Pink Men Fight Breast Cancer

SHOALS - As part of a state-wide campaign, The American Cancer Society Shoals Leadership Board is excited to present, "Real Men Wear Pink of The Shoals." Twelve local men were recently announced as part of this exciting new campaign. They will serve as the ACS "Pink Men" of the Shoals during breast cancer awareness month. Each participant will compete with, and in some cases against, each other in raising as much money as possible for the American Cancer Society's fight back against breast cancer. The participant who raises the most will be named the "Shoals Pink Man of the Year."

abc's of salvation

To know God and be ready for heaven, follow these steps:

- Admit you are a sinner.
"There is no one righteous, not even one...for all have sinned and fall short of the glory of God." Romans 3:10, 23 (See Romans 5:8; 6:23)
Ask God's forgiveness and repent of your sins.
"Everyone who calls on the name of the Lord will be saved." Romans 10:13 (See Acts 3:19)
- Believe in Jesus (put your trust in Him) as your only hope of salvation.
"For God so loved the world that he gave his one and only Son, that whoever believes in him shall not perish but have eternal life." John 3:16 (See John 14:6)
- Become a child of God by receiving Christ.
"To all who received him, to those who believe in his name, he gave the right to become children of God." John 1:12 (See Revelation 3:20)
- Confess that Jesus is your Lord.
"If you confess with your mouth, 'Jesus is Lord', and believe in your heart that God raised him from the dead, you will be saved." Romans 10:9 (See verse 10)

No representation is made that the quality of legal services to be performed is greater than the quality of legal services performed by other lawyers.

We Are All God's Children

This myth and perpetual lie has sent untold millions into hell. Christ said in John 8:44 "Ye are of your father the devil, and the lusts of your father ye will do. He was a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth, because there is no truth in him. When he speaketh a lie, he speaketh of his own: for he is a liar, and the father of it." If you lie, guess who is behind you and your lying? We're all natural born pathological liars. The scriptures say of Elymas the druggie in Acts 13:10 "And said, O full of all subtilty and all mischief, thou child of the devil, thou enemy of all righteousness, wilt thou not cease to pervert the right ways of the Lord?" Now, that's what children of the devil do, pervert the right ways of the Lord and lie. Again the scriptures speak in 1 John 3:12 "Not as Cain, who was of that wicked one, and slew his brother. And wherefore slew he him? Because his own works were evil, and his brother's righteous."

No, we are not all God's children. That lie (above) is being shoved at us by the major cults in today's apostate world. That's why everyone needs to be saved and born again. Acts 4:12 "Neither is there salvation in any other: for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved." That is why God cannot trust any man with anything to do with the saving of man's soul. God has never asked for help, nor is He interested in man's opinions or ideas about anything. God has been around forever and will be long after we are dead and gone. You had better get hold of this thing called "being saved", while you are still breathing. Get your head out of the sand, and receive Christ now, today, before you wait too long and God quits dealing with you. You are not going to be on this earth very long. You're going to abide forever in heaven or hell. Playing these little games with your religion, your soul and the scriptures will soon end. You'll take time and have time to die. It's your choice in eternity, smoking or non-smoking. Receive Christ today, He wants to save you now. Ask Him.

ASK THE ATTORNEY

Thomas McCutcheon

I went to court and the Judge found me 90% disabled. Now I get checks from workers compensation but my Social Security amount was cut in half. I really didn't benefit from my workers compensation case. Social Security says it's because I am receiving workers compensation that they cut my social security check. Why did they do that?

Chuck, Killen, AL

Ask the Attorney is sponsored by local attorneys, McCutcheon & Hamner, PC, as a service to the residents of NW Alabama.

A I do not know how old you are so I can only tell you that you are experiencing a social security off-set. When you reach retirement age for social security purposes, which is a moving target depending on what year you were born, the off-set will cease.

The rule for an off-set is based on the idea that we don't want people who don't work to do better, meaning make more money not working than working. Social Security rules provide that you can only receive 80% of your pre-injury earnings and above that amount your Social Security is decreased to the extent that the Social Security Administration believes to be 80% of your pre-injury earnings. Social Security can and will completely cut off your Social Security payments if necessary.

You are receiving payments from two different sources. Social Security law contains the off-set. Workers compensation in Alabama is based on 2/3 of your average weekly wage capped at approximately $755.00 per week. Social Security is based on how much you paid in and for how long. You are receiving permanent partial disability benefits from workers compensation. Permanent partial payments are capped by the legislature at $220.00 a week. When you add both your Social Security and your workers compensation payments together, they may not combine to total more than 80% of your pre-injury wages.

Lawyers who settle workers compensation cases by agreement can include language that can prevent or minimize the Social Security off-set, but a judge has no power to do so. I know that seems odd, but all a judge can do in a worker's compensation case is decide a percentage of disability from 0 to 100% disabled. The amount of money that results from that determination is then paid weekly until paid in full. The Court has no power to prevent an off-set. This can greatly affect the negotiation strategy for a worker's compensation case.

Oddly enough, the fact that a Social Security judge found you disabled has no real bearing on a Circuit Court State judge finding you disabled. The two systems use different rules and Social Security looks at all of your health issues that affect your ability to work while worker's compensation typically only considers issues caused by an on-the-job injury.

Buckle up and drive safely.

whether it be giving counsel, advice, words of wisdom, encouragement, or any kind of help," she said.

Former UNA student Ryan House stated, "I think it helped me come into my own as a Christian. Being away from my parents for the first time, it was good to have a strong Christian influence." House also talked about how much he appreciated the devotional and free meals during Manna at Noon every Monday at the CSC. "When I first came to UNA, I did not know anyone in Florence. Danny made the CSC feel welcoming and it wasn't so lonely," House added. "I made a lot of friends that I would have never met if it hadn't been for Danny and the CSC," said House's wife, Christa, a 2009 UNA graduate.

Ryan and Christa House are one of many couples who met at the CSC, began dating, and later married. "There have been dozens of marriages and Christian homes formed. One year we had ten weddings," Pettus said.

Pettus has helped many students discover personal strengths while encouraging them to seek a passion with which to become involved.

"Seeing people use their talents and find their place is gratifying. I don't take credit for a lot of the growth in young adults I've witnessed. I know it's the power of God that has brought about changes and affected lives. It's not of man," Pettus added. Pettus' selfless attitude and the family-like environment of the CSC have made an impact on the students who participated there.

"He genuinely cares about every person he comes in contact with," said 2012 graduate Kathrin Carroll, adding, "The CSC was my home away from home and gave me an amazing group of people that became my family," she continued. "I wouldn't be the person I am today or be where I am in life without the positive influence of Danny Pettus, the CSC, and the people I met there. They helped me stay grounded."

Pettus has enjoyed watching young adults mature in their faith while sharing in their spiritual journeys.

"Absolutely, one of the best things I've witnessed is how the students have rallied around one another to help, support and encourage one another through good and bad times," Pettus said. "I've been blessed to be around life-changing experiences."

Current CSC assistant director, Josh Webster, will take Pettus' place as director on August 1. "Josh is an outstanding Christian man. Hopefully he will build on the foundation we've tried to lay. I'm fully confident he will," Pettus said.

Pettus has been part-time minister for Lexington Church of Christ for fifteen years. He will serve there full-time as of August 1.

"We love Danny," Carroll said, "and we'll miss his guidance and his constant

DAVE Says

by DAVE RAMSEY

PAYING THE "STUPID TAX"

Dear Dave,

My husband broke a few ribs and his collarbone a couple of years ago when he flipped our ATV. He's fine now, but we still have about $20,000 in medical bills because we were both between jobs and didn't have medical coverage when the accident occurred. We also have two credit cards, one with a $1,000 balance and the other a $7,000 balance. We only have $200 a month we can put toward debt, so where should we start?

Sandy

Dear Sandy,
Not having health insurance at any time of your life is not smart, regardless of being between jobs or not. Ouch, what a mess! You didn't tell me what you guys make, but I can tell you a few things.

Number one, you're probably going to have to get your income up. You may have to take on a couple of part-time jobs or work some overtime. My grandmother used to say, "There's a great place to go when you're broke — to work!" If you only have $200 a month to put toward your debt, you've got to create some margin, and that may be on the income side of things.

The other thing I've found is this: Most people seem to be able to magically find money when they feel it's income, and our whole family feels called to help this kid — maybe even taking him into our home. Do you have any advice?

Mitch

Dear Mitch,

You guys obviously have loving hearts and are doing great financially. But let's take a look at few important factors in a decision like this.

If you're thinking about actually taking him in under your roof, you need to remember that your first responsibility is to your family. You have to make sure they're safe, and that would include finding out everything there is to know about this guy. Talk to his past teachers, coaches or even family members if you can find them. Spend some time just talking to him, too, and find out more about his background, attitude, habits and goals. Then, if you still feel led to open your home to him, make sure everyone involved signs an agreement with really clear rules and guidelines about what is expected, what will not be tolerated and the rewards and consequences of each.

Helping him with food and clothing alone would be a generous act, but what you're considering is absolutely amazing. Just make sure, if you go this route, to do it not just with love, but with lots of forethought and wisdom.

a life or death situation. "Magically" means that you do a budget. You make a written game plan where every dollar has a name before the month begins. When you write down every dollar, and you and your husband sit down and agree on where every dollar is going to go, you're going to have an ah-ha moment that feels like you got a raise. If you're normal, you waste a bunch of money because you don't budget and have a written plan. And normal pretty much sucks!

So, here's the drill. Start living on a written budget, extra work, start working the debt snowball and pay off those debts from smallest to largest and don't even think about a vacation or anything else that's not necessity based until you clean up this mess. When you start living with a scorched earth idea — beans and rice, rice and beans — I'll bet you're going to find a lot more than $200 in your budget to put toward killing off this debt!

—Dave

Things That Make You Say, "Hmmm"

Just a few things that make me say, 'hmmm.'

Why is it that the removal of a Confederate battle flag first placed on the South Carolina state capitol by a Democrat governor, moved from the capitol building by a Republican governor, and then taken down entirely by a Republican governor along with a Republican state legislature, is somehow a Democrat victory?

Many political prognosticators perceive President Obama's performance in office as the greatest single predictor of which political party will succeed in winning the White House in November 2016. President Obama has seen a surge in popularity largely due to the Republican Congress passing legislation that he wants. It makes one wonder if the Republican Congress is secretly rooting for Hillary in 2016.

For years China has been building entire cities without any demand for them, creating eerie new ghost towns. Knowing this, why is anyone surprised that the Chinese economy is a fraud? The only wonderment is that its similarly hollow stock market didn't go into free fall much sooner.

HEADLINING WITH PARNELL
Jones Takes Handy Stage

FLORENCE - Booker T. Jones and his phenomenal band will be featured as the headline concert for the W.C. Handy Music Festival at 7pm Saturday, July 25, at UNA's Norton Auditorium. The opening performance is by Lee Roy Parnell. Grammy Award winner and Rock and Roll Hall of Famer Booker T. Jones gained worldwide popularity in the 1960's with his R&B / funk band Booker T. & the M.G.'s. The group is credited with shaping both Southern and Memphis Soul and originating the unique Stax sound while working as the label's house band. Their inimitable style led to the release of instrumental records under their own name including their hit single, Green Onions, written by Jones while he was still in high school. The song went to the top of the Billboard charts, sold over a million copies, and has been featured in countless movies. Booker T. has played with or produced many of the legends in rock, blues, country and soul.

Lee Roy Parnell has enjoyed success on the country and blues charts. He is among the elite few who can be identified as a triple threat, an ace guitarist, a distinctive singer, and a hit songwriter. His music runs the gamut of diversity and he draws from a broad range of music sources and combines them with seamless dexterity.

Tickets for the concert are $40 on-line at <http://wchandyfest.ticketleap.com>. A limited number of $150 VIP Packages are available. Tickets are available at Counts Bros. Music in Muscle Shoals, Pegasus Records in Florence and at Handy Festival Headquarters at the KD Center Annex in Florence.

This will include the history of churches, schools, businesses and prominent individuals. Saturday's tours will be conducted by Dr. David Currott and will visit a variety of historical locations in Florence. The tour will include sites discussed in his book, "Signs of the Past; a Pictorial History of Lauderdale and Colbert County, Alabama". The trolley is air-conditioned with cushioned seats. Adult seats are $15; Seniors/Student seats are $10. Children small enough to sit in their parent's lap can ride free. To reserve a seat, call 256-740-4141. An Anglican Church
Editor:
With the Episcopal Church's recent abandonment of the Biblical definition of marriage as a life-long union of one man and one woman, Christians who have come to appreciate the beauty of the Book of Common Prayer but who desire to retain the historic, orthodox faith of the Anglican tradition might be encouraged to know about the Anglican Church in North America (ACNA). The ACNA is in the global and historical mainstream of Biblical Christianity. As a part of Christ's One Holy Catholic and Apostolic Church, it upholds the essential tenets of the faith as revealed by Holy Scripture and summarized by the ancient creeds of the Church. It is also faithful to the classical Anglican teachings found in the Book of Common Prayer and the Thirty-nine Articles of Religion. For more information on the ACNA, visit its website at anglicanchurch.net. An informational meeting about starting an ACNA mission in the Shoals area will be held July 27 at 6:30pm at Shoney's Restaurant on Florence Blvd in Florence. For more information, contact H. Shannon Phillips, Sr, at 256 810-4701 and RSVP so that we can provide extra seating. Learn more about the ACNA formed in 2009. It has over 112,000 members in nearly 1,000 congregations across North America.

A Revival of Values
Dear Editor: After hearing and reading of near constant anti-gun talk, I would like to express my views on gun control. My brother and I grew up in a Christian home in Decatur, Alabama and it was in that nurturing environment that we learned love, responsibility, the difference between right and wrong, and the importance of caring for others. My grandfather gave me my first gun, a .22 rifle, when I was thirteen. I was given a 12-gauge shotgun for Christmas a year later. I learned gun responsibility from my cousins in Limestone County with whom I hunted almost every weekend during hunting season. By gun responsibility I mean things like never load your gun until you are in the field ready to hunt, never cross a fence with a gun in hand, and for goodness sake, never point a gun anywhere near someone else.

The devious, despicable, dastardly, cowardly people, from Charles Manson to Jeffrey Weise, to James Holmes, to Adam Lanza, to Tamerian and Dзокhar Tsarnaev and now to Dylan Roof, and anyone else who murders another human being, all share one thing in common. They wanted to hurt and kill others.

It is no more the fault of the gun that kills than it is the rope that hangs, the knife that stabs, the pressure cooker that explodes, or the car that hits another vehicle. It is the fault of the operator.

Government cannot prevent similar events. The solution is not attempting to confiscate guns, or ban their sale, or the sale of ammunition, rope, knives, pressure cookers, or automobiles. The only way to prevent further violence is for all of us to pray each day for a revival of the values our great country was founded on: Faith in God, respect, responsibility, self-control and moderation, honesty and integrity, kindness and compassion, contentment and thankfulness, patience and perseverance, peace and humility, and loyalty and commitment.

Guest Op-Ed

Al Gore, Jr. household when he learns that the sun actually has something to do with temperatures on earth.

On the Little Ice Age front, has anyone told Pope Francis that all he had to do was come out against global warming and suddenly scientists are predicting that it is going to get markedly colder? For all of his social justice concern about global warming, he might want to take a peek at what will occur to farm outputs during a cold cycle. Hint: shorter growing seasons mean less food produced and more hunger around the world. Oops.

Jurassic World is the top movie in the world, and Clinton and Bush are frontrunners in the polls for President. What year is it?

As President Obama continued to negotiate a nuke deal with Iran, the Iranian legislature recently voted to ban nuclear inspections on military sites while chanting "Death to America." Makes you feel all warm and cozy when you think of a nuclear Iran armed with ICBM delivery systems.

U.S. liberals urge increased acceptance of Sharia Law in the United States while simultaneously urging increased acceptance of gay marriage by forcing Christian-owned businesses to provide wedding cakes and flowers. Apparently, liberals view failure to bake a cake as a greater problem than the execution of homosexuals in places like Saudi Arabia which operate under Sharia Law.

And finally, what kind of crazy, upside-down world do we live in when a celebrity billionaire is the only candidate for President in either political party willing to speak for the average citizen who feels shut out of the political process by the elites?

If the political class doesn't wake up, they could find themselves Trumped in 2016 and out of power for the first time in a generation.

And that's something to make you say, 'hmmm.'

Rick Manning is President of Americans for Limited Government.

ECO-FRIENDLY PEST CONTROL IN THE GARDEN

By Melinda Myers

Spots on tomatoes, holes in hosta leaves and wilting stems mean insects and diseases have moved into the garden. Don't let these intruders reduce the beauty and productivity of your landscape. Work in concert with nature to prevent and control these pests and you will be rewarded with a bountiful harvest and landscape filled with beautiful blooms.

• Monitor. Take regular walks through the landscape. Not only is it good exercise, but it will improve your mood and you'll discover problems earlier when they are easier to control. Look for discolored leaves, spots, holes and wilting. Inspect the underside of the leaves and along the stems to uncover the cause of the problem.

• Identify. Once you discover a problem, identify the culprit. Your local extension service, garden center or reliable internet resource can help. Once identified, you can plan the best way to manage the culprit.

• Invite the Good Guys. Toads, lady bugs and birds help control many garden pests. Attract them to the garden by planting herbs and flowers to attract beneficial insects, adding a house for the toads, and birdbath for songbirds. Avoid using pesticides and learn to tolerate a bit of damage. A few aphids or caterpillars will bring in the ladybeetles, lacewings, birds and toads that are looking for a meal.

• Clean up. Many insects and diseases can be managed and prevented with a bit of garden cleanup. A strong blast of water from the garden hose will dislodge aphids and mites, reducing their damage to a tolerable level. Or knock leaf-eating beetles and other larger insects off the plants and into a can of soapy water.

Pick off discolored leaves, prune off diseased stems and destroy. Be sure to disinfect tools with 70% alcohol or one part bleach to nine parts water solution between cuts. This will reduce the risk of spreading the disease when pruning infected plants.

• Adjust care. Reduce the spread and risk of further problems by adjusting your maintenance strategies. Avoid overhead and nighttime watering that can increase the risk of disease. Use an organic nitrogen fertilizer like Milorganite (milorganite.com) which encourages slow steady growth that is less susceptible to insect and disease attacks.

Mulch the soil with shredded leaves, evergreen needles or woodchips. This will keep roots cool and moist during drought, improve the soil as they decompose, and also prevent soil borne diseases from splashing onto and infecting the plants.

• Non-chemical Controls. If the problems continue, try some non-chemical options for insects. A yellow bowl filled with soapy water can attract aphids, a shallow can filled with beer and sunk in the ground will manage slugs, and crumpled paper under a flower pot for earwigs are just a few ways to trap and kill these pests.

Or cover the plants with floating row covers. These fabrics allow air, light and water through, but prevent insects like bean beetles and cabbage worms from reaching and damaging the plants.

• Organic products. Organic products like insecticidal soap, Neem, horticulture oil and Bacillus thuringiensis can be used to control specific pests. And even though these are organic, they are designed to kill insects or disease organisms, so be sure to read and follow label directions carefully.

• Take Note. Make notes on the problems and solutions in this season's garden. Refer to these next year to help you do a better job of monitoring and managing garden pests. And when shopping for new plants, select the right plant for the location and choose resistant varieties whenever possible.

A little eco-friendly gardening can go a long way in creating a beautiful and productive garden.

News & Tips on the Shoals Market

Choosing a Realtor

When you chose your Realtor, you almost certainly considered how hard they were going to work for you. If you chose well, they're working hard. There are many aspects of selling your home that your Realtor can accomplish with little or no help from you. There are also ways that you must be willing to help. Below are the top 3 ways you can do your part in getting your home SOLD:

- Make your home available for showings. I know, last minute showings are the devil. Those are inevitably the times your home is at its worst. But going the extra mile and being willing to say yes—even to inconvenient showings—can mean the difference in getting a contract or not. Some buyers are only in town for a specific period of time, and some decide at the last minute to see more homes. The key is to make sure they get to see yours.
- Tackle any "problem areas" that you know about. Whether it's weeding and mulching flower beds, straightening closets, decluttering or something else, if your Realtor mentioned it (or if you notice it), it probably needs done. You might want to enlist help. A "help day" where you enlist family and friends and feed them afterward is a fun way to do it. Or, you can always pay someone. Help with a one-time project may cost less than you think.
- Be open to discussions about the bottom line. Everyone starts out with a number in their head of what they think their home is worth. Sometimes that number is on point, but more often it is not. I see many instances where people go against their Realtor's advice and start out too high. In the process of gradually reducing their list price, they often pass on contracts for more than the amount that they end up selling the home for. Yes, they want to kick themselves.

See, none of those require major effort on your part, but the effect they can have is monumental. Going into the home-selling process knowing these things and being prepared to do your part will very likely reduce the time your home sits on the market. You'll see what a great team you and your Realtor make! -mr

Ian Teaches Aaron

Aaron: "Did you say that Christ is our Savior?"

Ian: "Yes, that's right, but also he must be our Lord."

Aaron: "What does that mean?"

Ian: "It means we respect and obey His commands. Jesus said, "Why call me 'Lord, Lord' and do not what I say?" (Luke 6:46).

Aaron: "No one can argue with that!"

Ian: "You're right and Jesus said "He that believes and is baptized will be saved" (Mark 16:16).

Aaron: "That means, If Jesus is our Lord we need to be baptized."

Ian: "Yes, and when Jesus is truly our Lord, as believers, we will want to be baptized."

Generations: Basic Genealogy Seminar

on Saturday, July 25, 9am-4pm Florence-Lauderdale Public Library. Admission is Free; Registration is required. Learn the skills you'll need to start researching your family's genealogy. American or European, black, white or Native American, we all want to know more about our family and where we come from. Our seminar assumes you've done little or no genealogy research and want to learn how to get started. Students in our all-day seminar will first learn how to get started and organized plus there are a few basic research rules you need to know. Examine each of the five basic types of genealogy records: census records; land records; military records; probate (courthouse records); vital records (births, deaths and marriages); and where to obtain/how to use each of these types of records. Detailed handouts for each session will be provided.

Instructors will be FLPL's genealogist/local historian Lee Freeman, and Natchez Trace Genealogical Society president Brian Newton and vice president Kitty Cox. All three bring several decades' worth of experience in genealogy research to the table. By the end of the seminar students should be able to begin researching their family genealogy.
