Moody on The Market

Moody Pat

He called his beloved Water Street Glassworks in the Benton Harbor Arts District, "a big city idea in your home town...here to satisfy your glass curiosity." Never has there been a more big city talent with a hometown heart than the man we came to know and love as Jerry Catania. Sadly we've learned that Jerry has passed at the age of 74.

The news issued forth from his beautiful wife, Kathy, who shared it on his Facebook page on Thursday, May 14, 2020: "It is with a heavy but, grateful heart that I share the passing of a wonderful man, my husband Jerry. He lived his creative life to the fullest and I am so lucky to have been his partner in the adventure. His calling was two-fold, as an art educator and glass artist/educator and he dedicated his life to both professions. He lived many lives in one. He was a pioneer in glass and he loved sharing his passion for the medium in all his home studios, at Ox-Bow in Saugatuck and in the Benton Harbor Arts District at Water Street Glassworks. His wanderlust and teaching adventures took him all over the world. His friendships reflect his path. He touched so many lives. He loved you all. His brother Bob and I thank you all for your condolences and kindness. A celebration of his life/open house will take place in their father's former garage building in Stevensville, MI, come fall. Many of you are asking, what you can do for us at this time. My answer is that you've already done it by sharing your life with Jerry. Donations may be made to Water Street Glassworks at www.bit.ly/WSGDonate to continue his passion and legacy. In his own words, 'My achievements were made possible by a lot of help from my friends and I'm one lucky guy.'"

The news was immediately met with sadness and disbelief intermixed with glowing words of tribute. A man who covered his work on many occasions and wrote of his talents, Jeremy Bonfiglio says, "He was a brilliant man with such a creative and gentle soul. Blessed to have been one of so, so many that he inspired by his passion for both art and teaching. His mark will never leave this world."

Tracy Kirchmann a fellow glass instructor from Chicago writes, "Jerry touched so many lives through glass including mine. I will forever strive to be the type of mentor Jerry was effortlessly. So grateful for the time we had together with our kids at Corning and at GAS. Jerry is a legend. Eternally an hour that you don't hear about this on the news or in passing etc., so with that being said, I just want to say, I hope you are all well and safe, and are able to enjoy this hopefully warm weekend outside (social distancing of course). It's Memorial Day

Summer 2020

We are fast approaching summer and with summer comes sunshine to enjoy, so here are some suggestions for some products that have hit the shelf in 2020 that you can find in your local stores. Bud Light Seltzer hit the market earlier this year, however they now have a 24 pk variety along with the 12 pk variety in most stores. The "Bud Light Peels Pack" just hit Southwest Michigan with a 12 pk variety that includes Bud Light Lime, Bud Light Orange, and the new Bud Light Lemonade. If you like citrus... here is your pack!

In a previous column I mentioned a few Budweiser products set to hit the market. Budweiser Zero is here and ready for purchase. This beer has ZERO alcohol. Budweiser Nitro is also on shelves at your favorite store. This is very delicious, especially if you like a creamy mouthfeel that the nitrogen provides.

Earlier this year, we launched a line of canned cocktails called Clubtails. If you like Bahama Mamas, Screwdrivers, or other well know cocktails, check these out! Cutwater, another well known canned cocktail just re-launched with several choices, highlighting ready-to-drink Bloody Mary, Vodka Soda, Gin and Tonic, etc.

For the craft beer lover, newly launched in 2020 is Voodoo Ranger 1985 IPA which is a limited summer release from New Belgium. Also, check out their Voodoo American Haze and their Voodoo Hoppy Variety pack! Sierra Nevada came to the table with Wild Little Thing, a slightly soured ale which is very smooth and brings great fruits and botanicals to the pallet. Fantastic Haze is a delightful imperial IPA.

We live in a wonderful area with lots of breweries and wineries with endless choices of products; it is so hard to list them all! You can purchase these in most stores and many of them are selling to-go as well.

Local Market

To round out the column (so much to say, only so much space), let's make sure to support our businesses, breweries, restaurants, etc. during this pandemic. Now more than ever, it is important to support everyone in our community. We have a fantastic area that so many people love to visit, and we choose to live here. It really matters right now that we make sure we do what we can to offer support. It has been awesome to see so many people helping one another! I look forward to when we are able to get back to normal. For now, remember to stay safe!!! Happy Memorial Day, make sure to be safe and to enjoy responsibly!

every business within. A singular virtual front-end for the downtown would allow shoppers to easily access all websites, find contact information, see everyone's hours, and even purchase products, all in a single location. As we explore how to safely re-open businesses, allowing consumers to explore in the comfort of their home is an ideal solution.

Meanwhile, another great member crafted a proposal to compliment the virtual downtown. Holt Bosse's "Lift Up Our Downtown" plan would include a video series, an online hub that centralizes information, and a "business in a box" kit that would help individual stores beef up their online presence and prepare for e-commerce.

On Monday morning, Mr. Holt of Holt Bosse pitched their part of the plan to the St. Joseph DDA. A few hours later, Mr. Rutherford and I pitched the City Council on the virtual downtown initiative. Both were approved.

In my discussions with business owners, they've repeatedly described the last few months as a free fall. Funding these community resources were a tremendous way for the City of St. Joe to step into the gap and soften the landing. Be on the lookout for more announcements as we work quickly to create these resources.

We hope to build upon this success by working with communities across Southwest Michigan to find safe and creative ways to lessen the burden on business owners in their area.

Every little bit helps as they strive for solvency and fight for survival.

REGIONAL CHAMBER

The economic fallout from COVID-19 has pushed thousands of small businesses across the country to the very brink of existence. Data tells us that if the turmoil continues, about half of all small businesses could be in danger of failing.

The news locally is not much better. In fact, with Michigan lagging behind other states in re-opening its economy, we could be in for much worse. Even if things were opened up tomorrow, a market analysis of the next few months tells us consumer confidence will remain low and tourism will take a drastic hit.

Our businesses need help now.

With that in mind, the Chamber entered into discussions with the City of St. Joseph, St. Joseph Today, and the Southwestern Michigan Tourist Council on what we could do to stem the tide. We knew due to event cancellations, travel restrictions, or just out of an abundance of caution, thousands of potential customers may be forgoing their trip to Southwest Michigan this year.

But what if we brought the downtown to them?

Virtual technology has advanced to an incredible degree and, thankfully, we have one of those pioneers right here in our own back yard. Mark Rutherford and his business, CrazeVR, have taken virtual capabilities to a new level. With their arcade closed during the shutdown, they pivoted to creating 360-degree virtual tours for individual businesses in the area. I asked him if he could use that technology to make an entire virtual downtown. His answer, "Absolutely!"

Not only would this enhance St. Joseph's visibility, it would enhance the online presence of

A Place for You

[Jesus said] "Do not let your hearts be troubled. . . . My Father's house has many rooms; if that were not so, would I have told you that I am going there to prepare a place for you?" ~ John 14:1,2

"A man's home is his castle, and each man's home is his safest refuge." That may sound like an endorsement for current "Safer at Home" rules. However, English judge and politician, Sir Edward Coke, penned that law in the 1600s. According to that law, no one may enter another's home without an invitation.

Perhaps, after weeks of self-isolation, your home feels more like a prison than a palace. Perhaps you are living alone and long for fellowship with friends and family. Perhaps you are living with your family but have discovered that being together for so long can strain relationships as nerves fray and patience runs out. As comfortable and comforting as home can be, earthly homes are not perfect places.

But such a perfect place does exist. It is a heavenly home being prepared by Jesus himself. But you cannot just walk in. And he cannot just let you in. Because it is a perfect place, anything imperfect cannot enter. And, sadly, every one of us is imperfect. Thankfully, Jesus paid for our imperfection by going to the cross. He promises to cover his followers in his own perfection so that we are able to enter the perfect heavenly home he is preparing for us.

Discontent, disease, and disagreements are not going to be part of that home. Jesus has made sure of it.

Prayer: Heavenly Father, thank you for sending your Son to earth that I may have a place in heaven. Amen.

Consider rent-to-own?

Dear Dave,

I'm single, have no kids, and I've paid off all my debt. I'm ready to move to Baby Step 3, and increase my emergency fund to cover three to six months of expenses. Now that I'm gaining control of my finances, the idea of leaving apartment life and owning a home is more appealing. Should I consider a rent-to-own deal on a house when the time comes?

Alex

Dear Alex,

I wouldn't go that route. In rent-to-own scenarios, you pay more in rent so that some of it will go toward the down payment if you buy the home. However, in most rent-to-own deals, the renter ends up not buying the home. The net result? You paid more in rent, and you still don't own a home!

In your situation, being a single guy with no kids, you're better off to continue renting a while longer and save money like crazy. That way, you can look around, find something you really like, and make a big down payment. And make sure you get a 15-year, fixed-rate mortgage, where the monthly payments are no more than 25 percent of your take home pay.

Good luck, Alex!

-Dave

Dave Says

Pay taxes now or later?

Dear Dave,

My husband and I owe $3,500 in federal taxes, along with $3,000 in state taxes. We're both still working during the pandemic scare. Would it be better to wait until the new July 15 due date to pay taxes, and pay off other debt in the meantime, or go ahead and pay state and federal taxes now, and take care of our other debts with what we have leftover monthly?

Erica

Dear Erica,

If you're talking about back taxes, I'd say pay them now. You don't want to play around with the IRS, because they can really mess you up if they decide they're coming for you.

But if you're talking about taxes for 2019, I'd go ahead and include them in your debt snowball. If you need to move them up in your debt snowball in order to pay them on time, that's fine. Whatever you do, don't pay them late. Sit down together, and lay out a game plan that includes paying your taxes—and all your other debts—on time!

¿Qué es Honestidad para usted?

La CONSECUENCIA MÁS DOLOROSA es cuando las personas pierden la confianza por mentiroso o mentirosa. La verdad siempre flotará como madero en el agua. ¿Conoce usted alguien así? Lo invito a leer más sobre la deshonestidad.

“Las personas deshonestas suelen tener un sinfín de problemas en su entorno, carecen de autoestima, se valoran muy poco y carecen de responsabilidad”.

Como HONESTIDAD se designa la cualidad de honesto. Como tal, hace referencia a un conjunto de atributos personales, como la decencia, el pudor, la dignidad, la sinceridad, la justicia, la rectitud y la honradez en la forma de ser y de actuar. La palabra proviene del latín honestitas, honestitātis.

La honestidad es un valor moral fundamental para entablar relaciones interpersonales basadas en la confianza, la sinceridad y el respeto mutuo. Veamos también:

- Valores
- Valores morales

Una persona que actúa con HONESTIDAD lo hace siempre apoyada en valores como la verdad y la justicia, y no antepone a estos sus propias necesidades o intereses. En este sentido, es una persona apegada a un código de conducta caracterizado por la rectitud, la probidad y la honradez.

La HONESTIDAD verdadera permea todos los aspectos de la vida de una persona: se manifiesta socialmente, pero también en el entorno íntimo del individuo y en su vida interior. Esto quiere decir que la honestidad es tanto exterior como interior, en vista de lo cual debe ser un comportamiento coherente, donde las acciones del individuo sean consecuentes con lo que piensa, dice y predica.

En una PERSONA HONESTA, incluso los actos más pequeños están regidos por la honestidad. Informarle al vendedor que se ha equivocado a nuestro favor con el cambio, devolverle al anciano el billete que se le acaba de caer sin notarlo, cumplir con nuestras obligaciones aun cuando nadie nos vaya a gratificar por ello, vigilar nuestras palabras en la medida en que estas puedan herir o afectar a terceros, guardar discreción ante aquello que lo amerite, ser prudentes en el manejo de nuestros recursos tanto económicos como personales, asumir la responsabilidad de nuestros errores, rectificar y corregir cuando sea necesario, ser leales y transparentes en nuestras relaciones con los otros; todo ello no es sino una breve enumeración del largo catálogo de acciones donde podemos manifestar activamente nuestra honestidad.

Un rasgo típico de las personas deshonestas es que se preocupan extremadamente por el criterio u opinión social y suelen no aceptar culpas o errores, responsabilizando a otros de sus culpas.

En este sentido, UN INDIVIDUO SOCIALMENTE HONESTO se mantiene apegado a los principios del buen obrar en todos los actos que constituyen su interacción con los demás: en el trabajo, en el tráfico, en su comunidad, en sus estudios, ante el Estado; asimismo lo hará en su vida más íntima, en sus relaciones afectivas, de amistad y familiares; e igualmente en su vida interior, es decir, en aquellos aspectos de su vida que no está obligado a compartir con los demás, como sus sentimientos, sus ideas, sus gustos e intereses.

“Si decimos que tenemos comunión con él, y andamos en tinieblas, mentimos, y no practicamos la verdad”. 1 Juan 1:6

Las personas honestas no tienen en mente la necesidad de agradar a todo el mundo. Les incomoda la hipocresía y por ello no dudan en practicar el único lenguaje que conocen: la sinceridad. Son leales y firmes en sus convicciones, y aunque en ocasiones resulten incómodas, son hábiles a la hora de crear vínculos fuertes y significativos con personas que merecen la pena.

Un individuo honesto, en definitiva, es ante todo honesto consigo y, por lo tanto, no se traicionará a sí mismo.

The Veterans Voice – Disability Comp 101

Our main mission in Veterans Services is the filing of Disability Compensation claims with the Department of Veterans Affairs. There are many different types of claims (direct connection, secondary, aggravation of a pre-existing condition, presumptive, etc.) that a veteran can file. The standard rules for filing a claim and the evidence you need to gather to prevail on a claim can be viewed at www.va.gov/disability/how-to-file-claim/evidence-needed. In order for a claim to prevail, you need: 1) A current physical or mental disability from a medical professional or layperson (someone who's not a trained professional), and 2) An event, injury, or disease that happened during your active-duty service, and 3) A link between your current disability and the event, injury, or disease that happened during your service. Presumptive conditions and diseases that happened many years later as a result of Agent Orange exposure or Camp Lejeune contaminated water will be discussed at another time. We strongly encourage veterans to begin by filing an informal claim called a Notice of Intent (Form 21-0966) which locks in a veterans retroactive pay date. This will give the veteran up to one full year to file their formal claim (Form 21-526EZ). In many instances it only takes a veteran 30 to 90 days to gather their evidence to file a good claim. There obviously needs to be some “There” there to prevail. We call this “Front Loading” the claim so we can make it as “Deny Proof” as feasibly possible. The saying, “Done is Better than Perfect” is true to a degree but we and the veteran really like getting approvals from the VA the first time around. Veterans who are impatient and just want to sign the dotted line and see what happens and take shortcuts in the process usually receive the quickest decisions from the VA – a letter of denial. They will then go through a lengthy appeals process (three to six years on average and some even longer). The more difficult to prove claims may require a medical specialist in their respective field to write a nexus letter and provide their curriculum vitae (a brief account of a person's education, qualifications, and previous experience, typically sent with a job application – an enhanced resume). The specialist needs to provide sound medical rationale for their conclusions and the VA wants to know the credentials of the specialist writing the nexus opinion. VA rules are very clear, “Whoever writes the superior medical nexus opinion prevails.” Local private medical specialists who want to assist their patient/veteran with the claims process should view www.militarydisabilitymadeeasy.com. We also provide this website to veterans so they know how to explain their current claimed issues to a VA doctor at a Compensation and Pension (C&P) exam. The best power point presentation I have seen to date that we provide to local medical specialists wanting to help veterans with this task was presented by Veterans Law Judge Vito A. Clementi at www.va.gov/OGC/docs/Vet_Law_Clementi.pdf.

Lee Lull is the Veterans Affairs Administrator for Berrien County. He has served in that position since May 2012. You can contact Berrien County Veterans Services at (269) 983-7111 Ext. 8224, via e-mail at veterans@berriencounty.org or visit their website at www.berriencounty.org/veterans.

Our Real Fake Vacation Luncheons

Stuart

Sorry to spring this on you, but I may have run out of things to say about moving No.2 son to California!

I firmly reserve the right to return to that topic in future columns! For now, in order not to decelerate your California dreamin' too suddenly, I herewith dredge up a column I wrote years ago about California. Ummm, well, it's sort of about California. Here goes!:

Once, on a spring break trip to Orlando, Florida, we lunched twice in San Francisco!

Okay, it was a faux, romanticized version of San Francisco, specifically the Fisherman's Wharf area. But hey, this sort of thing passes for "authentic" in Orlando. (Which is a city that could easily have a serious inferiority complex. Think about it: Travel the world over and you'll never find a faux, romanticized version of Orlando, Florida.)

Our first Bay Area dining experience was at Universal Studios, at a place called Lombard's Seafood Grille. I thought the name was kind of recognizable; I've been to San Fran (which the natives NEVER call it, I'm told) a couple times, and eaten in restaurants in the Fisherman's Wharf area, and thought maybe Lombard's was one. It seemed they'd very logically established a central Florida footprint.

Turns out I don't know nuthin' 'bout nuthin'. Careful perusal of one page of Google results revealed there's no "real" Lombard's Seafood Grille. That is, there's no Lombard's in the real San Francisco. Sorry, didn't mean to impugn the "real-ness" of the Lombard's in Orlando's fake San Francisco.

I suppose I thought the place sounded authentic because of Lombard Street in Frisco (another name I hear the natives NEVER use). There's a famous section of Lombard Street that's known as the crookedest street in the world. "Crooked" as in "winding" or "curvy," and not as in "Houston Astros sign-stealing."

Universal lays the faux romance on pretty thick in describing Lombard's: "You can hear the foghorns and clanging buoy bells" there, says the literature. Ummm, not so much. While the restaurant does look out over a body of water, it's merely a lagoon, with no resemblance to San Francisco Bay; the only sounds you can almost hear are the arguments of exhausted and sweaty families on the other side.

The very next day, we returned to Universal's "San Francisco" for lunch, and I should explain that it's not that we're so crazy about this section of the park but because it's not very far from the "Men in Black" ride, where you careen pell-mell through a cityscape shooting aliens with a laser-zapper-ray gun and thus saving the populace from being put on the menu at an alien version of Lombard's Seafood Grille. We rode it a LOT.

The second restaurant was a burger joint called Richter's. I kept wondering if this was a chain from California, until my kids got pointedly said, "Dad! San Francisco! Earthquakes! Richter scale! Get it?!"

I said I knew it all along, I was just testing them. I lied.

As we left, I noticed the hostess' badge identified her actual hometown as the City by the Bay. I told her someone oughta start a Richter's burger chain in old San Frisco. She gave me a tight smile and replied, "The natives NEVER call it that."

grateful for him always."

Whirlpool Vice President Jeff Noel who also helped recruit Jerry to the Arts District when he headed up Cornerstone Alliance says, "My condolences to you. Jerry was the most wonderful man, his art will always inspire people. His heart and kindness changed so many lives and his legacy will be remembered by future generations whose mom or dad were touched by the both of you." Livery Microbrewery Founder and fellow Arts District business operator Leslie Pickell says, "So grateful for Jerry. And you, Kathy. Much love to you from me and Mikey G."

Portage High School Teacher Karen Milito writes, "There is not another college professor, that I had who was on Jerry's level in my heart. He truly cared for his students and appreciated us each uniquely as we were. The years I studied with him, we were part of a tight group, brought closer by the events of 9/11. We called ourselves 'Jerry's kids' because through all of our growth as artists and teachers, he was our sensitive leader and guide. This world and my life have been changed forever because of Jerry." Derek Russell, a metal sculpting artist from Montgomery, Alabama says, "Jerry was one of the most heartwarming, genuine, salt of the earth people I have ever met. I took several classes with him while at SAIC, and he is someone who I will remember for the rest of my life. I am grateful to have met and studied with him. He will be missed. Sending good juju to you all."

Arts District Developer and neighbor Ken Ankli says, "I'm so sorry. Some people touch many lives in many ways...Jerry was one of them. I count myself very blessed to have known him."

Veteran Herald-Palladium writer Rick Ast was moved, writing, "He was a great and wonderful friend for 60 years. This is crushing news. Kathy, I am so glad you brought Jerry over earlier this month. He looked so good. And a last elbow bump that should have been a hug."

Andrea Aranki from Buffalo, New York was stunned, saying, "Oh my gosh, I was just telling someone about Waterstreet Glassworks this morning even though it's been 10 years since I was last in MI to take a class. Jerry was such an incredible teacher and such a kind soul. I'm so sorry for your loss. He will be truly missed."

Former Lakeshore School Board Member, Marc Del Mariani, writes, "Condolences from the Del Mariani family present and departed. My parents, sister Shari, Mary and our kids thought the world of Jerry and admired his talents and community accomplishments. Growing up with Jerry was a joy. From the lighting of his furnace at his dad's garage to following his being honored as an educator, an artist and a community inspiration we admired how he led his life following his passions. It was so like Jerry that in his final days he spent time thinking of others assembling his memorabilia to share again with those who shared his life."

Jerry's entire Lakeshore family will no doubt share Marc's feelings. He was a member of the Class of 1964 and was honored by the Lakeshore Excellence Foundation a decade ago as their Distinguished Alumni Award winner for 2010. After Lakeshore, Jerry earned his Bachelor of Fine Arts degree from Michigan State University in 1969, and began working in glass as a part of the experimental beginnings of the now famous Pilchuck Glass School in Stanwood, Washington.

In the summer of 1972 he was accepted to be one of 30 students to work and study glass under the direction of the world renowned Dale Chihuly and Fritz Dreisbach. It was a year later that he returned home to Michigan's Great Southwest and launched his own private glass studio, Fiasco Glass in Stevensville. He chose "fiasco" because that refers to the Italian, straw-wrapped wine bottles as well as the glass "seconds" sold in the streets. In 1985, he was invited to add a glassblowing studio to the summer art program at Ox-Bow School of Painting in Saugatuck, which now houses off-campus programs of the School of the Art Institute of Chicago. He earned his Master of Arts degree from Western Michigan University in 1989, and continued post-graduate studies at Michigan State.

In 1990, Jerry moved his studio some 35 miles north of its original location to Glenn, Michigan, still along the shores of Lake Michigan, where he worked in a 19th century barn studio and, with his wife Kathy, turned the 1860's farmhouse into Vesuvius Art Gallery. Jerry worked and taught there until 2004, when the studio relocated to Benton Harbor and became Water Street Glassworks, an anchor to the burgeoning Arts District and home to his not-for-profit school of glass and metal art.

Throughout all of that, Jerry served from 1969 to 1971 in the Peace Corps, teaching art in the West Indies when he ended up in a workshop on glass and developed a fascination with the medium that led to his never-ending love for the art of glass. He served as a public school art teacher in the Benton Harbor Area Schools for 20 years from 1969 to 1989, was an adjunct faculty member at Lake Michigan College from 1974 to 1988, and began a 30-year stretch teaching glassblowing and casting at Ox-Bow School of Art and Artists' Residency in Saugatuck, where he founded the glassblowing program.

Jerry met Kathy who started her glass career with him at Fiasco Glass and became his glassblowing assistant, colorist and teaching assistant. They married in 1991, and their creative partnership has become legendary across multiple studios including Water Street.

In 1997 as demand for glass classes grew, the Catanias were among the first investors in the Benton Harbor Arts District when they purchased the condemned 1898 Hinkley Building for $4,000. After seven years of extensive renovations, Water Street Glassworks opened its doors in January of 2004 for classes, hosting students from Southwestern Michigan College, the School of the Art Institute of Chicago, and through a partnership with the Krasl Art Center.

The Catanias also shared their passion for glass with area youth through FIRED UP!, an after-school program designed to impact the lives of Benton Harbor teens through the medium of glass. Since its inception in 2004, FIRED UP! has garnered recognition and funding, including being ranked among the nation's top 50 after-school programs in 2009. In a "full-circle" turn of events, Eli Zilke, a FIRED UP! graduate, returned to Water Street Glassworks late in 2018 as core glass instructor and studio manager, allowing Jerry to fully retire from teaching glass.

Jerry's handiwork is resplendent at the Jack Nicklaus Golf Club at Harbor Shores where he collaborated with metal artist Josh Andres to hand craft eighteen uniquely individual tee markers dedicated to the 18 major victories in Nicklaus' legendary career. In his biography, Jerry described his work as, "One-of-a-kind vessel forms that are narrative or decorative in nature, limited edition functional stemware and sand-cast glass/mixed-media sculptures." He added, "I like to let glass do what it does best — display its wonderful optical and fluid properties, using the medium to communicate ideas and intrigue my audience."

For a recent show at Anna Russo Sieber's ARS Gallery nearby in the Benton Harbor Arts District, Jerry was even more descriptive, saying, "The paradox of glass as a material — its fragility and transparency juxtaposed with its hardness and density, finds its way into may work as metaphors: ambiguity, irony, symbolism and insight. The metaphors are points of departure from which I compose visual narratives that express these themes — in both realistic and abstract forms. I follow a tradition of reducing the figure to an artistic symbol as a way to understand the unknown and to influence future events."

If there is one thing that Mr. Jerry Catania did with his life, in many incredible ways, it was to influence future events, for which we are all eternally grateful. Unfortunately, in this time of limited social contact due to the pandemic, we won't be able to turn out in what would have been a truly spectacular fashion to honor Jerry's life until sometime down the road. Kathy Catania says, "In a 1975 interview, Jerry offered up a quote that still reflects his personal philosophy today: 'Life is a piece of art; live creatively.'" She adds, "As his partner in life, as well as art, I can wholeheartedly say that he has done exactly that." Indeed he did, and he will be sorely missed.

If you've ever had the opportunity to peruse the traditional list of nominees for the United Way of Southwest Michigan's Volunteer United Youth Scholarship Award you've likely found your head spinning trying to figure out how they do it all. There have been some impressive winners over the years, and the team at United Way is hoping that's the case again this year. Right now United Way of SWM is seeking nominations for the Volunteer United Youth Scholarship Award for 2020. That award recognizes one self-nominated winner from each of the three counties in the Tri-County area of Berrien, Cass, and Van Buren, who has demonstrated a commitment to volunteerism through innovation, dedication, and advocacy for community improvement throughout their high school career. Winners will be recognized in the fall of 2020. Each winner will receive a $1,500 scholarship made out to their college on their behalf. Only current high-school seniors are eligible to apply. Debbie Ramirez, Volunteer Engagement Director at United Way of Southwest Michigan, says, "When a young person shows a commitment to helping others early in life, that's an indication of future success, and it benefits all of us in the community to support that person so they can continue to grow and contribute as they move into adulthood," and adds,

"We encourage all high-school seniors in Southwest Michigan who volunteer their time to apply, and we look forward to giving back to those youth leaders who give so much of themselves." Applications are due by May 31, 2020. High-school seniors can apply at www.uwsm.org/nominate-a-volunteer.

That's it for this week, folks. Enjoy your Memorial Day Weekend responsibly by social distancing and playing it safe. We'll see you again Saturday right here in MailMax, and 24/7 at www.MoodyOnTheMarket.com.
