

Taylor's Film About Lange

SHEFFIELD— The Ritz Cinema Society and the Southern Circuit Tour of Independent Film Makers present one of the 20th century's influential documentary photographers, Dorothea Lange, as told through the eyes of her granddaughter, five-time Emmy award-winning director, Dyanna Taylor.

Lange was born in 1895 in Hoboken, N.J. She overcame personal challenges and physical disability and went on to document the human experience with her photography. Lange captured images from the Great Depression such as "White Angel Breadline," "The Migrant Mother," "Ditched, Stalled and Stranded" and others, like those of WWII, "Manzanar War Relocation Camp" which documented the internment of Japanese Americans. Central to her practice was the technique of making herself invisible to her subjects.

"Grab a Hunk of Lightning" will screen at 7pm on Friday, February 19 at the Ritz Theatre at 111 W. Third St. in Sheffield. The film will be followed by a Q&A with director Dyanna Taylor.

Tickets are $8 for adults and $7 for students and association members. They are available at the Tennessee Valley Museum of Art, 256-383-0533, ritztheatre.ticketleap and at the door. For more information please contact the TVAA at 256-383-0533 or visit tvaa.net.

ECM Earns Gold Seal

FLORENCE - Eliza Coffee Memorial Hospital recently announced that it earned the Joint Commission's Gold Seal of Approval® and the American Heart Association/American Stroke Association's Heart-Check mark for Advanced Certification for Primary Stroke Center. The Gold Seal of Approval® and the Heart-Check mark represent symbols of quality from their respective organizations.

ECM underwent a rigorous onsite review in December as Joint Commission experts evaluated compliance with stroke-related standards and requirements, including program management, the delivery of clinical care, and performance improvement. "We congratulate ECM Hospital for achieving this designation," said Nancy Brown, chief executive officer, the American Heart Association/American Stroke

The Kiss

Students Read 1000 Books...

KILLEN -A January reading challenge was issued to the students at Legacy Christian Academy in Killen. If the 64 students, K4-6th grade combined read 1000 books, the new principal, Laurie Wilson, would kiss a pig. In only twenty school days, they were successful. Parents and students gathered to watch Wilson kiss the pig February 2.

Wilson is in her first year as the

BAKER'S SAVINGS

My family loves my cookies, so I bake often. I realized that I could reuse the parchment paper on my cookie sheets. I just roll the parchment paper up and put it into an empty paper towel roll to keep it neat. - Celeste

HEALTH SAVINGS ACCOUNTS

I was talking with our HR representative when she reminded me that I hadn't listed a beneficiary on my Health Savings Account. I didn't know that if I died, my wife (who is my beneficiary) doesn't get taxed if she assumes ownership of the account. - Wil

SCRATCH AND DENT SAVINGS

We recently purchased our first home. We needed to buy appliances but didn't want to run up our credit card balance. So we visited a local scratch and dent store. We found a fridge and stove that had dents on the side that's hidden in our kitchen.

We did have to pay full price for the dishwasher, but still scored a big savings! - Selena

TEETHING PUPPY CHEWS

My puppy was teething and chewing on everything. My vet suggested that I take an old kitchen towel, wet it thoroughly, wring it out, and put it in a zipper baggie in the freezer. When frozen, it's hard enough for puppy to chew on and the cold helps soothe any teething pain. It won't stay frozen long, so it needs to be rotated with two or three others. - Burt

TOO MUCH INFO

As a Facebook junkie, I love it when people comment on my posts or poke me, but after a friend had her identity stolen, I started wondering about all that personal information I post online. I decided it was wise to remove my address and birthdate from the profile. It's nice getting birthday wishes, but not if it helps someone trying to steal my identity. - Melinda

Ryerson & Associates, DMD at 1013 E. Avalon Ave. in Muscle Shoals is offering free dentistry at their office to the Shoals community in observance of Valentine's Day. "Dentistry from the Heart" will be performed from 7am-5pm on Friday February 12. It will include a choice of one: cleanings, fillings, and extractions - at no charge on a first come, first serve basis. Dr. James A. Ryerson, Dr. Derek Weigand and other assisting doctors will see as many patients as time allows, so only the immediate need of each person will be ministered to. Patients will, however, be given a health report telling them if more problems exist and if they need to see their general dentist or a specialist. "Dentistry from the Heart" is designed to give those that don't have dental insurance or can't afford treatment an opportunity to be treated without worrying about the cost.

Association. "By adhering to this very specific set of treatment guidelines, ECM has clearly made it a priority to deliver high quality care to all patients affected by stroke."

"ECM Hospital is extremely pleased to receive advanced certification from the Joint Commission and the American Heart/Stroke Associations," said ECM Chief Executive Officer, Russell Pigg. "This is our second major clinical achievement over the past two year period."

Now Register Electronically

MONTGOMERY - Alabama has launched efforts to implement Electronic Voter Registration.

Voters now have the ability to register via the Secretary of State's website (www.alabamavotes.gov). Once their online registration has been completed, a paperless form is submitted electronically to the Boards of Registrars in their home county.

"One of the most fundamental rights we as Americans are afforded is our right to vote," said Secretary of State, John Merrill. "We want every eligible Alabamian to be afforded the right to vote and participate in the electoral process. The implementation of the new Electronic Voting Registration will allow them to do so."

Prospective voters must be a citizen of the United States, a resident in the State of Alabama, at least 18 years of age on or before election day, cannot be barred from voting because of felony conviction, or judged

"mentally incompetent" in a court of law. Citizens must have a valid Alabama Driver's License or valid Alabama Non-Driver's Identification card to submit an Electronic Voter registration application.

The last day to apply via electronic voter registration for the March 1 primary election is February 15.

For more information, please contact 7200 or visit our website at www.sos.alabama.gov/ principal of Legacy Christian Academy. She wanted to kick off 2016 by encouraging good reading habits. The entire school staff and students had an exciting month with some good-natured kidding - while making sure the kiss would happen. A tally chart of books read was kept in the office and updated each Friday during January.

One student from K4 - 2nd grade and one student from 3rd - 6th grade received a local restaurant gift card to "pig out" and a toy pig that oinked. Each class's top reader was also recognized. All the students enjoyed watching Wilson put on red lipstick, pucker up, and kiss the baby pig named Sally, provided for the event by the Hunt family.

Legacy Christian Academy is located at First Baptist Church in Killen. Science is the emphasis in February and math the featured topic for March as the school will participate in a Math-a-thon to benefit St. Jude Children's Hospital.

Dr. Robert Webb

Ask Dr. Webb

This is #4 in the series about why we should be concerned with seniors taking so many pills: Beer's List of Potentially Inappropriate Medications - the Category I Drugs

Category I includes drugs potentially inappropriate in general and therefore should be avoided by all seniors.

Each 'Class' is underlined and lists a few of the better known drugs: the generic, with brand name in brackets, is followed by the main reason for concern. For a complete description, search for Beers Criteria on-line (Wikipedia has it).

Anti-histamines and anti-cholinergics, such as diphenhydramine [Benadryl], hydroxyzine [Vistaril], and promethazine [Phenergan]: all tend to cause drowsiness, dry mouth, constipation, and confusion, increasing the risk of falling especially at night (because they're often used in 'sleep aids').

Anti-hypertensives [for blood pressure]: doxazosin [Cardura], methyldopa [Aldomet], clonidine [Catapres] - often drop blood pressure when you stand, causing dizziness and falls; not recommended for 'routine' treatment (there are others that are better for daily use).

Anti-arrhythmics [control heart rhythm] - amiodarone [Cordarone] is strongly discouraged because it's toxic to so many organs; guidelines advise safer alternatives.

Antipsychotics, such as risperidone [Risperdal], haloperidol [Haldol] - slightly increase the risk of stroke and dying; intended principally for schizophrenias; however, Haldol is helpful in delirium.

Anti-anxiety meds [benzodiazepines], such as diazepam [Valium], alprazolam [Xanax], lorazepam [Ativan] - risk of confusion, falls, fractures.

Hypnotics [for insomnia], such as zolpidem [Ambien]-risk of amnesia plus the same anti-anxiety group side-effects.

Muscle relaxants, such as carisoprodol [Soma], cyclobenzaprine [Flexeril] - increased drowsiness, falls, risk of fracture; questionable effectiveness.

Anti-inflammatories [pain relief], such as ibuprofen [Motrin, Advil], naproxen [Aleve] - all increase the risk of bleeding, kidney failure, and confusion. Using one occasionally is not a problem; it's the daily use that needs to be avoided.

Next time: Category II drugs - those to avoid if you have a particular disease.

ASK THE ATTORNEY

Thomas McCutcheon

Ask the Attorney is sponsored by local attorneys, McCutcheon & Hamner, PC, as a service to the residents of NW Alabama.

nephew's name. There are many things in the house that are mine. My sister was over the Will in her handwriting. Is there anything that I can do or is it too late?

- B.J.

AI can't tell you how this matter will turn out but I can tell you what the law is. The "Will" in all likelihood was not a valid Will to begin with. Wills require certain language and two witnesses for the Will to be valid.

Even if it had been valid, a Will may only be probated for five years after death. After five years, no Will is valid. Therefore, there is no Will.

However, you can always go back and administer an estate. Sometimes you have to administer an estate many years after a death to properly establish title to land or a chain of title to land. The difference is that with a valid Will, an Estate can be probated.

Without a Will an Estate is administered.

I don't know if you have signed away any of your rights or signed off on a deed which may or may not be valid, but if you haven't, don't. I think you should contact a lawyer and have your parents' Estate properly administered and the property would be divided according to the "Will" the state has written for everyone. That is known as intestate (no Will) succession.

In advertisements for various online legal services, the advertisements tend to try to alarm people by suggesting that the State could take your property or take some action against you. The truth is you should know two things.

First, the manner in which property is divided under the statutory scheme provided by law when people don't have a Will is as reasonable a solution as any ten people come up with. Secondly, we only charge $50.00 to do a simple Will and we do this mainly as a public service because when a person has a valid Will, it saves the survivors and/or the Estate the cost of purchasing a bond which can be fairly expensive. At the end of the day you should certainly talk to a lawyer who handles Wills and Trusts about the administration of your parents' Estate.

Buckle up and drive safely.

Please send the questions to: "Ask the Attorney," P. O. Box 38, Florence, Alabama 35631 or visit our website at: www.mhatty.com

DAVE Says

by DAVE RAMSEY

DATING AND THE BUDGET

Dear Dave,
I've been following your plan, and I've finally gotten out of debt and feel I have control of my finances. I'm also single, and I was wondering if you have any tips for how to gracefully mention financial topics and budgeting when you're on a date.

Paula

Dear Paula,
Well, I don't recommend bringing it up on a first date. If I'm a guy on the initial date with a girl and the first thing out of her mouth is about finances and handling money, that's going to be pretty strange.

Now, if the first date turns into another and another and another, then you might start talking about the deeper things in life and where you both stand. As you start talking about more serious subjects, you'll begin to learn if there's enough of a basis for a real relationship.

But the first date is just sort of an introduction, right? You're both seeing if there's any initial, mutual compatibility. Asking someone how much they make, or where they are on their debt snowball in this scenario is officially weird—even by my standards. In other words, use manners and tact. They may be old fashioned words these days, but in most cases they work well.

spending and saving set up, but I'm having trouble helping him distinguish between the two. How can I solve this?

Monica

Dear Monica,
At that age, any type of saving is going to be more of a glorified, long-term spending plan. The point is to teach them to delay gratification when you're first starting out. And when you're only four, two weeks is long term.

The contents of the spending envelope should be kind of spontaneous. Let him take it on trips to the store, and if he wants a pack of gum or whatever, he can get it. The saving envelope, though, stays at home. Then, as he grows and his mind and reasoning develops a little more, you can really start teaching him about long-term goals and how to get there—including giving.

Don't try to force a four-year-old to think five or 10 years into the future. We're just trying to teach lessons here, and it doesn't have to be done perfectly. Just be intentional, and try to find teachable moments as you go along!

@ The Real Trump?

Donald Trump's congeniality after a second place finish in Iowa was out of character. His graciousness toward Ted Cruz in the February 1 concession speech was stunning. Did I make some erroneous assumptions?

When he woke up out of his dream the morning of February 3, he was the same bombastic guy who doesn't like his pristine sandbox sullied.

Trump's Twitter assault blaming his Iowa Caucus defeat on fraud perpetrated by Cruz and his campaign was more in-character.

CNN reported that Ben Carson was going home to Florida after the Iowa caucus instead of going to New Hampshire. Implications exploded on twitter from Business Insider, two CNN anchors, the Rand Paul campaign, and others. The Cruz campaign was caught in the middle, asking caucus goers for their votes. Cruz apologized for the confusion afterward. Carson never blamed Cruz for the rumor. Trump did. Trump's true colors were also clearly on display during a five-post second grade twitter tantrum. Trumps wants and expects to get his way, period.

Fine Care Right Here

Editor:

I am replying to the letter from Joe Fairer in January 27 paper. I agree with everything he says. I was in ECM Hospital from August-November 2008. I had wonderful doctors and care. Dr. Peter Pons is my hero; he saved my life.

I will always be grateful to all the doctors and the nurses who took care of me. They were all great right here in the Shoals.

I would never go anywhere else.

He Got Something Done

Editor:

I just read another comical letter submitted by Jimmy Wayne Cosby. He is the same fellow who warned everyone a while back that the President was having our armed forces invade Texas. Can you say, 'Whacko'?

Someone who always disagrees is neither a fair nor an honest person. ”

He also always refers to the President as 'Hussein.' He does this to jar peoples' memories so they think of Saddam from Iraq and because it sounds foreign. It's more of the fear tactics that his political sidekicks are so fond of using.

He also goes to pains every few letters of reminding everyone that he was an Intelligence Officer. Woo-hoo! That really reassures me and causes me to believe everything he writes. It would have been nice if the 'intelligence' part had rubbed off on him a bit. He is like so many others; a racist bigot who is incapable of accepting a person of color as our Commander-in-Chief.

It is common knowledge that shortly after Barack Obama was elected president, the Republican leaders of the House of Representatives and the Senate, John Boehner and Mitch McConnell, met with their constituents and agreed to say "no" to anything President Obama proposed. That is a well-known, documented fact. That is wrong.

Regardless which party you belong to, everyone should be willing to compromise. No one knows everything. You give a little to get a little and we all benefit. After having dealt with that policy for six years, President Obama decided to use his executive authority to get something done.

within the state. Tom Saielli is the regional science coordinator with TACF. He will present information about the TVA backcross breeding orchard in Muscle Shoals, the 2016 plan for Alabama's first seed orchard in Huntsville, preliminary plans for seed orchards at the University of North Alabama, and innovative science and cutting-edge genomics tools involved.

TACF's Highland Rim Restoration Branch was formed in 2015 and is organized by Will Calhoun, Carmen Burkhalter, Betsy Heckert, and Harris Parker. They have joined a citizen advisory board that includes local businesses supporting TACF's mission to restore the American chestnut to the forests of its native range. The board will focus especially on trees with genetic properties unique to Alabama. Dr. Jack Agricola is the former president of the Alabama Chapter of TACF. He has been a tremendous supporter of the Highland Rim Branch's efforts. "We are very lucky to have these young and talented chestnut enthusiasts as part of the state's restoration efforts. This is a long-term project and it's critical that we keep sharing the important story of the American chestnut tree. We want future generations to understand the ecological impacts of its loss so that they will play an active role in bringing it back."

The American chestnut was a significant species throughout its range in the eastern United States. It also had exceptional economic and cultural significance to rural Americans. At the beginning of the 20th century, a fungal disease was inadvertently imported from Asia, and the blight spread rapidly throughout eastern forests. By the 1950s virtually nothing remained of the species other than occasional seedlings and small sprouts. In 1983 a committed group of scientists and citizens decided to do address the issue while the species could still be saved. They formed TACF to initiate a complex breeding program to transfer genes containing disease resistance from Asian chestnut species to American chestnut.

After just twenty years the first generation of trees are 96% American chestnut, but they contain Asiatic genes for blight resistance. The organization is supported by more than 5,400 members and hundreds of volunteers in twenty-three states. It is planting and testing offspring of those trees as it continues to build and improve its breeding population to help boost this iconic species.

For more information on TACF and its work, please contact TACF Director of Communications Ruth Goodridge at 828-281-0047; email: ruth.goodridge@acf.org or visit us at www.acf.org.

LOCAL INTERNET SERVICE providers advertise "blazing" speeds that promise to make everything faster. I have news for you: They lie. The fact is, most of you who are paying for ultra high speed packages are throwing money out the window. On the other hand, some of you are frustrated with your slow internet speed and don't know that you can easily upgrade for a better experience. In fact, a recent FCC survey found that 80 percent of broadband users in the United States don't know how fast their internet is or if they are actually receiving what they pay for. I aim to fix that.

Fisher

NEED FOR SPEED

by "The Computer Skeptic"

article, please go get your latest invoice from your internet service provider and let's go over a couple of things. . . .

Well? Get on with it. I don't have all day!

OK, now look for a heading that tells you how many megabits per second (Mbps -- a number referring to how many millions of bits of data can be moved in a second) you are paying for. Common speeds around here are 3, 10, 25 and up to 75Mbps.

Many of you still have an old 3Mbps plan from AT&T. That was considered "fast"

20 years ago but it's horrible by today's standards. At the other extreme, some of you said "Give me the fastest stuff you got!" and are overpaying for that 75Mbps plan from Comcast.

Generally speaking, most individuals will be fine 6Mbps. Families will need 20Mbps or more. Here is why: Most websites deliver content to you at a pretty slow speed.

For example, a typical website sends data to you at only 1 or 2 Mbps. Thus, paying for more than 3 Mbps is a waste of money if all you do is visit Facebook or check your email. Still, I'd suggest at least 6 Mbps just to have some overhead.

Those of you who watch streaming video or use online game consoles such as Xbox have a need for speed. For example, Netflix delivers high definition movies at 3 Mbps but they recommend 5 Mbps. However, you want a bit of a buffer for video streaming so I'd recommend at least 6 to 10 Mbps for Netflix users. Paying for more than 10 Mbps won't make that high def video any more high def. A caveat: Very few of you have the new-ish "ultra high def" TVs. UHD will require a whopping 25 Mbps.

Households with more than one person need to consider how many users or devices are playing on the internet at the same time. If your household has 4 people who are all surfing the 'net at the same time, each of you may use up to 5 Mbps each so you'll need to opt for a 20 Mbps plan. So, generally speaking, estimate 3 to 5 Mbps for each user in your home then opt for a plan that is a little over that number. My next article will discuss how optimize your home internet and how to make sure you're getting what you pay for.

Ronald Reagan and George W. Bush issued more executive orders than President Obama has. They actually had a Congress that would work with them rather than against them. I can honestly say that I have agreed and disagreed with every President we have had since the mid-seventies. That's because all of them were human and did what they thought was best for America. Someone who always disagrees is neither a fair nor an honest person. They are partisan and will lie in order to make their political party or politician look better.

So, if you enjoy reading some letters to get a good laugh then this Cosby fellow will have you rolling with tears in your eyes.

If you want letters with more substance and fact, look for the ones that can be equally observant of both political parties and don't insult and tell falsehoods.

Use the Right Pet Shelters

Dear Editor:

In light of the rescue of at least 600 dogs, cats, horses, and other animals from a no-kill shelter in Raeford, North Carolina, I urge readers to beware of sham rescues and scam shelters.

Every week PETA receives reports about rescues and fosters neglecting animals, sometimes fatally. Last December we learned of a rescue in Connecticut where animals were kept in a garage in dirty cages, suffering from urinary tract infections, wounds, and urine-scorched skin; a Texas rescue which a former volunteer described as an "animal concentration camp" where animals died "slow painful death[s] of starvation or dehydration"; and a Kentucky rescue where 178 animals were languishing in deplorable conditions with sores from lying in feces and wounds from fighting.

The National Center for Prosecution of Animal

Abuse reports that "[t] here is an entire industry of 'rescues' that warehouse animals in horrific conditions; however, the catalyst for warehousing is not a mental health affliction, but pure, old-fashioned, greed." Scammers are known to obtain animals from shelters and then sell them for a profit.

Please, don't unwittingly fund or back a "slow-kill" nightmare for animals: Support only professionally run shelters that accept every needy animal and provide them with a painless end when needed, rather than hoard animals or let them suffer. Visit www.PETA.org to learn more.

COMMENTARY

Still?...

President of the United States?

Her cavalier attitude toward emailing highly classified national security info is infuriating, negligent, and treasonous. It is unconscionable that the lady once dubbed "the smartest woman in the world" could be so stupid. She approved the copying of highly sensitive classified U.S. government information from the Secret Internet Protocol Router Network (SIPRNet) and Joint Worldwide Intelligence Communications System (JWICS) to her private and unsecured email server. It is becoming more apparent that she and/or her team deliberately copied the emails. They lied about it and then tried to dump all the evidence in a series of amateur deletions, some at 1am. That act alone mandates a fine and/or imprisonment and disqualifies her from ever holding ANY federal office.

The United States code Title 18, Chapter 101, Section 2071 pertaining to government records has been updated/amended several times since its origin in 1909, most recently in 1989. It reads as follows:

Whoever, having the custody of any such record, proceeding, map, book, document, paper, or other thing, willfully and unlawfully conceals, removes, mutilates, obliterates, falsifies, or destroys the same, shall be fined under this title or imprisoned not more than three years, or both; and shall forfeit his office and be disqualified from holding any office under the United States.

www.law.cornell.edu/uscode/text/18/2071

Clinton naturally claims that the whole thing is a right wing political attack against her. The minefield is being cleared by this administration's Chicago-style tactics which wants to keep mud off its face and wants a democrat as successor in the Oval Office. Yet, the evidence mounts as her history of lying continues. According to Clinton, neither she nor any of her top aids copied 1,300 emails from highly-secure servers into her personal email. All 1,300 apparently just leaped from that closed system to an open system containing her home emails. They expect us to believe that just like they expect us to believe Mrs. Clinton actually won all six out of six coin flips in dead-heat voting precincts making her the caucus winner in Iowa. The probability of all six coin flips going her way was less than 2%.

Hopefully the FBI will look at the sheer volume of evidence and determine than an indictment is in order.

Her long and contentious history aside, what is even more disconcerting is how so many people think nothing of her reckless decision-making history in recent years.

They will shrug their shoulders and vehemently support her quest to attain the most sensitive security position in the world.

With such limited deductive reasoning, should they even be allowed to vote?

Beware! Although this is a special event, Arx Mortis is still rated PG-13 for intensity, realism, and gore. Live actors, detailed scenes, and themed music throughout the attraction will immerse you in the excitement of the moment. Arx Mortis will be open rain or shine from 7-10:30pm on February 12-13. Tickets are $14 and can be purchased at the door or online.

To make the holiday even MORE heart-pounding, on Sunday, February 14, tickets are for couples only.

Just two people at a time will enter the attraction and ALL LIGHTS will be off. Couples will receive one small light to help guide them as they encounter twists, turns, and monsters of the Mortis Legion. $35 will get you two passes to the attraction as well as a souvenir photo on this special night.

SENIOR HUNGER OPTIONS

There are 9 million seniors who are at risk for hunger every day in America, statistics show. If you're a senior over age 60 and you don't get enough to eat, there are options.

The Supplemental Nutrition Assistance Program (SNAP) can provide an average $126 each month to go toward food. Check the government section of your phone book for the local office, or see www.fns.usda.gov/snap.

In some states, as part of SNAP, you also might be eligible for The Senior Farmers Markets Nutrition Program (SFMNP), which will provide a coupon booklet that can be used at farmers markets to buy fresh fruit and vegetables. Information is available on the USDA.gov website.

More and more senior centers are providing food programs. Ask about a Senior Grocery Program in your state, or the local food bank. The center also might host a monthly luncheon, or perhaps a weekly get-together lunch. You'll make contacts at any of these events that can steer you to other local food programs.

Contact the Council on Aging (www.ncoa.org) branch in your state for a full list of programs you can apply for. Or search online for "senior hunger resources" in your state.

If you were turned down for food benefits, apply again, especially if your situation has changed in any way. If Meals on Wheels in your area isn't taking new clients (many of them don't have enough resources nowadays), get put on the waiting list anyway.

Contact churches in your area to ask about senior meal programs. Ask your doctor for resources.

Remember: It's not only OK to ask for help when you need it, it's imperative. To maintain your health, you need proper nutrition.

Here are a few things to keep in mind about nutrition:

- Fruits and vegetables are packed full of vitamins and minerals your body needs
- Grains, especially whole grains, provide needed fiber and increase energy
- Low-fat or fat-free dairy products provide calcium, vitamin D to help maintain strong bones.

Some other great nutrients they provide are protein, potassium, vitamin A, and magnesium

- Protein from seafood, lean poultry and meats, beans, eggs, and unsalted nuts help build muscle and promote healthy skin

- Limit the amount of fat you consume. They are a source of energy; help maintain healthy organs, skin and hair. Fats also help the body absorb vitamins

A, D, E, and K. Here are some of the better fats: soybean, corn, canola, olive, safflower, and sunflower oils. Also nuts, seeds, and fish are a good source of healthy fats.

- Limit amounts of cholesterol, sodium, and added sugars as these can be harmful

- Drink lots of water; this will help with constipation and dehydration

PET MATCHMAKERS?

Looking for Mr. or Ms. Right? Your dog or cat can help

By Kim Campbell Thornton
Universal Uclick

Remember the meet-cute scene in "101 Dalmatians," where the couple's dogs bring them together? It happens in real life, too.

Molly McNamara of Lyons, Colorado, met her husband-to-be, Jeff McGlynn, at the obedience class she was attending with her dog. It was love at first sight — for her dog. "My dog was so bananas for him that he wouldn't pay attention after Jeff arrived," she says. "At first I used to just get mad when he and his dog showed up because my well-behaved 1-year-old bearded collie, Max, would lose his mind and drag me across the room to see them. So, clearly, the dog knew first."

It took six months before the pair started dating, with many of the dates involving taking their dogs hiking or to the beach. McNamara discovered later that McGlynn was staying in the class only to see her. His Saint Bernard was already well-behaved and didn't really need the practice.

"Introduction by dog" is a time-honored method of finding true love, and now science has confirmed its efficacy. In their study "The Roles of Pet Dogs and Cats in Human Courtship and Dating," published in the quarterly journal Anthrozoos, researchers — who surveyed more than 1,200 Match.com users — found that 35 percent of women and 26 percent of men said they had been more attracted to someone because he or she owned a pet.

Men are more likely to use a pet — generally a dog — as "date bait," with 22 percent admitting to the tactic. Only 6 percent of women said they had used a pet to attract potential dates.

Women, on the other hand, are more likely to rely on their dogs and cats as barometers of a date's trustworthiness. Nearly half of the women responding said they judged dates based on how the person responded to their pet, and 76 percent evaluated dates based on whether their pets liked the person.

"My dogs have helped me see who is and isn't a good match based on how the guys responded to the dogs, and vice versa," says Elizabeth Barden Ackerman of Los Angeles. "The ones who are scared of my giant black Lab are quickly let go. The one who naturally pats and plays with him, refills his water bowl without being asked and who watches the dog and hilariously narrates his thoughts? He's special."

Allia Zobel Nolan of New York City knew the man she met was her true love because of the way he treated her cats, even though at heart he was a dog person.

"He loved me, so he loved my cats," she says. Gail Parker of Philadelphia stopped seeing one man after her dog, a German shepherd, growled at him. She gave another the heave-ho when he called her Irish setter stupid.

The study's lead author, University of Nevada Las Vegas anthropology professor Peter Gray, suggests that pets' status as family members could explain the significant influence they wield in the choices people make about who they date. He and fellow researchers, UNLV graduate student Shelly Volsche; Justin Garcia of the Kinsey Institute at Indiana University; and Helen Fisher of Rutgers University say dog ownership may signal "a potential mate's caregiving capacity." How a person treats a pet could indicate how he or she would treat a mate and children. McNamara and McGlynn? At their eventual wedding, more dogs than people were in attendance.

In a recent survey of singles with pets, 75 percent of women and 54 percent of men said they would not date someone who did not like pets.

"Max is turning 14 in a month, and Jeff is still his most favorite human ever," McNamara says.

Breeds to watch
at Westminster

• Seven breeds will make their bow-wow at the 2016 Westminster Kennel Club dog show next week. They are the Bergamasco, a dreadlocked herding breed from the Italian Alps; the berger picard, a French herding breed known for a starring role in the 2005 film "Because of Winn-Dixie"; the boerboel, a giant-size South African guard dog; the cirneco dell Etna, a small Sicilian sighthound; the lagotto Romagnolo, an Italian truffle-hunting breed; the miniature American shepherd, a small, but highly active, herding dog; and the Spanish water dog, a versatile, curly coated farm dog.

• Curious about what's most likely to poison your pet in your state? The ASPCA's Animal Poison Control Center has released a map showing the most common reason for toxin calls in each state. Rodenticides top the list in 14 states, many in the West and Southwest. Chocolate takes second place, leading the list in eight states, including California, New York and Pennsylvania. Ant baits generate the most calls in five states. South Carolina is the only state where the sago palm is the leading cause of toxicity, but it is a popular houseplant and landscaping plant nationwide. Idaho pet owners call about sugar-free gum, and Nebraskans are concerned about herbal supplements. Check the ASPCA's website for information about your state.

• Three huskies and a cat? No, it's not the latest feel-good movie. Lilo, Infinity and Miko, Siberian huskies in San Jose, California, have become best friends with a rescued kitten and taught her to be, well, a dog. Lilo mothered Rosie, who was found near death when she was about 3 weeks old, and the kitten began mimicking everything the dog did, including walking on-leash. Now the four go hiking, kayaking and paddle boarding with their people, cuddle and even eat together.

Times Have Changed

Shoals area basketball teams will soon be positioning themselves for post-season play in hopes of advancing to the state tournament in search for that coveted "Blue Map" signifying a State Championship. Teams today have more chances than years past in their post-season tournaments. With all the sub-area, sub regions, sub-state scenarios, it's even possible to lose the right game and still be alive to play another game. It wasn't always that way. I'll take you back to how it used to be. And I mean way back! The 1944 Lexington Golden Bears basketball team was one of the greatest teams in Shoals area history.

In those days, there were no multiple levels of post-season play like today. There was no classifications based on enrollment. The state was divided into eight districts with two teams from each district comprising the 16 team state tournament. The Golden Bears had gone through the entire regular season and the district tournament undefeated.

As the story goes, an acute shortage of manpower, gasoline and tires almost kept Lexington from knowing its great team of 1944. Having no coach among the faculty, it had been decided to abandon basketball for the year. A plea from a group of high school boys was made and the matter was reconsidered.

Representing the Northern half of District 7, Lexington won their first two state tournament games that put them into the semifinals against tournament favorite Parrish. The state tournament had an unusual format in those days. Teams played the semifinals in the morning and had to return in the afternoon to play the championship game.

Mr. Iley Freeman agreed to help as much as his other duties would allow and help was also promised by the school principal. It would be the beginning of a memorable season for the Golden Bears. The team consisted of Wallace Thompson, Thurston "Curley" Killen, John Edward Johnson, W.R. Clark, Bill Wilson, Billy Thompson, James Johnson and James Hammond.

The thrilling upset against Parrish in the morning session took its toll on the Golden Bears. They fought valiantly against Scottsboro in the title matchup that afternoon before losing by just three points. Wallace Thompson was named to the All-State team. Good sportsmanship and 100 percent team effort defined this 1944 team and put Lexington High School on the map in Alabama High School history.

My thanks to principal John Finley, Neal Sewell and Marty Mosley for the information contained in this story.

THE BOLD AND THE BEAUTIFUL Desperate for answers from Liam, Steffy made another unsuccessful attempt to get in touch with him. Liam became suspicious when Quinn attempted to hide a ringing cellphone. While rebuilding their working and personal relationship, Thomas and Caroline had a conversation that ended with an apology. Liam scoured Quinn's cabin looking for any clues that could trigger a memory. Steffy got the answer she'd been waiting for on whether it was time for her to move on with her life. Thomas helped rush Caroline to the hospital after a medical crisis. Quinn spent Valentine's Day with the last person she expected. Wait to See: Liam hopes to regain his memory by thinking with his heart.

DAYS OF OUR LIVES Deimos led Philip into a trap. Brady presented Theresa with a romantic surprise. Belle tried to reach out to Claire, but Claire angrily rejected her mother. Fynn flirted with Lani. Victor learned of Philip's betrayal. Armed with an agenda, Andre befriended Chase. Eduardo tried to make inroads with Rafe and Gabi during an impromptu family dinner. Belle got defensive when Shawn questioned her new spending habits. A dangerous fire broke out in Hope's home. Steve reunited with Kayla, who demanded to know what happened with Ava. Meanwhile, Ava continued to make some mysterious plans. Wait to See: Several Salemmites have cinematic dreams detailing their romantic predicaments.

GENERAL HOSPITAL Liz went into emotional overload. Ava confided in Julian about her struggle to break free from the mob. Maxie and Nathan reached a new level in their relationship. Griffin figured out Sonny's scheme. Nikolas was curious about his new bride's background. Tracy was outraged by Hayden's latest news. Alexis was concerned about Julian's interest in Olivia. Epiphany took on a surprising new role. Sonny and Alexis realized that Kristina was hiding something. Hayden urged Dillon to encourage his mother to see a doctor. Nikolas offered Liz and her boys a home at Wyndemere. Maxie and Nathan played Cupid for Dante and Lulu. Wait to See: Lucas pays homage to Tony Jones.

THE YOUNG AND THE RESTLESS Nick asked Sharon to give him some insight on Dr. Anderson's treatment style, but she assured him he had nothing to worry about. Luca enjoyed reminding Adam that he held the cards in their alliance. Adam, in turn, informed Luca that he committed the ultimate sin by messing with Victor's family and business. Summer told Noah that she wanted to work for Newman Enterprises, but Noah tried to talk her out of it. Victor returned home from his trip and wasn't pleased with how Adam handled Noah's situation during his absence. Max was not pleased when Stitch told him they weren't moving in with Abby. Summer tried to convince Max that Abby was a good person. Chelsea asked Marisa if she knew the secret that Adam was hiding. A dying Ashley was desperate for Simon's treatment to work. Wait to See: Hilary steals the spotlight from Neil.

A.M.E. Church in Florence. The event is free and open to the public.

UNA will host the musical narrative Walk with Me presented by the Walk with Me Foundation on Thursday, February 18 at 9:30am in Norton Auditorium. The presentation is based on the book While the World Watched: A Birmingham Bombing Survivor Comes of Age During the Civil Rights Movement. Admission is $3. Contact carole@walkwithmefoundation.org for tickets.

UNA will host a Conversation on Alabama Civil and Human Rights on Tuesday, February 23 from 6:30-8:30pm in the GUC Loft. The March Continues with Lecia Brooks, Outreach Director of the Southern Poverty Law Center. The event is free and open to the public.

On Wednesday, February 24 at 7pm in the GUC Banquet Halls, the UNA Black Student Alliance and NPHC will host their annual Black History program. UNA Gospel

Choir, Ascending Voices will be featured along with Dr. Will Boyd, Pastor of St. Mark M.B. Church as the speaker and various presentations from other students.

Known as the Father of Black History, Dr. Carter G. Woodson founded the celebration he called "Negro History Week" in 1926. Dr. Woodson selected the second week of February for the celebration because it fell between the birthdays of the famed orator and abolitionist Frederick Douglass and President Abraham Lincoln. The celebration expanded to include the entire month of February in 1976 and remains such today.

"Developing opportunities for greater awareness and knowledge of the history of various cultures increases respect and understanding between us," said Joan Williams, director of the UNA Office of Diversity and Institutional Equity (ODIE). Visit ODIE's website for Black History Month resources.

For more information about UNA Black history and related events, visit www.una.edu/diversity, call 256-765-6340, or email at odie@una.edu.

How To Spot Saved Folk

Hebrews 6:9 "But, beloved, we are persuaded better things of you, and things that accompany salvation, though we thus speak." A saved person loves the lord, hates evil, and has compassion. 1 John 4:19 "We love him, because he first loved us." See Psalms 97:10 & Jude 1:22. A saved person will employ and enjoy prayer. Psalms 55:17. The saved man will love the word: Psalms 119:140 "Thy word is very pure: therefore thy servant loveth it." Saved men will love the brethren: 1 John 3:14 "We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren. He that loveth not his brother abideth in death." A saved man has the Holy Ghost, (Spirit.) Stephen in Acts 6:5. Cornelius in Acts 10:47. Barnabas in Acts 11:24. The Apostle Paul: Acts 13:9. Acts 15:8-9&11. A saved man knows he has eternal life. 1 John 5:13. A saved man knows what is ahead for him in eternity. 1 Corinthians 2:12 "Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God." The saved man will have the love of God and the Holy Ghost in his heart. Romans 5:5 "And hope maketh not ashamed; because the love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost which is given unto us." A saved man won't be corrupted from the simplicity in Christ. 2 Corinthians 11:3 "But I fear, lest by any means, as the serpent beguiled Eve through his subtilty, so your minds should be corrupted from the simplicity that is in Christ." A saved man (like Paul) will seek to be free from the blood of all men. Acts 18:6 "And when they opposed themselves, and blasphemed, he shook his raiment, and said unto them, Your blood be upon your own heads; I am clean: from henceforth I will go unto the Gentiles." Acts 20:26 "Wherefore I take you to record this day, that I am pure from the blood of all men." Israel cried in Matthew 27:25 "Then answered all the people, and said, His blood be on us, and on our children;" and it sure has been. Once you have been told the way, and rejected it, you're on your own. The blood of Christ is on your head and will testify against you at judgment.

Answer: Since all of the numbers above the line are written with three letters (ONE, TWO and SIX), it follows that the number 10 should also be written above the line (TEN).
