sugar, bakers kneaded flour and eggs with honey from local beekeepers. That gave lebkuchen its unique flavor and acted as

Q. I have a collection of Avon pewter Christmas ornaments, but I'm missing the ornaments for 1998 and 2003. Were any made for these years?

A. The first ornament in this series was issued in 1993. A different ornament has been issued each year since then, except in 1998 when none were sold because of "transportation problems." The 2003 ornament is a snowflake. It's harder to find than some others, but is available at some online sites. We saw one for $39.99.

PIEDMONT PETS
December 12, 2019

Phone: (434) 799-0843

Since 1993, we have received a grant from the E. Stuart James Grant Charitable Trust for spaying and neutering programs. In fact, we have spent approximately $1 million on our various spay/neuter programs.

We have received $50,000 for the next year, so we will be able to continue our rebate program for residents of Danville and Pittsylvania County. A rebate certificate must be picked up from the shelter at least the day before the animal is taken to the veterinary clinic for the surgery.

The general guidelines are:

- The money is to be used for residents of Danville and Pittsylvania County. The pets must live with them.
- Clients will not be able to use our rebate program if they have been approved for any of our other programs, including grants that we give to local veterinary clinics.
- No money can be used to facilitate the adoption of any animal from any other rescue group or shelter.
- No money can be used for any animal being fostered for another group.
- The money cannot be used for general trap/neuter/release programs. The exception would be if an individual will take legal responsibility of the feral cat's lifetime care, including providing food, water, shelter, and veterinary care and the cats are released on the person's personal property.

The real math is this: Every minute in the United States, 50 dogs, 50 cats, and 8 humans are born. That means that a family of four must have 25 pets in order for there to be no homeless dogs and cats.

The medical benefits for a spayed/neutered dog or cat are numerous. Neutering males decreases and often eliminates diseases that intact male dogs are prone to later in life, including diseases of the prostate, testicles, and other tissues influenced by male hormones.

Spaying female dogs and cats entirely eliminates diseases of the ovaries and uterus, and if performed before the first heat, greatly reduces the chance of mammary cancer. Behavior is only positively affected by the sterilization surgery. A neutered male cat's territorial spraying is decreased. And spayed or neutered dogs and cats fight less and wander less.

The reality is that larger shelters and more adoptions cannot solve all of the problems with pet overpopulation. Ending the unwanted litters is the only solution; everything else just puts a bandage on the situation.

Please take advantage of our continuing programs. If you have any questions, call 799-0843.

VETERANS POST

by Freddy Groves

VA's Expanding Use of Telehealth Care

The use of the Department of Veterans Affairs telehealth services rose 17% in one year, with 900,000 veterans opting to get care that way. That equated to 2.6 million instances of care in one year. Some of the stats are impressive. The use of the app, VA Video Connect, rose by a whopping 235% in the past year, and more than 99,000 veterans opted to use it from home. Over 200,000 appointments were for mental health telehealth appointments.

We have a lot of choices for how we get our care, with more coming. Whether we want to go in person, talk on the phone or have a video visit, it's available. By the end of 2020, every mental health and primary care provider will be able to communicate with patients in all these ways.

The VA is trying to consider all circumstances: If you have a poor internet connection at home, it's opening other locations as tests sites, such as VFW posts and American Legion halls, as well as Walmart stores, using ATLAS (Accessing Telehealth through Local Areas Stations). More will open as time goes on.

It's all a result of the Anywhere to Anywhere initiative. Before this was enacted, doctors couldn't legally treat patients with telehealth across state lines. Veterans in rural areas, or near state lines, were having to go long distances for in-person care. If you want to explore using telehealth on your electronic device, go online to mobile.va.gov/app/va-video-connect. Scroll to the yellow note and use it to test whether your device is compatible with the VA Video Connect app. There's an FAQ and how-to demo videos. If you run into a snag trying to set up the app or a connection, call 866-651-3180 Monday through Saturday, 7 a.m. to 11 p.m. ET. To learn more about telehealth, go to telehealth.va.gov.

HOLLYWOOD
by Tony Rizzo

HOLLYWOOD — Daniel Craig revealed to "The Late Show" host Stephen Colbert that "No Time to Die" would be his last time playing James Bond. In August 2017, after holding out to sign for 007, it was reported he signed for two more Bond films. Craig played 007 five times (Sean Connery and Roger Moore are tied with a record seven times each). Craig was allegedly to get $50 million for his last two Bond films. Who can walk away from that kind of a paycheck? "No Time to Die" — the 25th Bond film — opens April 8, 2020.

I met Tom Selleck in 1969 when he was a contract player at 20th Century Fox. He played bit parts, in the background, opening doors and even as a corpse in the film "Coma." When he walked into an interview with the legendary Mae West to be one of her "boys" in "Myra Breckinridge," she took one look at him and said, "Call your agent, the part is yours, name your pay."

Tom made five TV pilots that didn't sell, and just three days before his contract ended at Universal Studios, Steven Spielberg revealed he wanted him to play Indiana Jones. When the Universal brass heard that, they pitched him to CBS for a series with no time to make a pilot. CBS greenlighted the show, and Tom Selleck moved to Hawaii, where he sat for months during an actors' strike. The show was "Magnum, P.I.," and the rest is history.

Tom has completed 10 seasons of "Blue Bloods" (which he shoots nine days a month back to back so he can still live in Los Angeles). However, when Tom asked CBS for a two-year extension on his "Blue Bloods" contract, they would only give him a one-year guarantee. "Blue Bloods" is a consistent top 10-rated show, so what game are they playing?

Marni Grossman/CBS

Tom Selleck

"Days of Our Lives" was renewed for season 56 once all the actors' contracts had been canceled and their salaries erased. Now the actors have to renegotiate their salaries, which will be cut to ribbons. Dirty pool.

Robert Redford, currently playing the president of the United States in HBO's "Watchman" series, says, "There are only 11 months before the presidential election, 11 months before we get one real chance to right this ship and change the course of disaster that lies before us. Let's rededicate ourselves to voting for truth, character and integrity in our representatives (no matter which side we're on). Let's go back to being the leaders the free world so desperately needs. Let's return quickly to being simply Americans!"

Let's all put his words in our Christmas wishes. Have a very merry Christmas.

Now here's a tip!
by Jo Ann Derson

* Movie theater hack: "When buttering up your popcorn, grab a straw and stick it down into the tub. Line up the straw with the butter dispenser, and you can distribute butter into the lower layers of your popcorn. Remove the straw and finish off with butter over the top." -- P.A. in Florida

* "Defog your bathroom mirror with a quick shot of shaving cream. Smear all around and wipe off with a clean, dry face cloth." -- L.A. in Georgia

* Use one leg of a pair of stockings over the hose of a vacuum cleaner to "dust" a bookcase. If you have small knickknacks they won't get sucked up, but dust will. If your stocking gets clogged by a dust bunny, just wipe it off and continue.

* A toilet paper or paper towel roll slit down the side makes a handy clamp for keeping wrapping paper from unraveling.

* Go Green Tip: Most large chains have really gotten on the bandwagon with reusable shopping bags. Here's a tip to help you have one with you at the right moment. Keep several in the trunk. Purchase one or two foldable bags. There are some that fold small enough to fit comfortably in a woman's purse. Keep one of them hanging from your gearshift, and if you attach it to a carabiner clip, you might remember to clip it right to your belt!

* Common substitutions: Recipe call for arrowroot starch? Substitute all-purpose flour.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

* It was 17th-century English philosopher Thomas Hobbes who made the following sage observation: "Curiosity is the lust of the mind."

* At Christmastime in Greece, people traditionally give small gifts to orphanages and hospitals rather than to each other.

* A traditional Russian Christmas celebration would include spreading hay on a home's floors and tables and clucking loudly. Evidently, this was thought to encourage horse feed to grow and chickens to lay eggs in the coming year.

* The antlers of a bull moose can spread up to 6 feet across -- and they accomplish this astonishing growth in only four months.

* The battle between keepers of livestock and the biting flies that pester their herds is as old as the pastoral life. In recent times, pesticides have been applied with some success, but the expense -- and especially the toxicity -- worry many people. Japanese researchers have recently discovered a simple and inexpensive way to mitigate this concern: Paint zebra stripes on the cows. After several days of observing a control group of black cattle and a test group of the same breed of cattle painted with white stripes, they found that less than half as many biting flies landed on the striped cattle.

* The first postage stamp commemorating Christmas was issued in Austria in 1937.

* We can thank beloved 19th-century English novelist Charles Dickens for the colorful phrase "eat my hat."

* Wildlife documentarians have captured footage of elephant mothers spanking their calves; sometimes she uses her trunk, and sometimes she goes so far as to pull up a shrub and use it as a switch. ***

DCC Hosts Amazon, Sumitomo Fiber Optic Fusion Training

Danville, Va., December 12, 2019 — Danville Community College (DCC) hosted 30 trainees during Amazon Web Services' (AWS) first fusion splicing training on the east coast this week.

Of those 30 students, two are full-time DCC instructors, one is a part-time instructor, a teacher trainer from Go-TEC (Great Opportunities in Technology and Engineering Careers), an instructor from Pittsylvania Career & Technical Center (PCTC), and current students from DCC and PCTC.

According to The Fiber Optic Association, Inc., fusion splicing is the process of fusing or welding two fibers together, usually by an electric arc.

"An average office building has one pair, or two strands. This cable can contain approximately seven thousand strands. The fiber optic cables you were trained on over the last two days are a critical element to our data center and network infrastructure, but those same cutting edge cables are going to be more widely adopted as data center usage proliferates, along with the growth of 5G and rural broadband initiatives," said AWS Economic Development, Public Policy, Infrastructure Global Expansion Principal Roger Wehner during a graduation ceremony on Tuesday, December 10.

"AWS has a significant presence in Virginia, and this specialized course is a terrific way to give back to our communities, providing critical skills training in rapidly-evolving technologies," said Virginia Governor Ralph Northam. "We are proud that AWS and Sumitomo selected Danville to offer this training event, and I want to thank the Virginia Economic Development Partnership, Southern Virginia Regional Alliance, Danville-Pittsylvania County, the Institute for Advanced Learning and Research, and Danville Community College for their collaboration to ensure its success. I look forward to identifying all the ways we can work together to help meet the demand for highly-skilled workers in every region of our Commonwealth, especially in rural areas."

During the graduation ceremony held at the Institute for Advanced Learning and Research, Wehner highlighted the purpose of the training along with the partners that came together to provide the opportunity to students.

"We purposefully have kept a low profile over the last two days for one key reason: This event is about the students who took advantage of this opportunity to learn a new skill or refine skills they already had on some of the newest and most innovative technology in the world," Wehner explained, also thanking DCC, the Southern Virginia Regional Alliance (SVRA), the Governor of Virginia, and the Virginia Economic Development Partnership (VEDP) for their support.

The training was held at DCC's Regional Center for Advanced Technology and Training (RCATT) in Danville's Cyber Park.

"Data indicates that approximately 15 to 18 percent of the world's data is housed in the cloud. That number is expected to increase dramatically over the coming years," Wehner said, adding that with growing customer expectations, so grows demand for more data centers, more network connectivity, and more innovation. "Sumitomo Electric Lightwave wakes up every day addressing these challenges for the entire industry and are shaping the future. They have developed groundbreaking solutions delivering capacity, speed, and efficiency for AWS and our peer group. That's why they are the best choice to deliver this training."

Also speaking at the graduation on Tuesday were VEDP Vice President of Talent Solutions Tim Stuller, Virginia Bank and Trust Company Chairman and CEO Don Merricks, DCC President Jackie Gill Powell, and DCC Vice President of Academic and Student Affairs Debra Holley.

"DCC's rightful place is at the heart of innovation in Southern Virginia, and we are excited to be the resource of choice for economic and workforce development initiatives this year," Gill Powell said. "Expanding technological capacities at the college is one of my top priorities in the coming months and the relationships we share with key regional partners will be an invaluable asset in facilitating that growth in support of our students and our region's workforce."

Shirley Ann (Lowery) Beach

July 9, 1935 ~ December 15, 2019 (age 84)

Mrs. Shirley Ann Lowery Beach, age 84, went to be with her Lord and Savior on Sunday, December 15, 2019 at Roman Eagle Rehabilitative and Health Care Center.

She was born on July 09, 1935, in Danville, VA, to the late Clarence Poe Lowery and Hattie Blanks Lowery.

Before her retirement, Mrs. Beach worked as a sewing machine operator in Dan River Mills and was a member of Westover Baptist Church.

She is survived by her children: Dianne Guilliams (Earl); David Beach (Teresa); Norman Beach; and Michael Beach (Trish). Fifteen grandchildren, Kristy Curtis; Ken Curtis; Kellee Curtis Davis; Bridgette Mansfield; Shirley Mansfield; Theresa Mansfield; Karen Beach Thompson; Melissa Beach; Victoria Beach, Kristina Strickland; Earl Guilliams, III; Ashley Guilliams Bowman; Joshua Beach; Jacob Beach, and Jasmine Beach. She also has 20 great-grandchildren; sister, Betty Dockery; and brother, Jimmy Lowery.

In addition to her parents, Mrs. Beach was predeceased by the father of her children, Ernest David Beach, Sr.; and daughters, Joann Beach Mansfield and Patricia Beach Curtis; and brother, Roger Lowery.

Funeral services will be conducted at 11:00 a.m. on Wednesday, December 18, 2019 at Swicegood Funeral Home with Dr. Doug Barber and Rev. Robert Vermillion officiating. Visitation will be held from 6:00 p.m. until 8:00 p.m. on Tuesday, December 17, 2019 at Swicegood Funeral Home. Interment will follow in Highland Burial Park.

At all other times, the family will be at the home of David Beach, 1235 Rosemary Lane, Danville, VA.

In lieu of flower, the family requests donations be made to Westover Baptist Church or the Danville Life Saving Crew.

The Beach Family would like to give special thanks to the staff of East Wing of Roman Eagle Rehabilitative and Health Care Center for all of their love, care, and support provided to Mrs. Beach and the entire Beach Family.

Swicegood Funeral Service is respectfully serving the Beach family.

Christmas Games Old and New
By Lucie Winborne

The shopping and wrapping are done, the tree is decked out with lights and tinsel. You've hung the holly and you've frosted the cookies, and now you're ... a bit tired of watching the same old Christmas movies and hearing the same carols on the radio. How about taking a leaf from our ancestors' book and gathering the family and friends for some Christmas-themed games instead?

Snapdragon
From the 16th century onward, a good Christmas Eve party quite likely included a boisterous game of "Snapdragon." The premise, as zany as it is simple, called for pouring a couple dozen raisins in the bottom of a shallow bowl, followed by a bottle of brandy. With lights dimmed and brandy ignited, participants took turns trying to snag a raisin, and, if successful, extinguish it by eating it. (Note: We take no responsibility for any burns sustained while imitating this at your house!)

Shadows
Those of a bit less daring nature might have enjoyed a game of "Shadows," in which an individual sat in front of a white tablecloth or sheet hung in a darkened room, with a lamp behind it. The rest of the party then took turns passing in front of the lamp, so the viewer could guess their identities by their shadows. To make things more challenging, participants maneuvered their bodies or clothing however possible, though if the guesser correctly identified them, they were subject to a forfeit or taking the guesser's place.

Questions and Commands
A precursor to today's "Truth or Dare." Failure to follow a command, or answer a question, would either cost you a fine or get your face blackened with fireplace soot!

The Messenger
Reminiscent of "Simon Says," this parlor game involved one player entering the room and addressing another with "My master sends me to you, madam" (or sir). At the response of "What for?" the messenger would perform a simple but silly action for the responder to repeat, with each guest doing so in turn until everyone in the room was in motion, after which the messenger would exit and reenter the room with a new command. Stop moving too soon, and you'd pay a forfeit.

Blindfold Christmas Drawing
Back in the 21st century, try tapping into your artistic side with "Blindfold Christmas Drawing." Grab some markers and paper plates, then have one player describe a Christmas scene while everyone else -- blindfolded, of course! -- tries to render it on their plate. The most accurate drawing wins.

Pin the Nose on Rudolph
Little ones especially will enjoy "Pin the Nose on Rudolph," or "Find Santa's Friends," in which toy elves and reindeer are hidden around the house like Easter eggs. And for the older fry, a holiday version of "Two Truths and a Lie" can generate a lot of ingenuity and laughs by asking players to name three Christmas gifts, only two of which they actually received at some point, with the rest of the group trying to guess which one's a fake.

The fun is limited only by your imagination. Happy holiday gaming!

- How did Cherry Garcia get its name?
- Which singer had the most success with "I Shot the Sheriff"?
- Gregg Allman was married to someone for nine days before she filed for divorce. Who was she?
- Who originally released "Tell It Like It Is"?
- Name the song that contains this lyric: "No matter what I do, no matter what I say, No matter how I try, I just can't turn the other way."

Answers

- Ben & Jerry's ice cream paid a tribute to Jerry Garcia of the Grateful Dead by naming the flavor after him. Ben and Jerry got started in a converted gas station in Vermont in 1978.
- Eric Clapton, in 1974. Bob Marley of the Wailers wrote and released the song the previous year. Marley originally wanted to write "police" but didn't dare.
- Cher. Rumor says she married him three days after her divorce from Sonny Bono was final.
- Aaron Neville, in 1966. Heart had a cover hit with the song in 1980.
- "My Heart Has a Mind of Its Own," by Connie Francis in 1960. Three final versions of the song were completed, and two weeks after the song was released, Francis and the songwriters requested that a different version be used.

PUZZLE CARD

Here's a neat stunt. Challenge a friend to take a playing card and place it flat against the wall so that it stays there without falling to the ground. Nothing such as glue or tape can be used to make it stick.

Secret: To make it stick, stand in front of the wall, scuff your feet several times on the carpet, and then slap the card against the wall. Static electricity will cause the card to adhere to the wall.

A PUZZLE FOR THE BIRDS
"Tweet, tweet, tweet, tweet equals tweet-tweet." This clever bird challenges you to make four 3's equal to 33!

THE "S" PYRAMID! As you move down the word pyramid shown here, each word contains the same letters as the word above it, plus a new letter. We give you all the S's. Here are some hints from the top down:

- Symbol for sulfur.
- Compass direction.
- Group of games in tennis.
- To tend a fire.
- Kangaroos have them.
- Part of foot.
- A bulb holder.
- Close marching order.

Junior Whirl

CHRISTMAS DAY FUN

Here's a "word" present for you. There's room in the grid on the left for eight words about the holiday season. Here are some hints to light the way:

- Great for tandem snow fun.
- This dessert is made with many ingredients.
- The joyful sound of Christmas.
- Enjoyed in front of the fire.
- Mom and Dad need plenty of help with this two-day activity.
- A type of toy airplane made of balsa wood.
- Found hanging on the Christmas tree.
- This is the season for joy and _____.

There's a dark frame around one column of the grid. If you have correctly solved the puzzle, it spells out the name of an important Christmas item

The dark framed column spells "Stocking".
Answers: 1. Bobble; 2. Fruitcake; 3. Caroling; 4. Cocoa; 5. Cooking; 6. Child; 7. Candy; 8. Laughing.

Answers: The words are: S, SE, set, toes, stoke, socket, pockets, lockstep.

Salome's Stars

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Your love of the holidays creates a special bond between you and the people in your life. Use this as a way of building stronger relationships that will carry over well beyond this time.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) A new approach could go a long way toward resolving a painful estrangement, especially at this holiday time. And since your aspects favor friendship this week, why not go ahead and try it?

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Your positives continue to dominate, and any negative factors that squeeze in can be dealt with easily. The secret is to tackle them at once and not allow them to benefit by your neglect.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Good news: A colleague's remarks could help you move toward ultimately resolving that persistent workplace situation. Meanwhile, enjoy the holidays with loved ones.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) No one reflects the bright holiday more than all you Leos and Leonas who love the shimmer and glimmer of the season. P.S.: There just might be a very special something from Santa.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Celebrate the holidays by being more receptive to new experiences. Overriding the Virgo reluctance to try new things could be the best gift you've given yourself in a long while.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Good news about a loved one makes the holidays even more festive. Expect some unexpected gifts, so be prepared with a few nicely wrapped packages of goodies to offer in return.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) The holiday season provides an opportunity to meet new people, some of whom you might even consider "worthy" enough to join the Scorpio's select group of friends.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) You always bring your own wonderful sparkle and light to the holidays, and don't be surprised if this year someone special reaches out to respond to your warmth in kind.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Togetherness is the dominant theme for the Goat's holiday celebrations this year. That means reaching out to bring everyone you care for into your very own special circle of light.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A reminder of a very special moment from the past makes the holidays more memorable for the romantic Aquarian. New friendships hold the promise of a romantic future as well.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Getting into the swim of things for all you party-loving Pisceans is easy enough this holiday season. And, of course, you can expect to impress people wherever you go.

BORN THIS WEEK: Your dedication brings you the success you strive for, and your generosity impels you to reach out and help others on their way up.

Add Flavor to Holiday Festivities

FAMILY FEATURES

The holiday season brings gatherings, get-togethers and parties of all kinds, meaning dishes that can feed a crowd are all too important for successful entertaining. From appetizers to snacks to desserts, recipes that come together quickly mean more moments with loved ones.

For example, these dairy-fueled recipes from Milk Means More pack plenty of festive flavor for feeding family and friends without keeping you cooped up in the kitchen. Appetizers and snacks such as Holiday Baked Brie, Roasted Garlic-Whipped Feta Crostini and Cheese Buds help hold over hungry guests until the main course is served, while Peppermint Shortbread Cookies make for a perfect way to cap off the night.

Find more recipes for holiday gatherings at milkmeansmore.org.

Peppermint Shortbread Cookies

Recipe courtesy of Rachel Gurk of “Rachel Cooks” on behalf of Milk Means More
Prep time: 15 minutes, plus 30 minutes freeze time
Cook time: 15 minutes
Servings: 40

- 2-2 1/2 sticks unsalted butter, softened
- 3/4 cup powdered sugar
- 1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 1/3 cups all-purpose flour
- 3/4 cup peppermint crunch baking chips

In stand mixer fitted with paddle attachment, cream butter, powdered sugar, vanilla and salt until smooth. Gradually add flour and mix on low until combined. Add baking chips and continue mixing on low until fully combined.

On wax paper or parchment paper, form dough into 12-14-inch log and freeze at least 30 minutes, or until firm.

Heat oven to 350 F.
Cut shortbread dough into 1/4-inch slices; bake 13-15 minutes on parchment-lined baking sheets.

Snacks, small bites and savory treats to feed a crowd

Holiday Baked Brie

Recipe courtesy of Lori Yates of “Foxes Love Lemons” on behalf of Milk Means More
Prep time: 10 minutes
Cook time: 14 minutes
Servings: 8

- 2 tablespoons unsalted butter
- 8 ounces button mushrooms, sliced
- kosher salt
- ground black pepper
- 1 brie round (8 ounces)
- 3 tablespoons honey
- 1/4 cup pomegranate arils
- 1/4 cup shelled pistachios

crackers or toasted bread, for serving

Heat oven to 350 F. In large skillet, heat butter over medium-high heat. Add mushrooms; cook 8-10 minutes, or until deep golden brown, stirring frequently. Season with salt and pepper; remove from heat.

Place brie on parchment-lined rimmed baking pan; drizzle with honey. Transfer to oven and bake 5-7 minutes, or until inside of cheese is softened but outside remains intact.

Transfer brie to serving platter; top with pomegranate arils, pistachios and mushrooms. Serve with crackers or bread.

Roasted Garlic-Whipped Feta Crostini

Recipe courtesy of Liz Della Croce of “The Lemon Bowl” on behalf of Milk Means More
Prep time: 10 minutes
Cook time: 10 minutes
Servings: 16

- 1 bulb garlic (about 12 cloves)
- 4 tablespoons olive oil, divided
- 1 teaspoon salt, divided
- 1 teaspoon pepper, divided
- 32 slices baguette
- 8 ounces feta cheese
- 1/2 cup whole milk
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- 1/2 cup pomegranate seeds
- 1/4 cup parsley, minced

Heat oven to 400 F.
Slice garlic bulb in half, exposing garlic heads; place in center of large piece of foil. Drizzle each half with 1 tablespoon olive oil, 1/4 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper. Wrap foil tightly around garlic and roast until caramelized, about 30 minutes.

Place baguette slices on large baking sheet and drizzle with olive oil. Bake on middle rack until golden brown, about 10 minutes; set aside.

Place feta cheese, milk, lemon juice, remaining salt and remaining pepper in high-speed food processor. Once garlic finishes roasting, add garlic cloves to food processor. Pulse until whipped and creamy, adding more milk as needed to reach desired consistency. Adjust seasonings, to taste, if necessary.

To serve, spread each crostini with whipped feta and sprinkle with pomegranate seeds and minced parsley.

Cheese Buds

Recipe courtesy of Sheila Johnson of “Eat 2 Gather” on behalf of Milk Means More
Prep time: 15 minutes
Cook time: 15 minutes, plus 1 hour chill time
Servings: 12

- 1 cup cake flour or all-purpose flour
- 1 cup grated extra-sharp white cheddar cheese
- 1/2 cup unsalted butter, cold and cut into chunks
- 1 teaspoon coarse sea salt
- 1/8 teaspoon cayenne pepper
- 40 pecan halves
- 1 egg white, whisked with 1 teaspoon cold water
- smoked paprika

Heat oven to 350 F. Line baking sheet with parchment paper. Add flour, cheese, butter chunks, salt and cayenne pepper to food processor. Process until ingredients form into ball, about 1 minute.

Remove dough from food processor, wrap with plastic wrap and press into flat round. Place in refrigerator 1 hour.

Dust counter with flour and roll out dough to 1/4-inch thick. Using 1-inch round cookie cutter, cut out rounds and place on parchment paper-lined baking sheets.

Place one pecan on top of each round. Using pastry brush, lightly paint each cracker with egg wash. Sprinkle with smoked paprika.

Bake 12-15 minutes, or until buds just start to brown around bottom edges.

Remove from oven to cooling rack. Store in airtight container up to 1 week or freeze 1 month.

Note: Cheese buds can be made plain without pecans, or pecans can be chopped and sprinkled on after egg wash and smoked paprika.

RECIPES

Baked Ham with the Best Glaze

Ingredients

- 11.5 lb fully cooked bone-in ham spiral cut (10-15 lb ham)
- 1/2 cup apricot preserves
- 1/4 cup honey
- 1/4 cup brown sugar packed
- 1/4 cup dijon mustard
- 3 Tbsp unsalted butter

Instructions

Let ham sit covered at room temperature 2 hours (or 1 hr for a 6-7 lb ham) before roasting, then remove packaging.

While ham is coming to room temperature, make the sauce. In a small saucepan over medium heat, combine apricot preserves, honey, brown sugar, dijon, and butter. Bring to a simmer and cook 1 minute, whisking constantly then remove from heat. The sauce should be the consistency of loose honey.

Heat oven to 325°F with the oven rack in the lower third of the oven. Line your roasting pan with foil for easier cleanup. Place ham in a roasting pan cut-side down. Brush on 1/3 of the glaze and cover tightly with foil. Bake at 325 for 10-11 minutes per pound (about 2 hours for an 11.5 lb ham). Keep in mind ham is already cooked, and you just want to heat it up to about 110°F. Use an oven-safe, internal temperature probe to test for doneness.

Increase oven to 425°F. Remove ham from the oven and brush with 1/3 of glaze. Return to oven and bake uncovered 10 minutes.

Remove from oven and brush with remaining 1/3 glaze and roast uncovered another 10 minutes until a brown crust has formed and the internal temperature reaches 130-135°F. Keep in mind once the ham is removed from the oven, the temperature will rise another 5-10 degrees to bring it to the recommended 140°F.

Transfer ham to a serving dish and rest ham 15-20 minutes before serving. Strain pan juices through a sieve, skim off the fat that floats to the top. Spoon pan juices over ham slices when serving.
