Sunday Morning Positive Perks

from your Sassy Small Town Missus

A FAREWELL SONG BETWEEN "BUDS"

I heard this song recently and it hit me right in the musical heartstrings. It was recorded in 2011 by Rihanna and is called Farewell. From what I gather doing research, the song was meant to be between lovers, however it truly can be more universal. If you have ever had to say Farewell to anyone of importance, this song will resonate with you. She starts out by recognizing that the special person who is leaving is going to "Make a better life" for themselves and she must say Farewell. It is so hard to say Farewell to someone who you have created a special bond with. Some people are just like that. You get each other. Few people appreciate your quirky ways or better yet, are quirky like you. Maybe you share the same interest and opinions and you value your time and conversations because you get each other. Knowing that this time together is coming to an end can be a true heartbreak. But sometimes we must "Try to hold it all in, the tears and sadness and be a Big Girl". Well, I am not good at that, but I try. I can only choke the tears down for so long, until they bubble up. Maybe you are like that too, or maybe you can be stronger because you know that the other person needs that. If that is your strength, I admire you and your ability to dig deep. We never want to discourage those we love to follow their path, yet we don't want to be forgotten. The lyrics say that she would be "sadder if her special person did not hit the road" because she knows her person needs this change to continue to grow and find the happiness they desire and deserve. Maybe they need a fresh start or just wish to go after a dream that they have always had and have finally found their yellow brick road to the land of dreams where their wishes can come true. You know that they can call you and you can tell them all the "stories about a land far away." The land that you share so many precious memories. Where you created a bond that can never be broken, not with time nor distance, like the bond between the "Buds" in the photo. You are kindred spirits. So with your final Farewell to the way things are, it is these times you want to express that even though you are excited and full of encouragement for their new adventure. "Somebody's gonna miss you" and "Somebody's gonna wish that you were here, that somebody is Me." So if you have someone in your life who you consider a Treasure, make sure to honor your time together because life is ever changing and so are our relationships with others. Their blessings in your life will never go away and they will be carried in your heart forever. New people will come into your life and with an open heart, another magical Friendship can begin. Farewell My Friend. Somebody is Going To Miss You. Give this song a listen, here is the link https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=\_MOiwCMn30k.

AVOIDING, OR DEALING WITH FORECLOSURE

Everyone has the best of intentions when purchasing a home and accepting a mortgage loan, but the future is never certain and unforeseeable things can happen that can cause borrowers to face foreclosure. When this happens, a procedure called “loss mitigation” may help them avoid losing their home. Foreclosure is costly to both the borrower and the mortgage lender, so loss mitigation is used to try and keep borrowers in their homes with certain strategies such as loan modification, loan forbearance, or changing from an adjustable to a fixed rate loan. In the rare case where there are no viable strategies for avoiding foreclosure, loss mitigation can still help ease the consequences for borrowers and lenders.

If you are concerned your home may end up in foreclosure it may be helpful to speak with a lawyer about your rights and options. They can inform you of your jurisdiction's protections for homeowners, discuss the merits of your options, assist in negotiations with the lender, and generally help clarify your rights and obligations. Please call the Law Office of MACK & PACE to schedule a legal consultation. Our areas of specialization include personal injury, estate planning, business law, and family law.

Healthy Choices

— Your guide to looking and feeling your best —

Managing Cholesterol Starts with What you Eat

High cholesterol, particularly high levels of “bad” cholesterol, is a risk for heart disease. The Mayo Clinic says that high cholesterol also can increase risk for heart attack. Understanding cholesterol and how to control it can help people live longer, healthier lives. Cholesterol is a waxy substance that comes from two main sources. It is produced naturally by the liver and is obtained by eating certain foods, primarily animal products like meat, dairy and eggs. When these foods are consumed, the liver makes more cholesterol than it normally would, says the American Heart Association.

Harvard Medical School says that making certain food choices can help lower cholesterol levels. Some foods help prevent cholesterol from forming, while others lower low-density lipoprotein, also referred to as “LDL” or “bad” cholesterol. Some foods increase the amount of high-density lipoprotein, also known as “HDL” or “good” cholesterol. Still other foods block the body from absorbing cholesterol.

- Increase soluble fiber. Soluble fiber is found in oatmeal and other whole grains, flax, apples, legumes, and beans. Because soluble fiber can't be broken down, it goes through the body and bloodstream like a giant mop, collecting bile generated to digest fats. The fiber and the fat-soaked bile are then excreted in the stool. According to Healthline, bile is made from cholesterol, and when the liver needs to make more of it to digest fat, it does so by pulling cholesterol out of the bloodstream, naturally reducing cholesterol levels as a result.

- Eliminate trans fats. Trans fats, or those foods listed on labels primarily as hydrogenated oils, can raise overall cholesterol levels. The Food and Drug Administration has banned the use of partially hydrogenated vegetable oils by Jan. 1, 2021.

- Eat more fatty fish. Harvard Medical School says that eating fish two or three times a week can lower LDL by replacing meat and by delivering LDL-lowering omega-3 fats to the body. Omega-3s reduce triglycerides in the bloodstream and also protect the heart by helping to prevent the onset of abnormal heart rhythms.

- Use vegetable oils. Liquid vegetable oils, like canola or soybean, can be used in place of solid fats like butter or lard when cooking.

- Choose low-fat dairy. Substitute the low- or no-fat varieties of milk and cheeses instead of high-fat versions. ■

Do you have HEEL pain or ARCH pain?

HEEL SPUR SYNDROME/PLANTAR FASCITIS

is a common problem among people who are active. It starts as a dull intermittent pain in the heel which may progress to a sharp persistent pain. Classically, it is worse in the morning with the first few steps, after sitting, after standing, or after walking.

- Plantar fasciitis often begins with irritation and tearing of the fibrous band of tissue on the bottom of the foot, which may eventually result in the formation of a heel spur.

- Contributing factors: flat pronated feet, high arched feet, poor shoe support, increased age, sudden weight increase, increased activity level, family tendency.

- Approximately 2-3 times your body weight of force is exerted on each foot with walking. Flexible, non-custom molded arch support found at those advertised shoe stores cannot support these forces and usually do not provide long-lasting relief, do not come with a lifetime warranty, and are typically more expensive than custom-molded ones made by our office.

- 95 percent of our patients symptoms are resolved with conservative treatment, avoiding surgical intervention.

- We also offer surgical procedures with the best post-op success rates using Endoscopic Plantar Fasciotomy techniques and EPF resulting in minimal incisions and scarring, immediate ambulation and often back in a shoe in one week.

If you can't remember when your feet didn't hurt, now is the time to give us a call!

SIGNS OF A STROKE

Sometimes symptoms of a stroke are difficult to identify. The stroke victim may suffer severe brain damage when people nearby fail to recognize the symptoms of a stroke. Now doctors say a bystander can recognize a stroke by asking a few simple questions:

- 1 Ask the person to SMILE.
- 2 Ask the person to TALK AND SPEAK A SIMPLE SENTENCE. i.e. It is sunny out today.
- 3 Ask the person to RAISE BOTH ARMS.
- 4 Ask the person to STICK OUT HIS TONGUE. If the tongue goes to one side or the other, that is a sign of a stroke.

OTHER STROKE WARNING SIGNS

- Sudden numbness or weakness of the face, arm or leg, especially on one side of the body
- Sudden confusion, trouble speaking or understanding
- Sudden trouble seeing in one or both eyes
- Sudden trouble walking, dizziness, loss of balance or coordination
- Sudden, severe headache with no known cause

If you or someone with you has one or more of these signs, don't delay!

CALL 9-1-1 IMMEDIATELY!

Signs of a HEART ATTACK

Some heart attacks are sudden and intense, but most heart attacks start slowly, with mild pain. Often people affected aren't sure what's wrong and wait too long before getting help. Symptoms include:

CHEST DISCOMFORT. Most heart attacks involve discomfort in the center of the chest that lasts more than a few minutes, or that goes away and comes back. It can feel like uncomfortable pressure, squeezing, fullness or pain.

DISCOMFORT IN OTHER AREAS OF THE UPPER BODY. Symptoms can include pain or discomfort in one or both arms, the back, neck, jaw or stomach.

SHORTNESS OF BREATH with or without chest discomfort.

OTHER SIGNS may include breaking out in a cold sweat, nausea or lightheadedness

Women are somewhat more likely than men to experience other common symptoms, particularly SHORTNESS OF BREATH, NAUSEA/VOMITING, AND BACK/JAW PAIN.

If you or someone with you has one or more of these signs, don't delay!

Call 9-1-1 immediately!
