The 1,500 mile stretch of highway encompassing the Americana Music Triangle, or "Gold Record Road," is where "history made

There is Only ONE church that Belongs to Christ
"And I also say to you that you are Peter, and on this rock I will build My church, and the gates of Hades shall not prevail against it" (Matthew 16:18). The church belongs to Jesus, it is His church. It belongs to Him and Him alone! No one in heaven or on earth has a right to make one change to His church (Matthew 28:18). He is its Head. "And He is the Head of the body, the church...." (Colossians 1:18). "And He put all things under His feet, and gave Him to be Head over all things to the church, which is His body, the fullness of Him who fills all in all" (Ephesians 1:22-23) Both the Ephesians and Colossian letters teach that Jesus is the Head of His church and that the church is His body. How many physical bodies does a head have? ONE! How many spiritual bodies does Christ the Head have? ONE!
How many churches did Jesus build? Jesus only built one! "I, therefore, the prisoner of the Lord, beseech you to walk worthy of the calling with which you were called, with all lowliness and gentleness, with longsuffering, bearing with one another in love, endeavoring to keep the unity of the Spirit in the bond of peace. There is one body and one Spirit, just as you were called in one hope of your calling; one Lord, one faith, one baptism; one God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you all" (Ephesians 4:1-6). Since the church is the body and there is only "one body", there is only one church. One Head, that's Jesus. One body, that's His church.
Jesus prayed that His disciples "...all may be one..." (John 17:21). Do you see the error today with many churches on every corner with different heads, names, beliefs and practices? The Scriptures we have used are so important because Jesus is only going to save His one body, His one church. "For the husband is head of the wife, as also Christ is Head of the church; and He is the Savior of the body" (Ephesians 5:23). He will only save one!

Funds for building the theater, buying costumes, props and hiring needed personnel and actors must be raised. Come see and learn more at the fund raising event May 15, beginning at 6pm at Seven Springs, where the Rattlesnake Restaurant is located.

SODA will host a three band musical concert. The Nutones play a mix of old goodies, country and gospel. Goodbye Skyline will add a dimension with soft rock. Jackson Tyler Mitchell will provide variety with jazz, blues and bluegrass. We are grateful for their gifts of time and talents to raise funds for this project. Bring your blankets and lawn chairs.

Call Martha 256-767-1118 or 765-2113.

Barry has lived in Killen his entire life. He has served as the minister of the Town Creek church of Christ and still continues to preach as much as his body allows. There is also a facebook group and a go-fund-me account. Thank you

Ian Teaches Aaron

Aaron: "I hear people talking about being saved. What does that mean exactly?"

Ian: "Well, it means your sins are forgiven: you're a child of God. Have you been saved?"

Aaron: "I think so. I've said the Sinner's Prayer to have all my sins forgiven."

Ian: "Did you know that prayer isn't in the Bible?"

Aaron: "Are you sure?"

Ian: "I'm sure, and a story in Acts 22 tells us Saul prayed a long time but a man was sent to tell Paul he needed to be baptized to have his sins forgiven" (v. 16).

Aaron: "So....if prayer alone brings forgiveness, Saul would have already been forgiven and saved, but he wasn't. I'm going to have to think about that."

ASK THE ATTORNEY

Thomas McCutcheon

Ask the Attorney is sponsored by local attorneys, McCutcheon & Hamner, PC, as a service to the residents of NW Alabama.

Q I read that if you live with someone for ten years you are entitled to part of their retirement. I was married to my ex-husband for 20 years but we have been divorced for 29 years. Neither one of us has remarried. Will I be entitled to part of his retirement? If so, where do I start?

Jennifer, Leighton, AL

A There is some confusion about a ten year rule. Social Security has some widows' benefit rules that by and large require marriage to a wage earner for 10 years or more. If you are married for 10 or more years to a wage earner and meet the requirements under Social Security Rules, you can draw social security benefits off of their earnings record.

Alabama has specific rules that require a marriage of 10 years before retirement benefits are considered by the Court for division. There is a specific statute at Alabama Code §30-2-51 that addresses when retirement benefits may be divided by the Court if the Court sees fit to do so. Obviously, different judges and different facts and different people with different stories yield different results.

§30-2-51 is as follows:
 (1) The parties have been married for a period of 10 years during which the retirement was being accumulated.

(2) The court shall not include in the estate the value of any retirement benefits acquired prior to the marriage including any interest or appreciation of the benefits.

(3) The total amount of the retirement benefits payable to the non-covered spouse shall not exceed 50 percent of the retirement benefits that may be considered by the court.

I have seen a few marriages end after nine years rather than wait for 10 years and a potential loss of retirement benefits. I would think that the 10 year period includes the date of marriage through the date of the final decree and any appeal.

Because retirement benefits are considered to be a property right they are not modifiable (changeable) by the Court after 30 days from the final decree. If your former husband's retirement was not divided by the Court in your final decree 29 years ago, you are not entitled to part of his retirement.

Are You Sure?

Have you ever seen anyone die? I have been at the bedside of several people when they died. I was holding my Mother's hand when her heart stopped. I was with my wife's Mother when she passed away, and I saw our dear son when he died. I closed his eyes after he took a deep last breath. Another person that I was with raised both hands and clearly said "save me" then took a gentle last breath.

Each time I have seen a person die, I thought about the unseen Angels who were in the room. When a person passes away, God's Angels will take them to Heaven, or the Devil's angels will take them to Hell. This will happen instantly after the person is dead and passes from this life.

When this happens to us, it is too late to change our eternal destiny. Our life here on the earth is over and we will go to the final place that we have chosen forever. Yes, it is our choice to be saved and go to Heaven or to be lost and go to Hell forever. God will welcome us if we ask according to His way to salvation through Jesus Christ.

Most people have heard about Heaven and have some understanding that it is a wonderful place. However, we do not like to talk or think about Hell very much. Some don't even believe it is a real place and that God would ever allow a person who believes in Him to go there. However, even the Devil, the supreme spirit of evil, believes in God.

The Bible gives many references to the everlasting torment of Hell. If you are not completely sure of your salvation, please talk to someone whom you know to be a true Christian and receive the Good News of the Gospel of Jesus Christ and be saved while there's still time.

DAVE Says

by DAVE RAMSEY

CHURCH PAYBACK

*Dear Dave,
 My wife and I go to a small church where we tithe. The church is continually asking for contributions to other charities and causes, and we don't have the money to give to them all while we're sticking to our budget and getting out of debt. The worst part is that we get pretty aggressive pushback when we say no. What can we do?*

Michael

Dear Michael,
 I don't react well to that kind of pushback. I would probably be nice a couple of times, but after that my response might sound something like, "Mind your own business."

Seriously, I'd probably be a little gentler than that. But basically when it reaches that point, they're saying, "I want your money." And that's really over the top. If it goes even further, and it becomes a question of you "digging deep" or not having enough faith, I might get un-gentle in a hurry.

Your first job is to provide for your family and take care of those kinds of responsibilities — which is a very scriptural stance. Once you've done that, then you'll hopefully have the financial ability to move beyond tithes and into offerings, which are completely different concepts. Tithes are first fruits off the top, while offerings are from surplus — meaning that you and your family are doing well financially.

Another thing to consider is this: Does this church turn every impulse they have into pressure to donate or buy something, because they didn't plan for this kind of stuff in the church budget? I'd start having a problem with the leadership if this turned out to be the case, because it's a sign they're not planning and leading well.

Hopefully, you can explain to these folks the reason why you can't contribute to additional things at the moment and they'll understand. If not, and it were me in your shoes, I think I'd have to find another church.

—Dave

STICK WITH MUTUAL FUNDS

*Dear Dave,
 I've been following your plan, and I have my emergency fund in place and am investing in mutual funds. Recently, a financial planner recommended bonds to me. What is your opinion on this?*

Becky

Dear Becky,
 I don't recommend bonds at all right now. I'm not a fan of them, and I don't own any. The bond market is almost as volatile as the stock market, and it doesn't pay nearly as much on average.

On top of all that, bond prices work at an inverse of interest rates. In other words, as interest rates rise, bond prices go down. Long-term interest rates are still really low. If you were to buy a bunch of bonds right now, and interest rates went up even one percent, you could lose a lot!

I recommend mutual funds and good growth stock mutual funds. There are always some bonds mixed in with a growth and income fund, and I'm not opposed to that to some degree, but it's not my favorite. So, if I were ever going to buy bonds — and I'm not going to — it definitely wouldn't be right now. It doesn't take much of a move in interest rates for bond prices to go down dramatically.

TPA Fundamentally Transforms America

President Obama should be denied Trade Promotion Authority (TPA) or fast-track trade authority that enables a simple majority-vote passage of his nearly completed Trans-Pacific Partnership (TPP). That is the conclusion that Louisiana governor Bobby Jindal, former Arkansas governor Mike Huckabee, and real estate and media mogul Donald Trump, all reached this past week in public announcements.

However, it is a quietly-released memorandum from senator Jeff Sessions entitled, "Critical Alert: Top Five Concerns with Trade Promotion Authority," that is rocking the Capitol as it lays bare the issue with the insightful intelligence for which Alabama's junior senator is renowned.

Beyond the obvious absurdity of a Republican Congress that campaigned on reining in President Obama's power-grab ceding even more power to the executive branch, the Sessions memo hits one issue that no thinking limited-government supporter can accept: The TPP is a "living document."

The battle over fast-tracking the TPP can be better understood when one realizes that it is not a traditional trade deal. Rather it is a comprehensive regulatory treaty designed to "harmonize" regulations between participating

The Visual and Audio

FLORENCE—The 29th Arts Alive takes place Saturday and Sunday, May 16-17 at Wilson Park in Florence.

The event this year is a celebration of arts and music. Dozens of artists from a variety of backgrounds will display their wares in the park and in the gallery show. Traditional painters, jewelry makers, pottery, and wood crafters will have items in the park for sale while the gallery show is taking shape to be one of the largest in recent years.

Acoustic musicians will be on the lawn next door to the Kennedy-Douglass Center for the Arts so that festival-goers can hear the music, but it won't overpower conversations.

The Arts Alive website, www.alabamaartsalive.com, has also been revamped for ease of use by artists and the community looking for information about the event. A Facebook page has also been established in order to communicate any updates and Arts Alive news in advance of and during the event.

For Any Generation

Editor:

(This was reprinted from an online article, which has been attributed to Doris S Burville, originally written to a teenager in 1955.)

Words for Teenagers:

Northland College principal, John Tapene, has offered the following words from a judge who regularly deals with youth. "Always we hear the cry from teenagers, 'What can we do, where can we go?'"

"My answer is this: Go home, mow the lawn, wash the windows, learn to cook, build a raft, get a job, visit the sick, study your lessons and after you've finished, read a book. Your town does not owe you recreational facilities and your parents do not owe you fun.

"The world does not owe you a living, you owe the world something. You owe it your time, energy and talent so that no one will be at war, in sickness and lonely again. In other words grow up, stop being a cry baby, get out of your dream world and develop a backbone not a wishbone. Start behaving like a responsible person. You are important and you are needed. It's too late to sit around and wait for somebody to do something someday. Someday is now and that somebody is you!"

Not Being Deprived

Dear Sir:

The Supreme Court recently heard arguments about the gay marriage issue and is scheduled to issue a ruling in June, 2015. It is difficult to predict which way the court will rule, but there were several points raised which are worth considering. I will not address each. However, the majority dealt with social issues rather than religion.

Much of the LGBT case has attacked the religious objection as the centerpiece of their approach, but many questions dealt with the social impact of an untried experiment. My opinion is that the gay community is out of line in their claim that they are being deprived of equal protection under the law.

There is no example that I can find that denies rights to LGBT couples that are not married. The responsibility for marriage licenses belongs to the states and there is no Federal authority to intervene. The Alabama Supreme Court was correct in its ruling that said the Alabama Constitution must be followed. There is a similar case in Colorado where a county clerk is being sued for doing exactly that in violation of that state's constitution.

Many point to the Supremacy Clause which says that federal law trumps state law. That is an accepted principal, but it does not apply in this case because there is no federal law involved. If it is true that the federal government has unlimited power to make up laws that do not exist, our Republic is dead.

Middle Class Flees Tax Areas

Editor:

Stephen Moore, writing in Heritage Foundation's Daily Signal on April 19, described Massachusetts' liberal senator, former Harvard professor, Elizabeth Warren's model that takes from the super wealthy and redistributes it to the poor in the class warfare mantra. Of course, a former senator--Barack Obama--from Illinois told Ohio's "Joe the Plummer" that he was planning to spread the wealth around as president, and he has!

President Barack Obama and his policies have driven the labor participation rate to the lowest since 1978 when hapless Jimmy Carter was president! Don't hold your breath until the Left mainstream media gives these facts major coverage or any coverage at all!

Moore further notes: "In recent years blue (democrat) states such as California, Illinois, Delaware, Connecticut, Hawaii, Maryland and Minnesota adopted this very strategy, and they raised taxes on their wealthy residents. Almost all of these states lag behind the national average in growth of jobs and incomes. If income redistribution policies are the solution to shrinking the gap between rich and poor, why do they fail so miserably in the blue states?"

Stephen Moore pointed out that the blue states that try to lift up the poor with high taxes, high welfare benefits, high minimum wages and other Robin Hood policies tend to be the places where the rich end up the richest and the poor the poorest. The middle class flees those states.

In Moore's new report, "Rich States, Poor States," that he wrote with Arthur Laffer and Jonathan Williams, they found that five of the highest-tax blue states in the nation -- California, New York, New Jersey, Connecticut and Illinois--lost some four million more U.S. residents than entered these states over the last decade. Meanwhile, the big low-tax red (republican) states -- Texas, Florida, North Carolina, Arizona and Georgia -- gained nearly the same number new residents.

A calm, healing environment for seniors — right here at home!

Introducing OASIS EMERGENCY SERVICES

Emergency services especially for the geriatric patient... only at ECM Hospital in Florence.

A trip to the emergency room is never fun. Emergency departments can be crowded, loud, and overwhelming. Imagine how difficult an ER visit can be for a senior adult!

Introducing OASIS Emergency Services. A newly designed seven-bed unit within the ECM Emergency Department, OASIS provides reduced-glare lighting, non-skid flooring, thicker mattresses on the treatment beds, and a soothing color scheme. The entire area takes into account the fact that some geriatric patients have multiple diagnoses and may be prescribed medications which take more time to evaluate. The staff here is trained in the unique needs of geriatric patients, and are assisted by ECM's on-site gerontologist, the only one in the region.

MAKING THE MOST OF YOUR SPACE

Tiny houses are a recent phenomenon and have spurred many businesses - from builders to decorating experts - looking to connect with consumers who want to go small. The small house movement advocates for living simply in small homes, some of which can be as small as 100 square feet or less.

- Although living in a tiny house is not for everyone, many people prefer small-space living to living in larger, more spacious homes and apartments. For those looking to make the most of their small living spaces, there are ways to make such living arrangements feel larger.

- Light is your friend. Establish adequate lighting in a room that includes at least three working lights. Varied light sources from different angles will eliminate dark corners and shadows that can make a space feel smaller. Lighting also can draw the eye where you want it and distract attention from the room's flaws.

- Make use of vertical space. Homes where space is at a premium may have limited storage areas. An often-overlooked storage option is vertical space. Space above doors, shelving, and areas above cabinetry are ideal places to store items. Use hooks on walls to keep belongings off the floor.

- Choose light-colored paint. Choose lighter hues for your home furnishings and wall colors. You do not have to limit this to white (unless landlords require white walls). Pale colors will help reflect light and can make the room seem larger than it really is. Using a dark color on the flooring can make other lighter shades really pop in contrast.

- Conceal the clutter. If you cannot keep personal belongings to the utmost minimum in a home, experiment with clever ways to keep items out of sight. Furniture that serves dual purposes can help with this task. Storage ottomans will conceal small toys or linens and also provide seating options in a room when guests come over. A dresser can be used as a dining room buffet piece, and the numerous drawers can hold knickknacks or silverware. Furniture with built-in, hidden storage is well worth the investment when living spaces are limited.

- Create dual-purpose rooms. Lack of space means getting creative with the space you do have. A nook in your bedroom can be devoted to a miniature home office. Perhaps you can establish a crafting center in a portion of your laundry room. Garages have long served as catch-all spaces in homes. Apart from storage, they can be subdivided for home gyms or even a place to gather and watch a ballgame.

- Hang mirrors to "expand" rooms. Mirrors can trick the eye into believing there is more space in a room. Mirrors melt away room borders and can accelerate the flow of light. Hanging them throughout your home can make spaces seem larger.

- Think about built-in furniture. Traditional furniture may not be practical for small spaces and can waste a lot of room. Custom-built furniture is often the way to go to maximize the area you do have. Employ a little do-it-yourself initiative as well, customizing items for the perfect fit.

- Work with a designer. If you're having difficulty making a small space work for you, consult with an interior designer or a contractor for some ideas.

GUEST Op-Ed

nations, with sections ranging from immigration to intellectual property to environmental law.

"A USTR (U.S. Trade Representative) outline of the Trans-Pacific Partnership (which TPA would expedite) notes in the 'Key Features' summary that the TPP is a 'living agreement.'

"This means the president could update the agreement 'as appropriate to address trade issues that emerge in the future as well as new issues that arise with the expansion of the agreement to include new countries.'

"The 'living agreement' provision means that participating nations could add countries to the TPP without Congress' approval (like China). That could change any of the terms of the agreement, including in controversial areas such as the entry of foreign workers and foreign employees.

"Again: These changes would not be subject to congressional approval."

In essence, TPP would give this and future presidents unprecedented authority to add countries to it and change the terms Congress ratified, after the fact, effectively ending Congress' role in the treaty-making process forever.

Should TPP be ratified, no nation would choose to subject itself to the congressional ratification process through a bilateral deal when they could garner the economic benefits of a trade deal with the stroke of a president's pen.

Given a treaty's unique capacity to override conflicting regulations and statutory laws, it is reasonable to be concerned that this president or a future one would walk through the door of renegotiating the language, negating the need to consult Congress while affecting his own version of fundamental transformation.

Members of Congress have a responsibility to read the terms of the Trans-Pacific Partnership before they vote to fast-track it, even as private citizens are barred from doing so under treaty-making rules.

While the process for accessing the treaty is arduous, the stakes are too high for anyone to blithely proclaim that they are for "free trade" so they support fast-track and by inference the TPP. At the least, they should read Sen. Sessions' analysis based on publicly available documents before ratifying what the president calls "the most progressive trade deal in history."

After reading the Sessions analysis, there is no excuse for any Republican to support fast-tracking the Trans-Pacific Partnership.

PREVENTATIVE MAINTENANCE

Most homeowners know preventative maintenance needs to be done in order to keep their home in good condition. Keeping up with regular maintenance can also prevent more work and/or expense down the road. Just think of it as protecting your investment. Here is a list of areas on the outside of your home in which a regular check and a little maintenance can really pay off down the line:

- 1) Inspect exterior trim and other wood areas for signs of rot. Repairing a little spot now will prevent having to replace a bigger area later. Money saved.
- 2) Protect your foundation. This is a biggie, because repairs and problems down the road can be huge. Every year, check to make sure the soil around your house slopes away from your foundation walls at least 6 inches over 10 feet (rain gutter downspouts should extend at least 5 feet away from your house). That slope keeps water from getting down right next to your foundation, where it could cause basement walls to lean, crack the masonry, and cause leaks. (For houses with crawl spaces, keeping water away makes sure excess water doesn't pool underneath your floor, making for damp conditions that encourage mold, rot, and insects.)
- 3) Check that windows and doors fit and open/close properly. Besides the maintenance issue, this will save you money in heating and cooling as well! Check weatherstripping for damage and tightness of fit. A good rule of thumb is that if you can see daylight, air and other things could get in.
- 4) Check roof at least once a year. Examine all flashing, chimney cap, vents, and look for damaged shingles. While up there, check your gutters! Keeping them clean is very important. Also look for leaks and rust.
- 5) Clean leaves and debris from around your outside heating and air conditioning condenser unit, and trim back shrubs that may block air movement around the house. Clearance space around the house should be at least one foot. -mr

Why We Are Here

As a child I was taught to answer this question: ("Why did God make me?") My answer was "God made me to know, love, and serve Him, and be happy with Him in this world, and live with Him forever in the next." There is a lot of truth in that statement. If you don't know God, you can't love Him, or serve Him, or be happy in this world, or live forever with Him. The Gentle Apostle Paul emphatically stated in 2 Timothy 1:12 "For the which cause I also suffer these things: nevertheless I am not ashamed: for I know whom I have believed, and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day." The phrase "I know" is used in the N.T. 63 times.

But why are we here? Scripture states Isaiah 43:7 "Even every one that is called by my name: for I have created him for my glory. I have formed him; yea, I have made him." Revelation 4:11 "Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created." Clearly, God put us here to bring glory and pleasure to Him. Is what we are doing, hearing, saying, and seeing, things that bring glory and pleasure to Almighty God? God has a sovereign right to demand and expect from His creation what He desires. 1 Corinthians 6:20 For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's.

Does God have a smile when He watches you live life in front of the world. 2 Timothy 2:19 "Nevertheless the foundation of God standeth sure, having this seal, The Lord knoweth them that are his. And, Let every one that nameth the name of Christ depart from iniquity". Hebrews 13:21 "Make you perfect in every good work to do his will, working in you that which is wellpleasing in his sight, through Jesus Christ; to whom be glory for ever and ever. Amen." Do you know Christ? If you do, put a smile on His face today. If you don't, receive Him today, and He will put a smile on your face. You will be able then, to bring Him glory and the pleasure He desires.

Come take a "Blast in the Past" as the historic Roxy Theatre in Russellville presents the 1973 movie "American Graffiti" on Saturday night, May 16, at 7pm. This Academy Award nominee for Best Picture is set in 1962 California. A group of teenagers played by Ron Howard, Richard Dreyfuss, Cindy Williams, Suzanne Sommers, and Harrison Ford cruise the streets and hangout together over a period of one night while listening to disc jockey Wolfman Jack "play rock and roll music over the radio. The musical soundtrack includes many popular songs of the 1950s and 1960s such as "Rock Around the Clock," "The Peppermint Twist," and "The Stroll." The U.S. Library of Congress has preserved the film in the National Film Registry due to the cultural and historical depiction of teenage life and music in the United States during the early 1960s. Tickets are $5. The doors open at 6pm and the show starts at 7pm. All proceeds benefit the restoration of the historic Roxy Theatre.
