Sunday Morning Positive Perks

from your Sassy Small Town Missus

21 VALENTINE'S DAYS

I kinda figure myself an expert on Valentine's Day. Since this Blog is about Positive Perks and not my personal Business I haven't brought up that I own Bloom's Flower Shop in Albion. Being this is my 21st Valentine's Day and my last, I figure it's OK now. There is a little piece of heaven atop a Mountain waiting for us and therefore The Shop is for sale. When you are a Florist there are many things that come to mind for Valentine's Day and it is not "Will I get anything?". When you are a Florist and you and your husband are working your tails off on February 14th, the answer is a hard No. What is on your mind is can you mentally and physically succeed without letting anyone down. Never make a commitment that you can't stand behind, it is important in life and business. As a Florist it is a huge amount of product to push out the door in a short window of time. Let's face it, no one wants their gift delivered after Valentine's Day. We pray for good product, good weather, stamina, and a sense of humor. One of my cherished Valentine memories was many years ago. Mr. Loren Fleming, an older gentleman near 80 years of age came in for his gifts. It was one of the sweetest things to witness for this Florist. He gingerly took his time to select just the perfect gifts. For this holiday some of the younger Gents are looking for the extravagant, but not Mr. Fleming. He was looking for the most meaningful and heartfelt. He knew who he was buying for and he knew he wanted it to be special, not just shockingly over the top. He picked up every card and thought about the message. He looked over each candy, checked out the plush and admired all the blossoms. We watched him as he slowly spent over an hour pouring his heart into each gift. In the end I do not even recall what he purchased.. but how he purchased it. He did it with the joy of the recipient in mind. He knew that giving of his heart was the true meaning of Valentine's Day. Time and age had taught him that it was not the monetary value of the gift you give your sweetheart, but the heart and thought behind it. Maybe your Sweetheart loves the grand gesture, that is awesome too! These special moments during my 21 Valentine's Days as a Florist makes this a real celebration of love, not just a greeting card holiday. Display your heartfelt love this Valentine's Day in a way that is meaningful. I guarantee your Sweetie will smile and maybe you will even get a smooch and a hug. Mr. Fleming passed away a few years back, but his gentle and loving spirit lingers in Our little Shop and in all the hearts that have passed through It's doors these many years. Happy Valentine's Day to Everyone, you will all hold a special place in my heart for your kindness, support and sometimes even patience. ### LEGALLY ADJUSTING TO REMOTE EMPLOYEES

Thanks to modern technology and access to high-speed internet, more and more companies are taking advantage of remote workers to lower overhead costs such as office space, equipment, and utilities. What are the legal implications of this trend? The best way to avoid any confusion is to be sure procedures and expectations for remote employees, as well as a well-defined system for tracking productivity, are incorporated into a company's employee handbook. Remember to include restrictions for working on public WiFi and all cyber security requirements and to have employees sign a confirmation of having read the company's policies. Employers should be sure to keep in touch with their remote staff regularly to stay updated on their needs and progress.

With a remote workforce, all communication takes place in a decentralized environment. Privacy and security of your business' information should be at the top of your list of concerns. Make sure that everyone in your organization—including those who work from home—understand your privacy and security policies. It's up to organizational leadership to ensure there are systems in place for enforcing those policies. Please call the Law Office of MACK & PACE (585) 798-1000 to schedule a legal consultation. We emphasize business law, criminal law, family law, and estate planning.

Travel Thoughts By Kim

Let's go on an adventure together...to The Mission at San Juan Capistrano!

In 2017, I took a West Coast cruise on Princess Cruise Lines. The cruise began in San Francisco and sailed along the west coast, stopping at several ports along the California coast and Ensenada, Mexico, and returning to San Francisco. I also spent a few days in the San Francisco area after the cruise. Some of you may also remember my article from April of last year about the Amtrak Coast Starlight Train I took from San Francisco to Seattle to close out that trip. It was a wonderful trip, over all, but one of my most favorite parts was visiting the Mission at San Juan Capistrano at the Long Beach, CA port stop on the cruise.

The Long Beach / Los Angeles port stop was actually the one I was looking forward to the least. I was in Los Angeles several years ago for a work seminar and did all the touristy things related to LA and Hollywood during my free time on that trip. So, been there, done that, got the t-shirt...even though I really did enjoy it very much at the time, I wasn't all that interested in doing it, again. But, when looking over the shore excursions for that port, I found one that focused on visiting The Mission at San Juan Capistrano that looked very interesting. It was something I had heard of and I vaguely knew of the legend of the cliff swallows that migrate there every year, so I signed up for it. I was so glad I did! It ended up being so amazing and is still in the top few favorite memories of that trip.

The grounds of the mission consists of several buildings, lovely gardens and courtyards, a cemetery, and a stunning chapel. Early settlers of California built missions, like this, all along the coast with the intent to educate Native Americans to the Christian faith. They were situated with no more than a day's ride by horse between them. Bells were installed along the route to show the way and mark the distance.

The altar inside the stunning chapel at the Mission at San Juan Capistrano.

The mission took my breath away. I could have spent days there just sitting and wandering around and taking in all the beautiful buildings and stunning gardens. I spent quite a while just sitting in the chapel — so beautiful I could barely breath and got all emotional. Yes, definitely a top highlight of the cruise. The entire day was a rare treat for someone with a camera slung over her shoulder.

The day included an amazing lunch at a country club in Laguna Beach overlooking the ocean. On the way back to the ship, we drove along the Pacific Coast Highway through all the little beach towns. It was an awesome day. If you're ever in the Long Beach / Los Angeles area, be sure to take time to visit the Mission at San Juan Capistrano — and, if you can be there to witness the cliff swallows, I will be so jealous!

Check out all the beautiful photos I took during my day at the Mission at San Juan Capistrano on my blog post titled Long Beach Adventure: <https://thoughtsbykim.com/2017/04/12/long-beach-adventure/>

Happy Adventuring,

Kim Pritt

One of several beautifully preserved courtyards and gardens on the grounds of the Mission at San Juan Capistrano, California.

One of several beautifully preserved courtyards and gardens on the grounds of the Mission at San Juan Capistrano, California.

The Mission San Juan Capistrano was founded on November 1, 1776 and is known as the Jewel of the Missions. The legend of the mission is that one of the founding missionaries was in town one day and noticed a shopkeeper swatting away the cliff swallows that flocked around his shop. The missionary asked him what he was doing and he told him that he wanted to be rid of the pesky birds that dirty the entrance to his shop and cause him to lose customers. The missionary told the cliff swallows that they would be more than welcome at the mission and to come there whenever they want. The next day, the missionary found hundreds of cliff swallows making nests around the mission. From that day forward, cliff swallows migrate from their winter nesting grounds 2000 miles away to come to the mission. This happens every year on or about March 19th — St. Joseph's Day. The birds are still celebrated at the mission to this day.

Sadly, I was there a couple weeks late and missed the cliff swallows. But the rest of Beautiful view of Laguna Beach, California.

Wedding Flowers Becoming Larger than Life

Flowers are taking over weddings in a big way. While wedding trends come and go, flowers will always have a place at the wedding table. In fact, floral designer Tom Uberuaga says traditional hurricane vase centerpieces are outdated and only focus the eye on the middle of the table. He prefers guests enter the wedding and have their senses stimulated by flowers from all angles.

Floral chandeliers

Florists can hang flowers from beams over tabletops to increase visual impact, whether as individual baskets, single stems or floral swags. Hanging floral chandeliers are dramatic but naturally expensive. Think about a large installation that forces guests to look up into a sea of greenery and flowers. The smell and the sight can be breathtaking.

Welcome wreaths

A welcome floral wreath can be placed by the entryway to a chapel or reception hall with a heartfelt sentiment that shows guests how much they're appreciated.

Fairy-tale flowers

A floral curtain of hanging flowers can line a chuppah or drape the altar in beautiful blooms. Couples who would like a fairy-tale entrance also can make their debut as a couple by coming through a flower curtain at the reception. ■
