Moody on The Market

Moody

Grace Newman may only be 16-years old, but she's proven during the pandemic to be wise and resourceful well beyond her years, working hard to achieve her dream. Newman is a St. Joseph High School student who turned her quarantine time into a creative new business that helps her achieve two major goals: to save money for her own college education and to give back to others by establishing an annual scholarship fund for like-minded young people. Grace tells me, "Through quarantine and all my life, I've always wanted to start my own business. It's tough to be a teenager these days, with the pressure of social media, bullies, and extra teenage obstacles. I wanted to create a way to inspire girls my age and give them a sense of togetherness." She explains, "That's why I created Brilliant Beautiful Brave (BBBrave) Subscription Boxes for Teenage Girls." In each BBBrave box, there's something to make each girl feel beautiful, whether it be trendy jewelry or makeup. She also offers something that is hands-on to share with others; such as her mini waffle maker and super popular cocoa-bomb-making kit. Boxes also include inspirational journals and things for a teenager's room or locker. Grace says, "This box gives girls something to look forward to every month; something just for them." While she is building her college fund, Grace also decided to give back to the community, saying, "I've created a scholarship fund to be awarded each year. I'm able to do this by donating 10-percent of the proceeds each month. Finally, I am looking to now include local craft makers and artisans to support their business, and to use their creations in my box." Ms. Newman's philosophy is fundamental, as she points out, "At BBBrave, I believe that every girl is beautiful and brilliant in her mind and soul. I especially believe every girl is brave! Brave enough to accomplish whatever she wants, whether it be grades, sports, music, arts, family or friends." The goal of the quarantine dream is to extend well beyond the pandemic, as Grace says, "My ultimate mission is to create a place where girls can share their story, feel included and inspire each other. I believe that every girl, no matter her background and lifestyle, deserves to feel her absolute best in her own body and soul." Check out Grace's BBBrave Box enterprise

Your Chamber Update

On January 22, Governor Whitmer announced that her administration would be allowing Michigan restaurants to resume dine-in at 25% capacity starting February 1. Cases and hospitalizations had plummeted since November 18 when the "Pause to Save Lives" went into effect and there was no longer scientific justification for the state to keep the beleaguered industry shuttered past the 75-day mark.

For many operators, the news was bitter-sweet. A 25% capacity limit is simply not financially viable for many restaurants, prompting them to remain closed or curbside-only despite the easing of restrictions. The order enacting these limits was set to expire Sunday, February 21 and, open or not, operators were looking forward to the capacity limit being revisited and revised upwards.

Instead, when the order was updated on February 4 to allow contact sports to resume, MDHHS quietly extended the 25% capacity restriction all the way to March 29. This came without any public announcement, any scientific justification, or any explanation from the administration.

It's one thing to have the goal posts moved when it comes to restrictions, it's another thing to not even be notified. By the time last Sunday rolled around, many restaurants still had no idea things had changed. They had already begun scheduling staff and ordering food, all to have the rug pulled out from under them again.

Michiganders – and restaurant operators in particular – deserve a more open and honest conversation regarding these decisions and the factors that go into making them. While the administration claims to be “following the science and data,” an actual review of the numbers demonstrates the decision to extend the 25% capacity limit restriction could not have been based on the data at all.

On January 22, the state identified three metrics for a safe restart: hospital capacity measured by the percent of adult inpatient beds occupied by COVID-19 patients; overall case rates measured by the number of COVID-19 cases per million residents; and the percent positivity rate of COVID-19 tests.

On Jan. 22, the state's own data reported:

- Hospital capacity: 9.9%
- Overall case rate: 225 cases per million
- Positivity rate: 6.8% and declining.

On Feb. 4, the state's data reported:

- Hospital Capacity: 6.3%
- Overall case rate: 127 per million
- Positivity rate: 4.4% and declining.

As of Feb. 22, the state's data reported:

- Hospital Capacity: 4%

- Case rates: 48 per million
- Positivity rate: 3.4% and declining.

With our numbers declining drastically, the question we must ask ourselves is why aren't restrictions doing the same? Why are we still unable to provide employers with any degree of certainty about what to expect and when to expect it?

Indiana, Illinois, Ohio, and Wisconsin all have clear, metric driven roadmaps for their businesses and citizens to follow. Here in Michigan, the Michigan Restaurant and Lodging Association even released a reintegration plan that ties restaurant and event space occupancy numbers to the daily positive test rate reported by MDHHS. (For example, if the seven-day average of percent positive tests was between 10-15% the industry would hold itself to a 25% capacity. If the percentage was 3% or lower, they'd be allowed 100% capacity.)

Yet when asked about the MRLA plan at a February 17 press conference, Gov. Whitmer was noncommittal. She instead replied, “We're going to stay very clearly focused on the number and the data and monitor where we are.”

Respectfully, I'm focused on the numbers as well. Some 3,000 restaurants in the state have permanently closed and over 200,000 jobs in the industry have been lost. These numbers, unlike those above, get worse every day.

Enough is enough. As we approach Michigan's one year anniversary of “two weeks to flatten the curve,” we must demand more transparency and accountability from our state leaders. We must demand a new approach that values local input; takes cases, vaccinations, seasonality, and regional differences into consideration; and sets clear benchmarks for the easing of restrictions on businesses.

Look for our chamber to advocate for this approach in the coming weeks and months.

This week has felt like we are in a heatwave compared to the prior two weeks. A gentle reminder that spring is on its way! Whether it's the tail end of winter or the beginning of spring there are still fun and interesting things to do right here in Michigan's Great Southwest!

The Mendel Center invites you to the next Economics Club of Southwest Michigan virtual event, March 16, for Feats of Filmmaking. Meet two filmmakers renowned for capturing extreme feats of adventure in some of the world's most remote and inhospitable environments. Based out of British Columbia, Bryan Smith brings stories of adventure to the screen from the South Pacific's deepest canyons to the frozen waters of Niagara Falls. Keith Ladzinski takes on the seemingly impossible—including chasing tornadoes, hanging from massive natural arches, and swimming with alligators—to document the endeavors of the world's most elite adventurers. Reserve your online pass at www.TheMendelCenter.com.

Our next virtual opportunity is brought to you by Krasl Art Center, March 25, iPhone Photography - Beyond Filter - OVWS3. Take your iPhone photographs beyond filters with Karen West! Karen will introduce two apps that can open the world of fine art to your imagination and creativity. Her step-by-step interactive teaching approach makes learning these complicated apps fun and easy. Leonardo allows for blending and masking multiple images into a new creation of your very own. Photofox adds even more creative possibilities from layers and blending modes to special effects and brushes. Download Painter-esque, Distressed FX and Paint before the workshop and have two landscapes and one still life image ready to edit. These Visiting Artist Workshops are held on Zoom. An invitation will be emailed to participants after registration. Registration is required - www.krasl.org/education/workshops/.

For our outdoor activity we will take a look at Grand Mere State Park in Stevensville. Grand Mere State Park is a public recreation and nature preservation area. The state park is located adjacent to Interstate 94. Protected from Lake Michigan by the dunes to the west, the park has many natural features not found throughout the rest of the state. In 1968 it was designated a National Natural Landmark. The 985-acre park is mostly wooded and has three geologically ancient inland lakes, left behind as the glaciers receded during the last ice age. The dunes protecting the park also create a relatively cool environment that supports plants not normally seen in southern Michigan. Grand Mere became a state park in 1973.

The park offers swimming, hiking, picnicking, boat launch, and cross-country skiing. The park has one mile of beach along the shores of Lake Michigan, which can be reached only on foot by climbing over steep sand dunes. There are many trails for hiking and cross-country skiing, but most are neither posted nor maintained. The trail conditions vary from loose sand to hard packed dirt. There are many hills including a large sand dune. Bikes and off-road vehicles are prohibited.

Don't forget to join the folks from St. Joseph Today, March 12, for March Mannequins. Be sure to support your favorite stores, wineries, breweries, and restaurants while you are there. We all need to help each other survive. Until next time, be kind, wear your mask, and practice social distancing.

We'll be back in a couple of weeks with more fun and interesting things to do in Michigan's Great Southwest!

Most people recognize the major crossroads at the epicenter of downtown St. Joseph's central business district to be the intersection of State & Broad Streets. The man who anchored that crossroads for decades as one of the community's consummate businessmen died over the past weekend, just five weeks after he had lost the love of his life. Doug Landis, who owned and operated Landis Clothing Company at that crossroads for years until his retirement, was 81 at the time of his death at home on Saturday, February 20th, 2021. His wife Sandy, who worked side by side with him for years, had died on January 14th at the age of 78. Landis Clothing Company was a pivotal business in downtown St. Joseph and a linchpin that helped to attract dozens of other successful retailers over the course of the years. Even before growing his enterprise into the central business district, however, Doug & Sandy were highly successful as operators of the golf shop at the former Wyndwicke Golf Course off of Niles Road in South St. Joseph. Once they expanded their clothing line to finer men's fashions beyond sportswear, the business boomed for years, first at 400 State Street on the southwest corner of the crossroads, and later in 2000 when they grew into the building that had been the 100-year long home to Rimes Department Store at 321 State Street on the northeast corner of that same crossroads. Doug dedicated more than 53 years of his life to the clothing business, and boasted many corporate clients along the way as he outfitted them in sartorial splendor until things slowed in that realm due to societal changes that brought on casual office wear. He adapted to the change, but was saddened that the professionalism of the business community was fading into history. Throughout his career he spent more than five decades working on State Street in St. Joseph, and loved greeting the public as they came into downtown St. Joe, residents and visitors alike. Doug loved people, and his family points out, "He had quite the knack for making men look good in their new clothes." They add, "We (the family) jokingly called him 'Mayor,' because we could never go anywhere in the area where he didn't know someone." They add, with a bit of nostalgia, "Being seated at a restaurant was a long process since he had to stop at seven tables to say 'hello.'" Doug and Sandy closed out Landis Clothing Company in the summer of 2018 to step into retirement, but continued to live in St. Joseph. Doug was born on November 24, 1939, to Claude and Helen (Rowe) Landis in Lansing. He graduated from Benton Harbor High School in 1958. On June 25, 1966, Doug married the love of his life, Sandra Diamond. Doug loved golfing and was a proud member of Berrien Hills Country Club, and was also actively involved in Ducks Unlimited, raising money for the conservation of our nation's wetlands. He enjoyed taking trips to Canada, Maryland, Southern Illinois, and day trips to Kalamazoo to spend his leisure time in a hunting blind hunting ducks and geese. He was also a proud founding member of Peace Lutheran Church. A private celebration of life service will be held for Doug's family. Memorial contributions may be made to Caring Circle of Lakeland, Hospice, 4025 Health Park Lane, St. Joseph, MI 49085, or Peace Lutheran Church, 3590 Lincoln Ave., St. Joseph, MI 49085. Those wishing to leave an online condolence may do so at www.starksfamilyfh.com/. Doug is survived by his children: David (Shannon) Landis of Portage, Michigan, and Shelly (James) Penney of Decatur, Georgia; and grandchildren: Delaney, Carter, Vaughn and Lily. Doug was preceded in death by his parents: Claude and Helen; wife, Sandra; and siblings: Larry and Linda. Doug Landis was known to say that the retail clothing business was in his blood, and he proved it every day that he served the community of Michigan's Great Southwest as a first-class businessman and friend to everyone he met. He has already been missed on the retail scene, now he will be missed ever more.

You might have a tough time finding second base at Wells Field along S. State Street in St. Joseph in all the snow right now, but it's the perfect time to launch registration plans for the St. Joe Baseball Association, in anticipation of getting back on the field this spring and summer. Organization official Lars Petzke says, "We were unable to play a season last summer due to Covid, but we are planning on a season this year." He adds, "It will be safe and we will be following state and local health department recommendations for safe play." The St. Joe Baseball Association league is for boys and girls aged from 4-to-14 years old. Their registration information is now making the rounds, and Petzke says, "We're concerned about numbers since the kids didn't get a chance last year, so we want to make sure families jump back on board this season." The league is operated completely by volunteers and exist season-to-season based solely on donations and league sponsorships. Their games are played at historic Wells Field on S.

With the immense financial, physical, and emotional impact of the pandemic playing havoc seemingly everywhere, the team of the YMCA of Greater Michiana will do its best to continue the road to recovery by hosting their second annual YMCA Day of Giving next Tuesday, March 2nd. The special Day of Giving is a one-day event geared toward promoting an opportunity to give to your local Y in the greater Michiana area which includes the Benton Harbor-St. Joseph YMCA, the Niles-Buchanan YMCA, and the O'Brien/YMCA Partnership in South Bend. The one-day effort shows support for the Y's annual campaign, which is an initiative that provides financial assistance for programs and memberships to children and families in need, ensuring no one is turned away due to inability to pay. YMCA leaders say, "The financial, physical, and emotional impact of COVID-19 on our communities have been immense. As people return to the Y, many families and individuals need our services and financial support more than ever." Jill Haboush, Chief Development Officer for the YMCA of Greater Michiana, tells us, "Day of Giving is a terrific way to rally behind the important work being done daily at the Y," and adds, "These donations will help us ensure we meet critical community needs through our core focus areas of youth development, healthy living, and social responsibility." Here's the impact your gift to the YMCA could make in the community: $10 provides an individual a day of physical activity at the Y...$20 provides a senior 10 visits of indoor walking at the Y...$25 provides a family of a special-needs teen/young adult (16+) a well-deserved evening out while their loved one enjoys an evening of fun and physical activity at the Y...$70 provides a child with horseback riding lessons at Camp Eberhart...$75 provides a child with a week of swim lessons including drown prevention and lifesaving skills in one of our surrounding lakes...$130 provides a child an opportunity to attend one week of summer day camp...$180 provides a week of childcare for an Asset Limited Income Constrained Employee (ALICE) making $16 an hour working annually...$540 will provide one senior with a one-year membership...$750 provides a cancer survivor 12-weeks of camaraderie to rebuild strength, improve energy levels and find a new confidence to live every day healthy. Those who wish to participate may visit their local Y to donate in-person or may donate online at this link: www.ymcagm.org/donate. To learn more about YMCA Day of Giving, visit www.ymcagm.org. Driven by its founding mission, the Y has served as a leading nonprofit committed to strengthening community for more than 175 years. The Y empowers everyone, no matter who they are or where they are from, by ensuring access to resources, relationships, and opportunities for all to learn, grow and thrive. By bringing together people from different backgrounds, perspectives and generations, the Y's goal is to improve overall health and well-being, ignite youth empowerment and demonstrate the importance of connections in and across 10,000 communities nationwide.

Stand Firm in Your Faith

So then, brothers and sisters, stand firm and hold fast to the teachings we passed on to you, whether by word of mouth or by letter. ~ 2 Thessalonians 2:15

Do you know people who used to be Christians but have lost their faith? Some of them stopped believing when they went off to college. Their professors said that Christianity was foolish and they didn't want to be known as fools, so they denied Christ. Or classmates told them that the Bible is hateful towards LGBTQ people. They didn't want to be hateful, so they gave up on Christianity. Others started watching YouTube videos that taught that science has disproven God. They didn't want to be anti-scientific, so they abandoned Jesus.

Each person left Christianity for different reasons. But they all had this one thing in common. None of them were feeding their faith. None of them were actively going to church and speaking with their pastor and other Christians. Jesus predicted that these people would fall when he told the parable of "The Sower and the Seed." In his story, Jesus compares our faith to a plant. If our faith is not "fed" and "watered," it will dry up or get choked out by the weeds of life.

That's why Paul told his congregation in Thessalonica to "stand firm and hold fast to the teachings we passed on to you, whether by word of mouth or by letter." Paul knew that it is not enough to just hear the Word of God once. Followers of Jesus need to actively take hold of it, absorbing Biblical sermons, and meditating on what Paul and the other Biblical authors wrote down.

Wherever you might be in your relationship with the Lord, stand firm in the message of God's love for you in Jesus Christ.

Prayer: Lord God, lead me to stand firm and hold fast to your precious Word. Don't let the devil or anything in this world snatch me from your hand. Amen.

Dave Ramsey

Limit the potential for damage

Dear Dave,
My husband started working at a new company about a year ago. As part of his sign on, they gave him $5,000 in company stock. The stock has nearly doubled in value since then, and we were wondering if we should buy more, considering how well it has done.

Cathi
Dear Cathi,

I totally get why you two might be excited over a stock that doubled in value over the course of a year. But what you're talking about doing right now is a very risky proposition. The truth is any stock that doubles in value over the course of just one year is highly volatile. It's unusual for stocks to do things like that, and it also means it could go down just as fast—or even faster.

I don't know where you and your husband are in your overall financial situation, but I recommend people become debt-free except for their homes, and have an emergency fund of three to six months of expenses saved up before investing. Once you reach that point, I strongly advise to begin putting 15 percent of your income toward retirement before you start any outside investing.

Don't get me wrong, I don't mind a little selective and educated dabbling here and there once the basics are taken care of first. However, I'd never recommend putting more than 10 percent of your nest egg into a single stock. The reason? If the single stock tanks and you lose it all, then your loss is only a blip on your financial radar.

Of course, it would be fantastic if this single stock went through the roof and you two made a ton of money. Just make sure you limit the potential for damage in this kind of scenario by limiting your exposure.

-Dave

Stuart

I don't know if I've mentioned how hot it is where I live. And I'm not talkin' 'bout global warming, or the latest Sports Illustrated swimsuit edition.

It all started at Christmas. . . Christmas 2011, that is! Those long years ago, my No. 2 son (then age 26) gave me a one-ounce container of a dried plant material called Bhut Jolokia. I thanked him profusely and apologized just as profusely that I didn't know what in the heck Bhut Jolokia was. He revealed that it's the notorious Ghost Pepper, the world's hottest chile pepper.

He'd presented me a gift appealing to my keen sense of adventure, which manifests itself in cuisine through my bold addition of Tabasco sauce or crushed pepper flakes to my food. After that, my adventurousness is pretty much limited to trying to sneak the Sports Illustrated swimsuit edition into the house without a certain spousal unit noticing.

While I'd never heard of "Bhut Jolokia," I had heard of the Ghost Pepper: I had watched Adam Richman on the TV show "Man vs. Food" visit a restaurant in San Antonio, Texas, and try to consume a concoction called The Four Horsemen Burger. It features habanero, serrano and jalapeno chiles and is topped by the fearsome Ghost Pepper. Richman ate it, but said it was his most excruciatingly painful food challenge ever.

If I remember correctly, the restaurant staff has to wear masks and gloves while handling the chiles – it's juices will cause spice burns – and even then, they have to go outside for 15 minutes to flee the fumes emanating from just a single chopped Bhut Jolokia. Remembering all this as I stared at my gift, I suspected my "sense of adventure" hadn't inspired this gift; it seemed No. 2 had given me a gift that appealed to his sense of the macabre.

At Christmas dinner, No. 2 was all "C'mon Dad, let's see you eat some!" I managed to avoid contact at that meal by reminding him of the wheezing, watery eyes and runny nose I get just from eating hot chicken wings; did he really want his girlfriend (now wife), who was visiting us with him for the first time, to see that? He said no, so the Ghost Pepper remained unopened, much to the chagrin of No. 1 son (then age 27), who LOVES hot food; he thinks Tabasco is for wimps and routinely pours lighter fluid on his chow and sets a match to it before dining.

So here's how hard the Ghost Pepper kicks my Bhut: I can sprinkle literally seven tiny flakes into my palm (seven signifying me, the wife, and the five kids; I want my survivors to know I was thinking of them if the pepper ever causes me to give up the ghost) and carefully disperse them around my food, and still wind up heat-perventilating after a couple bites.

But now, 9+ years later, I'm starting to get used to it. I may even increase the number of flakes soon; maybe as many as nine or ten per meal. Of course, I'll start wearing gloves. I want nothing to do with spice burns. Well, unless "Spice Burns" is the name of a Sports Illustrated swimsuit model.
