Notes from the NUNDA VILLAGE BOARD

Through a new program, trees will be made available to Village of Nunda residents for this spring's planting season. There will be no charge and the types of trees will be announced at a later date. All those interested in replacing lost trees or simply adding to the beauty and color of their property this may be right for you.

A virtual survey is now available to residents as we are exploring options for tree planting in the Village. Please take a minute to visit the Village website and Village Facebook Page where both can direct you to this survey, via an access link.

This tool will be extremely helpful in moving forward in ways to beautify our community even more.

For more information regarding this opportunity, please contact LeRoy Wood, Nunda Village Clerk/Administrator at (585) 468-2215.

Re-Elect Frank Provo Mount Morris Village Mayor

Residents, I am asking for a second term as Village Mayor. My party line name is "Mount Morris First." I chose this name because I believe Mount Morris is a great community to live in with much to offer.

As Mayor I have:

- demonstrated I am fiscally responsible.
- addressed the challenges that confront the Village and have worked to maintain services while holding the line on raising taxes.
- brought solutions to long running issues that have festered in the community to the Village Board and when approved took corrective action to address the problem.
- listed a vision for future projects.
- demonstrated I am available to perform the full-time functions of Mayor.

As Mr. Mike stated in his January 4, 2017 Livingston County News mayor won't seek re-election article. "You need a mayor that's either retired or has the ability to be in that village office every single day for a minimum of four hours just to handle the minutiae of things that come along," he said. "I realize that while Mount Morris is never going to pay somebody full time to do the job, it really is a full-time job, a full-time commitment."

In the same article Mr. Mike stated, "It has been a challenge (and) there were times when it was more (work) than I thought it would be... but the bottom line is I need to focus on my professional and my personnel life right now," said Mike.

Mount Morris Voters, on Tuesday, March 16th look for my name on the "Mount Morris First" ballot line. I appreciate your support so that I may continue as your Mayor for a second term.

Thank you,
Frank M. Provo
Mayor, Village of Mount Morris

Paid for by Frank M. Provo

SPEAK OUT

Dear "Speak Out,"

We continue with week six of our study of our United States Constitution. This week we continue with the section regarding the Senate as we study Article I – Section 3 – Clause 7 which reads "Judgment in Cases of Impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from Office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any Office of honor, Trust or Profit under the United States: but the Party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to Indictment, Trial, Judgment and Punishment, according to Law."

An official convicted by the Senate in an impeachment case will be removed from that office and will be disqualified from holding federal office in the future. That person can also be indicted for that crime and can be subject to a trial and subsequent judgment and punishment as the law allows.

Article I – Section 4 – Clause 1 reads "The Times, Places and Manner of holding Elections for Senators and Representatives, shall be prescribed in each State by the Legislature thereof; but the Congress may at any time by Law make or alter such Regulations, except as to the Places of choosing Senators." Our Constitution differentiated between the authority of the state and the federal government.

It was agreed that any authority not specially outlined in our Constitution be the responsibility and authority of the individual states. However, if the Congress at any time decides that jurisdiction previously held by the individual states should be the responsibility and authority of the federal government, Congress may propose a law to that effect.

However, this happens rarely as the founding fathers were very concerned that the federal government not infringe on the rights of the states and therefore proceed to an autocratic government which they had just ridded themselves of in the case of England. The places of electing Senators was specifically omitted from this possibility. Article I – Section 4 – Clause 2 reads "The Congress shall assemble at least once in every Year, and such Meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by Law appoint a different Day."

Most of the members of the Congress lived at home in their individual states in 1787. Traveling to New York City, which was the capital of the United States of America at that time, was an arduous and expensive undertaking. Therefore, legislation which did not require their immediate attention was left to the first Monday in December unless convening of the Congress was deemed necessary in the event of an emergency. In later years, with easier and less arduous modes of transportation, trips to New York City, later Philadelphia and finally Washington, D. C., convening Congress became more frequent in nature until the building of housing in Washington, D. C., enabled members of Congress to remain in the Capitol for longer periods of time.

Article I – Section 5 – Clause 1 reads "Each House shall be the Judge of the Elections, Returns and Qualifications of its own Members, and a Majority of each shall constitute a Quorum to do Business; but a smaller Number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the Attendance of absent Members, in such Manner, and under such Penalties as each House may provide." We saw how the Congress was the judge of the 2020 Presidential Electoral College votes. A majority of the Congress must be in attendance for Congress to legislate laws. Members can meet to deliberate potential legislation. When necessary, absent members may be compelled to attend. Lord willing, I will see you next week.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT YOUR DRINKING WATER

The Town of Mount Morris Public Water Supply Has Levels of Haloacetic Acids (HAA) Above Drinking Water Standards

Our water system recently violated a drinking water standard. Although this is not an emergency, as our customers, you have a right to know what happened, what you should do, and what we are doing to correct this situation. We routinely monitor for the presence of drinking water contaminants. Sample results taken on February 9, 2021 show that our system exceeded the standard, or maximum contaminant level (MCL), for Haloacetic Acids (HAAs). The standard for HAA's is 60 micrograms per liter. The average level of HAA's over the last year was 63.50 micrograms per liter. It is important to note that the sampling location for HAAs represents the location where the highest levels are thought to occur, and may not be representative of the entire system.

What are haloacetic acids (HAAs)?

HAAs are formed in drinking water during treatment by chlorine (the most commonly used disinfectant in New York State), which reacts with certain acids that are in naturally-occurring organic material (e.g., decomposing vegetation such as tree leaves, algae or other aquatic plants) in surface water sources such as rivers and lakes. The amount of HAAs in drinking water can change from day to day, depending on the temperature, the amount of organic material in the water, the amount of chlorine added, and a variety of other factors. Drinking water is disinfected by public water suppliers to kill bacteria and viruses that could cause serious illnesses. For this reason, disinfection of drinking water by chlorination is beneficial to public health.

Some studies suggest that people who drank chlorinated drinking water containing disinfection by-products (possibly including HAAs) for long periods of time (e.g., 20 to 30 years) have an increased risk for certain health effects. These include an increased risk for cancer. However, how long and how frequently people actually drank the water as well as how much HAAs the water contained is not known for certain. Therefore, the evidence from these studies is not strong enough to conclude that the observed increased risk for cancer is due to HAAs, other disinfection by-products, or some other factor. Studies of laboratory animals show that the individual HAAs, dichloroacetic acid and trichloroacetic acid, can cause cancer following exposure to high levels over their lifetimes. Dichloroacetic acid and trichloroacetic acid are also known to cause other effects in laboratory animals after high levels of exposure, primarily on the liver, kidney, and nervous system and on their ability to bear healthy offspring. The effects reported in studies of laboratory animals occur at exposures much higher than exposures that could result through normal use of the water. The risks for adverse health effects from HAAs in drinking water are small compared to the risk for illness from drinking inadequately disinfected water.

What does this mean for you?

At present, the water is suitable to drink, cook with, and bath in. Some people may wish to take additional practical measures to reduce their exposure. We do not consider these measures necessary to avoid health effects, but they are provided as options. These include using bottled water for drinking and cooking purposes, or using water pitchers containing an activated carbon filter or a tap-mounted activated carbon filter. These filters are readily available in many grocery and home improvement stores. Ventilating bathroom areas (e.g., using exhaust fans or opening windows) when showering or bathing can also help reduce exposures from chemicals released into the air.

What happened? What is being done?

The Town of Mount Morris is working diligently with the Village of Mount Morris to improve the quality of water delivered to consumers, including a flushing program to help maintain fresh water in the system. For more information, please contact Ed Haefner, water operator for the Town of Mount Morris at (585) 658-3375 or the Livingston County Department of Health. To reach the Livingston County Department of Health call (585) 243-7280 Monday through Friday from 8:00am to 4:00pm or by email: dept-of-health@co.livingston.ny.us.

For emergencies, you may also reach the Department of Health after business hours or on weekends by calling the Livingston County Sheriff's Department at (585) 243-7100.

Masks required - Numbers admitted into the building will be monitored to maintain social distancing. If more than 15 people arrive at the same time, some may need to wait in their car for others to leave the building.

Starting Monday, March 8, the book will be available at Nunda Family Pharmacy, by order from www.nundahistory.org, through Facebook messaging by using PayPal, or by writing to NHS at Box 341, using the above address and sending a check for $15 to cover the book and postage.

Generations of "Nundaiana" have contributed to the history of Nunda and helped to tell The Story of Nunda. If you visit our Historical Building you will find many local folks featured in our museum exhibits, photographic collections, genealogical materials and historical files. But most of these individuals are from our past. What about those of modern day?

This book by NHS member Peter Piraino begins to address this question by sharing the story of several contemporary "Nundaiana." We thank Pete for undertaking this project and look forward to his future work on this topic. Thanks to Pete and his sister Julie, all proceeds from the sale of this book benefit the Nunda Historical Society.
