HOLLYWOOD

by Tony Rizzo

HOLLYWOOD — Lucille Ball, who died in 1989, will be the subject of an Amazon film written by the great Aaron Sorkin and starring two-time Oscar-winning actress Cate Blanchett as Lucy. The film follows Lucy's marriage to Desi Arnaz and has the blessing of their children, Lucie and Desi Jr., who are two of the producers.

Another "Ghostbusters"? The 2016 female reboot grossed only $229 million against its $144 million cost. "Ghostbusters: Afterlife," however, is written and directed by Jason Reitman, son of original "Ghostbusters" director Ivan Reitman (now 73). Paul Rudd, Carrie Conn, Finn Wolfhard and McKenna Grace star, with Bill Murray, Dan Aykroyd, Ernie Hudson, Sigourney Weaver and Annie Potts returning in more than small cameos. "Ghostbusters: Afterlife" was filmed in Calgary, Canada, in 15 weeks and is due in theaters July 10.

Nicholas Hoult, last seen in "Dark Phoenix," will co-star with Tom Cruise in the next two "Mission: Impossible" films, shooting back to back for a July 2021 and August 2022 release. Hoult will first be seen in "The True History of the Kelly Gang" (in theaters Feb. 28), "Those Who Wish Me Dead," with Angelina Jolie and Tyler Perry (due Oct. 23) and "The Banker," with Anthony Mackie and Samuel L. Jackson, for Apple TV. ***

Josh Hartnett, who scored big in 2001 with "Pearl Harbor" and "Black Hawk Down" then disappeared while he raised his two children, is making a BIG comeback. He's upcoming in "Inherit the Viper," with Bruce Dern; "The Long Ride Home," directed and starring James Franco, with Timothy Hutton, Courtney Love and Ashton Kutcher; "Valley of the Gods," with John Malkovich, John Rhys-Davies and Keir Dullea; and "Gut Instinct" with Jim Gaffigan and Stephen McHattie. Hartnett will next be directed by Guy Ritchie in "Cash Truck," starring Scott Eastwood and Jeffrey Donovan. Donovan, who disappeared after "Burn Notice" (2007-15) until a 10-episode run in " Fargo," also is fighting his way back with "Let Him Go," with Kevin Costner and Diane Lane, and "Honest Thief," with Liam Neeson, Kate Walsh and Jeffrey Wright. ***

Going in a different direction is Michael Damian, former "The Young and The Restless" soap star (1981-2013). Damian, now 57, has directed 12 films, including the Hallmark Channel film "The Sweeter Side of Life" (2012), with his father-in-law, former "Dukes of Hazzard" sheriff James Best. He's signed to direct three Christmas movies for Hallmark, "Much Ado About Christmas," "Christmas in Transylvania" and "The Christmas Waltz."

Oscar-winner Jared Leto co-stars with Denzel Washington and Rami Malek in the crime thriller "Little Things" and will be the vampire Morbius in the Marvel Comic-based superhero film of the same name, with Michael Keaton and former "Doctor Who" Matt Smith. Sounds like a role Leto can sink his teeth into!

Rocks and Sand

A philosophy professor stood before his class and had some items in front of him. When class began, wordlessly he picked up a large empty mayonnaise jar and proceeded to fill it with rocks, rocks about 2" in diameter.

He then asked the students if the jar was full. They agreed that it was.

So the professor then picked up a box of pebbles and poured them into the jar. He shook the jar lightly. The pebbles, of course, rolled into the open areas between the rocks.

He then asked the students again if the jar was full. They agreed it was.

The students laughed. The professor picked up a box of sand and poured it into the jar. Of course, the sand filled up everything else.

"Now," said the professor, "I want you to recognize that this is your life. The rocks are the important things - your family, your partner, your health, your children - anything that is so important to you that if it were lost, you would be nearly destroyed.

"The pebbles are the other things that matter like your job, your house, your car.

"The sand is everything else. The small stuff.

"If you put the sand into the jar first, there is no room for the pebbles or the rocks. The same goes for your life. If you spend all your energy and time on the small stuff, you will never have room for the things that are important to you.

"Pay attention to the things that are critical to your happiness.

Play with your children. Take time to get medical checkups. Take your partner out dancing. There will always be time to go to work, clean the house, give a dinner party and fix the disposal.

"Take care of the rocks first - the things that really matter. Set your priorities. The rest is just sand."

This was one of the best laughs in years! I followed this guy home for three blocks to his house to tell him he was about to lose a pipe wrench that was on his bumper. He told me your going to hate me for this and went and kicked it! It had been welded on his bumper and explained to me that it took care of all the 65 mile an hour tailgaters! I busted out laughing and ask for a picture

Salome's Stars

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Your natural Arian leadership qualities make you the person others will follow in tackling that important project. But don't get so involved in the work that you neglect your personal life.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Aspects favor sorting through your possessions, both at work and at home, to start giving away what you don't use, don't need or don't like. Relax later with someone special.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) The issues are not quite as clear as they should be. That's why you need to avoid getting involved in disputes between colleagues at work or between relatives or personal friends.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) You'll get lots of support from others if you own up to your mistake quickly and include a full and honest explanation. Learn from this experience so that you don't repeat it.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) There might be some early confusion over a major move, whether it's at work or at home. But once you get a full breakdown of what it entails, it should be easier to deal with. Good luck.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Creating order out of chaos, even in the most untidy spaces, should be no problem for organized Virgos. So go ahead and do it, and then accept praise from impressed colleagues.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Whether it's for business purposes or just for leisure, a trip might be just what you need right now. You would benefit both from a change of scenery and from meeting new people.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) While things generally go well this week, a romantic situation seems to have stalled. But you can restart it if you want to. Then again, maybe this is a chance to reassess the situation.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) A meeting that was promised quite a while back could finally happen. So be sure you're prepared with everything you'll need to make your case sound convincing and doable.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) A workplace blunder could create a problem down the line unless you deal with it right now to see how and why it happened. Don't be surprised at what you might learn.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) This is a good time to re-sort your priorities and see if adjustments are called for. Be honest with yourself as you decide what to keep, what to discard and what to change.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Letting yourself be bathed in the outpouring of love and support from those who care for you will help you get through a difficult period sooner rather than later. Good luck.

BORN THIS WEEK: You have an uncanny gift for reaching out to all people and creating bridges of understanding among them.

PIEDMONT PETS
February 6, 2020
By Paulette Dean

Many years ago, our cat adoption policy was changed to require cats adopted from us to be kept strictly inside. We received criticism about it, but now most shelters require the same thing for the cats in their shelter.

However, many, many shelters in Virginia now treat cats as if they were wildlife. They either do not accept them or they believe that cats should be sterilized and put back on the streets. We simply do not agree. We believe cats deserve the same protections as dogs (and all other companion animals, by the way).

It is vital to keep cats inside. Outside cats face many dangers, and their life expectancy is 1-5 years. A cat kept strictly inside has an average life expectancy of 12-20 years.

Contact with other cats outside leads to the risk of disease transmission. Feline leukemia and feline immunodeficiency are transmitted from cat to cat and, once contracted, result in the eventual death of the animal.

Dogs and other wild animals pose a threat to cats; the very real danger is one of exposure to rabies. Outdoor cats can suffer torn ears, cut eyes, abscesses, and other injuries requiring veterinary treatment.

Indoor cats are not generally exposed to fleas, ticks, ear mites, or other parasites that can cause anemia, skin irritations, allergic reactions, and even death.

996 South Boston Rd., Danville, VA 24540
Phone: (434) 799-0843

Outdoor cats are at risk to be poisoned. Neighbors may deliberately poison cats they view as nuisances, but accidental poisonings also occur. Chemically treated lawns, bait left out to kill rats or mice, and antifreeze can all be deadly dangers.

It is a myth that cats are "streetwise." Cats are intelligent and alert, but they stand very little chance against traffic.

It is almost impossible to list all of the hazards faced by cats that are allowed to go outside; we have hundreds of pictures of ones that have been injured, killed, tortured, or have become sick.

When people say that sterilizing cats and returning them to outside areas will result in a population decline, what they are really saying is that cats will die, mostly without benefit of veterinary treatment or relief.

We encourage everyone to keep their cats inside. It truly is the best life for a cat.

Answering Your Safety & Security Questions

Question: I have a big, barking dog to scare away burglars, isn't that enough security?

While a dog is a wonderful pet, your best friend, and often thought of as a special member of our family, they may not be the best solution for securing your home, valuables, and family. Valuable and special breeds of dogs, cats, and birds can also become targets of theft.

Burglars have encountered and dealt with dogs during dozens of break ins. Dogs can easily be distracted with a fast food cheeseburger or raw steak, and unfortunately completely compromised with something as simple as a can of hairspray.

Burglaries, home invasions, robberies, and fires are like car wrecks; you never have advanced warning. By planning ahead and being vigilant, you can choose not to be a victim.

For your family's safety and security, consider a professionally installed security alarm and camera surveillance system with 24 hour monitoring and dispatching services. Many homeowner insurance policies even offer discounts for professionally monitored and dispatched security and fire alarm systems.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Samantha Weaver

* It was American humorist Evan Esar who came up with the following definition: "Statistics: The only science that enables different experts using the same figures to draw different conclusions."

* The Emperor Charlemagne, who conquered much of Western and Central Europe during the first century, had an unusual relationship with his daughters. He refused to allow them to get married, but he eventually had no objections to their forming, shall we say, less formal relationships. He doted on his illegitimate grandchildren and even gave money and gifts to their fathers.

* If you look at a list of the names of the 50 states, you'll find every letter of the alphabet except Q.

* For reasons unknown, a law in New Jersey forbids the sale of cabbage on Sunday.

* You won't be surprised to learn that the most dangerous device that is common in the modern world is the automobile. You might be surprised to learn, though, that the second most dangerous is the stair step.

* You've probably never heard of Countess Rosa Branicka, but she accomplished an amazing feat. In the mid-19th century, at the age of 63, the wealthy Polish noblewoman became ill. The diagnosis given by experts in Germany was breast cancer, and immediate surgery was recommended. For reasons unknown, the countess declined the treatment, then set about purchasing her own surgical instruments. Once all the tools were assembled, Branicka checked into a hotel in Paris and removed the tumor herself. Reports indicate that she healed well and quickly, and lived to the ripe old age of 82.

* The only chemical element that is not a solid at a temperature of absolute zero is helium; it remains a liquid.

SURVEY WORK BEGINS FOR PROPOSED HISTORIC DISTRICT

Schoolfield will be getting more foot traffic in the neighborhood over the next coming months. This February through the summer, historic surveyors will be photographing and documenting buildings within the former Dan River Mills village, which has recently been deemed eligible as a state and nationally recognized historic district.

Last December, Virginia's Department of Historic Resources determined that the Schoolfield Historic District is eligible for listing on the Virginia Landmarks Register and the National Register of Historic Places. This is purely an honorary designation that places no restrictions on property owners beyond current local zoning. The designation will help to promote awareness and appreciation of the neighborhood and its history.

The history of Schoolfield is tied to Dan River Mills, which founded the village for its textile workers in 1903. Until 1951 when the City of Danville annexed the Schoolfield, Dan River owned and controlled the village. Schoolfield includes 840 homes, churches, an industrial site, executive offices, a commercial area as well as two previously listed properties, the former Welfare Building (<https://www.dhr.virginia.gov/historic-registers/108-5065-0083/>) and the Schoolfield School Complex (<https://www.dhr.virginia.gov/historic-registers/108-5065-0081/>)

The Danville Office of Economic Development and the Industrial Development Authority of Danville, VA have hired Storied Capital, Hill Studio, and Burton Consulting to complete a building-by-building survey of these areas, which is the first step in pursuing the National Register listing. The field survey involves documenting the exterior of the buildings with photographs and field notes. This documentation will take place from the public sidewalks and alleyways. Interior access to houses is not necessary. Field documentation will take place over the winter and spring of 2020.

When complete, all survey information will be available to the public at the City offices and at the archives of the Virginia Department of Historic Resources. If residents have questions about the survey or historic information related to properties within the district, they may contact Renee Burton, burtotr@danvilleva.gov.

Properties that are considered contributing to the district will be eligible for the state and federal historic rehabilitation tax credit programs. These tax credits assist with redevelopment costs of historic buildings. More information on the Historic Registers and the Tax Incentives is available on the Virginia Department of Historic Resources website at www.dhr.virginia.gov.

To learn more about this survey process, the public is welcome to attend a community meeting on February 7th from 5:30 pm until 7 pm at 917 West Main Street, the historic Welfare Building in Schoolfield. The meeting will begin with refreshments, followed by an overview presentation about the survey at 6 pm and public Q&A. Registration is not required, but RSVPs are welcome. If you plan to attend, please email ina@storiedcapital.org.

29 Days of Heart: This Leap Year, Take Charge of Your Heart

by Jacquelyn Wilkerson, BSN, MBA, RN, Sovah Health Market Chief Nursing Officer

Sovah Health will be featuring heart healthy articles each day for the month of February. If you are interested in publishing any of these articles, please reach out to Kelly Fitzgerald at kelly.fitzgerald@lpnt.net.

Leap Year gives you an extra day. But a healthy heart can give you extra years. That's why Sovah Health is celebrating American Heart Month with 29 Days of Heart. For each day in February, you can visit our Facebook page for an informative article to help you take charge of your heart health.

Why is your heart so deserving of this much attention? Simply put, your heart is one of the most essential parts of your body. It's one of the hardest working muscles you've got – ticking around the clock to keep you going and only taking a break when you relax or sleep. There's a lot riding on it, so it's important to think smart when it comes to your heart.

Unfortunately, your heart is also one of the most vulnerable parts of your body. According to the American Heart Association, heart disease is the number one killer of both men and women, with one in four people dying of it each year. In fact, more women die of heart disease than from most cancers combined.

So, it's important to treat your heart well and do everything you can to ensure that it stays healthy for the long run. Sovah Health's 29 Days of Heart is packed with tips, ideas, information and more to help you on your heart health journey. There's so much you can do to take care of your heart, including:

- Establishing healthy eating habits
- Engaging in regular physical activity
- Knowing your family medical history
- Understanding the warning signs and symptoms of heart attacks
- Maintaining a healthy weight
- Staying on top of numbers like cholesterol and blood pressure
- Ensuring that you're getting enough sleep and
- Eliminating excess stress.

29 Days of Heart offers guidance on all of these and more. From recipes and new exercise ideas to essential info on warning signs and fun facts about your heart you may have never known, you won't want to miss a single day.

Sharpen the focus on your own health and join Sovah Health for 29 Days of Heart. Your heart will thank you.

If you would like to speak to a provider about your heart health, Sovah Health can help. Visit the "Find a Provider" tab at SovahHealth.com to schedule an appointment.

KNOW YOUR ALPHABET!

SEE IF you can answer the following questions by using just two letters from the alphabet.

WHAT TWO LETTERS SPELL...

1. a winter condition?
2. a kind of pepper?
3. to rot away?
4. overindulgence?
5. a climbing plant?
6. a literary composition?
7. how a dieter feels?
8. aesthetic pretensions?
9. no matter which?
10. an English county?

QUESTION
 WHAT TWO LETTERS SPELL "TO DO BETTER"?

HIDDEN in the above frame is a proverb. Find it by reading every other letter as you go around it clockwise. The trick is finding the right first letter.

FIND A CERTAIN 10-digit number: The first digit must be the same as the number of 0s in the entire number, the second digit must be the same as the number of 1s in the entire number, and so on through the 10th digit.

SAY "A"! As you go down the pyramid, each word contains the same letters as the word above it plus a new letter. We give you all of the A's. Here are some hints, from the top down.

- 1) Highest grade (given).
- 2) In or near.
- 3) A color.
- 4) To be opposed.
- 5) Big person.
- 6) Position of a scale.
- 7) Rodent-hunter's activity.
- 8) Getting dressed.

Long-Term Care: A Nursing Home Is Just One Option!

When we think of long-term care, most of us immediately think of the nursing home. While that is still the overwhelming option that most folks utilize, it is not the only option to think about. Which means, you should be thinking of long-term care options a lot sooner in the process!

Most folks have very little idea of the options that are available when planning for long-term care. I have many clients that do not come to see our firm until a parent or loved one is already in skilled care (rehab) or custodial care (nursing home). Yet, when I hear about what has been going on previously, the family missed opportunities for care because they simply did not know possible alternatives even existed!

Whenever we finish a document execution for clients, we always urge them to return if and when someone's health begins to deteriorate. Why? Because we want folks to know the options available to them and in many cases, these options can delay or even alleviate the need for nursing home care. At the very least, we can put off nursing home care as a last resort. We also warn them against any steps that they might take that could jeopardize eligibility for long-term care coverage later.

Caregivers

Often the first step folks might take is to hire extra help for the home. This could be in the form of just a sitter or an experienced nurse that sits with elders either as their primary occupation or on the side. No matter, if you or your family hires the person, you just became an employer, and they just became your employee. It is now your responsibility to comply with all tax laws (deductions) applicable to all employers. I have seen many folks make the huge mistake of hiring a sitter and paying them in cash. Not only will that potentially get you in trouble with the IRS, it will jeopardize future eligibility for long-term care coverage under Medicaid.

Further, if you hire an employee, you have to have a written and signed personal services contract between you and that sitter. This is a requirement under the Medicaid regulations. If you do not, Medicaid will treat all the money you have spent on caregivers as if you just simply gave that money away! It's harsh, but that is the rule at this time. We help folks set up a proper caregiver agreement so as to be in compliance with all the laws and avoid this unexpected and unwelcome issue.

Note that, if you hire a sitter through an agency, the agreement and tax compliance is not required, as the caregiver is an employee of that agency and not your family.

So, if you are thinking of hiring a caregiver or sitter to help care for an aging loved one, do your due diligence and put the right plan in place.

Community Based Care

Community based care (CBC) through Virginia Medicaid is a program virtually no one knows exists! Once eligible, CBC will provide a caregiver in the home for up to forty hours a week. In many cases, this is enough help so that the family can put a plan in place that will keep the elder out of the nursing home for a period of time, perhaps even eliminating the need for nursing home care!

The criteria and eligibility requirements are virtually identical to nursing home Medicaid. Just think, this may be the help that you need that will allow your spouse or parent to remain in the home as long as medically possible! Plus, it's cheaper for Medicaid to help you keep your loved one at home than it is to pay for nursing home care, so it is a win-win for all concerned.

Private Homes

Scattered throughout Southside Virginia are private homes that have been licensed by the state to provide care for up to eight elders. There are also homes that do not accept Medicaid but still provide lower costs than a traditional nursing home. Families often opt for this type of care so as to keep their loved one in a home environment. Once again, few know of this option unless they have direct contact with one. We attempt to maintain a current roster of all options available at our elder care resources website: <http://www.estateandelderlawcentervirginia.com>

Assisted Living

At times, an elder will need help but they still do not meet the criteria for either CBC or nursing home care. In that case, many families look to assisted living facilities for help. These facilities are predominantly private pay, which means that there is no Medicaid coverage available to help pay the costs. The one benefit that is helpful here is if the elder is a qualifying veteran. If so, he or she may be eligible for Veteran's Aid and Attendance. In these cases, most assisted living facilities can help with the application for benefits.

The key to remember is that there are options available and pitfalls to avoid. If you see a loved one's health deteriorating, please contact a qualified and certified Elder Law Attorney to discuss the options available for your family.

As always, if you have a question or issue that you think might be a good topic for this column, let us know! Email us at rhaley@vaelderlaw.com or send to us via snail-mail to this address:

HOW MUCH IS TOO MANY

An attempt to break the world record for the largest number of twins to gather in one place went awry in Sri Lanka recently. They were aiming to attract about 5,000 pairs of twins to secure the Guinness record established in Taiwan where 3,961 sets showed up in 1999, according to the Association of Mature American Citizens [AMAC]. But the Sri Lankan event attracted an estimated 14,000 pairs causing chaos.

BRAGGING RIGHTS

Two West Virginia fishing enthusiasts made it into the state's record books, reports the Association of Mature American Citizens [AMAC]. Zachary Adkins landed a carp measuring more than 53 inches at Warden Lake and Justin Conner brought in a nearly 50 inch blue catfish that he caught in the Ohio River. While they now hold the record to for length, neither the carp nor the catfish were heavy enough to break the existing weight records.

THE COPS HAD HIM DEAD TO RIGHTS

A commuter in Arizona takes the cake when it comes to coming up with illegal ways to use HOV lanes. According to the Association of Mature American Citizens [AMAC] Arizona highway police recently caught a driver who thought he could get away with a skeleton propped up in the passenger seat of his car. Apparently he thought he could disguise the carcass by putting a hat on its head and covering its torso with what appeared to be bandages.

HE DID THE RIGHT THING

Howard Kirby of Shiawassee County, MI finally had the space at home to build himself a "man cave" and so he set about the task of furnishing it. Out he went to a local thrift store and found a couch and ottoman that fit the bill, reports the Association of Mature American Citizens [AMAC]. But it wasn't long before he found fault with the ottoman. It was lumpy. Try as he might to soften the footrest, it remained too firm for comfort. So, he tore open the cushion and quickly found what was wrong. It was stuffed with more than $43,000 in cash. It crossed his mind, of course, to keep his find to himself but, instead, he decided to find the rightful owner, one Kim Fauth-Newberry. Her grandfather had passed away and among his personal property was the couch and ottoman. Ms. Fauth-Newberry wanted to get rid of it and had actually thought about burning it. Instead she donated it to the thrift store. Kirby told reporters: "I always thought what would I do if that ever happened and now I know, and it makes me feel good."

SHE COULDN'T LOSE

Eve Dubois gasped when she got the answer wrong during an episode of Family Feud Canada. Nevertheless, she went home with a $10,000 prize, according to the Association of Mature American Citizens [AMAC]. Her gaff occurred when the host of the show asked her "to name Popeye's favorite food." Instead of answering that Popeye, the Sailor Man, preferred "spinach," she eagerly blurted out, "chicken." It caught the attention of the fast food chain, Popeye's Louisiana Kitchen, which awarded her with a gift certificate worth ten thousand dollars in food.

RIDING HIGH

A new era of for transportation is fast approaching, says the Association of Mature American Citizens [AMAC]. Waymo, the first commercial robo-cab company, boasts that hundreds of thousands of autonomous taxi riders are already using their service. Meanwhile, EHang, an air taxi company that uses self-steering passenger drones, has been testing its flying taxis in Europe, Asia and the Middle East. Its first U.S. test took place recently in North Carolina, signaling a determination to get its venture "off the ground," as one way put it.

What Are the 2020 Income Tax Filing Requirements for Retirees?

Dear Savvy Senior,

What are the IRS income tax filing requirements for seniors this year? I didn't file a tax return last year because my 2018 income was below the filing requirements, but I got a part-time job late last year in 2019, so I'm wondering if I need to file this year.

Semi-Retired

Dear Semi,

Whether or not you are required to file a federal income tax return this year depends not only on how much you earned last year (in 2019), but also the source of that income, as well as your age and your filing status.

Here's a rundown of this tax season's IRS tax filing requirement thresholds. For most people, this is pretty straightforward. If your 2019 gross income – which includes all taxable income, not counting your Social Security benefits, unless you are married and filing separately – was below the threshold for your filing status and age, you may not have to file. But if it's over, you will.

Single: $12,200 ($13,850 if you're 65 or older by Jan. 1, 2020).

Married filing jointly: $24,400 ($25,700 if you or your spouse is 65 or older; or $27,000 if you're both over 65).

Married filing separately: $12,200 at any age.

Head of household: $18,350 ($20,000 if age 65 or older).

Qualifying widow(er) with dependent child: $24,400 ($25,700 if age 65 or older).

To get a detailed breakdown on federal filing requirements, along with information on taxable and nontaxable income, call the IRS at 800-829-3676 and ask them to mail you a free copy of the "Tax Guide for Seniors" (publication 554) or see IRS.gov/pub/irs-pdf/p554.pdf.

Check Here Too

There are, however, some other financial situations that can require you to file a tax return, even if your gross income falls below the IRS filing requirements. For example, if you earned more than $400 from self-employment in 2019, owe any special taxes like an alternative minimum tax, or get premium tax credits because you, your spouse or a dependent is enrolled in a Health Insurance Marketplace (Obamacare) plan, you'll need to file.

You'll also need to file if you're receiving Social Security benefits, and one-half of your benefits plus your other gross income and any tax-exempt interest exceeds $25,000, or $32,000 if you're married and filing jointly.

To figure all this out, the IRS offers an interactive tax assistant tool on their website that asks a series of questions that will help you determine if you're required to file, or if you should file because you're due a refund. It takes less than 15 minutes to complete.

You can access this tool at IRS.gov/help/ita – click on "Do I Need to File a Tax Return?" Or, you can get assistance over the phone by calling the IRS helpline at 800-829-1040. You can also get face-to-face help at a Taxpayer Assistance Center. See IRS.gov/localcontacts or call 800-829-1040 to locate a center near you.

Check Your State

Even if you're not required to file a federal tax return this year, don't assume that you're also excused from filing state income taxes. The rules for your state might be very different. Check with your state tax agency before concluding that you're entirely in the clear. For links to state tax agencies see Taxadmin.org/state-tax-agencies.

Tax Preparation Help

If you find that you do need to file a tax return this year, you can get help through the Tax Counseling for the Elderly (or TCE) program. Sponsored by the IRS, TEC provides free tax preparation and counseling to middle and low-income taxpayers, age 60 and older. Call 800-906-9887 or visit IRS.treasury.gov/freetaxprep to locate a service near you.

Also check with AARP, a participant in the TCE program that provides free tax preparation at more than 4,800 sites nationwide. To locate an AARP Tax-Aide site call 888-227-7669 or visit AARP.org/findtaxhelp. You don't have to be an AARP member to use this service.

When is a memory lapse a reason to get medical attention?

WASHINGTON, DC, Jan 31 -- "Beyond a medical diagnosis of disease, the aches and pains of growing old can be worrisome. But the growing numbers of patients who have actually been diagnosed with dementia, including Alzheimer's Disease, can cause concern among America's aging population at large," says Dan Weber, president of the Association of Mature American Citizens [AMAC].

Most of the time, forgetfulness is just that: forgetfulness, as Weber describes it. In fact, neuroscientist and author Daniel J. Levitin points out that we've got a lot more to think about with each passing year.

Levitin puts it this way: "older adults have to search through more memories than do younger adults to find the fact or piece of information they're looking for. Your brain becomes crowded with memories and information. It's not that you can't remember — you can — it's just that there is so much more information to sort through. A 2014 study found that this 'crowdedness' effect also shows up in computer simulations of human memory systems."

The German physician Alois Alzheimer was the first scientist to describe the disease that bears his name in 1906. But it wasn't until the '70s and '80s that Alzheimer's began to be recognized as something of a scourge.

"Indeed," says Weber, "Nearly six million Americans suffer from Alzheimer's Disease and, as the Alzheimer's Association predicts, that number is poised rise to some 14 million over the next three decades."

The question is, when is a lapse of memory just part of life and when is it a sign of the impending onset of Alzheimer's Disease? According to the National Institute on Aging, "Forgetfulness can be a normal part of aging. As people get older, changes occur in all parts of the body, including the brain. As a result, some people may notice that it takes longer to learn new things, they don't remember information as well as they did, or they lose things like their glasses. These usually are signs of mild forgetfulness, not serious memory problems, like Alzheimer's disease."

But the Alzheimer's Association says that if your forgetfulness is disrupting your life, it may be time to see a doctor. In an online paper entitled, 10 Early Signs and Symptoms of Alzheimer's, the association describes the differences between forgetfulness and disease.

The paper explains that age-related lapses include:

- Making occasional errors when managing finances or household bills
 - Sometimes forgetting names or appointments but remembering them later
 - Occasionally needing help to use microwave settings or to record a TV show
 - Getting confused about the day of the week but figuring it out later
 - Sometimes having trouble finding the right word
 - Misplacing things from time to time and retracing steps to find them
 - Making a bad decision or mistake once in a while, like neglecting to change the oil in the car
 - Sometimes feeling uninterested in family or social obligations
 - Developing very specific ways of doing things and becoming irritable when a routine is disrupted
- The Alzheimer's paper suggests that signs of the disease as we grow older include:
 - Memory loss that disrupts daily life
 - Challenges in planning or solving problems
 - Difficulty completing familiar tasks
 - Confusion with time or place
 - Trouble understanding visual images and spatial relationships
 - New problems with words in speaking or writing
 - Misplacing things and losing the ability to retrace steps
 - Decreased or poor judgment
 - Withdrawal from work or social activities
 - Changes in mood and personality

* A squirt of shaving cream can help release latex paint specks on your hands from using a roller brush. Just rub over hands and rinse.

* Baked apples (or stuffed peppers) will stay perfectly upright if you set them into the wells of a muffin tin.

* Make your own bath oil by mixing a couple of drops of your favorite perfume with a bit of baby oil. Just rub on post-bath or add to your bathwater.

* "Recently I cooked a big batch of broccoli in the afternoon. The house had that cabbage smell. I don't like air fresheners because the strong smell gives me a headache. My neighbor told me to boil a couple of cups of vinegar and let it simmer for 10 minutes. At first, the vinegar smell replaced the cabbage smell, but then it totally disappeared and all the smells were gone too." -- E.Y. in Pennsylvania

* "Use your vegetable peeler to make strips of butter if it's cold and you need to spread it on bread. The strips' large amount of surface area help the butter to soften quickly, making it easy to spread." -- M.M. in Texas

Revisit the Books of Our Childhood

There really is something to be said for going back to a simpler time, even for a little while. For those of us who work with people who have dementia, or if we just want to take a break from the current crop of books on bestseller lists, here is an idea: revisit the books of our childhood. Wikipedia can be a great place to remind us of the titles we might have forgotten. Put "books of the 1940s," or whatever decade you'd like to explore, in its search box. You'll find hundreds of books from our childhood, most with links to information about the books themselves, such as: "Lassie Come Home" (1940), "Curious George" (1941), "Pippi Longstocking" (1945) and "Scurfy the Tugboat" (1946).

From the 1950s we have "Henry Huggins" (1950), "Charlotte's Web" (1952), "Horton Hears a Who!" (1954), "Danny and the Dinosaur" (1958) and the "Brains Benton Series" (1959-61).

To jog your memory, in 1942, Henry, Jessie, Violet and Benny Alden were orphans living in a boxcar in the woods until they are introduced to their grandfather, who has the boxcar moved to his backyard in "The Boxcar Children."

In 1946, "Scurfy the Tugboat" ended up floating down larger and larger waterways until he was rescued and was put back where he was happiest -- the bathtub.

In 1959, Brains Benton and his sidekick Jimmy Carson solved the mystery of "The Case of the Missing Message," and continued solving crimes for the next five books in the original Brains Benton series.

If you want to find the old books of your childhood, it's not as difficult as you might think. Some of the books are still in print. Check Amazon.com or AbeBooks.com. Some of them might be found at your library. If you're very lucky, a few of them might even be on your own bookshelves.
