Wrong Number

I still have a lot of trouble with wrong numbers. Yesterday I dialed the Red Cross and got the Internal Revenue Service in error.

So the IRS operator asked me what number I had dialed. I said, "The Red Cross, you know, where they take the blood."

She said, "Well, you aren't too far off, are you?"

Did You Know?

* A species of sponge, called the red sponge, can be pushed through a piece of fabric so that it is broken into thousands of tiny pieces. The animal does not die. Rather, all the pieces reassemble until the sponge returns to its original form.

* The custom of serving a slice of lemon with fish dates back to the Middle Ages. It was believed that if a person accidentally swallowed a fish bone, the lemon juice would dissolve it.

* The only roller skating museum in the world is in Lincoln, Nebraska.

* The name of the camel on the Camel cigarettes pack is Old Joe.

* Of the 206 bones in the average adult human body, 106 are found in the hands and feet (54 are in the hands; 52 are in the feet).

* The Hope diamond is the biggest (45.5 carats) blue diamond known in the world.

* The shrew is known to eat up to its own weight about every three hours. Deprived of nutrition for a day, it may starve to death.

* In a traditional French restaurant kitchen, a "garde-manger" is responsible for salads.

* In the United States, deaf people have safer driving records than hearing people nationally.

Complicated Breakfast Order

A resident in a posh hotel breakfast room called over the head waiter one morning and said with a wonderful and cheerful smile.

"Good Morning sir. What a wonderful morning I'd like two boiled eggs, one of them so under cooked it's runny, and the other so over cooked it's tough and hard to eat. Also, grilled bacon that has been left out so it gets a bit on the cold side; burnt toast that crumbles away as soon as you touch it with a knife; butter straight from the deep freeze so that it's impossible to spread; and a pot of very weak coffee, lukewarm."

"That's a complicated order sir," said the bewildered waiter. "It might be quite difficult."

The guest replied, "Oh? I don't understand -- that's what I got yesterday!"

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Making things more complicated than they need to be can be a problem for the typically orderly Lamb. Try to look for a less intricate way to accomplish the same goals.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Avoiding personal involvement in a troubling situation might be advisable at this time, especially since you probably don't have all the facts. The weekend brings a surprise.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) A problem with a colleague you thought had been resolved could recur. However, this time you'll be able to rely on your record to get a quick resolution in your favor. Good luck.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Giving your self-esteem a boost could be a good idea for the Moon Child, who might feel a bit daunted by the week's occurrences. Just focus on all your positive accomplishments.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) The "mane" attraction for the Lovable Lion this week is -- what else? -- love. New relationships move to new levels, while long-standing partnerships are strengthened.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) A recent workplace problem will prove to be one of miscommunication, and once the matter is settled, you should have a better chance of getting your proposals approved.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Good news! After dealing pretty much in the dark with a matter that seemed to be taking forever to resolve, you should soon be seeing the light at the end of the tunnel.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) A positive message should help lift that energy-draining sense of anxiety, and you should soon be able to deal with even the peskiest matter, whether at work or personal.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Try to control that heated Sagittarian temperament while dealing with what you believe to be an unfair matter. A cool approach is the best way to handle things.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Nursing hurt feelings could keep you from learning what went wrong. Ask your partner, a family member or a trusted friend to help you reassess your actions in the matter.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Nature is dominant this week. Try to spend time outdoors with someone special. An act of kindness in the past might be recalled by a person you believed was out of your life.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) An upcoming career decision could be based on how well you might be able to apply your artistic talents. Be sure to use the finest samples of your work to make a strong impression.

BORN THIS WEEK: Doing good things for others comes easily to you. You are considered a good friend, even by those you might hardly know.

PIEDMONT PETS
June 25, 2020
By Paulette Dean

996 South Boston Rd.,
Danville, VA 24540
Phone: (434) 799-0843

This year is our 45th anniversary! In 1975, a small group of area citizens decided to combine individual efforts into an organization that could make a difference in the lives of the animals. The Danville-Pittsylvania County Humane Society was formed and incorporated.

The small group operated as a foster home organization that provided very small spay/neuter assistance, as well as assisting the animal control officers return dogs to owners and finding potential adoptive homes for shelter animals.

In 1983, the newly-named Danville Area Humane Society contracted with the City of Danville to operate and maintain the animal shelter. The shelter at this time consisted of a small office area and nine dog runs. At its own cost, the Humane Society renovated the dog runs, and built 28 small/medium dog runs, as well as a small cat area. On June 1, 1984, DAHS began operating the shelter. On that first day, over 100 animals were released to the shelter by their owners, and by the end of the first week, 300 dogs and cats had been released.

In 1989, DAHS renegotiated the contract with the City. The State Veterinarian at this time also gave notice that the shelter needed to be expanded in order to handle the large number of animals being received. A new contract with the City was signed, giving DAHS more funds with which to operate the shelter.

At that time, the City also paid $89,000 to build the cat room, treatment room, and isolation areas.

In 1993, we received notice that DAHS has been named as one of the nine beneficiaries of an estate worth $29 million. The E. Stuart James Grant Charitable Trust was established by American National Bank, and through disbursements from this foundation, we have been able to expand our work. The spay/neuter and adoption subsidy program is funded through this foundation. In addition, many shelter and equipment upgrades have been possible.

In August of 2007, an expansion to the dog area was completed, giving the shelter an additional 28 dog runs.

In April of 2012, we opened the E. Stuart James Grant Adoption Center. This expansion provided two cat colony rooms, a conference center, a lobby, additional office space, additional dog runs, a kitchen, a grooming room, and rooms for small companion animals.

In January 2019, we completed a renovation of the oldest part of the shelter. The double-decker dog run area we built in 1983 was gutted and turned into a huge, updated cat room. The cat room was turned into a walk-through area, and a cat isolation area was built.

All of these shelter renovations and expansions have helped us lengthen the time we hold animals, as well as lessening the spread of disease and increasing the comfort of the animals. Volunteers help us by enriching their lives with attention and walks outside (for the dogs).

Uncle Sam Doorstop

Iron doorstops became a hot collectible with rising prices about 1990. A 1985 book picturing doorstops and several auctions, which included rare doorstops, sent collectors searching for examples of the 1930s and '40s collectible. They became so popular that thousands of copies were made, many from the original molds. Bright new paint identifies many recent doorstops, but some, with artificial wear and tear, are good enough to fool collectors today. It is almost impossible to break an iron figure, so many iron doorstops still are available with little damage. Top prices are paid for doorstops in great condition with almost all of the original paint. And, of course, rarity adds value.

This original Uncle Sam doorstop has the words "For the Open Door" on the base. The words "For the Open Door" had a political meaning, and it was not just a statement about how the doorstop was used. A complicated "Open Door" policy was promoted by the U.S. in 1899. It suggested that all countries should allow China and other countries to trade with no tariffs, no special harbor charges, and with no interference or attempts to divide China. There was another Open Door political discussion in 1922, and this discussion probably is the one mentioned on the doorstop. China opened special investment zones in 1928. There were more international discussions and changes in 1978 concerned with China's industry, trade and foreign investment.

The Uncle Sam doorstop is rare and desirable, and this one, with great paint, sold several years ago at a Bertoia Auction for $21,240. The 1985 value was $250.

Q. My sister was given a black Couroc serving tray with 37 presidential coins in it. The coin representing President Gerald R. Ford is in the center. It's 18 by 12 1/2 inches. What can you tell me about it?

A. The Couroc Co. was founded in Monterey, California, by Guthrie Courvoisier in 1948. The name is derived from the first four letters of his last name, "Cour;" with "oc" added to make it sound like "rock." Most Couroc items were made of black metal and embedded with coins, wood, resin or objects from nature. Courvoisier died in 1963 and the company closed in the 1990s. The value of your tray is about $30.

This Uncle Sam doorstop sold for $21,240 in a New Jersey auction. It was listed as worth $250 in 1985. Vintage doorstops have all gone up in value, especially those with the original paint.

HOLLYWOOD

by Tony Rizzo

HOLLYWOOD — Just imagine a meeting, a month or so ago, when HBO Max executives were trying to figure out how to launch their new streaming service to compete with Netflix, Disney+, Amazon Prime, etc.

How do we get noticed? Let's pull the greatest film of all time, "Gone With the Wind," from our service because of the objections of Oscar-winning screenwriter John Ridley (whose screenplay for the remake of "Ben-Hur" tanked and was the biggest disappointment of 2016). His objection is that "[Gone With the Wind] doesn't just fall short with regard to representation, it glorifies the antebellum South."

HBO Max execs had nothing to do with making it or releasing it, yet despite producer David O. Selznick being meticulous in every detail preparing "GWTW," they get to sit in judgment of it?

What part of "based on a novel by Margaret Mitchell" did Ridley not get. The book and film were Scarlett and Rhett's love story told with the Civil War as a backdrop. It was a runaway best seller in 1936 and for many years after, and the film won eight Oscars, including one for Hattie McDaniel, who was the first person of color to ever win an Academy Award. A Harris poll a few years back found "Gone With the Wind" is still America's favorite film, and it's been seen by more people than any other film in motion picture history.

Why should we care if HBO Max doesn't show it? It can be seen often on Turner Classic Movies (TCM), TBS and TNT. Should we start burning copies of the book or never watch this classic film again? Should it be shunned like "Birth of a Nation," the 1915 D.W. Griffith classic silent film that causes outcries every time it's revived? No doubt by the time you read this, "Gone

Warner Bros.

Scene from "Gone With the Wind"

With the Wind" will have been restored to HBO Max (yawn).

When I dined with Butterfly McQueen in 1970, she told me, "Mr. Selznick hired me to play Prissy a year before he went into production. I was the first person signed and was paid to wait for production to start. No detail was too big or too small." HBO Max, why don't you try pulling "The Wizard of Oz," there must be people in Salem against witches and riding tornadoes? Just asking.

***

"Evil Dead" fans are going to get "Evil Dead Now," another sequel of the classic 1981 horror film. Bruce Campbell, who starred in the previous sequels, will only be a producer on this one. One reason may be because he's now an ordained minister in Jacksonville, Oregon, who often performs weddings. Say, "I Do!"

Taking Care of Your Child's Health and Wellness during COVID-19

Like many aspects of daily life, the COVID-19 pandemic has changed how we think about and access healthcare these days. For families, that includes pediatric care for children. We asked Aubrey McBryde, a certified pediatric nurse practitioner at Sovah Pediatrics Danville, to talk about the importance of continuing to seek proper care for your child and answer some frequently asked questions regarding children's health during this time.

Q: Can I still contact my child's pediatrician to talk about a health issue?

A. Absolutely. It is always important and okay for you to contact your child's pediatrician about any health or wellness issues your child may be experiencing, or that you may have questions about - from minor injuries to colds and viruses and other, more serious health conditions. In fact, it's especially important right now to stay alert to your child's health, and call their pediatrician if you think they may have been exposed to COVID-19 or are exhibiting any symptoms you may be worried about.

Depending on your child's issue and symptoms, your pediatrician may want you to come in for a visit or - if deemed appropriate - schedule you for a virtual telehealth visit.

Q: Is it okay to schedule an appointment for my child's annual well visit?

A. Yes. Well visits are an essential part of keeping your child on the road to good health. They provide the opportunity for your child's pediatric provider to conduct a comprehensive evaluation, monitor your child's growth and developmental milestones, ensure that they are up-to-date on immunizations and answer any questions you may have about your child's health.

Now might even be a particularly good time to schedule your child's annual physical. Pediatric offices are taking extra precautions to protect the health and safety of patients and their families, such as scheduling well child exams in the beginning of the day and sick visits later. Your pediatric health care provider may even have a few more openings for these types of visits than usual. Additionally, scheduling an annual physical will help your child be ready for the return of school sports and other activities that require an annual physical and immunization updates.

Q: Should my child wear a mask or cloth face covering?

A: Children do not need to wear a mask or cloth face covering if they are at home and not exposed to someone with COVID-19. The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) recommends that everyone two years and older wear a cloth face covering that covers their nose and mouth when out in the community. Cloth face coverings can help reduce the spread of COVID-19 and should be worn in addition to other measures like social distancing, frequent hand-cleaning and other preventive measures. It is important to remember that cloth face coverings are not intended to protect the person wearing the covering. Rather, they help prevent the spread of illness to others and is especially helpful if the wearer is asymptomatic and unaware that they could be passing illness on to others.

Based on these recommendations, you may want to consider a mask or cloth face covering for your child if you are taking them into a public place where it can be difficult to maintain safe social distances, like grocery stores and other public places. Additionally, if you are visiting your child's pediatrician, they may ask that your child be masked when they enter the office for their safety and the safety of others.

Children under two should not wear a mask due to the potential for suffocation. Those who have trouble breathing, are incapacitated or otherwise unable to remove their face covering without help are also exempted from this recommendation. If your child has special health needs and cannot wear a traditional mask or cloth face covering, you should talk to your pediatrician about other safety options.

Q: How can I help my child cope with what is happening right now?

A: Our current events can be a scary and unsettling time for children, but there are some things you can do to help them, including open discussions about what may be bothering them; answering their questions with simple but honest language; helping them stay connected with friends and family through video chats; and maintaining healthy routines at home that reinforce healthy eating, physical activity, learning, and regular bedtimes.

If your child needs a pediatric primary care provider, Sovah can help. Call 844-GO-SOVAH or visit the Find a Doctor/Provider tab at SovahHealth.com to get connected with care to help your child stay on the road to good health today and for years to come.

Danville Area Humane Society

The Danville Area Humane Society is offering a reward of up to $1,000 for the capture and return of a male gray and white pit bull type dog named Blue.

The dog was being held at the animal shelter, pending the findings of a dangerous dog hearing scheduled to be heard on July 7th. The purpose of this news release is not to litigate the incident that resulted in Blue being impounded and brought to the shelter. Nor should it serve as an emergency alert about a dangerous dog being loose in the City of Danville limits.

About 8:00 on Tuesday morning, Blue was seen by employees climbing out of a dog run. By the time they ran outside to capture him, he had climbed the outside gate. Several shelter employees and the animal control officers spent many hours in the Eastwood Drive area searching for him. A report was received later in the afternoon that he had been seen in the North Main/East Thomas Street area. He may have been seen in the Plum Street area earlier this morning.

"An iron slat was broken away from the top of the cinderblock wall," said Paulette Dean, executive director. "Blue is a powerful dog and must have caused enough damage that he was able to squeeze through the opening. The run, of course, is being repaired and will not be used until repairs are completed."

If anyone sees the dog, please immediately call the authorities at 799-5111, option 8. The person who gives information that leads to the capture of the dog will be eligible for the reward.

Rewards are paid through a private fund and not through taxpayer support.

Our providers are equipped to do Telehealth visits; all you need is a smart phone, tablet, or laptop with a webcam. If you don't have a smart phone but have access to a phone we can do a phone visit with you.

To set up a Telehealth visit please call any one of our offices to get scheduled. Once scheduled you will receive a link by email or text that you can click and come face to face with your provider.

We also have an App that can be downloaded from the App store if you have an iPhone and Google Play store if you have an Android phone. The App is called Healow and you can interact with our offices, see your meds, appointments, summary of care, lab results and pay your bill. You do need to be web-enabled and any of our front desk staff can get you set up with a username and password.

If you come to one of our offices to be seen, expect to be screened before entry. We are encouraging Telehealth visits if you have a wellness, follow-up for chronic care, Well Child or Behavioral Health visits.

If you feel sick, are running a fever, have a cough, we encourage you to be seen in our offices. We will screen you and have you wait in your car until we have a room available to keep you from being exposed or exposing someone else.

- PATHS Healthcare for Women is still seeing all of our OB patients at the office, normal GYN appointments have been rescheduled.

* Someone late for dinner? To keep potatoes warm without drying them out (as would happen in an oven), set their serving dish in a larger pan of hot water and cover.

* "I use a small plastic bowl as a scoop in my big bag of potting mix. It's a good amount to pot a small plant, and I can hold my pot over the bowl to save the soil." -- R.F. in Oregon

* Give your buttons a boost! Use clear nail polish to strengthen the strings holding your buttons in place. Just a drop on the face of each button, and let dry. You'll never know it's there, but it definitely helps.

* "Remember this old trick when camping: Use salt to keep ice cold and slow the melt. In fact, I salt the ice in the cooler whenever we use it, camping or not!" -- G.L. in South Carolina * Challenge your school-age kids or grandkids to a "word scavenger hunt" in the daily newspaper. You can have them search for words relating to a particular subject, or have a contest to see who can find the most unusual or complex words. It gets them reading and looking! Preschool-age kids can use a magazine to do a scavenger hunt for certain items, like colors, animals, kitchen items, etc.

* Mark a reusable water bottle with time measurements so you'll know if you are drinking enough during the day.

Strange BUT TRUE

By Lucie Winborne

* During the Great Fire of New Orleans in 1788, priests refused to allow church bells to be rung as fire alarms because it was Good Friday. As a result, 856 buildings burned during the conflagration.

* Ancient Egyptians believed that men menstruated too and that blood in men's urine and stool was a positive sign of fertility. Little did they know that parasitic worms were the likely cause.

* It would take less than six months to get to the moon by car at 60 mph.

* It's not every day that a man in love demonstrates his affection by holding a funeral, but future president Ulysses S. Grant wasn't every man. When his future wife Julia's pet canary died, he painstakingly fashioned a small coffin for it, which he painted yellow, then summoned eight of his fellow military officers to Julia's house, where he conducted a service for the bird.

* Babe Ruth once said he knew he didn't swing hard enough if "a little poop didn't come out."

* August Rodin's work "The Age of Bronze" was so realistic that some people thought he'd actually sacrificed a real person inside the cast.

* English poet Lord Byron was a student at Cambridge University when he took issue with the ban on keeping dogs as pets, so he came up with a unique way of getting back at the school: Since there was no prohibition in the fine print against bears on campus (probably because they'd never had a pupil quite like Byron before), he not only found a bear to keep as a pet, but also took it for walks around the grounds on a leash.

* Despite being raised and identifying as Jewish, singer-songwriter Leonard Cohen spent five years in seclusion at the Mt. Baldy Zen Center in California and was ordained a Buddhist monk in 1996. ***

Thought for the Day: "Keep away from people who try to belittle your ambitions. Small people always do that, but the really great make you feel that you, too, can become great." -- Mark Twain
