CBD!!! CBD !!! What is CBD?

By Lori Kleinsmith

Cannabidiol, better known as CBD, is becoming a popular natural remedy used for many common ailments.

CBD is one of the 104 chemical compounds known as cannabinoids found in the cannabis or marijuana plant. Tetrahydrocannabinol (THC) is the main psychoactive cannabinoid found in cannabis, and causes the sensation of getting "high" that's often associated with marijuana. However, unlike THC, CBD is not psychoactive. You do NOT get a "high" from taking CBD. The fact that you don't get a "high" makes CBD a very appealing option for those who are looking for pain relief and other symptoms without the "high" you get from marijuana or certain pharmaceutical drugs.

CBD oil is made by extracting CBD from the cannabis plant, then diluting it with a carrier oil like coconut or hemp seed oil. The health benefits of CBD oil is backed by scientific evidence and is gaining momentum in the health and wellness world. Some scientific studies confirming it may help a variety of ailments like chronic pain and anxiety. Also helping with acne, alleviating cancer-related symptoms, decreasing inflammation, lowering blood pressure and so much more. Are there any side effects? Most people experience no side effects. Some of the side effects may be drowsiness, dry mouth and change in appetite. As always it is best if you consult your doctor before starting CBD oil to avoid any drug interactions.

When buying CBD oil you want a good quality oil. There are many subquality oils out there on the market. Look for the "MG". If you have a 30 ml bottle and the "MG" is only 100mg that is not very potent. There are usually 1000 drops in a 30ml bottle. Look for 1000mg (1mg per drop) or more per 30ml bottle. Some oils are flavored and some are natural tasting.

Have questions? Feel free to stop in at Pinnacle Hypnosis and Therapies, 400B South 4th St., Hamburg, PA 19526, 610-823-4160 for more information and to try a sample of CBD pain cream. We carry a full-line of CBD pain creams, lotions, balms, oils, gummies, gelcaps, concentrates, massage oil. Pricing starting at $10.00 for travel sizes on up. Also available in doggie chews. Perfect for older pets or calming down that frightened pet.

Open Wednesdays 9 am to 5 pm and NOW OPEN Saturdays 11 am to 2 pm. All other times by appointment. www.pinnaclehypnosis.com.

The Health Benefits Of Peanut Butter

Peanut butter can be found in kitchen cabinets across the globe. And whether you're fond of peanut butter and jelly sandwiches or prefer peanut butter smeared on toast, chances are you can find a jar of this beloved spread in your pantry.

While flavor might be the foremost reason people keep jars of peanut butter in their pantries, the nutritional value of peanut butter should not be overlooked. So just how healthy is peanut butter? The following are some notable reasons to pick up a jar of peanut butter and add more peanuts to your diet on your next trip to the grocery store.

- Peanut butter is loaded with antioxidants. A study from researchers at the University of Oslo in Norway found that peanuts contribute significantly to dietary intake of antioxidants. That's a notable benefit, as the body needs more antioxidants than it can provide on its own. Antioxidants are chemicals that interact with free radicals and neutralize them, thereby preventing the damage they can cause. The National Cancer Institute notes that cell damage caused by free radicals may play a role in the development of cancer.

- Peanut butter can benefit your cholesterol levels. A study published in the Journal of Food Science and Technology noted that peanuts are an excellent source of resveratrol, phenolic acids, flavonoids, and phytosterols that block the absorption of cholesterol from diet. Maintaining healthy cholesterol levels is an essential component of cardiovascular health.

- Peanut butter may reduce risk for type 2 diabetes. The Harvard School of Public Health notes that numerous studies have shown that people who routinely consume nuts or peanut butter in their diets are less likely to develop type 2 diabetes than people who rarely eat nuts.

It's important that consumers recognize that the aforementioned benefits largely refer to peanuts and not necessarily peanut butter. As a result, when choosing peanut butter, shoppers should not consider all jars one and the same.

When shopping, consumers should look for peanut butters made from just peanuts. The more ingredients listed on the label, the less healthy the peanut butter likely is. The American Heart Association notes that a diet that's high in sodium can increase one's risk for heart disease and high blood pressure, so look for a peanut butter that's unsalted. The sodium content of some peanut butters may be very high, which may only negate the many health benefits of eating peanut butter. Sugar is another ingredient to watch out for when buying peanut butter. Some manufacturers may include extra sugar to boost the flavor profile of their peanut butters, so keep an eye out for sugar content, which tends to be high in flavored varieties of peanut butter.

Peanut butter can be a nutritious addition to anyone's diet. But peanut butter should be eaten in moderation and consumers should recognize that not all peanut butters provide the nutritional value they're looking for.

READER'S Recipe

BOOVA SHENKEL (Dutch Meat Rolls)

2-1/2 lbs. beef	1/2 cup milk
10 potatoes	3 eggs
2 tablespoons butter	2-1/2 cups flour
2 tablespoons minced parsley	2 teaspoons baking powder
1 chopped onion	1 tablespoon shortening
1/2 teaspoon salt	1 tablespoon butter

After seasoning the meat with salt and pepper, stew the meat for two hours. Then make dough with flour, baking powder, salt the shortening. Mix into a pie-crust dough. Roll into a dozen circles 8 to 10 inches in diameter. Steam the potatoes, pared and sliced thin; add salt and pepper, 2 tablespoons of butter; the parsley and onions and then beat lightly the three eggs into the mixture. Put this mixture on the circles of dough after it has stood a little while. Fold half the circle of dough over like a half moon and press edges tightly and cook for 30 minutes. Into a frying pan put a couple of tablespoons of fat skimmed from the stew before putting in the dough rolls, add to this 1 tablespoon of butter. In this brown small cubes of hard bread and stir in a half cup of milk. Pour this milk sauce over the meat rolls when serving.
