Baby Talk

What your baby would tell you if he could talk:

1. I have my blankie, you have your caffeine. Enough said.
2. Don't be jealous, but I think I'm in love with the ceiling fan.
3. I know where the remote control is, but it'll cost you.
4. To you, it's just an empty egg carton; to me it's PlayStation 4.
5. Actually, I don't mind sitting in a bathtub that I've peed in.
6. Bang a screwdriver slowly and steadily into your gums. That's what teething feels like.
7. Two words I'd rather not hear from you: rectal thermometer.
8. There's no point in teaching me to say "mama" or "dada." My first word is going to be "hat."
9. I've told you five times what cow says. If you can't remember, I'm not telling you again.

10. There is no question that I can cry longer than you can listen.

11. I'm not just wildly throwing my food. I'm exploring the laws of gravity, estimating mass, and testing wind velocity.

12. If you wanted a good sleeper, you should have gotten a cat.

13. Who's that baby in the mirror you keep asking me about?

14. If my bottom is so darn cute, why is someone always trying to cover it up?

15. Who are you two to tell me how important it is to sleep alone?

16. What you secretly believe is true: I am much smarter than other babies.

A neighbor suggested I put horse manure on my strawberries. Tasted horrible! I'm sticking with whipped cream!

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) A plan you've kept on hold for a long time finally could be greenlighted. But in typical Aries form, you'll need to be sure that everything is in place before you hit the "start" button.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Others might urge you to act more quickly on your ideas. But you'd be wise to follow your Bovine instincts and get more facts to bolster your position when you finally present it.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) You might be tempted to accept the well-meaning offer of a friend to act as an intermediary in a dispute. But you know best what it's about, and you can handle the challenge. Good luck.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Entertainment can play an important role this week. Enjoy some well-earned diversion with people you care about. Something especially wonderful might come from this well-spent time.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Catnaps and playtime are in order for Leos and Leonas who need to take some time off from their hectic schedules to restore their energies and rebuild their mental muscles. Have fun.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Virgos will need to keep an open mind this week about choices that seem improbable. A closer study might well reveal possibilities that might have been overlooked. Stay with it.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) A disappointing outcome of a well-intentioned effort should be seen as a lesson in how to do it right the next time. Note all your changes and have your new plan set up by week's end.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Creative projects might have to go on standby as you tackle other matters making demands on your time and energy. Things should ease by the middle of next week.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Your honest approach to an unsettling experience draws admiration from others. Use their positive feedback to build support for your program to introduce needed changes.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) A workplace goal that suddenly seems out of reach is no problem for the sure-footed Goat, who moves steadily forward despite any obstacles placed in his or her way.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A job-related situation could provide an opportunity you hadn't considered before. Look it over carefully and see where and how you can tailor it to fit your needs.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Showing strength as well as sympathy helps you deal with a difficult personal matter. It also helps you set an example for others when it's their turn to get involved in the situation.

BORN THIS WEEK: You have a way of making people feel comfortable without losing one whit of your own dignity in the process.

22 MPH

One Sunday, sitting on the side of the highway waiting to catch speeding drivers, a State Police Officer sees a car pattering along at 22 MPH.

He thinks to himself, "This driver is just as dangerous as a speeder!" So he turns on his lights and pulls the driver over.

Approaching the car, he notices that there are five old ladies - two in the front seat and three in the back - wide eyed and white as ghosts. The driver, obviously confused, says to him, "Officer, I don't understand, I was doing exactly the speed limit! I always go exactly the speed limit. What seems to be the problem?"

"Ma'am," the officer replies, "you weren't speeding, but you should know that driving significantly slower than the speed limit can also be a danger to other drivers."

"Slower than the speed limit? No sir, I was doing the speed limit exactly! Twenty-two miles an hour!" the old woman says a bit proudly.

The State Police officer, trying to contain a chuckle explains to her that "22" was the route number, not the speed limit.

A bit embarrassed, the woman grinned and thanked the officer for pointing out her error.

"But before I let you go, Ma'am, I have to ask . . . Is everyone in this car OK? These women seem awfully shaken and they haven't muttered a single peep this whole time," the officer asks with concern.

"Oh, they'll be all right in a minute officer. We just got off Route 119."

PIEDMONT PETS
June 8, 2020
By Paulette Dean

A few years ago, we received a call from a person who was concerned about a dog that was in a backyard. When we visited with the owner, he confirmed that the dog had been in a dog lot for 15 years, with no relief except for the two times he had escaped.

"That's so sad," escaped my lips before I even knew it. He agreed it may seem sad, but he said he fed and watered the dog every day.

The lot was homemade and small. What was the most disturbing was that mattresses and other items had been attached to the pen, so the dog had no view of the outside world. His entire world consisted of the small area inside the lot. There was no gate, and no way for anyone to enter the lot. Even his view of the sky was obscured by trees. He, of course, was not socialized.

We recognized the empty, hopeless look in his eyes. We had seen the same look in a cat that had been kept for many years in a rabbit hunch that was surrounded by plastic. We had seen the same look in a dog that had never been off a chain for twelve years, wearing down a perfect circle in the ground about a foot deep. These are the animals who have given up on life, and the only reason they weren't dead is that their hearts kept beating.

The law can require pet owners to provide minimum standards of physical care. However, the law cannot force pet owners to love their animals nor can it require them to spend time enriching the lives of the animals.

When pet owners use the thought of "What is the minimum that is required of me?" as a yardstick for their success in pet ownership, that is simply not good enough for the animals.

The dog that had been in the small lot for 15 years was released to us. Not surprisingly, he had heartworm disease. His health and behavioral issues could not be overcome. We took comfort in the reality that heaven is filled with green pastures and only good things for that dog, and for all other animals.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Lucie Winborne

* Following the BP oil spill in the Gulf of Mexico, thousands of hairstylists and alpaca farmers donated over 19 warehouses worth of cut hair to help absorb the spilled oil.

* Los Angeles' full name is "El Pueblo Nuestra Senora la Reina de los Angeles de Porciuncula," or "Town of Our Lady the Queen of Angels of the River Porciuncula." Now you know why people usually just call it "L.A."

* Sex expert Dr. Ruth was trained as a sniper by the Israeli military.

* Looking for the perfect gift for the object of your affection? How about a toilet seat? Don't laugh -- that's what Ben Affleck gave Jennifer Lopez when the two were a hot item. Of course, this particular "throne" cost $105,000 and was covered in diamonds, rubies and sapphires!

* Astronaut Neil Armstrong threatened legal action against his barber for selling his hair to a collector for $3,000.

* The Benguet of northwestern Philippines blindfold their dead and place them next to the main entrance of the house.

* Mr. and Mrs. Curry, of New York City, got married inside a 120,000-gallon shark tank. The bride wore a white wetsuit and the groom wore black, saying their "I do's" while circled by different types of sharks and eels. Both were experienced divers but had to broadcast their vows to the wedding officiant, family and friends, since (unsurprisingly) none of them possessed equal nerve to enter the tank.

* Jewish diarist and Holocaust victim Anne Frank was posthumously baptized "by proxy" into Mormonism at least nine times.

* Boxer Mike Tyson once bribed a zoo worker to open the attraction for just him and his wife. During the visit, he also tried to bribe an attendant to let him fight a gorilla. The employee said no. (One wonders who would have won.)

Thought for the Day: "So long as we are loved by others I should say that we are almost indispensable; and no man is useless while he has a friend."
-- Robert Louis Stevenson

* "It's easy to get the stains out of coffee mugs without using a harsh cleaner. Try a little bit of baking soda on a sponge for scrubbing, then rinse with a little bit of vinegar to foam out the smell. I have been able to bring back mugs that looked terrible!" -- Y.S. in California

* Use a lint roller to remove dust from a lampshade with fabric that is flat but textured. If your lampshade has pleats, your best bet is a clean soft paintbrush.

* "I have perfectly timed the fabric softener cycle on my washing machine. I set a timer for 23 minutes, and it's just the right time to add liquid softener. Just saying that this has greatly enhanced the quality of my life, because my clothes feel softer and smell nice." -- L.B. in Georgia

* Here's another laundry tip: "Can you believe I miss washing my daughter's white softball pants because spring season was canceled? If you have a kid playing sports in white pants -- why? -- get a bar of Fels Naptha soap. You just rub it into the stained spots, and launder. It takes out grass and clay. It should be issued with the uniform for turf sports." -- M.

* A work from home, or work anywhere tip: If you are having trouble focusing, it might be because you are avoiding a difficult task. If there's a dreaded task on your to-do list, tackle it first. Even if you can't get it completed, you'll make progress and it will make everything else seem easy by comparison.

* Lemons and limes last longer in the cooler. Say that three times fast, and stick your citrus in the fridge!

HOLLYWOOD
by Tony Rizzo

HOLLYWOOD — An open letter to Stephen Colbert (CBS), Jimmy Fallon (NBC) and Jimmy Kimmel (ABC): People need to laugh and forget the politics and pandemics of the day, and you guys seem to have forgotten how to tell funny stories about life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness to transport us to funnier places. Jokes, quotes and clips from press conferences we see 24/7 on MSNBC and CNN don't cut it. Your monologues used to transport us from the troubles and the traumas of the day, but all you do lately is build on what we're trying to escape from.

BBC America

Graham Norton

Thank heavens for BBC America and its London-based chat show host, Graham Norton. Usually he offers a bitingly funny monologue, five superstar guests — such as Tom Cruise, Renee Zellweger, Brad Pitt, Tom Hanks and Harrison Ford — liquored up and sitting together on his couch, more relaxed than any celebrities on any American talk show. He has a singing star who performs then joins the stars on the couch. Then, a real person, sitting in a red chair tells what they think is a funny story. Sometimes the host, or one of the guests, pulls a lever that flips the storyteller out of the chair, or if the story is good they allow them to walk.

has the upcoming sci-fi film "Chaos Walking," with Daisy Ridley, Tom Holland and Mads Mikkelsen (due next January), followed by the graphic novel-based thriller "The Blacksmith," with Laurence Fishburne.

While Stephen and the two Jimmys are doing their shows from home, they still have a monologue, interview stars (in their homes) and sometimes have a musical guest. Somehow the absence of a live audience diminishes the impact of their monologues and interviews. Norton has dispensed with the monologue and goes straight to funny and insightful chats with his big-name guests, at home. He has eliminated the musical guest's song and ends with several red chair stories. Now, that's entertainment!

Broadway may be closed, but if "Some Like It Hot," with Tony Curtis, Jack Lemmon and Marilyn Monroe, is one of your favorite films, you'll love the new planned musical (in 2021), with book and lyrics by Marc Shaiman and Scott Williams (who wrote the NBC series "Smash" and "Hairspray"). They'll attempt to improve on "Sugar," the 1972 Broadway musical (505 performances), with Robert Morse (in Tony Curtis' role), Tony Roberts (in Jack Lemmon's role) and Elaine Joyce (as Sugar), with music and lyrics by Julie Styne and Bob Merrill, who collaborated on "Funny Girl." Casting is key, they'll need more than "Hairspray" to pull this off!

DAHS Accepting Scholarship Applications for 2020 Awards

Danville, Va., June 16, 2020 — The Danville Area Humane Society (DAHS) is accepting applications for the two scholarships it launched in partnership with local families last year.

The first award, named for Margot Mayhew of Gretna, was created by her grandson, Bobby Allen Roach, to honor her during her final stages of glioblastoma brain cancer before passing away on May 2, 2019. The scholarship totals $500 and is funded through family donations and the DAHS. The Margot Richter Mayhew Scholarship for Professional Studies will be awarded to a Pittsylvania County student who plans to pursue a career helping animals. Primary consideration will be given to a student who will study at a college or university in the Dan River region.

“My family and I continue to be so grateful for the tremendous generosity of Paulette Dean and the Danville Area Humane Society,” Roach said. “What DAHS does for our community often goes unrecognized, but so many lives—animals and people—are made better for the humane society’s exhaustive efforts. Coping with the terrible loss of my grandmother, I feel supported by DAHS and Paulette, and I am glad that Noni’s legacy continues through this award.”

The $500 scholarship will be awarded annually to a resident of Pittsylvania County.

“The scholarship would not be possible without the generosity of the Danville Area Humane Society and Paulette Dean,” Roach said. “Their support through a 100 percent match of our family’s annual contribution reinforces what I have always known about DAHS: They are caring and loving to both people and animals. We were blessed to be able to tell my grandmother about the scholarship while she was alive and could understand, and she was so honored and so happy that she, as an immigrant from Germany who didn’t speak fluent English when she moved to the United States, would be known for making education more accessible for the community that she loved so dearly. Knowing that the scholarship brought such joy and comfort to her in her final days means more to me and my family than words could ever accurately convey. We thank the Danville Area Humane Society for making this possible and for all that they do to make the lives of animals in our community better, safer, and happier.”

The second scholarship, which will be awarded to a student living in the City of Danville, was also created last year in memory of Barbara S. Smith. The Barbara S. Smith Scholarship for Animal Welfare Studies fund was established by the daughter of Smith, Hilary Wyatt.

Smith was born in Roanoke, Virginia, and raised in Portsmouth, Virginia. She moved to Danville to study at Danville Technical Institute. After graduating from there, she went to work at Corning Glass Works, Inc., where she worked until her retirement after 41 years. Smith was a member of the Danville Charter Chapter of American Business Women’s Association. During her time with the ABWA, she strongly supported their scholarship funds for women pursuing a higher education.

Smith’s daughter, Hilary Wyatt, was employed by the Danville Area Humane Society as the shelter manager and currently serves as on the board of directors. Wyatt said, “The thought of my mother’s love for education and young people continuing with this scholarship fund warms my heart. The mission of the Danville Area Humane Society has always been dear to my family. The time I spent as a kennel attendant, assistance manager, and shelter manager will always be one of the favorite times of my life. The work of an open-admission shelter is often misunderstood and criticized; however, I know from personal experience that it is compassionate, needed service to the animals.”

Paulette Dean, executive director, said “The Danville Area Humane Society is thrilled with our two scholarship funds. The Barbara S. Smith Scholarship for Animal Welfare Studies will award $500 to a Danville resident every year and the Margot Richter Mayhew Scholarship for Professional Studies will award $500 to a Pittsylvania County resident every year. Donations made be made via PayPal or mailing a check to P.O. Box 3352, Danville, VA 24543.”

Scholarship application forms are available on the DAHS website at dahsinc.com, or can be requested via e-mail at dahsinc@yahoo.com, or can be picked up at the animal shelter. The deadline for submissions is June 30, 2020.

For more information about DAHS, visit www.dahsinc.com.

Danville, VA - During these uncertain times, health is on nearly everyone’s mind. The Commonwealth of Virginia is taking action to fight COVID-19 and to improve access to the healthcare you and your family need. Virginia’s Medicaid/FAMIS programs cover comprehensive health and mental health services, including testing and treatment for COVID-19.

Local Outreach Workers, Francina Jones and Linda Williams, at Danville-Pittsylvania Community Services, provide free, no touch 1:1 assistance to anyone who wants to learn about, apply for, or renew Medicaid/FAMIS coverage.

Between March 14 and May 16, 2020, the first 2 months of the COVID-19 pandemic, 8,363 new unemployment claims were filed in Danville and Pittsylvania County. More than half (57%) of these area residents who lost their jobs are now eligible for Virginia Medicaid. It is projected that by January 2021, 71% of Virginians uninsured due to COVID-19 loss of health coverage will be Medicaid-eligible.

Even those who have been denied in the past may now qualify.

Current monthly income and family size are the only criteria used to evaluate financial eligibility for this comprehensive insurance coverage, available to Virginians under age 65. For example, the following individuals would be eligible for coverage:

- Single adult Virginians with a monthly income up to $1,469 (annual income up to $17,609).
- Adults in a household of three with a monthly income of $2,499 (annual income up to $29,974).
- Children in families earning up to $2,680 for a family of three (annual income up to $38,776).

Home, land, and retirement savings do not count as income when determining your Medicaid/FAMIS eligibility. COVID-19 stimulus checks (Economic Impact Payments from the IRS), and the $600 in additional federal unemployment also do not count as income and will not affect your eligibility.

Medicaid/FAMIS coverage starts on the first day of the month in which you apply, so do not delay in applying for the coverage you have earned.

Ms. Jones and Ms. Williams are committed to working safely during this health emergency and provide all application assistance following social distancing guidelines. And, they make sure the Medicaid/FAMIS application process goes as smoothly as possible, every step of the way.

These two helpful Outreach Workers are part of a special initiative of the Virginia Health Care Foundation (VHCF) in partnership with the Tobacco Region Revitalization Commission and the Danville Regional Foundation.

VHCF was initiated by the General Assembly and its Joint Commission on Health Care in 1992 as a public/private partnership with a mission to increase access to primary health care for uninsured and medically underserved Virginians. Since its inception, it has funded 430 community-based projects across the Commonwealth, and its programs and partnerships have touched the lives of more than 700,000 uninsured Virginians.

A Tribute to My Son

A Walk Alone

It is Tuesday night and my boy has not come home. He is always here on his day off from work, but where did he go? The next day I repeatedly called and texted him but never received an answer. I called family to help me locate him, yet, to no avail. So I go to the police. They locate his car on the cul-de-sac where his deceased mother's abandoned house was located. The detective did not want me to be alone because he thought Charlie might be found nearby the old house.

The next few hours were far worse than a nightmare. With my emotions all over the place, I figured, if the police called me, everything would be okay, but if a car came into the driveway then dreaded news awaited. Every time a car sped past my house, I labored to breathe, while walking the floors repeating the words, "Charlie is okay. He has to be okay."

The police stopped the search for Charlie that night because of the hard rain and continued first thing the next morning. I could not stay at home, so I went to the site where he was believed to be. What I heard next was, "We have found your boy. He has what it appears to be a self-inflicted gunshot wound to the head." I looked at my sister, Teresa, and said, "This is really a dream, right? It is time to wake up. This is not happening". However, I was awake and that which I had feared had come upon me. As I typed these gut-wrenching words, a cold sweat suddenly struck and I walked away.

People say, "I do not know how you feel. I can only imagine." I have not ever felt this alone, this empty, this abandoned, not ever. I feel sick all the time. Just sick. I hate going home, hate seeing his room, his car, the dog he loved. And I hate looking at any picture of my precious boy. Food tastes like saw dust, yet I force myself eat to keep from getting sick. A part of me just wants to run as fast as I can, but I have nowhere to go.

I walked up to his casket at the cemetery thinking how very much I craved for things to be different. Charlie, what did you do? Baby boy, you are in that box and I want to pull you out and tell you everything is going to be alright, and I know this too is much bigger than me and there is no fixing it. He is gone forever in this life and I will never see him again until Heaven.

Some days I'm sort of numb. On other days I pick up the grief and deal with it. I process what I can one day at a time, one moment at a time. Grief is no stranger to some. Yet, as soldiers of the cross, we do not grieve as those who have no hope. Even in the center of my aching, I feel the prayers of others pouring over me like warm hugs in this cold, cold season of the heart. Even in this knowing, a chaos exists that tosses me about like the wind. I'm never knowing from which direction it blows. How can one feel so lost, yet know I am so blessed. I do not ask for another blessing, I have had too much bestowed on me. God is a good and loving, wonderful Father. I know Charlie is in His hands and he no longer hurts any more.

In my pain, I'm asking you to celebrate Charlie by reaching out to other hurting kids. Show them what we all know to be life. There is always hope. God is closer than a brother and a great help in time of need. We are all loved with an everlasting love. This thing called life is eternal. It is not over. Our hope is in our heavenly Father.

Charlie, til we meet again. I will never, ever forget you. Thank you for allowing me to father you. I am sorry that I could not make the pains of your heart go away. Your wounds were too deep. Until later, I leave you in God's care.

Home Security Tips As We Open Back Up After Covid-19 Confinement

Securing your premises

After being at home so long some may have fallen out of the habit of locking doors, windows and setting the alarm system. Or, is it time to look around to review your current security system and see if there are needs that have become apparent? Have you thought about all your entrances? Any entrance into your property should have a smart locking system that automatically locks when you turn your security system on. Many burglaries aren't forced entries, the intruders just come through unlocked unarmed doors or windows.

Be cautious of exposure on Social Media

We are all ready to socialize and get out of the house, but don't post a trip on Social Media while you are away. Letting strangers know your whereabouts while away is another way of telling them your home is unoccupied and vulnerable.

Don't invite a thief in with your Extra Key

After installing smart locks and a security system, don't hide a spare door key outside. Your home security is compromised when someone finds out about its "secret" location. Thieves will look under flower pots, door mats, over ledges, and under that special rock, and all the other obvious places that we typically use. If you're using smart locks, you don't need to leave a spare key outside.

Look Who's Knocking

Installing a camera at your doors lets you check out whose knocking and gives you time to determine the next action. Having a visual of your doors can be a great way to see any unwanted guests.

Light up the area

Put up a set of outdoor motion-sensor lights near the front door, garage, alleyways or dark areas. Burglars tend to want to stay out of brightly lit areas. These lights are affordable and units can be synced together or used separately. They can run off batteries or be wired.

Don't invite a thief!

Keep valuables such as high-end electronics, jewelry, or any valuables away from easy window visibility. Hedges, shrubs, and fencing provides excellent places for crooks to hide while checking out your property for security vulnerabilities. Cut back bushes, trim hedges, and limb trees so that all entrances are visible.

If security has been on your mind now that we are opening back up give your local home security provider a call for an assessment of your home and property.

Go Ahead, Make His Day

Dad-approved gifts for Father's Day

FAMILY FEATURES

An entire day dedicated to dear ol' dad may not be enough to show the depths of your appreciation, but a hug, a heartfelt thanks and some quality time (even from afar) are great places to start.

When it comes to giving gifts for Father's Day, practical and purposeful gifts are high on most dads' lists. Think about his favorite things to eat and the ways he spends his coveted down time. A gift that celebrates the things that matter most to him is sure to earn dad's gratitude.

Find more ideas to make it a Father's Day to remember at eLivingtoday.com.

Special Steaks to Celebrate Dad

Father's Day gifting can be pretty simple: Many dads want a delicious steak. Give him a collection of tender cuts with the Filet for Father's Day package from Omaha Steaks, which includes four 7-ounce Butcher's Cut Filet Mignons, eight 6-ounce brisket burgers, four 3-ounce gourmet jumbo franks, four 2.88-ounce potatoes au gratin, four 4-ounce individual New York cheesecakes and a 3.1-ounce jar of signature seasoning. Find more meal ideas for dad at omahasteaks.com.

A Sharp Gift for Dad

A knife is only as good as the sharpness of its blade. This Father's Day, get dad a helpful tool to keep his knives wicked sharp. Made from high-quality materials, the Wicked Edge GO knife sharpener is easy to use for both new and veteran knife sharpeners and can accommodate a wide variety of knives. With guided angle control, dad can get professional-level results every time. Learn more at wickededgeusa.com.

Supplies He'll Auto-matically Enjoy

If tinkering in the garage is dad's favorite pastime, give him an excuse to spend even more time with a project that proves he's passing the hours productively. A collection of car detailing supplies lets him buff and shine his ride to perfection. Be sure to include products that let him spruce things up inside and out, and throw in an extra touch like a personalized travel mug that will keep on giving well after Father's Day has passed.

Gear to Go Fishing

Even the most avid fishermen can typically use more gear. From replenishing the tackle box with fresh supplies to a new rod he can use to reel in a real catch, gift dad with items that let him hang out a "gone fishing" sign and enjoy some time on the water. If he's an extra-avid sportsman, be sure to also check out the wide variety of tech-enabled locators that give him a little nudge to boost his chances for a successful day.

A Ladder for Dad's Jobs

As a 3-in-1 ladder that easily converts to stepladder, extension and leaning configurations, the Little Giant King Kombo gives you the perfect tool for nearly any job. A rotating wall pad lets you safely lean your ladder on inside and outside corners, walls and 2-by-4-inch studs. Made from lightweight, non-conductive fiberglass, you can safely work around electricity, and the IAA 375-pound weight rating makes the ladder sturdy enough for the job. Homeless Veterans and the Coronavirus

A recent Department of Veterans Affairs press release describes a new initiative asking the public to "provide emergency relief and facilitate remote access to health care for Veterans who are homeless or at risk of homelessness during the COVID-19 pandemic." Specifically the VA is asking for non-perishables, cellphones and cash for security deposits. Really? Back in February, VA Secretary Robert Wilkie turned down money when asked if the VA needed more to deal with the coronavirus problem. Yes, you read that right. He turned down money. Granted, in February maybe it wasn't clear to Wilkie just how bad it was going to get, but he assured those at the budget meeting that they were good to go because they train for emergencies. A month later the VA had to get $60 million in emergency help, followed by nearly $20 billion a week later. That money was spread out over a long wish list, including IT, construction, mobile treatment ... and yes, homeless veterans. On a given day, there are an estimated 100,000 homeless veterans on the street. For those who are ready to whip out a credit card to help, go online to the eDonate site at www.volunteer.va.gov/apps/VolunteerNow. Find your state and the facility you'd like to support. Be sure to include a note that says you want the money to go to support homeless veterans. If you want to donate household supplies to help get a veteran set up in living accommodations, or a cell phone, contact the Voluntary Service office at the VA closest to you. To find it, go here: www.volunteer.va.gov/directory/index.asp. And yes, I did donate a hefty amount to the eDonate site. After all, it's for our homeless brothers and sisters. But I still want to know why Wilkie turned down that money. On the day he said that, there already were 80,000 cases of coronavirus around the world and in six U.S. states. Everyone knew what was coming.
