ARIES (March 21 to April 19) Single Lambs looking for romance could find Cupid especially accommodating this week. Paired partners also find their relationships benefiting from the chubby cherub's attention.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Keep your keen Bull's eye focused on your target, and shake off any attempt to turn your attention elsewhere. You should get some news later in the week that might answer some questions.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Your early enthusiasm for a project might have been somewhat premature. Although you feel positive about it, you might need more information in order to make an informed decision.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Taking on a new responsibility might seem like the politically correct thing to do. But even with the promise of support, was it the wisest? Consider reassessing your upcoming decision.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Apply yourself to completing your task despite all the distractions that might be interfering with your work. Then reward yourself with a weekend of fun shared with people who are close to you.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) A business agreement from the past might need to be looked at again. Use this unexpected development to check out other matters related to it. A weekend venture proves to be rewarding.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Don't ignore that uneasy feeling about making a commitment. It could be a case of understandably cold feet, or a warning that something isn't as right as it should be.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) A colleague could be more supporting of one of your efforts. But it's up to you to make the case for it, and that could mean opening up a secret or two, which might be a problem for you.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Expect some good news about a relative you've been worried about. But don't expect the full story to be told -- at least not yet. A workplace matter might face shifting priorities.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Despite some anxious moments, you could have good reason to be pleased with how things are turning out. An end-of-the-week call might hold some interesting information.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) A long-overdue expression of appreciation could be offered soon. But admit it: You never really expected it would happen, right? Meanwhile, keep your weekend options open.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) It's a good time to dive right into a new challenge, whether it's learning a computer app, or how to drive a stick shift, or making a new friend. Whatever it is, good luck. BORN THIS WEEK: You see the wisdom in honesty, and you help others appreciate your vision.

If you have bird feeders in your yard, chances are you also have squirrels that take advantage of the ready source of seeds. Some people do not like that, while others gladly provide extra food for them.

One of my favorite childhood books is a story about Perry, a squirrel that lives in a tree. Since my parents read me that book decades ago, I have loved those little animals.

My father used to love watching the squirrels in the backyard and he would especially love it when the squirrels came up to the glass door in the kitchen, waiting patiently for their treats of peanuts.

I love the squirrels in my yard; in fact, when I do not see them for a few days, I begin to worry. I really worry about them in the extremes of weather, whether that be in winter or in the heat of summer. I buy a bird seed mixture that has black oil sunflower seeds because they have more fat in them.

During the fall, squirrels are busily preparing for cold weather. They eat extra to put on extra weight; in fact, it is thought that squirrels can eat as much food as their body weight in just one week. This extra fact is one way they can survive extremely cold temperatures.

Squirrels also work to make a cozy den in a tree. Amazingly, baby squirrels can be born in January; they stay warm by huddling together in the den that their parents have made for them.

From childhood, we learn that squirrels store nuts and seeds for the winter months. Often times, they may forget where their stash of food is. Mother Nature is wonderful though, because those hidden caches of seeds turn into bushes and trees that will provide food for future generations.

If you have squirrels that come to your bird feeders and if you like that they do, be sure to keep the feeders filled. It is always nice to provide a source of water, too.

Although you may not see squirrels in the winter as frequently as in the summer, they can still be a source of joy. They are also a living testament to the wonders of nature.

- James Brown, in 1965. The versions in the single and in the 1991 box set aren't the same. The box set version was as written, while the single version was speeded up.
  - Little Richard, in 1956. The song was so up-tempo that he had to practice to fit all the words in, building up more speed.
  - They took their name from a T.S. Eliot poem "Mungojerrie and Rumpelstiltskin" in the "Old Possum's Book of Practical Cats."
  - Tony Burrows. He has a long history of fronting different bands, sometimes simultaneously.
  - "Tell Her About It" by Billy Joel, 1983. The song encourages a boy to tell his lady love how he feels, while he has the chance. The song appeared on the album "An Innocent Man."

Office Test Alone Can't Diagnose COPD

DEAR DR. ROACH: I am a healthy 70-year-old woman. The only prescription medication I take is for dry eyes. I recently visited my new primary physician for the first time, and she had me do a breathing test, where I exhaled into a tube to measure airflow. I was told to breathe deeply and exhale completely into the tube three times in succession. It took less than a minute to complete. It is apparently a routine test she orders for new patients.

She then told me I have COPD, on the basis of that test alone. She asked if I had ever smoked or been exposed to secondhand smoke. That was her only question -- coughing or shortness of breath was never mentioned. I have never smoked, but my father was a smoker when I was growing up. I actually do have a slightly productive cough most mornings. I probably walk about 10 miles a week, and I do notice some shortness of breath on long uphill sections, though I can walk briskly in level areas for miles with no problem.

She said it is not advanced enough to require an inhaler at this time. I am bothered by this very easy "diagnosis" on the basis of one simple test. I wonder if I should ask to be referred to a pulmonologist for a more thorough evaluation. -- O.P.

ANSWER: The test your doctor performed is called office spirometry, and it is useful for monitoring known pulmonary diseases, especially COPD and asthma. However, by itself, it is inadequate to make the diagnosis of COPD, which I am not sure you have.

The diagnosis of COPD is made in people with persistent respiratory symptoms, usually shortness of breath or coughing. Spirometry will usually show obstruction to airflow. Formal pulmonary function testing, which is an extensive process taking an hour or so with a skilled and experienced technician, is ideal for determining severity.

The problem with getting a breathing test in someone who has no significant symptoms is that you can find someone whose test results are at or just below the lower limit of normal, and the diagnosis is unclear. The prognosis for people with mild airway obstruction but with no symptoms of COPD is much better than for people with COPD and who continue to smoke. For this reason, using spirometry as a screening test for everyone is not recommended.

Without knowing the exact results of your spirometry, I suspect you do not have COPD, given your absence of smoking and your extremely mild symptoms. A comprehensive exam by a pulmonologist would be definitive and may help you be less anxious about the results you have now.

Averett University Keeping Lights Up for Health Care Heroes

This January, Averett University will be keeping its holiday lights up throughout the month to honor local health care heroes.

As part of the "Keep Your Lights Up for Healthcare Heroes" campaign launched by HCA Virginia, the University's Christmas ball lights lining the Averett stretch of West Main Street and Woodland Drive will continue shining, as well as the other lights around campus and in the windows.

"We are calling upon every citizen, business and community to keep their holiday lights up through January 31 to recognize those working in healthcare. As they drive to or from their shift, the holiday lights will express support to our healthcare heroes," said the HCA Virginia website.

During their first holiday season at Averett in 2008, Averett President Dr. Tiffany M. Franks and her husband Joe wanted to brighten the community with the now popular Christmas ball lights that have since spread beyond campus and into the community. The number of balls on campus has grown to more than 120 over the past 12 years.

"Every one of us is indebted to our health care heroes who tirelessly serve our communities, especially during this historic time," said Franks. "Our health care partners have worked with us and guided us through every step of this pandemic, and we are grateful to them for their continued service to this community. We are delighted to continue shining our lights in their honor as a small token of our appreciation, and hope it helps to brighten their nights."

* N.B. of Texas, writes: "I never could find the time to exercise. When I got home, I had to rush to get supper, etc., and afterward all I wanted to do was plop down and watch television. Then I got an exercise mat and a stationary bicycle. When I couldn't work out very long, I worked out during commercials. I've lost 3 pounds so far!" Great idea for all those with fitness on their New Year's Resolution lists, Nancy!

* Two wonderful tips came in from G.K. of Minnesota: "To protect floors from being damaged by chairs being pushed around, glue rounds of carpeting beneath the chair legs. They are easily removed for replacing as they wear down. Also, when making bread or rolls, warm the flour in the oven or microwave so as not to chill the butter. The dough will rise faster."

* B.W. of Colorado swears by brake cleaner to get rid of bad spots on carpets. "Regular automotive brake cleaner on the spot and a clean rag will remove almost all stains," he says.

* "In cold winter months, keep your robe (and slippers or whatever else) under the covers with you when you sleep. Pull it next to or over you a few minutes before you get up. It'll be toasty and will help make the transition into the cold a little less harsh." -- B.M. in New York

* If your animals try to get out when you go into or out of the house, keep some toys or treats in your pocket or near the door to throw across the room, giving you a few seconds to slip in or out.

* As tax time draws closer, try taping a large manila envelope to the fridge, leaving the top open. Immediately place all tax-related forms and receipts in the envelope as they come in. This way, when you are ready to start your taxes, all items will be together and easy to find.

Back pain getting in your way?

When a person suffers from acute back muscle spasms (involuntary tensing of the muscles), it can result in short-term pain that may last a few weeks.

A clinical research study (RESUME) for adults with pain due to acute back muscle spasms is now enrolling participants.

The RESUME study is currently seeking volunteers to participate in a clinical research study to evaluate a new, non-opioid, investigational medication for patients suffering from back pain due to or associated with muscle spasms.

You may be eligible to participate in RESUME if you:

- Are 18 – 64 years of age.
- Are able to walk.
- Have sudden onset of back pain associated with muscle spasms not caused by a long-term (chronic) condition.
- Are willing to stop all other non-study provided medications or treatments for back pain/muscle spasms.
- Are willing and able to comply with scheduled visits and study procedures.
- Can be immediately available and assessed to start receiving investigational medication.

Eligible study participants will be compensated for their time. Participation in RESUME is voluntary and study participants can leave at any time and for any reason.

If you would like to learn more about RESUME, please contact us:

Name: Carol Kennedy
Phone No: 434-793-4711 ext 1169

If you contact us, it does not mean that you are committing to participate in RESUME.

If you express an interest, a study doctor will complete other assessments before you can enroll in RESUME.
