Firestone's Million Hours

MUSCLE SHOALS-- The Muscle Shoals plant for Firestone Building Products Company, LLC recently celebrated the milestone of working one million man-hours without a lost-time accident. That is an accomplishment over nine years in the making.

The announcement from the company headquarters in Indianapolis, Indiana was made last week "Safety is ingrained in our operations. Our commitment to safety reflects the commitment of all teammates from leadership to the plant floor," said Coy L. Johnson, plant manager. "This accomplishment reflects the hard work of many. I am pleased that our plant is joining other Firestone Building Products facilities that have achieved this significant milestone."

Firestone has an established safety and health program that includes training, evaluation of basic systems, internal audits, and continuous improvement. Daily, monthly and quarterly meetings focus on workplace safety and process safety management. Teammates are fully engaged in the safety process and there is active, visible involvement of all levels of management.

The Muscle Shoals plant produces thermoplastic polyolefin (TPO) single-ply roofing membranes for high performance roofing systems, and will celebrate its 10th anniversary in 2016. The plant has been recognized with five internal safety awards for dedication to employee safety in the workplace since 2006.

An expansion of the Muscle Shoals plant operations was completed in 2013.

I know; this offer seems almost “too good.” So let me explain -

Energy costs keep going higher. (And what's going to happen this coming winter)? So high-efficiency heating and cooling systems are probably going up too.

Put up to $1,700 in your pocket now, and kiss repair bills goodbye for 10 years.

Yet if I know this business (after 30 years), this offer will not be available when the rest of the market “wises up” and wants in. But if you act now, get the comfort now, and lock in savings now...you don't have to pay anything out of pocket.

Check this out - Here's how you can win 5 different ways...

1. Call 256-381-7195 for your Free Energy Survey. You've spent nothing.
2. Our Comfort Advisor will tell you how much a new system can save you. As much as 20%! Still, nothing spent.
3. You'll get options to select a top-level Lennox heating & cooling system for comfort and reliability. Plus a 10 year repair warranty to back it up! Approved buyers can...
4. Get up to $1,700 cash to use any way you want. (Straight from Lennox, no hidden surprises). And...
5. Enjoy no money down financing with payments as low as $69 per month.

How can you lose on that? There is one small “catch”: 1) We ask to use your energy reduction figures for ads (Name optional).

That's it. Call Fuller Heating and Air at 256-381-7195 for your free survey soon.

(Calls are being taken 24 hrs. 7 days for this offer and may be busy. Please be patient!)

ASK THE ATTORNEY

Thomas McCutcheon

Ask the Attorney is sponsored by local attorneys, McCutcheon & Hamner, PC, as a service to the residents of NW Alabama.

Q I have a quitclaim deed and someone said I should have a warranty deed. What is the difference?

Jeff, Athens, AL

A The difference truly depends on what you intend to do with the property. If the true owner of the property gave you a quitclaim deed to the property and you have recorded that deed, you hold good legal title to the property. No one would have a superior interest.

On the other hand, anyone can give you a quitclaim deed to any property. A quitclaim deed only transfers whatever interest someone may have in a particular piece of property. That interest could be 0% or 100%. Often a quitclaim deed conveys a partial interest in property. A quitclaim deed is only as valid as the interest in the property owned by the person who deeded the property to you.

A warranty deed on the other hand actually offers a warranty that they own the property. It is a stronger instrument that should not be given if there is any question about the property that is described in the deed.

When lawyers and bankers and people who regularly buy and sell land consider deeds, what we think about is how perfect is the chain of title. That is in many respects is required, and should be by a potential buyer to the property. More importantly, it is truly determined by a commercial lending institution loaning money with the property used as security. This concept is called marketability.

If I had any question about the ownership of a particular piece of property, I would ask for and purchase what is known as an abstract of title. An abstract traces every owner of that particular piece of property back to the United States of America, at least every one I have ever seen. There may be some exceptions to that in other areas of our country. An abstract of title will settle your curiosity about the true ownership of the property and a policy of title insurance will offer a guarantee of title. Both are offered through title companies that are set up to sell these. An abstract of title is usually not very expensive although I have not priced one in some time.

A third type of deed I think people should know about is a deed reserving a life estate. This gives the person who owns the life estate the right to live on the property as long as they are alive but gives the future owner of the property an interest in the property as well. This effectively destroys the value of the property and protects the property from governmental interests arising from long term care if the deed is executed more than five (5) years before long term care begins.

Alabama Parks Face an Uncertain Future

In the wake of the announcement to close five state parks and cut services and hours at other parks around the state, there have been many questions asked about the future of our state parks and what citizens can do to help. The best way to support the parks is to get out and visit them! ALL of Alabama's State Parks are still open to guests. We hope citizens will get out and visit them as our peak fall foliage viewing time arrives over the next few weeks around the state.

With Columbus Day coming up Monday, it will be one of the last opportunities for many to visit these parks before they close. On October 15 the following parks will close their gates: Bladon Springs, Chickasaw, Paul Grist, Roland Cooper and Florida.

I want to be clear with the public that currently all parks are open. We are working diligently to formulate a plan for the future of the state parks system. Finding a long-term solution is difficult as the parks system is faced with an unprecedented situation. Over the past five years $15 million has been transferred from the parks' budget to the general fund budget. There is difficulty in creating long- and short-term plans for the parks because there is so much uncertainty about the future of the parks' funding.

The future of the parks becomes a philosophical question of value: Do Alabamians believe the

Racist Pound Proposal

Editor:

Your commentaries about most subjects are conservative demagoguery that champion popular prejudices, false claims, and stereotypes to gain celebrity and power. Your commentary on location of the dog pound/animal shelter (October 7, No Local Shelters from Social Storm) is typical of the biased tone you wish to exploit and are deservedly famous for. However, it purposely coddles a left wing agenda of wasting millions of dollars of taxpayer's money on a state-of-the-art dog pound that is serendipitous by design: It adversely affects the predominately African American community.

My analysis and opinion of you is subjective, but at the same time complimentary as it places you on the same scholarly level of such notaries as Wallace, Bilbo, and Duke.

I called the decision by Mayor Haddock to locate the dog pound on Fairground Road racist. I can sustain this representation based on theory of adverse impact and pattern and practice of civil entities locating dumps, dog pounds, and undesirable constructs in predominately African American neighborhoods or communities.

When predominately European immigrant neighborhoods existed in New York in the 1800's, dumps and undesirable constructs were likely placed in their neighborhoods. This was and is the practice of the majority race or ethnicity adversely impacting the disadvantaged and undesirable underclass. African Americans are the perennial underclass in the United States because of their race. The City of Florence located a dump and dog pound on the West Side in an African American neighborhood and their property values soared and the community was proud to have the twin assets in their community: Facetious.

DAVE Says

by DAVE RAMSEY

FORCING LITTLE BROTHER TO GROW UP

Dear Dave,
I'm having issues with my youngest brother, and I need some advice. He's 25, divorced and has two kids. He only wants to play dad when it's convenient for him, and he's very irresponsible with money as well. Our parents passed away a few years ago, so this leaves me to be the big brother and dad at the same time. I worry about him, but I'm not sure how to help him grow up. Any advice?
Jeremy

Dear Jeremy,
One of the bad things about these situations is watching people you love do stupid things to themselves and the people around them. And I don't know that there's really a lot you can do without becoming the enemy to some degree. You can always try to hold him to a higher standard and refuse to tolerate immature, irresponsible behavior when you're around him. You might even look for opportunities to use yourself as an example. Point out areas in your life where you made mistakes in the past and how you fixed the problems. But to go out and directly intervene in his life, trying to force him to be a man, would be a tough thing to pull off.

When I help people on my show, I have the benefit of them calling in and actually looking to me for help. These people actually care about what I think. I don't just walk up to folks and say, "You know, what you're doing there is really stupid. Let me fix you." I think that's kind of the situation you're in right now. I would also begin to pray for him, and ask God to bring people into his life who will have a positive impact.

You never know what might happen, and asking Him for help is never a bad idea. Who knows? He might even start dating some strong, mature young woman who'll jerk a knot in his tail and straighten him up!

LATE FEES

Dear Dave,
Our family has an account at a movie rental store. I rented a movie the other day, and forgot to take it back on time. The late fees add up to $20. I'm in college and have a part-time job, so my parents think I should pay the late fees. They started the account, so shouldn't they have to pay the fees?
Angie

Dear Angie,
Technically, I'm sure your parents are responsible for the account. But think about this. You're the one who rented the movie and forgot to take it back on time. If you have a job and access to money, I think you should be the one to make things right.

Chalk this one up as a learning experience, Angie. If you're grown up enough to be in college and have a job, then you're grown up enough to start cleaning up your own messes. That's the way life works. It doesn't mean that your parents don't love you. In fact, it means that they love you enough to teach you a valuable lesson in responsibility!

Parks...

state should operate and manage a parks system affordable to all? Or will financial constraints force the parks system to move to a model where only affluent citizens can afford a day hike at their local park? In the future, if the Legislature continually transfers funds from the state parks system's coffers, our parks will continue to be forced to adjust services accordingly.

Our parks system has tightened its belt since 2012 when these transfers began. Despite seeing our money siphoned to other areas of government, we've been successful in helping our entire system thrive. For the first time in nearly two decades all facilities at the parks are operational. We were able to have one of our best peak seasons ever this summer. Unfortunately, we're now seeing nearly all of the revenue made off this record season transferred to the general fund.

The state parks system is just that, a system. Parks, like Lake Guntersville and Gulf State gross more than tenfold what smaller parks gross each year. All parks have benefitted from money spent at each and every park. The money goes to a fund shared by all parks, and the larger parks absorb the costs associated with parks slated to close across the state. With our funds depleted again, we're not able to sustain this model. Therefore, these smaller parks no longer have the funding necessary to operate.

Our parks have entered into many concessionaire agreements where private businesses operate attractions at the parks, with the parks system receiving a portion of those revenues. Attracting and maintaining these concessionaire agreements will be difficult for the parks in the future, as no business wants to make a risky investment at a park that could close in a year, two years, or maybe five years. These concessionaires have been important in growing our parks system by helping to attract guests. These attractions were a reason the parks had such a successful summer season.

As the leaves change and fall colors paint the state, I encourage you to visit your parks. Consider hosting a Thanksgiving picnic at one of our parks or braving the trails at one of the Halloween attractions offered at numerous parks. The future of the state parks system depends on the people who love the parks getting out and visiting them. We hope you'll join us this fall at one of our beautiful state parks.

HOME & Garden IMPROVEMENT

AUTUMN YARD WORK GONE 'GREEN'

Autumn marks the time to transition from the hot days of summer to the chilly weather of winter. As people remove sweaters and long pants from storage, cleaning up their yards also may be on their minds.

Fall is a season of beautiful foliage, but once that magical color show is over, thousands of leaves have fallen to the ground, necessitating a few weekends' worth of yard work. Some homeowners may be on the lookout for environmentally friendly ways to handle autumn yard work, and thankfully there are plenty of eco-friendly ways to tackle such tasks.

LEAVES
The tallest task with regard to fall yard work is collecting the leaves that fall to the ground. Some homeowners prefer to wait until all of the leaves have fallen before starting the collection process, while others handle the task in stages to make it more manageable. Regardless of your timing, skip the noisy gas- or electric-powered leaf blower in favor of a reliable rake. Raking not only collects the leaves but also helps men and women burn calories while ensuring they are not creating any noise or air pollution.

Invest in a durable, ergonomic rake to get the job done quickly and without injury. Innovators are constantly reinventing the rake, and now there are designs that do not trap leaves, saving homeowners from the time-consuming tasks of cleaning the rake's teeth. Rake on a calm day so the wind isn't thwarting your efforts.

When it comes time to bag the leaves, use biodegradable paper bags or look for mesh-like bags that are made from cornstarch. These are more eco-friendly than plastic bags, which can take much longer to decompose.

You won't need to dispose of all the leaves you collect. Shred some to use as mulch, which can prevent soil erosion during the winter. Some leaves can be added to compost piles or used as a soil amendment in planting beds.

COMPOST
Autumn is an ideal time of year to get started on building a compost bin. Take advantage of the cooler temperatures to make outdoor work more comfortable.

According to the Audubon Society, American yards generate two tons of clippings each year. A lot of that waste ends up being bagged and thrown away. Instead of producing waste, compost leaves and grass trimmings to use as valuable fertilizer come the spring planting season.

When choosing a location for your compost bins, be sure to place them a good distance away from the house but near enough to garden beds. Most yard waste and food debris can be added to the compost pile. Just avoid animal products, which can produce harmful bacteria.

Keep the compost damp and turn it periodically to facilitate the decomposition process. Soak finished compost in water to create "compost tea." This liquid mixture can be sprayed on lawns in the fall to give the yard a nutrient boost that promotes healthy regrowth when the warmer weather returns.

Eco-friendly lawn care can save energy, money and natural resources.

Skip the leaf blower and pick up a rake for eco-friendly leaf cleanup.

It Happens

So it finally happened. Lora, our daughter, called me up crying. "Mom, I let Ruby fall out of the play yard. I was on the other side of the room, with my back to her for only a few minutes. The bad thing is that we were at the Unschool [where my daughter is the administrator and Ruby spends her afternoons] and she fell onto the warehouse floor. I think she's okay. [sob] I'm not sure. I'm awful. I don't exactly know how it happened. By the time I turned around, she was on her belly on the floor. Her arms seem okay [sniff]...there are no knots or bruises...Oh, Mom..."

As I listened to our daughter in distress, I remembered having the same moment with her, except I didn't call my mom to confess. I simply waited for her to arrive from NC the next day to see for herself the pump knot on the baby's head. I had left Lora on a downward sloping bed for a moment while I left the room. She had never rolled over until that moment. I heard the thud. I don't remember Lora crying, but I cried a plenty. And she did get a risin', a bubble, a pump knot - whatever you call a swollen bruised lump on her head. I knew my mom was going to think that I didn't know what I was doing. She was going to think that I was awful. I waited for the hammer to fall the next day, but it didn't. My mom simply said, "It happens." I had beat myself up for 24 hours and that's all she had to say.

And that is basically, what I said to Lora, "It happens."

ask her about swelling and inflammation. I also asked her to check Ruby's eyes to see if her pupils were even. But while I was asking questions and trying to calm Lora down, I could hear Ruby jabbering in the background. She was fine. What's that saying? "God takes care of children and fools."

Ruby is six months old and is crawling all over the place. That first year, babies are prone to getting bonks. Every time they change their outlook, accidents can happen. When they first start rolling over, sitting up, crawling, pulling up to standing, walking - falling will happen. There's something about having big heads and little feet. It's just an unstable situation. So young moms don't be too hard on yourselves when the bumps happen. But do be aware and perhaps put blankets down on the hardwood floor or pillows in the play yard cage. And when you think that baby is about to change in his uprightness, then it probably will happen sooner than you think. So be conscious of where you are putting that car seat, bouncy seat or swing. Now I sound like a grandma - oh yeah, I am one!

When grandmother was coming, our children would always manage to be bumped or bruised. But my mom understood because she had been there and done that. So, don't cry too hard when that first accident happens. You're not the first person it's happened to - just ask your mama.

Buying a Puppy

Find your perfect pup by asking the right questions

By Kim Campbell Thornton
Universal Uclick

If you're buying a puppy for the first time, or if it has been a few years since you last acquired one, you might be unsure of where to begin. A lot has changed in the puppy-purchasing world in the past decade. Whether you are looking for a purebred pup, a "designer" dog or one from a shelter, you are no longer limited to your local classifieds, breeders, shelters or rescue groups. You may see available pups through social media, Craigslist, Petfinder.com, online pet stores or fliers at your veterinary clinic or pet-supply store, to name just a few.

What hasn't changed is the importance of asking the right questions before you plunk down hundreds or thousands of dollars for a puppy who will, in a perfect world, live with you for the next 10-plus years. Before you fall in love with the first cute pup you see (or even better, before you look at puppies), get good answers to the following questions.

❖ What are the potential genetic or developmental problems that can affect this breed or crossbreed, and what is the incidence of these problems in your lines? What are the strong and weak points of the health, temperament and conformation of the parents, grandparents and great-grandparents? A reputable breeder will answer these questions honestly and thoroughly. Be doubtful of breeders who claim their dogs don't have any problems. That may be because they don't test for them.

❖ What health clearances do the puppies' parents have? Whether you're buying a purebred or a hybrid (designer) pup, the breeders should be able to show you up-to-date proof that both parents are free of hereditary ailments. Depending on the breed or cross, these may include but are not limited to Orthopedic Foundation for Animals or PennHIP hip clearances; and OFA elbow, knee, eye, thyroid or heart clearances. Check the Canine Health Information Center (caninehealthinfo.org) to find out which clearances your breed should have. If you're buying a hybrid (one breed crossed to another breed), the breeder should have appropriate clearances for each breed. Hip, elbow and knee clearances are issued only once in a dog's life, but eye, heart and thyroid exams should be performed annually.

❖ How old are the parents? Health clearances are not issued to dogs younger than 2 years old because those dogs are not yet fully mature and health problems may not be apparent.

❖ Do you guarantee a puppy's health? A breeder who is confident in the health of her dogs will offer a guarantee against genetic defects for up to two years after the puppy is purchased. With exceptions such as epilepsy, which usually appears later in life, genetic problems typically surface by the time a dog is 2 years old.

❖ How do you socialize your puppies? Choose puppies raised in a home with plenty of human interaction. They will be more confident and adaptable throughout life.

❖ What does your sales contract include? Look for the following basics: the sale price; the pup's birthdate and parents' names; details of health guarantees; return policy; and any breeding restrictions, spay/neuter requirements or other agreements related to the sale. A great sales contract states that the breeder will take the dog back at any time in his life and that the breeder has first right to the dog or will provide assistance in placement in any situation in which you cannot keep him, such as a divorce, illness or death.

Making the right match when selecting a breeder and puppy calls for strong research and interviewing skills and plenty of patience to wait for the right one, but the effort pays off in puppy love for life.

What's your state's pet health record?

• What's one of the times when cats beat out dogs? When they eat toxic plants. The American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals' Animal Poison Control Center received more than 9,000 calls in 2013 about animals eating plants. That's up from almost 8,000 in 2008, and cats led dogs in the number of exposures. Nearly 1,000 plants are known to be toxic to pets, so it's important to pay attention to what you have in your home or yard. If you are a gardener or simply love potted plants or floral arrangements, remember that the more beautiful a plant is, the more likely it is to be toxic. Lilies, in particular, can cause kidney failure and death in cats.

• Would-be veterinarians and animal lovers with an appetite for drama won't want to miss the show "Vet School," which premiered in September on Nat Geo WILD. It follows 1st- and 4th-year students at Cornell University's College of Veterinary Medicine as they learn to give injections, repair bone fractures, handle squirmy patients and deal with the emotional ups and downs of their chosen profession. Look for it on Saturdays at 10 p.m. EST, or binge-watch it at channel.nationalgeographic.com/wild/vet-school/.

• Petting reduces stress and lowers the incidence of upper respiratory disease in shelter cats. That's according to a study published in the October 2015 issue of the peer-reviewed journal Preventive Veterinary Medicine. Cats in the study were petted, played with and groomed in four 10-minute sessions daily for a 10-day period. Cats who didn't receive positive attention from people were more than twice as likely to develop upper respiratory disease over time and showed more signs of stress. Our takeaway? Shelters need more volunteers to pet cats. Who's in?

News & Tips on the Shoals Market

You're Ready to Sell Your House. Really?

Why are you considering selling? Is it because you know you're ready, and can visualize yourself in another house? If not, there may be external reasons. You have to decide if those reasons are valid. If there's no way around it, I'm sorry. That happens sometimes. People sometimes have to move before they are ready, and it is emotional. But just know that you get to take the most important parts of your home with you, no matter what: your family and the memories you've made there. The people living inside are what makes a house a home. As hard as it may be to accept now, you will make new memories at a new location, and will take the memories you made in your current home with you wherever you go.

If your home has been on the market a while, could you be the reason your home hasn't sold yet? If so, are those reasons emotional ones? Would it actually put you out if it sold? Or would it be a relief, an open avenue to new beginnings? Think back on suggestions your Realtor made before listing, and feedback you have received from showings. The items in feedback may not be important to you, but the buyer pointed them out to their Realtor as reasons why they would not buy your house. Obviously, you can't do much about the floor plan. But if you get multiple mentions of carpet needing to be replaced, then replacing your carpet may be the only thing holding you back. If it's a suggestion from your Realtor, why haven't you done it? For example, most people have to de-personalize their homes in order for them to show well. You want the buyers to be able to picture themselves in the house, not you. Above all, that means taking down pictures. If that is tough for you, you may not be ready.

You might have even done these things partially, but are not 100% committed. Being ready to sell means being willing to make it work. Are you willing to do whatever it takes, within reason, to sell it? Know that, whatever your answer is, it's ok. But if you are still emotionally invested and not ready to let go of your home, and you don't HAVE to move, then maybe it's not quite time to list it. -mr

Actions Out of Control

However, I think some of their actions are a little out of control.

Recently, I stopped about 8am to leave something for an 83 year old friend. When I turned into her driveway, multiple police cars were there with blue lights flashing. There stood my friend in her robe so frightened. I thought she had experienced another burglary. After inquiring, I found that the police were there because she had placed a For Sale sign on the street to sell her two little Shih Tzus.

Really? How can you do this with all the yard sale, real estate, political and other signs placed all over Florence? Don't you have a more critical need to police? You could have caused her to have a heart attack. I heard one of them say, "It is the law and you must abide by it." This judgment of the law is an injustice to her.

They could help her to prevent a fall and many other possible problems by helping her to find a home for the little beauties instead of threatening her like a criminal.

If you would like to help her, you may call Martha at 256-767-1118.

Illegals Muster Electoral Votes

Dear Sir:

A very disturbing fact has come to my attention, and I wish to alert your readers and urge them to call Congressional members and demand that it be fixed. The law is clear on the point that only citizens are qualified to vote, but the Electoral College which elects the President makes a mockery of this fact. The number of votes allocated to each state is based indirectly on census figures that count illegals as well as citizens in each Congressional District without making a distinction. Therefore, states such as California get electoral votes that exceed the allocation that would result based on the population of legal voters. A quick review places this number in California is about five votes. Nationwide the number is about ten votes which can sway an election in favor of the open borders crowd. This is unfair and probably illegal. Congress can fix it prior to the 2016 election. The electoral votes should be based on the number of votes cast by qualified voters, not some fictional formula that allows illegals to influence Presidential elections. There is a case before the Supreme Court during this term that will have a direct bearing on the issue, but it will not resolve it. It is about redistribution of Congressional Districts, and since the number of Representatives determine the State's electoral vote, the makeup of each District is very important.

Pay Attention!!

7 Judgments

2 Timothy 4:8 "Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day: and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing." There is only one judge that judges righteous all the time and it's the LORD. 2 Timothy 2:15 "Study: to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing (not properly handling) the word of truth." First, get saved, then get an old King James Bible; study it, and compare scripture with scripture and quit twisting the scriptures to meet your preconceived notions and beliefs, and you will easily see all seven. #1. Calvary, God's judgment on His Son for our sin. See 2Corinthians 5:21. #2. Believers self judgment. See 1Corinthians 11:30-32. #3. For the saved. The Judgment seat of Christ. See 2Corinthians 5:10. #4. White throne judgment. For the lost and damned of all the ages. See Revelation 20: 11-15. #5. The nations. See Matthew 25:31&32. #6. The Jews. See Matthew 24:1-51. Great tribulation. #7. Judgment of angels. See 1Corinthians 6:3.

We'll just briefly look at two of these. #4. The White Throne. Revelation 20. These folks don't have a Saviour. The books that contain their works are opened and the Book of life is opened to see if their name is in there. If it's not, they are judged according to their works and cast into the Lake of fire. This will be a most horrifying situation. This is where your life of sin finally catches up with you. Payday has come, and now you will be faced with paying for your own sins forever.

#3. 2Corinthians 5:10. The judgment seat of Christ. These people are saved and have believed on Christ and received Him as savior and Lord. Their eternal destiny is not in question here, but their works done in the body after they were saved, are examined here by the Lord Jesus Christ. They will receive loss or reward at this judgment. Sadly many Christians will see a huge bonfire at this judgment. You're saved here, but your works have gone up in smoke. See 1Corinthians 3:10-17. Read these scriptures. You want to go to heaven, trust Christ, you want to go to hell, do nothing or trust yourself or your works and church. Rest assured, you'll get what you've got coming, in either place.

Let the Utility Company Buy Your New Comfort System and Put up to $1,700 in your Pocket!

- Plus lower your energy bills as much as 20%
- Plus have no repair bills for 10 solid years
- AND no money down financing!

This offer is 100% true. There are no gimmicks, service charges, or "hidden" fees.

I know; this offer seems almost "too good." So let me explain -

Our extreme temperatures are really taking a toll on older and less efficient units. The house seems to stay too hot in the summer, too cold in the winter. But that's not all...

Energy costs keep going higher. (And what's going to happen this coming winter)? So high-efficiency heating and cooling systems are probably going up too.

The longer you use your older energy-robbing system, you may be losing more money on utilities and repairs than a new one would cost! Especially when you can...

Put up to $1,700 in your pocket now, and kiss repair bills goodbye for 10 years.

Yet if I know this business (after 30 years), this offer will not be available when the rest of the market "wises up" and wants in. But if you act now, get the comfort now, and lock in savings now...you don't have to pay anything out of pocket.

That's it. Call Fuller Heating and Air at 256-381-7195 for your free survey soon. (Calls are being taken 24 hrs. 7 days for this offer and may be busy. Please be patient!)

1. Call 256-381-7195 for your Free Energy Survey. You've spent nothing.
2. Our Comfort Advisor will tell you how much a new system can save you. As much as 20%! Still, nothing spent.
3. You'll get options to select a top-level Lennox heating & cooling system for comfort and reliability. Plus a 10 year repair warranty to back it up! Approved buyers can...
4. Get up to $1,700 cash to use any way you want. (Straight from Lennox, no hidden surprises). And...
5. Enjoy no money down financing with payments as low as $69 per month.

How can you lose on that? There is one small "catch": 1) We ask to use your energy reduction figures for future ads (Name optional).

Ian Teaches Aaron

Aaron: "It seems to me that having many different churches is a good thing."

Ian: "Well, Aaron, the Bible does not teach it is good."

Aaron: "What do you mean?"

Ian: "Paul told the Christians at Corinth 'that you all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you...'" (1 Cor. 1:10).

Aaron: "I see that, but why is it not a good thing?"

Ian: "The Bible condemns division. Jesus said that we are to be united (Jn. 17:21). It also confuses people when they hear different accounts of Jesus' teaching."

Aaron: "How can we be united?"

Ian: "We need to study the Bible and carefully follow what it says."
