An itinerant photographer snapped a photograph of this apiarist during the first decade of the 20th century. Taken somewhere in the Town of Barre or Town of Clarendon, the beekeeper holds up a board with combed honey pulled from a wooden box; a metal smoking device hangs off the box.

This undated photograph shows the southwest intersection of Main and Center streets in Medina. Visible in the image is the Union Bank located directly on the corner while a striped pole calls attention to the barber shop in the same building. Situated in the same block was a millinery, meat market, and jewelry store (marked by the large pocket watch sign along the road). The Post Office was located immediately next to the Presbyterian Church, which had a 100-foot steeple.

This photograph shows the office of the Holley Standard prior to 1920. Started by Jay Densmore as the Holley Bulletin in 1868, the four-page sheet of three columns was made available for 50 cents per year. The title was eventually changed to the Holley Standard in 1870 when Cyrus Marsh commenced printing the newspaper out of the Frisbie Block.

Taken around the turn of the 20th century, this image shows the northeast intersection of Main and Center streets in Medina. Dry goods and clothing stores operated out of the first five fronts starting with Samuel Landauer's business, followed by the business operated by George Spooner and Fred Gates, and concluding with William G. Skinner's clothing store. Several grocery stores, hardware stores, and furniture stores operated out of the subsequent blocks. Also visible in the image is a portion of White's Hotel.

This photograph marked simply as "Murphy's Barn Raising," illustrates the role that the barn played in local society. The construction of barns was a community event, involving women and children in addition to men. While the men completed the work necessary to assemble the barn's framework, women diligently worked to prepare food for the workers. Standing along the top beams are carpenters, wearing aprons and holding hammers necessary to join the framework. The pike poles used to hoist the framework are still propped up along the walls.

Courthouse entrance will change next week to rear, ground entrance

By Tom Rivers, Editor Posted 24 December 2019 on www.OrleansHub.com

ALBION - The state Unified Court System, Eighth Judicial District, is changing the main entrance to the Orleans County Courthouse. Beginning Jan. 1, the front of the building will be closed to the public, who will instead need to enter through a rear, ground entrance. The front entrance facing East State Street has tall steps and isn't handicapped accessible. The courthouse was built in 1858. The public on Jan. 1 will need to enter the Orleans County Courthouse from the doors through the County Clerks Building, which is next to the courthouse, on East Park Street. That entrance takes people through a security screening and then to an elevator in the basement of the courthouse. That elevator goes to the second and third floors, where there are courtrooms. "The relocation of the public entrance will enhance security screening and allow for greater ease of public access to the Court," the Eighth Judicial District said in a news release.

Sunday Morning Positive Perks

from your Sassy Small Town Missus

MIDNIGHT TRADITIONS

I preface this post by putting it out there that New Years Eve is My favorite night of the year! All kinds of rituals are performed from reflecting to toasting. But once The Ball starts to drop on December 31st at 11:59pm...10,9,8... and the count down begins, we all start to scramble looking for someone to pucker up with. Why is it that we want to Kiss someone at Midnight on December 31st? If you are lucky you won't have to search too far. As you near mid-night make sure you are surrounded by alot of fun and familiar people to better your odds of sneaking in a smooch. If you do not have a special someone and are unsure of how to snag a Kiss, I did some research to help you and discovered the Hug Technique. Give someone a big hug and then perhaps it might build a bridge to a Kiss! Now I have not read, with 100% certainty, that a Kiss has to be on lips. Although that would be ideal, I think a Kiss on the cheek is just as sweet! This tradition has been traced back to Europe. The New Years Kiss is meant to bring good luck for the future, especially with the one we Kiss.

This left me wondering what other nationalities are doing at Midnight on New Years Eve. I read in Spain that it is common to eat 12 grapes at midnight. Each grape is meant to bring good luck for the following 12 months. Or in Brazil they wear special colored underwear on New Years Eve. Red undees desire love and yellow undees desire money. Another fun one from Denmark is that they jump off chairs at Midnight as a way to leap into the New Year with good luck. All these traditions have one common thread. They are hoping fate will bring them one good luck and therefore happiness in the upcoming year. Being a somewhat superstitious person I want to cover all my bases. This New Year's Eve I feel it might be prudent at Midnight to jump off a chair in red and yellow striped undees while eating 12 grapes quickly, only to land into the arms of My True Love and share a New Year's Kiss. Of course this is all silliness which I hope brings you a smile to start year 2020. The end of 2019 leaves us reflecting on what we did well in 2019 and what more we want to accomplish in 2020. However you celebrate New Years this year, I resolve that it is the beginning of the best year for all of us- full of good vibes, grand adventures and much gratitude for what we have. Happy New Year's to everyone!! Happy Perks to Everyone! ## Lyndonville will expand PreK with $540K state grant

By Tom Rivers, Editor Posted 21 December 2019

LYNDONVILLE – The school district was awarded $540,392 state grant last week to expand prekindergarten.

Lyndonville a decade ago started a half-day PreK program. The state funding will allow the district to expand the hours for 4-year-olds and also will allow Lyndonville to start a new program for 3-year-olds.

"It is such exciting news for us, and a phenomenal opportunity to support our community!" said Dr. Elissa Smith, the elementary school principal.

Lyndonville will be partnering with the Orleans County YMCA for the new program for 3-year-olds.

Gov. Andrew Cuomo announced the funding for Lyndonville on Wednesday, as part of $15 million to 26 school districts.

"New York is making an unprecedented commitment to universal pre-kindergarten for children living in high-need and underserved school districts," Cuomo said. "This funding will help ensure more children than ever before are able to attend pre-k and enjoy the proven benefits of early childhood education into adulthood."

Tips on how to write CLASSIFIED ADS that sell!

- 1 USE A KEY WORD. This immediately tells the reader exactly what you have to sell.
- 2 Make your description CLEAR AND FACTUAL. State the year, make, model, color & size and tell what condition the item is in. Also, state the special features.
- 3 STATE THE PRICE. Successful classified advertisers have learned that the price in an ad helps increase the chances for results.
- 4 IF THERE IS A GENUINE SENSE OF URGENCY, say so. The words "We're moving," or "Must sell fast," suggest that readers respond immediately.
- 5 INCLUDE YOUR PHONE NUMBER. Classifieds get results fast and often generate immediate sales. If you cannot be available to answer the phone at all times, be sure to specify special calling times such as "after 9pm" or "before 11am."

BY NATHAN D. PACE
ATTORNEY AT LAW

A SENSE OF FINALITY

When two parties agree to a contract, the goal is to write a formal draft that contains all the terms of the agreement. In some cases, one party may try to submit evidence of prior oral agreements it wishes to introduce to alter the contract's existing terms. However, under the "parole evidence rule," parties are prohibited from returning to the negotiating table to argue that, despite what has been written, certain oral agreements exist which were not included in the final deal. The rule also states, if the parties to a contract intend the written agreement to be final for their entire agreement, they cannot use evidence of earlier agreements to add to the contract.

What makes a contract special -- and essential for business dealings -- is that it is binding on the parties. If one party doesn't hold up its end of the bargain, the other party has legal remedies for any resulting damages. To schedule a free consultation, please call the Law Office of MACK & PACE at (585)798-1000. Our areas of specialization include vehicle and traffic law, living wills and trusts, small business, mortgages and foreclosures, powers of attorney, and probate and estate law.

HINT: Because the parole evidence rule limits parties to the terms of the written contract, it should be reviewed carefully to make sure that its terms and conditions are correct.

County Legislature asks state to delay bail reform, discovery mandate

Legislators say changes, effective Jan. 1, endanger public safety

By Tom Rivers, Editor Posted 23 December 2019 on www.OrleansHub.com

ALBION – The Orleans County Legislature is asking Gov. Andrew Cuomo and the State Legislature to delay bail reform and new discovery laws because legislators say the changes, effective Jan. 1, put public safety at risk.

"The Orleans County Legislature does hereby implore the State of New York to immediately amend or otherwise delay implementation of these laws by convening an emergency session of the State Legislature, or by emergency executive authority, or by any other means deemed possible by the State, and to do so before Dec. 31, 2019," the County Legislature said in a resolution passed last Wednesday.

The new state legislation for bail and discovery was approved as part of the state budget for 2019-20. County legislators said the State Legislature and governor approved the changes without public or law enforcement input, and the bail reform has stripped judges of their discretion to set bail in many specific crimes.

The state determined there shouldn't be cash bail for crimes such as third degree assault, aggravated vehicular assault, burglary and many charges where judges typically have set some bail, including subcategories of homicide and manslaughter.

The state law allows people being held in jail for non-qualifying crimes under the new statute to be released from custody on Jan. 1.

The discovery bill overhauls the discovery process and requires an expedited timeline to provide materials such as police reports, radio transmissions, body-worn and dash-cam video, laboratory test results and volumes of other materials and data related to prosecution.

The mandate to turn over voluminous trial-related material within 15 days "will inevitably not be achieved in some cases and may result in the inability of the People to properly prosecute cases against criminal defendants," the County Legislature stated in its resolution.

The discovery bill also requires the disclosure of victim and witness names and identifying information to the accused without adequate mechanisms to protect against witness intimidation and tampering. Additionally, the law creates a statutory right for the accused to visit a crime scene even if it is a private home, according to a news release last month from the District Attorneys Association of the State of NY, NYS Association of Chiefs of Police, and NYS Sheriffs' Association.

The state legislation also will require law enforcement agencies or the courts to send multiple notifications to defendants for their court appearances.

County officials are asking state legislators and the governor to:

- Give judges the discretion to set bail "when appropriate" for crimes.
- Increase the discovery timeline from 15 days to a minimum of 45.
- Phase in discovery reform by applying the new reforms to only misdemeanors, effective Jan. 1, 2020, and then for felonies on Jan. 1, 2021. The discovery provisions for violations to vehicle and traffic law should be repealed.
- Court appearance reminders should also be sent to victims of crimes, not just the defendants.
- "Extend appropriate dignity, fairness and respect to crime victims by soliciting input from victim advocate organizations and considering their suggestions for improving these laws."
