THE LAW
AND YOU

BY NATHAN D. PACE
ATTORNEY AT LAW

CHALLENGING A DIVORCE AGREEMENT

A marital settlement agreement is a contract that determines the distribution of property, finances, child support, and other terms of divorce. While legally binding, the contract may be challenged if the challenging party can prove duress, lack of full and fair disclosure, or lack of capacity. A claim of duress would offer proof that an individual was forced to sign a contract through threat of physical harm. Lack of disclosure would require evidence that the other party withheld information that would have kept a person from signing the contract were he or she aware of it. Finally, lack of capacity would have to show that a person was mentally incapable of entering into a legal contract when signing it.

Trying to get through your divorce on your own, even if it's an amicable, uncontested divorce, is a major mistake that could cost you a lot of money. The Law Office of MACK & PACE will work closely with you through the whole case, giving you the guidance and support you need while you deal with this difficult transition. To schedule an appointment, please call (585)798-1000.

INK YOUR MIND

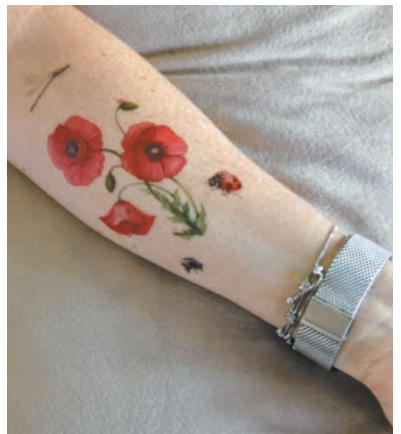

I have always found body art, aka Tattoos, very intriguing. Sometimes I even partake. But don't let my proclamation fool you, because needles leave me feeling queasy. In order for me to display body art, it is going to have to be the temporary paint or press on variety. Another pain free option is the Henna Tattoo. Both can last a couple weeks and involve no puncturing of the skin. A proper Tattoo is created by injecting pigments into your skin to create permanent designs. Tattoos were first discovered on the remains of a body in the glacial ice alps. They predict the time period to be 3250 BCE. Not sure exactly the scope of that timeframe, but it sounds like a very long time ago. The remains had 61 Tattoos on them. Tattoos can be Decorative, such as a pretty butterfly or Symbolic, such as a wedding band around your finger or even Pictorial, such as a photo of a loved one. There are many reasons Tattoos are given. Current times allow for mostly consenting Tattoos, meaning the Receiver wants one. History tells us Tattoos have not always been consenting like in Nazi Germany when Tattoos were forceably given to identify Victims of The Camps. I read that sometimes Tattoos are given to those afflicted with Alzheimers for their safety so they can be identified if they wander. The concept of a makeup Tattoo is very appealing. Yep, that is a real thing. Imagine never having to apply lipstick again because the color is Tattooed upon your lips. That would be very handy right now with masks and all. I read the lipstick industry is suffering due to fallen sales in the last few months. Totally makes sense. It is difficult to keep lipstick on while wearing a mask. To me Tattoos are like Inking what is on your mind or in your heart. If the emotion created is strong enough a Tattoo will surely keep it in your path of site.. a reminder of what brings you joy or purpose. My Cousin and I were talking about getting a Tattoo and she actually braved up and got one. If I thought I could work up the nerve I would put it on my 2020 Vision Board. However, I fear I may chicken out once the Tattoo machine starts buzzing and only sure things go on the Vision Board. In order to have a Tattoo one must possess their full faculties, which means no consuming "liquid courage" prior. Good thing my linen closet has an assortment of fun Tattoos, like flags, flowers, bees, butterflies, henna and lots more. There are all kinds of fun Tattoos for purchase. Consider it an accessory and next time you are heading to a fun event, maybe slap one on. It is bound to create some comments and laughter from those who just "Can not believe you got a Tattoo!". Don't tell your secret. For a moment in time put on a brave face and let everyone believe that you are carefree and Inked Your Mind OR brave up and get real Ink!

Share your Inking Ideas. Visit My Blog live online at <https://www.positiveperksposts.com> and catch up on weekly photo perks and past Sunday posts. Like and Share Your Comments.

Travel Thoughts By Kim

Let's go on an adventure together...to The Mississippi River!

Who hasn't heard of the Mississippi River? If you've ever read Mark Twain's Tom Sawyer stories, you know it well. In grade school, you probably learned how to spell it by saying "M-i-crooked letter-crooked letter-i-crooked letter-crooked letter-i-hump back-hump back-i". It passes through ten states: Minnesota, Wisconsin, Iowa, Illinois, Missouri, Kentucky, Tennessee, Arkansas, Mississippi, and Louisiana, so if you have visited any of these states, you likely saw it in person. The Mighty Mississippi River is the second longest river in North America and the fourth longest river in the world. It is, in deed, mighty and famous from stories of the old south and steam boats and being a major link for commerce to ship goods across the country.

I've seen the Mississippi River up close several times. I was so excited to get to visit the Head Waters on the cross country trip I took with my brother and sister-in-law in their motorhome in 2016. The Mississippi River begins at Lake Itasca, Minnesota (the word Itasca means True Head). The location of the Mississippi Head Waters is the only place anywhere along the Mississippi River where you can actually walk across it - it is the narrowest, shallowest, and slowest flow, allowing easy wading and playing in the waters.

Post marking the spot of the Mississippi River Head Waters at Lake Itasca, Minnesota. The inscription reads: "Here 1475 feet above the ocean, the Mighty Mississippi begins to flow on its winding way 2552 miles to the Gulf of Mexico"

The location of the Head Waters is a beautiful area. There is a wonderful Visitor's Center with lots of amazing information and Native American artifacts and several walking trails. There is a spot where they installed steps so you can walk down to the absolute narrowest point of the river and walk across to another set of steps on the other side. Lake Itasca is stunning and the spot where it flows to feed the start of the Mississippi is a wonderful place to get in and wade and play in the water. And... YES... of course I got in at both the narrowest spot and the actual Head Waters and did walk across the Mississippi. It was so much fun. There were many times on that trip that I declared "This is the BEST thing, yet!" but this is one that sticks out as one of the coolest things we did. It is an experience I'll never forget.

The spot where Lake Itasca in Minnesota flows to form the start of the Mississippi River. We drove along and crossed the Mississippi many times on that trip as we traveled through several states - including when we got to see the Gateway Arch in St. Louis, Missouri. But, the next major experience we had on the Mississippi was in New Orleans, Louisiana. We were visiting family there - my nephew and his family lived in Houma, LA at the time - and we all took a river boat cruise out of the French Quarter in New Orleans. We took the Natchez - one of only two true steam boats still active on the Mississippi River, today. The Natchez cruised from the heart of the French Quarter along the crescent of the Mississippi River, which is the deepest point of the river at 200 feet deep - giving us the honor of being able to say we were at the start and end, as well as, the shallowest and the deepest points of the Mighty Mississippi all in one trip! It was so beautiful and gave us a view of New Orleans that can't be seen from the streets. On this cruise, we saw everything from sandy beaches with people out for a stroll or fishing, to major industry like a Domino Sugar Refinery and oil refineries, to shipping operations, to the beautiful New Orleans skyline... what a diverse section of the river - just amazing! I thoroughly enjoyed checking this major bucket list item off my list - Take a River Boat Cruise on the Mississippi!

The Mississippi River in New Orleans, Louisiana. This is the deepest point of the river at 200 feet deep and is the last part of the river before the delta flows into the Gulf of Mexico.

On my trip to Iowa in 2017, I had another memorable experience with the Mississippi River. I stayed in Dubuque and discovered a wonderful River Walk park along the Mississippi. I spent a lot of time strolling along the river looking at the amazing sculptures by local artists and enjoying the beautiful weather. That River Walk happens to have views of the first railroad bridge built across the Mississippi in 1867-68. Andrew Carnegie supplied the iron for the $800,000 railroad bridge spanning 1,535 feet, which provided an alternative to ferry crossings across the river. The bridge is still in use, today - I watched a train cross it! There is also the remains of an old shot tower constructed in 1856 to produce lead shot ammunition. Molten lead was poured into the top of the tower and passed through a series of sieves to form the proper shot size. The shots then fell into a tank of cold water at the bottom of the tower. It was so cool to see and learn about these historic points of interest along the Mississippi River.

Thank you.

So many wonderful people to thank. First, I would like to thank Kevin Bogan for the wonderful care he showed my family, Jim Freas and the great bunch of veterans for a wonderful tribute, and the many friends and family for cards, flowers, and well wishes. You will never know how much it has meant to us. Thank you to Buffalo General and Dr. Madejski and his office for their support. A special thanks to my husband, daughter and three grandchildren for all they have done. And last, but not least, a big thank you to my dad, Robert Varley, who gave me a great childhood. Slumber parties at the lake, building me a playhouse, outdoor playground, ice skating rink, helping with homework, and summer vacations every year. Those were the best. You even let me help you with some plumbing jobs. I hope that sink stayed on the wall at the Y! The song says, "In heaven there is no beer," but somehow I think you might find some! God bless, dad. I love you forever and always.

'Berry' Bountiful Muffins

Blueberries are tiny powerhouses of nutrition and eating more of them can be an easy way to get the antioxidants necessary to fend off many different diseases. While blueberries are nutritional allies, they also happen to taste delicious, whether it's all on their own or mixed into various cereals or baked goods.

This take on muffins pairs blueberries with whole grains and chips for a go-to breakfast or any-time-of-day snack. Enjoy "Blueberry Bran Chocolate Chip Muffins" from "The Brain Boosting Diet" (Whitecap) by Norene Gilletz and Edward Wein, PhD. This make-ahead batter yields a big batch, but leftover batter can be refrigerated up to three weeks, so feel free to bake up as many or as few muffins as you'd like.

Blueberry Bran Chocolate Chip Muffins

Makes 30 muffins

- 3 cups all-bran cereal
- 1/3 cup canola oil
- 1/3 cup plain Greek yogurt
- 1 cup hot tea
- 2 large eggs
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice + enough milk (skim or 1%) to equal 2 cups
- 1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
- 1/2 cup molasses or honey
- 2 1/2 cups whole wheat flour
- 2 teaspoons ground cinnamon
- 2 teaspoons baking soda
- 1 teaspoon baking powder
- Zest of 1 orange
- 1 1/2 cups fresh or frozen blueberries
- 1/2 to 3/4 cup chocolate chips (semisweet or sugar-free)

1. In a very large mixing bowl, combine bran with oil and yogurt. Pour hot tea over the mixture and let stand for 5 minutes. Stir well.
2. Add eggs, milk mixture, brown sugar, and molasses. Stir until combined.
3. Add flour, cinnamon, baking soda, and baking powder. Mix until blended.
4. Stir in orange zest, blueberries, and chocolate chips, jut until combined.
5. Either let batter stand for 30 minutes, until thickened, or cover and refrigerate for up to 3 weeks.
6. Preheat oven to 375 F. Spray compartments of a muffin pan (or muffin pans) with nonstick spray.
7. Scoop batter into the muffin pan(s), filling each compartment about two-thirds full.
8. Bake 22 to 25 minutes, or until tops spring back when lightly touched. ■
