The entrance sign to the Garden of the Gods is just a teaser of the beauty that awaits you.

Travel Thoughts By Kim

Let's go on an adventure together....to The Garden of the Gods!

In 2019, I visited the last two states to complete my goal of visiting all 50 states - Colorado and New Mexico. It was an amazing trip that took a little over two weeks and left me with so many wonderful memories. I promise I'll write more about both states in future articles, but I want to focus this article on one specific area of Colorado — The Garden of the Gods. It is indescribably awe inspiring and one of the highlights of the trip, for me.

I flew into Denver, got a rental car, and stayed in Colorado Springs. I don't remember the name of the hotel I stayed at — it was one of the standards, like Comfort Inn or something, but it was perfectly located. If you're planning a trip to Colorado and don't have a specific goal in mind, consider staying in Colorado Springs. There is a lot of great things to do within just a few miles. If you want to venture out a bit more, there is some really cool stuff within an hour's drive in any direction. And, the best part — my hotel was one mile from the entrance to the Garden of the Gods, so I was able to include at least a guick drive through it every day I was there.

Most of the formations have been given names. This formation is North Gateway Rock and White Rock. At the top center of North Gateway Rock is a formation called "Kissing Camels".

My first ride through the Garden of the Gods was on a Jeep Tour with a cowboy guide. I'm glad I did that before venturing through on my own, because — first, it was really a blast — but, also, the guide gave us a ton of great information and history that I wouldn't have gotten if I had just drove through on my own. Then, the next day, I went back on my own and spent a lot of time going through and making more leisurely stops with the self-guided tour book I purchased at the Trading Post.

By the way — before I get too far into this, I do want to circle back and talk about the Jeep Tour.

It was a bit pricey, but so worth it. There were just 7 of us and the guide, who was dressed as a cowboy named "Prairie Dog", in an open air Jeep that took us all over the country side and off road locations. Very cool! Look for unusual tours, like this in your travels. They really add something special to the trip. I'll talk about this and another Jeep Tour I took in more detail when I write about Colorado, again.

The story we heard on the tour was that in August 1859, two surveyors from Denver City set out to formally locate Colorado City, which is now known as Old Colorado City (another awesome place to spend some quality time that I will write about in that future Colorado post). While exploring, they came upon an area of sandstone rock formations. One of the surveyors suggested it might be a good place for a "beer garden" — the other one countered that it is more fitting as a place for the Gods to assemble and declared it to be called "Garden of the Gods". I don't know if that is true or urban legend, but it sounds about right. From the minute you enter the area, you know that the Gods do, indeed, assemble there and call it their own personal garden.

The area is all natural rock formations — no human intervention has altered the formations in any way. In 1879, Charles Perkins, president of the Chicago Burlington Quincy Railroad, purchased much of the land – 240 total acres. After his death, his family gave the land to the city of Colorado Springs at his request to be used as a park. The stipulation was that it be known as Garden of the

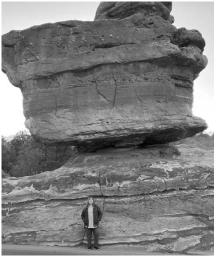

In my Savannah article, I wrote about seeing Forrest Gump. Well, we saw him in the Garden of the Gods, too. Actually, it was just a random jogger, but when I saw him, I said out loud, "Run, Forrest" and everyone on the tour cracked up. He looked just like Forrest when he was running across the country.

Gods and that it remain free forever to all visitors. So, there are no gates, entrance fees, or restrictions for visitation to this day. In 1909, it was dedicated as a free city park and is registered as a national natural landmark. The formations are sandstone and tower 300 feet in the air. In the early 1900s, a Trading Post was added that is still there and is still being operated as a trading post with lots of pretty awesome stuff in it to look at and purchase. There is also a Visitor's Center on site.

Like I said, I at least did a quick drive through every day I was in Colorado Springs. I did the Jeep Tour and spent several hours exploring on my own. I also made sure to go back at dusk to see the sun set over the formations. I cannot tell you how emotional the entire experience was for me. It was a perfect end to every day during my time there - peaceful, beautiful, and spiritual.

No photos or written word can possibly describe or do justice to the incredible beauty you experience going through the Garden of the Gods - you have to experience it in person and I highly recommend that you do!

One of the most popular formations is Balancing Rock. Many people can be found climbing on it and getting their photo taken by it. I, of course, couldn't pass up getting my photo with the incredible Balancing Rock.

One last anecdote, before I close out: On almost every trip, I end up meeting interesting people and having nice conversations. On this trip, one such conversation happened in the elevator at my hotel. I entered the elevator and there was already a man that appeared to be a little bit older than me inside. We exchanged hellos and he asked me where I was from. I was vague and said, "Western New York". He lit up and said he lived in Batavia for a time when he was a teen and young man and asked if I knew where that was. Of course, I said yes and that I lived in Albion. He went on to tell me how he knew Albion, well, and that he fondly remembers driving there to go to the theater on Main Street and the drive-in. The elevator reached the lobby floor and we exchanged our wishes for a great day and went on our way. But, I am still struck by that conversation as further proof that it is, indeed, a very small world.

Visit my blog post dedicated to the Garden of the Gods to find lots more photos that fail in justifying the beauty, but are still pretty amazing, if I do say so myself: https://thoughtsbykim. com/2019/12/12/2019-colorado-adventure-garden-of-the-gods/

Gillibrand urges New Yorkers to apply for Covid rent aid by Feb. 1 deadline

Posted 14 January 2021 at 8:18 am Press Release, U.S. Sen. Kirsten Gillibrand

WASHINGTON, D.C. — U.S. Senator Kirsten Gillibrand is urging New Yorkers to apply for rental relief through the New York State-administered Covid Rent Relief Program. The application deadline is February 1, and individuals can apply through the Covid Rent Relief Program portal (click here), which is available in multiple languages.

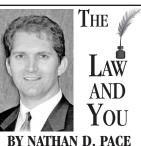

"Too many New Yorkers are still struggling to pay their rent due to lost income caused by the Covid-19 pandemic — we must ensure that folks understand and can access the resources available to help," Gillibrand said. "I urge all eligible New Yorkers to apply for rental relief through the Covid Rent Relief program before the Feb. 1 deadline. To beat the economic and public health crisis caused by the pandemic, we must ensure every New Yorker has a stable roof over their head, and a safe place to call home."

Background:

New York's Covid Rent Relief Program is the remaining portion of New York's federal CARES Act funding for rental assistance, which amounted to $100 million. Senator Gillibrand has fought for funding to support housing assistance for New Yorkers throughout the Covid-19 pandemic.

She co-sponsored the Emergency Rental Assistance and Rental Market Stabilization Act of 2020, which would establish an Emergency Rental Assistance program to provide $100 billion in emergency rental assistance in order to help families and individuals pay their rent and remain housed during the coronavirus pandemic, and to help families pay back rent once the crisis is over.

Gillibrand also cosponsored the Public Health Emergency Shelter Act, which would provide an additional $11.5 billion in critical funding to state and local governments to respond to the needs of families and individuals experiencing homelessness during this crisis.

YOU HAVE THE RIGHT TO FIGHT, BUT SHOULD YOU?

ATTORNEY AT LAW

A traffic citation can cost you more than the fee on the ticket. Your driving record also helps determine your car insurance rate, so it's understandable for you to consider fighting the ticket in court. How do vou decide if the fight is worth it? If you haven't had a ticket in a very long time and are confident that you won't be getting another anytime soon, it's probably not worth the time and energy. However, if you believe you were unfairly ticketed or that you might be able to overturn the citation, there are a few things to consider. The most important factor is your potential defense and should you hire a lawyer to help with it.

When you first get your ticket, do not pay it if you have any doubts as to whether it can be successfully fought. In almost all jurisdictions, paying the fine is an admission of guilt. Instead, find out how you can get your day in court. When you choose to work with the Law Office of MACK & PACE, we will help fight for you, saving you time and money. Please call to schedule a legal consultation. We emphasize criminal law, family law, estate planning, and business law.

(585) 798-1000 534 Main St., Suite 6 Medina, NY 14103

Your best-case scenario for fighting a traffic ticket is for the officer who cited you not to show up in court. This can happen for a variety of reasons and usually means a win for the defendant.

LIFE'S REWARD

I am a closet person of Faith. What in the world!? It means that even though I don't regularly walk through the doors of a congregation, I still have Faith. Faith that we will all be Rewarded at the end of life for a life well lived. Lived in service of being true to ourselves while respecting and loving others. Two melodies with different expectations always leave me wondering what lies beyond the blue skies and what the Reward will be. They are When I Get Where I'm Going and Outskirts Of Heaven. The first showcases Heaven as a magical place to be dreamed about. The second hints that with gratitude Heaven is home. The first Heaven offers hope that with grace we can all live with love and no fear. That does sound Heavenly. Just sit with that thought. A place where we shed our sins and struggles and just accept no one body makes the rules for which goodness exists. We can only demonstrate goodness with our actions. Only then will the tears we shed be only happy tears, no more angst or sadness. I love that in this version we can try things of joy and freedom, like ride a drop of rain and see what it feels like. I think it feels cool and warm at the same time, yet freeing. This Reward allows us to hug our Granddaddy's neck once again after so much time apart. This version makes me smile and gives comfort that all the struggles will be worth the Reward when the circle of life is complete. Those left behind may cry for themselves, but not for the Soul that is in Heaven because that Soul is being Rewarded in the most beautiful ways. Someday we will be able to see and experience this eternal Joy together. The other version, which is one of my all time favorite songs, tells a story of someone who is so blessed in life that they can only hope that their Reward mirrors home. He sings that his Granddad told him about the Pearly Gates and the Streets of Gold. He read about the Big Mansion in the sky. His life has taught the most important lesson. The lesson of being thankful for blessings on earth. He hopes his Heaven will not be grand, but rather on the outskirts of Heaven. He prays for a Heaven with dirt roads, green grass, honey bees and blue skies. He wants to hang his wings on a squeaky front porch swing and enjoy the shade of the trees. This Heaven sounds like Heaven on Earth. Simple pleasures and quiet living. We could all use some of that. Time for reflection, time for breath, time for counting blessings. No matter your expectations of what the Reward is, the best Reward is perspective and knowing that life and death are much bigger than us. Follow the Golden Rule "Do Unto Others As You Would Have Them Do Unto You" and you will get where you are going with Peace in your Heart. Here are the song links https://www.youtube. com/watch?v=TbFz2F_YYzI and https://www. youtube.com/watch?v=FkXETsK1B2A.

TOWN OF SHELBY TOWN BOARD-VIRTUAL PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE OF SECOND PUBLIC HEARING

REGARDING PROPOSED LOCAL LAW NO. 1 OF 2021 TO AMEND THE TOWN LAW REGULATING SOLAR ENERGY SYSTEMS

PLEASE TAKE NOTICE that a public hearing will be held virtually (due to COVID-19 precautions) by the Town of Shelby Town Board on January 26, 2021 at 6:00 PM for the purpose of hearing public comments on a revised version of proposed Local Law No. 1 of 2021 (originally introduced and identified as proposed Local Law No. 1 of 2020) amending certain provisions in the Zoning Local Law of the Town of Shelby that regulate solar energy systems. The information and link to log into the public hearing will be available on the Town of Shelby's website (www.townofshelbyny.org). This proposed local law would amend: Section 787(A) of the Town Zoning Law to add a paragraph stating that the provisions under Section 787 for solar energy systems are intended to protect the Town, its residents, and its environment; Section 787(D) to add a paragraph requiring applicants for utility scale solar energy systems to enter a host community agreement with the Town; Section 787(E)(3) to refer to small ground mounted solar energy systems; Section 787(E) to add paragraphs regarding requirements for decommissioning, site restoration, and financial assurance; Section 787(G)(8) to add language requiring applicants for utility-scale solar energy systems include considerations for their use of local roads: Section 787(G)(14) to add language that utility-scale solar energy systems shall provide adequate visual screening and site security measures; Section 787(G)(17) to clarify the existing provision on bonds or other financial security; and Section 787(H)(5) to add language allowing the Town to draw on a financial assurance instrument if a system is deemed non-operating or abandoned. The Town Board has revised the proposed local law after considering public comments that were submitted, including revised language distinguishing how certain requirements apply between solar projects that are and are not subject to a State siting review under the NYS Public Service Law Article 10 or NYS Executive Law Section 94-c. A complete copy of the proposed Local Law No. 1 of 2021 is available on the Town's website (www. townofshelbyny.org). Anyone wishing to speak on the subject should participate in the public hearing. The Town Board invites written and oral comments on this proposed local law during the public hearing.
