*After receiving your message, we will contact you by phone or email to reserve your table, confirm invitation & discuss seating details.

* Here's a budget stretcher: "Credit goes to my friend for this great butter extender. Whip 1 pound of softened butter and 1/2 teaspoon of salt. Slowly add 1 cup of olive oil. Beat up to 5 minutes to add air and increase volume. Pour into two 1-pint containers and refrigerate. Economical, spreads like soft margarine, tastes great and you get the benefits of olive oil in a natural product." -- S.B., British Columbia, Canada

* Mix a quarter cup of salt in with two tablespoons of bath wash for a sudsy, refreshing, skin-soothing salt scrub.

* "Before I go to the beach, I freeze an ice-cube tray full of lemonade. Then, we use the cubes in our travel cups. It keeps the lemonade cool, and as it melts (which tends to be quickly), it doesn't water down the drink." -- K.H. in Myrtle Beach, S.C.

* Some tips for middle or high-school kids going back to school virtually: Have a designated workspace. This can be as simple as a large tray turned upside down and placed on the end of the bed with a storage ottoman to sit on. It will be better than trying to lay in bed and work.

* Mold on baked goods goes beyond what you can see. The mold puts out "feelers" that are invisible to the naked eye, so if you see mold on your muffin or bread, don't think that you can cut that part off and be done with it. To be safe, throw the whole thing away.

* "I needed an outlet on my porch, so I ran a long extension cord along the edge of the patio and fed it up into a piece of PVC pipe that was left over from a plumbing job. It holds the end of the cord at about outlet height. Whatever works!" -- V.L. in Arizona

THE NIGHT BEFORE DISTANCE LEARNING

'Twas the night before Distance Learning and all through the town, everyone was thinking
how will this go down?
Students and parents and teachers all wonder,
can I make this work? What if I blunder?
Passwords, logins - do I have it all ready?
Easy now, take a breath, remember to steady.
There will be blips, there will be unknowns,
but we're in this together, you are NOT alone!
One day at a time, this is not a race,
a new journey for all , so please give GRACE.
Grace to yourself and grace to each other;
we WILL get through this, one way or another!
Students want to LEARN and teachers want to TEACH;
families need to work,
so it may be a reach.
BUT, patience and respect will guide us through this strange experience that is so new.
I'll say it again (and many more times),
We'll work this out, things will be JUST FINE!
Here we go folks, this could be a while;
just remember to be KIND, and of course, to SMILE!

THE ORIGINAL MOBILE PHONE

Speedy Morris

Speedy Morris was the basketball coach at LaSalle and they were having a pretty good season. One morning he was shaving and the phone rang. His wife answered it and called out to him that Sports Illustrated wanted to talk to him. Coach Morris was excited that his team was apparently about to receive national recognition in this famous sports magazine. As a matter of fact, he was so excited that he cut himself with his razor. Covered with blood and shaving lather and running downstairs to the phone, he tripped and fell down the stairs. Finally, bleeding and bruised, he crawled to the phone and breathlessly said, "Hello?"

The voice on the other end asked, "Is your name Speedy Morris?"

"Yes," he replied.

Then the voice continued, "Mr. Morris, for just seventy-five cents an issue, we can give you a one-year subscription to Sports Illustrated."

Relax, we'll do the housework.

When you're watching your parents struggle to put up a simple 3 person tent and you start to wonder what kind of life they can actually offer you.

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) This could be the time to try soothing whatever bad feelings might be lingering 'twixt and among colleagues, friends or family members. But be sure you do so without favoring any side.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) An idea is only an idea until you put that clever Bovine mind to work to develop it from concept to substance. This could lead to something rewarding, both emotionally and monetarily.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) The early part of the week could have some disconcerting moments, but approaching them with a calm, unruffled attitude goes a long way toward helping to get things nicely settled down.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Getting used to change continues to mark much of the week. But accepting what you have to do makes adapting that much easier. A welcome visitor could turn up sooner than expected.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Learning how to live with a decision is a challenge, but one you Leos and Leonas could really enjoy. You'll also be pleased to see your social life take that upsurge you've been hoping for.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Use your perceptive Virgo instinct to help you see the positive aspects of what, at first, appears to be a disappointment. You could find that it proves to be quite the contrary.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Your ability to maintain a balance between sense and sentiment once again helps you sort through apparently conflicting choices and ultimately arrive at the right decision.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Before you seek the advice of colleagues about a potential career move, you might be better off getting counsel from someone who won't be affected by the choices you make.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) It can be a challenging week for some relationships if the normal give-and-take flow changes with one side doing most of the giving and the other the taking.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) A new opportunity could bring with it much anticipation along with some anxiety. Take time to sort out your options as well as your emotional considerations.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Are you sure you have all the facts you need to let that matter move to another level? Don't be rushed into a decision unless and until you feel it's the right thing to do.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Pace yourself as you prepare to take on that more demanding project. Be careful not to let your energy reserves drain away. Take time to relax with people close to you.

BORN THIS WEEK: You have the ability to see both sides of a situation. You would do well as a counselor or a judge.

Ceramic Dancers

Pairs of ceramic dancing figures in exotic costumes were favorites in the Art Deco period, starting about 1920. Many different pairs about 19 or 20 inches high have been selling with the mark "Cia Manna" and sometimes the added words "Turin, Italy." A search of old books and even new information online has offered little insight. The pairs of dancing figurines depict a bare-breasted woman and a shirtless man posing in exaggerated dance poses. Dozens of different pairs were made, most from 1925 to the 1950s. An artist and designer named Mrs. Manna, who worked for the Lenci doll company in 1930. She named it Ceramica Italiana Artistica. The dancing figurines were marked "C.I.A. Manna." Often the mark omitted the periods, so the first word looked like "Cia." The company worked into the 1950s. The Art Deco look is still popular, and most of the pairs have sold for $800 to $1,500.

This pair of dancers titled "Cavaliere Indiano and Danzatrice Indiana" were made in the 1930s in Turin, Italy. They have the incised mark "Cia Manna." The pair was estimated at $800 to $1,200 but did not sell.

dishes, may have glazes that leach. Don't use the dish if the glaze is damaged, cracked or painted silver decoration that has turned black. Acidic foods, hot liquids, microwaving and washing dishes in the intense heat of the dishwasher all may cause leaching.

Q: How can I determine whether there is lead in older china, especially in pieces I intend to use for food? I was told by a friend there is a test kit for lead, and that the kits are available in hardware stores. In the hardware stores I checked, the kits were for checking lead in drinking water, not china. Is there such a kit for testing the safety of older china?

A: You can order kits online that test for lead, but the most reliable tests are done with professional equipment. It's not how much lead is in the dish, but how much lead leaches out. In 1971, the Food and Drug Administration set limits on the amount of lead in dishware; the regulations were updated in 1993. New dishes that don't meet the standards must be marked "Not for Food Use" or designed with holes so the dish can't be used for food.

Dishes made before the standards were set, the brightly colored pottery made in other countries or handmade

PIEDMONT PETS

August 27, 2020
By Paulette Dean

Since we began our sheltering contract with the City of Danville in 1984, we have received all kinds of companion animals. Dogs, cats, birds, pocket pets, reptiles, have all been welcomed. In fact, we have even received goldfish and other fish!

We humans breed them and over-breed all species of animals for the pet industry. In fact, different breeds of dogs are now being bred to produce "designer dogs." They are really mixed breed dogs, and shelters receive vast numbers of them each year.

People buy pets, and then realize that the responsibility is great. Pet ownership comes with financial, emotional, and physical responsibilities. Others lose their jobs, and with it the financial ability to take care of their animals. Marriages or other relationships break up, and in some cases, the animals become the victims.

Because of all of the breeding of every species, animal shelters are full. Rescue groups for every species of animals have been organized, simply because breeders continue to breed while shelters and rescue groups try to clean up the mess. The boards of shelters run by humane organizations decide they cannot stand the sadness, causing many to give up their contracts to operate the municipal shelters. The one topic open-admission shelters, limited-admission shelters and rescue groups agree on is the need for spaying/neutering dogs and cats and stopping the mass breeding of other animals.

In the midst of all this, breeders continue to breed. What is it going to take to truly help the animals? It is going to take more than a national discussion about euthanasia rates. It will require mandatory spay/neuter laws, but it will also require a raw look at how we view animals as commodities.

The discussion will be a difficult one, but the animals will benefit.

HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD — Come December, Oprah Winfrey’s “O” Magazine will cease to exist in hard copy. Twenty years ago, “O” became an instant success which grew to a 2.2 million paid subscription and a readership of 10 million. But it will now be a “digitally centric” “O.” If this is successful, will “People Magazine” be next?

With the passing of Olivia de Havilland on July 26 at age 104, we lost the last living cast member of the greatest film ever made, “Gone With the Wind” (1939).

On June 30, 2017, at 101, Dame Olivia sued the FX Network and producer Ryan Murphy for inaccurately portraying her and using her likeness without permission in their mini-series “Feud: Bette and Joan.” The motion was denied in September 2017 and she appealed to the Supreme Court, which also struck down her lawsuit. Dame Olivia was trying to protect her good name and image from being used adversely by writers inventing dialogue that she never spoke, which was delivered by Catherine Zeta-Jones, who portrayed her.

She was a very special lady. I had two encounters with her. The first when I was 17. A friend and I went to The Plaza Hotel to see her as she checked out to go back to Los Angeles. We stood near the elevators, and in due time she appeared holding a dozen roses and a five-pound box of Russell Stover chocolates. We asked for and were granted an autograph, and after posing for photos, she handed the dozen roses to my lady friend, saying “I’d like you to have these.” She then turned to me and asked, “Do you have a mother?” I said I did, and she handed me the box of chocolates and said, “Please give this to your mother as a gift from me.” My mother didn’t believe the chocolates were from Olivia de Havilland until I showed her the pictures of Olivia holding it.

In 2008, when The Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences celebrated what would have been Bette Davis’ 100 birthday, I attended with Gena Rowlands, who was speaking that night about working with Bette Davis. Robert Osborne, one of the hosts, said, “The next person to appear was to be Olivia de Havilland, but she lives in Paris and it’s difficult for her to travel.” A man walked out, whispered in his ear and he said, “She’s here, Olivia’s here,” just like in the famous scene at the end of Judy Garland’s “A Star Is Born.” Needless to say, the crowd went wild. At the reception I reminded her about the chocolates, and she loved it when I told her my mother never let me have even one piece!

Danville Community College Joins VCCS Shared Services Distance Learning

Danville, Va., August 21, 2020 – Danville Community College (DCC) is broadening the scope of classes offered by joining the state-wide Shared Services Distance Learning (SSDL) Program, headed up by the Virginia Community Colleges System (VCCS). This program allows DCC to share courses with other Virginia community colleges so that DCC students are provided a broader selection of courses, delivered online.

“Our number one priority is to provide our students with access to the higher education opportunities that they wish to pursue, right here in their hometown,” said Jacqueline Gill Powell, president of Danville Community College. “By bringing courses from around the state that we wouldn’t otherwise offer, like anthropology, oceanography, and social media marketing, we are effectively widening their path to success, and broadening the scope of available learning. We are thrilled to be able to offer this program to our students.”

In turn, DCC will provide courses to other Virginia community colleges that they might not otherwise be able to offer.

“We offer a number of unique courses here at DCC that are not available at other community colleges,” said Justin Nichols, SSDL Liaison for Danville Community College. “Courses like Social Ethics and Intermediate Spanish will be offered through DCC to students across the Commonwealth of Virginia. It is truly a win-win for all community colleges involved.”

Nichols, who serves as the main point-of-contact regarding SSDL, notes that all SSDL courses are conducted asynchronously online, so that students may access the curriculum from anywhere, at any time. Questions about the program as it relates to DCC should be directed to Nichols at ssdl@danville.edu.

For more information about Shared Services Distance Learning at Danville Community College or to view a complete list of courses offered at DCC through SSDL, visit: www.danville.edu/ssdl

Vitamin D Deficit After Gastric Bypass

DEAR DR. ROACH: I am a 72-year-old woman in fair health. I had strong bones until I had gastric bypass surgery. Within two years, I developed osteoporosis. In 2016 my parathyroid hormone level was found to be elevated. However, it has come down over the past year or two from 97.76 to 68.95 pg/mL. The endocrinologist now has me on 8,000 IU of vitamin D-3 per day. My calcium was 9.3 and ionized calcium was 5.0. Meanwhile, the rheumatologist treating my osteoporosis has prescribed Reclast infusions once per year. I just received my second one this month. This summer I broke a toe on my right foot with no known trauma. In October I sustained a stress fracture of my left heel bone, again without any known trauma. I am very worried about what all this means to my future bone health. -- L.M.J.

ANSWER: I suspect you had vitamin D deficiency due to the gastric bypass surgery, which prevents your body from absorbing it efficiently. Without vitamin D, your bones cannot take up calcium as effectively. The parathyroid hormone often will increase in this situation, and this is called "secondary hyperparathyroidism."

It's important to note that both your total and ionized calcium levels are normal. Ionized calcium is the active form -- some calcium binds to albumin, a major protein in blood. In secondary hyperparathyroidism, the calcium is never high. A high calcium and high parathyroid level always means primary hyperparathyroidism, which almost always comes from a tumor of the parathyroid gland. Unfortunately, I have seen people whose doctors have confused this point and missed the diagnosis.

With replacement of your vitamin D (at a high-enough dose, you can absorb enough), the PTH level is settling back down to normal, and it would be expected that your bone strength would start going up as well. I would expect your endocrinologist or rheumatologist to follow your bone density through a DEXA scan.

The Reclast (zoledronic acid) is an intravenous bisphosphonate, and it slows down reabsorption of your bone. Between the higher vitamin D and the Reclast, your bones should get better and your risk of fracture will decrease, but it will take time.

DEAR DR. ROACH: In a recent column, you discussed the effect of ibuprofen on men with an enlarged prostate. I am a 78-year-old who runs 15-20 miles per week, with benign prostatic hyperplasia and who also has reduced urinary frequency with occasional use of Advil. As a runner, I have been reluctant to make it a daily regimen because I have read that inflammation is part of the body's response to tissue damage, which is crucial to the healing process and is important for muscle growth. When ibuprofen's anti-inflammatory effect reduces symptoms, does it affect the healing process also? Can you comment on the pros and cons for runners? -- B.M.

ANSWER: High-dose ibuprofen was shown to inhibit muscle protein synthesis following weightlifting exercise. This led to a suspicion that it might impair the gains in muscle strength that are made with exercise. However, a Canadian study showed that moderate doses of ibuprofen (400 mg after exercise) did not impair muscle growth or gains in strength. Using ibuprofen for occasional muscle soreness or for the purpose of reducing prostate inflammation should not adversely affect your performance in running.

Dr. Roach regrets that he is unable to answer individual questions, but will incorporate them in the column whenever possible. Readers may email questions to ToYourGoodHealth@med.cornell.edu.

Simple Recipe Hacks for Time-Saving Meals

Seek help from the store to make showstopping dishes in a flash

FAMILY FEATURES

With many families spending more time than usual at home, scratch cooking trends are popular among home chefs. From homemade sourdough to elaborate multi-course dinners, the kitchen has become a place for creativity for many.

However, since summer brings all sorts of fun and outdoor activities, busy families may be looking for ways to spend less time in the kitchen without compromising on quality or flavor. Try to work smarter, not harder, and let your local grocery store do some of the heavy lifting.

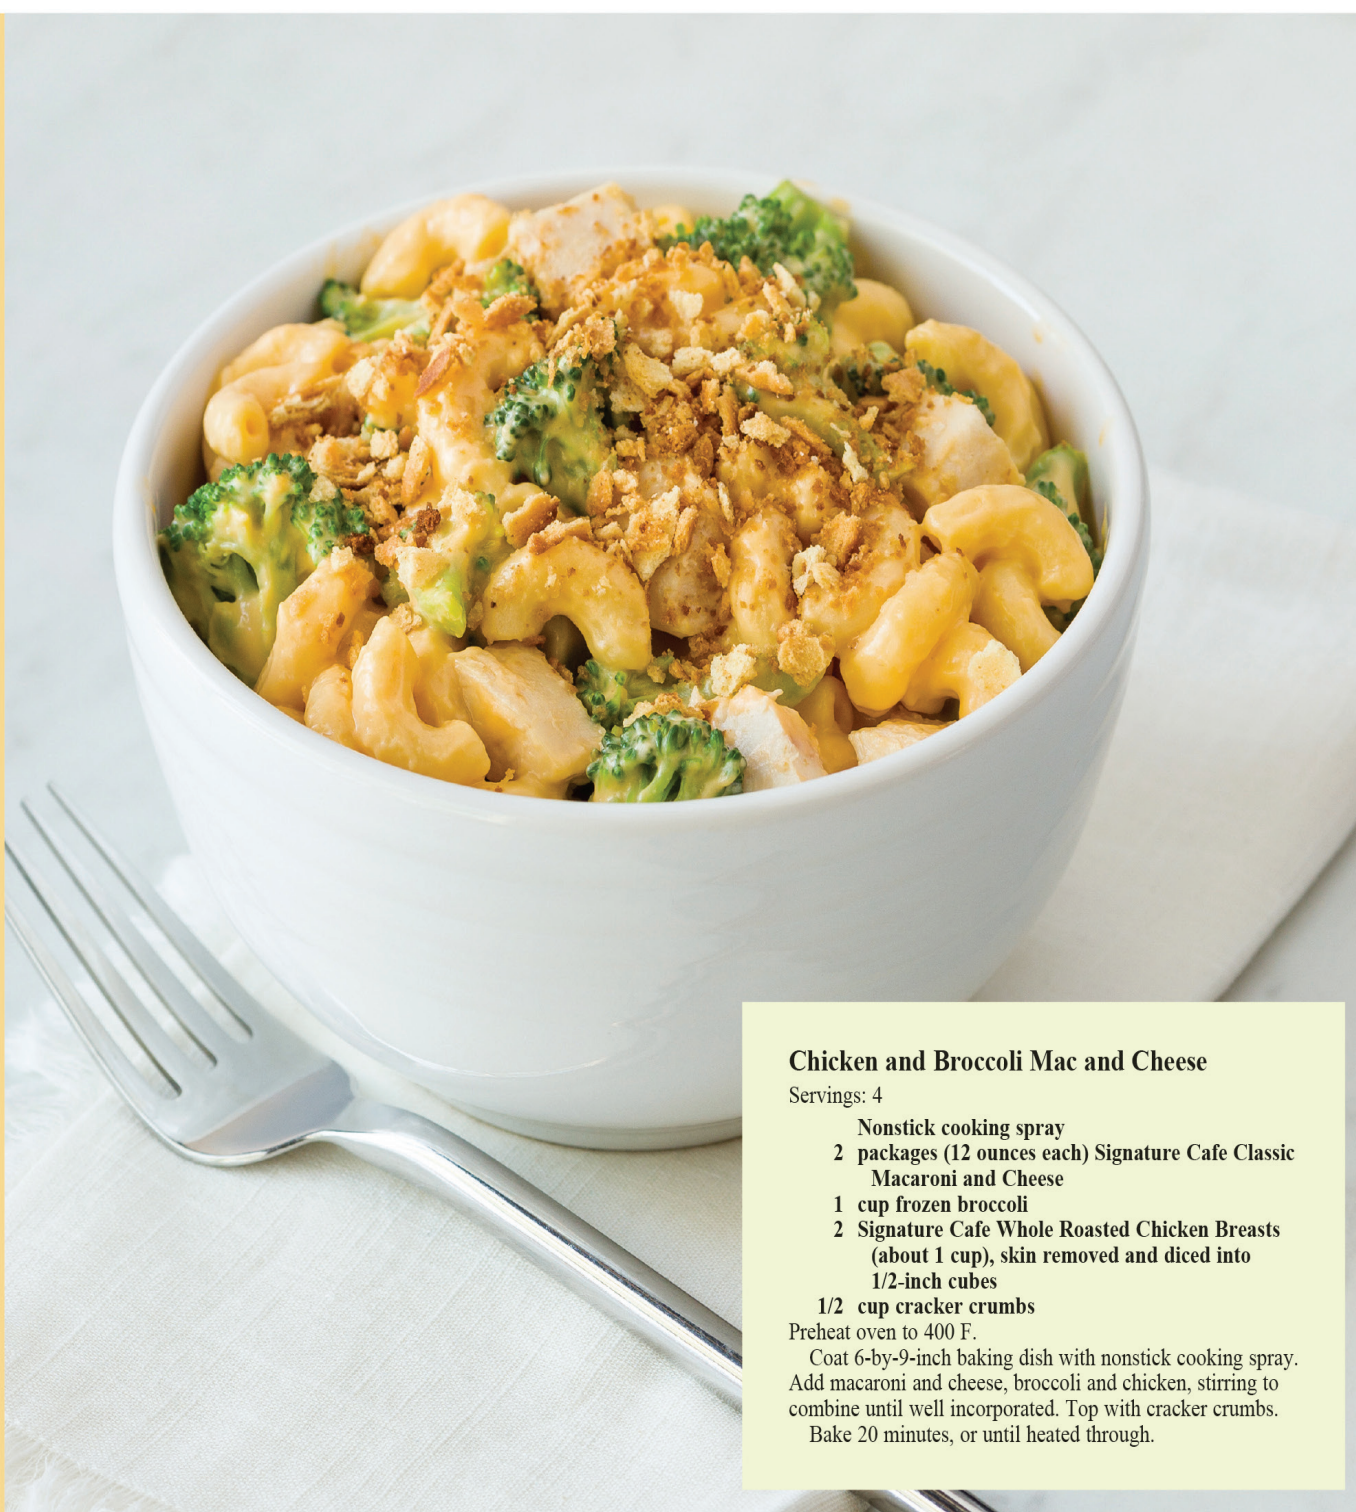

Starting with pre-packaged salads, casseroles, fresh-baked breads or prepared items from the deli case, like a rotisserie chicken, opens an array of possibilities for quick family meals. For example, Signature Cafe and Signature Select, available exclusively at Albertsons and Safeway stores, can be your go-to for meal solutions, and you can find these products at a value compared to many leading national brands without giving up the quality you crave. With products available across the entire store, you can find easy-to-implement recipe hacks the whole family can enjoy.

Serving up a tasty and comforting dinner can be as easy as mixing together fresh ingredients like pre-made macaroni and cheese, rotisserie chicken, frozen broccoli and topping your dish with cracker crumbs in this Chicken and Broccoli Mac and Cheese. You'll have food on the table in less than 30 minutes and more time to spend with family and friends.

With the resources available at your neighborhood store, you can build restaurant-quality Spicy Chicken Sandwiches with Nashville-Style Dressing at home by visiting the deli department for fried chicken and swinging by the bakery for a loaf of European-style bread. Crunchy fried chicken, cool lettuce, crisp pickles and spicy dressing including a handful of pantry staples make for the perfect flavor and texture combination.

End the day with a Neapolitan-Style Milkshake as classic flavors come together with vanilla bean ice cream, fudge striped shortbread cookies, strawberry preserves and whole milk. This ice cream treat is an indulgence that blends in a flash.

Visit albertsons.com/exclusivebrands to shop for grocery delivery or pickup at your local store.

Chicken and Broccoli Mac and Cheese

Servings: 4

- Nonstick cooking spray
- 2 packages (12 ounces each) Signature Cafe Classic Macaroni and Cheese
- 1 cup frozen broccoli
- 2 Signature Cafe Whole Roasted Chicken Breasts (about 1 cup), skin removed and diced into 1/2-inch cubes
- 1/2 cup cracker crumbs

Preheat oven to 400 F.
Coat 6-by-9-inch baking dish with nonstick cooking spray. Add macaroni and cheese, broccoli and chicken, stirring to combine until well incorporated. Top with cracker crumbs. Bake 20 minutes, or until heated through.

Spicy Chicken Sandwiches with Nashville-Style Dressing
Servings: 2

Nashville-Style Spicy Mayonnaise:
 1/2 cup mayonnaise
 1/2 teaspoon cayenne pepper
 1/2 teaspoon paprika
 1/4 teaspoon garlic powder
 1/2 teaspoon salt
 1/2 teaspoon black pepper

Spicy Chicken Sandwich:
 1/2 cup Nashville-Style Spicy Mayonnaise, plus additional (optional)
 4 slices Signature Select Artisan French or Italian Bread
 2 pieces hand-breaded Signature Cafe Fried Chicken Breast, cut into slices
 1 cup lettuce mix
 8 sweet or dill pickle chips

To make Nashville-Style Spicy Mayonnaise: In bowl, combine mayonnaise, cayenne pepper, paprika, garlic powder, salt and black pepper.
To make Spicy Chicken Sandwiches: Spread Nashville-Style Spicy Mayonnaise onto bread slices. Arrange sliced chicken on half the bread slices and place lettuce and pickle chips on other half.
Dress with additional Nashville-Style Spicy Mayonnaise, if desired. Fold sandwiches together, spear with toothpick and slice diagonally.

VETERANS POST

by Freddy Groves

Failure of the VA

With all the fanfare about the suicide prevention programs created to help veterans who are suffering, it would seem that all a veteran would need to do is present himself at the closest Department of Veterans Affairs medical facility and help would immediately be there. Not necessarily so.

A veteran presented himself at a VA emergency room suffering from suicidal thoughts. He was in pain, suffered from withdrawal seizures and was on medication that had been tapered down until he had no more pills. Six days later he was dead. At the ER the veteran asked to be admitted for inpatient detox. Instead they scheduled him for a same-day psych evaluation. A Veteran Experience Specialist took the veteran back to the ER and told them, again, that he'd asked for inpatient care. The veteran was handed off to an outpatient psychiatrist who recommended either inpatient detox or inpatient psychiatry care, inpatient in either case. The psychiatrist also escorted the veteran back to the ER.

After multiple hand-offs, the veteran was told to go home. He refused to leave. Another physician accused him of malingering and called the police, who hauled the veteran out of the building. The veteran asked to go back to the ER for specific knee pain.

Back in the ER, multiple individuals heard the second ER physician say that the veteran could go shoot himself, and "I do not care." (The VA did not get rid of this physician for nine more months, despite a long history of verbal abuse.)

In all, within 12 hours, the veteran saw a total of seven medical providers. Five days later the outpatient psychiatrist finally made an appointment for a substance-use program, but no one told the veteran. He missed the appointment, of course, but no one followed up. The next day, six days after his ER visit, the veteran was dead from suicide.
