At The Corral Gate

Not a February arrives that Texans around the world don't think about the heroes who birthed our state, the Heroes of The Alamo. One of these was Colonel William Barrett Travis. He lived between August 1, 1809 and March 6, 1836. He was first a teacher, then a practicing lawyer. He took off for Texas in 1830, leaving behind a young wife and two children in Alabama. By 1831, he had applied for land in Austin's colony. He settled in San Felipe where he entered local politics. His wife Roseanna, with their children, followed him to Texas to ask for a divorce. He signed the papers and she returned to Alabama, but left their son Charles with Travis. Over the next four turbulent years, he rose in ranks in the volunteer army and in January 1836, was ordered to San Antonio to reinforce Colonel James Neill of the Bexar command. He arrived with 30 volunteers and shared command with Col. Jim Bowie until Bowie fell ill. On February 23, Santa Anna's first wave arrived and the Texian rebels withdrew across the San Antonio river into the safety of an old fortified mission known as the Alamo. The next day, as Mexican forces began to surround them, Travis had sent out a desperate plea for help. He knew the power of words, addressing his letter to "All Americans in the world" and signing the letter "Victory or Death". Word of the letter quickly reached New Orleans, Boston and New York. 32 men from Gonzales arrived on March 1 and others mustered, but too late to enter the besieged mission. However, stirred by Travis' letter, these volunteers formed the core of Sam Houston's army which won victory at San Jacinto just six weeks later. In this way, Travis' letter shaped the destiny of America and the world. Taken from Texas State Library and archives website.

Here are some more interesting facts about the William Barrett Travis... his' agate "cats eye" ring is on display in the Alamo Collection, found on his person along the north wall, where the Mexican army breached the defense and entered the fort. Travis' slave Joe stayed with him and was an Alamo survivor. His son Charles passed the bar and was elected to the Texas Legislature to represent Caldwell and Hays counties. He became a Texas Ranger and was named Captain of the 2nd US Cavalry in 1855. Overall however, Charles Travis proved to be a contentious fellow, was court-martial-ed on three charges and dismissed from service in 1856. That same year he enlisted help from the Texas Legislature to clear his name, but President Franklin Pierce refused to re-open the case. A backlash of public sentiment followed him to his death from consumption just four years later, at age 31.

Letter for help from Travis

Commandancy of the Alamo
Bejar, Feby. 24, 1836
To the People of Texas & All Americans in the World

Fellow citizens & compatriots — I am besieged, by a thousand or more of the Mexicans under Santa Anna — I have sustained a continual Bombardment & connade for 24 hours & have not lost a man — The enemy has demanded a surrender at discretion, otherwise, the garrison are to be put to the sword, if the fort is taken — I have answered the demand with a cannon shot, & our flag still waves proudly from the walls — I shall never surrender or retreat. Then, I call on you in the name of Liberty, of patriotism & & everything dear to the American character, to come to our aid, with all despatch — The enemy is receiving reinforcements daily & will no doubt increase to three or four thousand in four or five days. If this call is neglected, I am determined to sustain myself as long as possible & die like a soldier who never forgets what is due to his own honor & that of his country — Victory or Death William Barret Travis Lt. Col. comdt

P.S. The Lord is on our side — When the enemy appeared in sight we had not three bushels of corn — We have since found in deserted houses 80 or 90 bushels & got into the walls 20 or 30 head of Beeves — Travis

Since the above was written I heard a very heavy Canonade during the whole day think there must have been an attack made upon the alamo We were short of amunition when I left Hurry on all the men you can in haste When I left there was but 150 determined to do or die tomorrow I leave for Bejar with what men I can raise [copy here illegible] at all events — Col. Almonte is there the troops are under the Command of Gen. Seisma Albert Martin [printed sideways] Nb I hope that Every One will Rondevu at gonzales as soon posible as the Brave Solders are suffering do not neglect this powder is very scarce and should not be delad one moment L. Smither

As we march toward Springtime, let's wave the Texas flag, watch for bluebonnets and remember the Alamo, Golaid and San Jacinto. I'll wait for you at the corral gate.

CALEB'S TELEPHONE AND TENNIS ADVENTURES

Tumbleweed Smith

Tumbleweed Smith

Twelve-year-old Caleb Lewis of Dallas was walking with his parents when he spotted an iphone in low bushes by the side walk. His parents suggested he leave it there, just in case the owner came looking for it. Caleb insisted he could find the owner.

When the family finished its walk and returned home, Caleb got busy. The phone's battery was completely discharged, so Caleb connected the phone to a charger. Within minutes there was enough charge to use the phone. Now Caleb is not your ordinary phone and computer user. He knows some shortcuts and figures out things. He is diligent in his efforts to solve technical problems.

He was able to see some calls that had been made from the phone. He started calling those phone numbers and at each one he would ask if they recognized the number he was calling from. After five calls, someone told him the iphone belonged to a teenage boy. Caleb got the owner's home number and called it. The owner's mother answered the phone and was thrilled to know her son's phone had been found and was being returned. She lived just a few blocks away. She asked Caleb what his favorite candy bar was and he told her it was a Kit Kat bar.

She showed up at Caleb's house twenty minutes later with a giant Kit Kat bar and a ten-dollar bill. She gave both items to Caleb after he handed her the phone. Caleb is a generous soul and shared the candy with his parents.

Caleb is our grandson and we took him to England and Scotland during his Christmas break from school. We arrived in Edinburgh early on the 26th of December. Since we didn't sleep much on the plane we went to our hotel and took a nap. Christmas market was going on in Edinburgh and we wanted to see it. Hard rain was falling but it didn't seem to slow down any of the festivities. Streets were crowded, dozens of booths were set up to sell merchandise and some people rode a Ferris wheel and other carnival rides. The Scots' favorite saying is "Stay Calm and Carry On." They did just that on that rainy night in Edinburgh. We bought umbrellas and used them. It was the only time we used them on the trip. We had good weather with lots of sun.

Caleb is a tennis player and is serious about it. One reason he wanted to go to Britain was to visit Wimbledon. The closer we got to the place, the more Caleb's disposition changed. He seemed to be in a trance. We saw the many grass courts, some under artificial sunlight to encourage growth. Sometimes the sun doesn't shine in England. Caleb borrowed my camera and took pictures all over the complex.

At the museum in Wimbledon, Caleb stared at the trophies. One held the previous year's trophy with the winner's name on it. Caleb stood at that trophy case for sometime and we noticed his finger was moving across it. He spelled out Caleb Lewis 2030.

Tumbleweed Smith is never desperate for an interview, but he's always looking for a good story. Contact him at ts@tumbleweedsmith.com.
