LOCAL BANKERS. LOCAL DECISIONS.

When FB Financial Corporation Executive Chairman Jim Ayers bought Farmers State Bank in 1984, it had been serving the small West Tennessee town of Scotts Hill since 1906, providing loans to farmers and merchants, keeping hard-earned deposits safe, and playing a pivotal role in the life of the community. After moving the charter to Lexington, Tennessee, and changing its name to FirstBank, Ayers began expanding the Bank across Tennessee, establishing the franchise in metropolitan areas while continuing to serve smaller community markets. We continue to operate from the Bank's roots and operating philosophy of growing the Bank one relationship at a time.

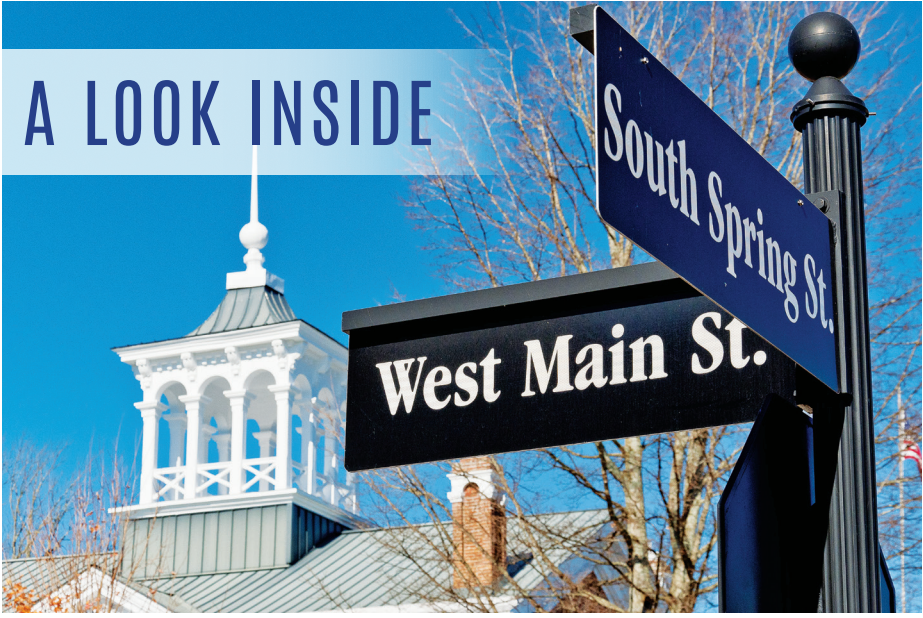

Today's world of banking is much more complex than it was in 1906, but FirstBank keeps it simple - A TRADITION CONTINUES.

We're here for good.

All our physicians take an oath to “do no harm,” but we know there’s more to health care than that. Good hospitals do good. And they commit to the communities they’re a part of. They go all in—for good.

With the arrival of Vanderbilt Tullahoma-Harton Hospital, we plan to do just that.

EMPOWERING THE COMMUNITY

Small businesses not only have a significant impact on the larger economy, but they are also crucial to helping our local community thrive

Text by Trish Sandora Photos by James Jordan

You've heard it said that small businesses are the backbone of the United States economy. Although we live in an era where corporate giants seem to be calling all the shots, it's the small businesses we count on in our day-to-day lives. Every day, as small business owners show up and light up the open sign to offer their goods and services, they cast a vote of confidence for the community where they live and work. However, these businesses also play an integral role in a much bigger picture. They are empowering the community by providing jobs and injecting money into the local economy. For every $100 spent at a locally owned business, $73 remains in the local economy. Compare that to the same $100 spent at a non-locally owned business, where only $43 remains. There's a lot to be said for knowing who you do business with, and in Manchester, many small business owners are also our friends and neighbors. They are

pillars in the community who support one another, create a network that reaches throughout different sectors, and in the process, establish a sense of unity. They know their customers by name and make the extra effort to build trusted relationships through good old fashioned customer service. Small businesses not only invest in the wellbeing of the community today but also in the future. Whether it's an eye exam, a vehicle repair, or a makeover, these Manchester businesses add value to the community simply by doing what they do best.

ANDERSON EYE CARE

Founded in 2007 by husband and wife team Drs. Jeremy and Summer Anderson, Anderson Eye Care is in the business of helping people see clearly. For the 11th consecutive year, the family eye care center has been voted Manchester's Finest Optometrist. Through a wide variety of services, they treat or manage all medical conditions of the eye which don't require surgery. "Many people don't know that we handle all kinds of urgent eye care needs including pink eye, trauma, loss of vision, and even removing metal or other foreign bodies from the eye,” Dr. Jeremy states. “We really serve as the primary care physician of the eyes and facilitate referrals to specialists as needed.”

To all the doctors and staff at Anderson Eye Care, the patients are at the heart of everything they do. “They are like family, and we look forward to seeing them come through the front doors each year,” Dr. Jeremy says. “I have many families where I take care of four generations.” In addition to Drs. Jeremy and Summer, Dr. Gregory L. Muse, a Tullahoma native, also brings his experience and expertise to Anderson Eye Care.

For the Andersons, Manchester is where they work, play, and live. It’s where Dr. Summer grew up, and today, it’s where their children go to school. “I love Manchester because the folks here are so loyal. In a small town, when someone loves you, they tell their whole family and all their friends,” Dr. Jeremy adds. To learn more about Anderson Eye Care, visit the website at drandersoneyecare.com or call 931-728-1315.

MANCHESTER TIRE & BRAKE

Since 2001, the Vaught Family has been keeping vehicles up and running safely down the road. Whether it’s troubleshooting mysterious engine noises, replacing brakes, putting on a new set of tires, or taking care of routine auto maintenance, Manchester Tire & Brake provides a vital service to the community. For 11 years in a row, the family-owned business has been voted Manchester’s Finest Service and Repair Center.

Kevin and Jamie Vaught started the business almost two decades ago. Today both of their sons, Dakota and Dylan, work together with them in the busy automotive shop. Through quality work, top-notch customer service, and a whole lot of elbow grease, they have gained many longstanding, loyal customers resulting in the need to expand the business twice. “We attribute that growth to several things. We truly believe in customer service and know that your time and money are valuable,” Kevin says. “We treat our customers like family.” Another key to their success as a small automotive shop includes a team of experienced mechanics. Loyal customers also know they won’t be pressured into buying something they don’t need. “We want to take care of each customer’s needs, no more and no less,” Kevin adds. Much more than a tire and brake shop, Manchester Tire & Brake can take care of just about any problem your vehicle is having, including engine repairs, suspension service, brake repairs, alignments, and tire services. To find out more, visit the website at manchestertireandautorepair.com or call 931-728-5097.

MERLE NORMAN COSMETICS STUDIO

For over a decade, Jenny Jackson and Cindy Slack West have been doing their part to help the women of Manchester and the surrounding areas look and feel more beautiful and confident. The friends and business partners purchased the Merle Norman Cosmetics Studio in Manchester in 2008. They also own and operate a second Merle Norman Cosmetics Studio in Franklin County, Tennessee.

Merle Norman Cosmetics is an American multinational cosmetics franchise company specializing in premium skincare and makeup products with over 1,100 studios in North America. The company is celebrating its 90th anniversary this year. The beauty empire was started in 1931 by the late Merle Nethercutt Norman (1887-1972), who developed three products to help women clear and tighten their complexion —The Three Steps to Beauty. Those three products are still produced and sold regularly today. In addition to Merle Norman’s “try before you buy” philosophy, she also invented the “before and after” makeover. Still run by the Nethercutt family, Merle Norman Cosmetics is one of the few companies that manufactures almost all of its products in the USA. Owning the franchise has allowed Jenny and Cindy to make a living doing something they love. Whether it’s doing a complete makeover, teaching makeup techniques, or helping customers find a product for their specific skin type or need, a visit to Merle Norman is an experience full of smiles, laughter, and beauty. The Merle Girls even keep records of past purchases made by their customers, making it very easy and time-saving to replenish their favorite products. The Manchester Studio also features a variety of handbags, jewelry, and women’s accessories. Merle Norman Cosmetics is located at 1909 McArthur Street.

For more information call 931-728-0440.

You can also find them on Facebook at Merle Norman Cosmetics Studio, Manchester, TN.

These are just a few of the businesses that are building a better future for Manchester. Shopping local means everything to a small business. Creating an environment that supports and nurtures small business growth is a win-win for everyone.

HOW YOU CAN HELP small businesses survive and thrive

- Make an effort to shop local first.
- Purchase local gift cards for friends, family members, or co-workers. A gift card introduces the company to someone new and helps spread the word.
- Share and like local businesses on social media accounts
- Give a local business a great review on Google, Yelp, or other consumer review sites.

THE POWER OF Giving

Two charitable organizations keep the focus close to home.

Text by Trish Sandora Photos by James Jordan

You don't have to look too hard to find someone who could use a helping hand. It might be a neighbor, the person who takes your order at the drive-through, a coworker, or a classmate. Living in a small community like Manchester, we regularly interact with people who, just like us, are going through the ups and downs of life. Through giving locally, we have the opportunity to help the people who live and work in close proximity. What's more, we get to see the results first hand. Two local charities have made it their mission to help those close to home, and the Coffee County community is stronger and healthier for it.

Dusty Elam Foundation

Dusty Elam had a heart for kids. He was attending college to be a special education teacher when his life was cut short due to injuries sustained in a motorcycle accident in 2004. The Dusty Elam Foundation has been a force of good in the community ever since.

The main focus of the foundation is to help children with special needs and their families. Whether it's through the annual Christmas dinner for the Child Development Center children, Christmas gifts for Dusty's Angels or the annual Dusty's Day at the Elam Farm, the foundation is changing lives for the better.

The members and volunteers of the Dusty Elam Foundation are hard at work all year long, bringing awareness and inclusion to the special-needs community in a big way. The foundation participates in a wide range of events throughout Coffee County, including the Special Olympics, 5k races, a community youth basketball league, and many others. They also host various fundraisers, such as a booth at Bonnaroo and a golf tournament. Whether it's a spot on the radio stations or a special event at a local brewery, the community embraces this local non-profit wholeheartedly.

The largest source of revenue comes from an annual fundraiser held in May. "That's really where we raise most of our money, from the sponsors of that event, proceeds and ticket sales," foundation board member Josh Carney says. The action-packed event includes booths, live music, live and silent auctions, raffles, and giveaways. In 2020, the foundation was unable to host the benefit due to the COVID-19 pandemic. However, despite the inability to host a fundraiser, they still had some generous people in the community make donations. "It didn't seem like the right time to ask people for money," Josh adds.

Dusty's Day is the essence of what the organization is all about. Held the Friday before the annual fundraiser, the event is a day of celebration and fun for special needs youth from Manchester City, Tullahoma, and Coffee County schools. The kids gather at Coffee County Central High School and then ride on buses to the Elam Farm with a police escort. When they arrive at the farm, a drum line and welcoming party kick off the festivities. The full day of fun and games includes bounce houses, games, a magic show, and food. "That's one of the best things about what we do, is seeing the kids out there playing," Josh says. Thanks to a Local Parks and Recreation Fund grant and matching funds from Park Partners, a local non-profit, The "Dusty Elam Memorial Playground" recently opened at Fred Deadman Park in Manchester. The all-inclusive playground includes a wheelchair-accessible merry-go-round and other special features that enable children with special needs to access the playground equipment.

Through a long list of donations, to people and organizations that help children, the Dusty Elam Foundation is a huge part of the heart of Coffee County. Josh adds, "The majority of our focus tries to be on special needs children and children in general. We try to help where we can." To find out more about the Dusty Elam Foundation follow @DustyElamFoundation on Facebook.

Sportsmen and Businessmen's Charitable Organization

In 1984, a group of friends and colleagues gathered together at a farm in Beech Grove, Tennessee, with the intent to spread some goodwill. The idea was simple, help Coffee County families and individuals in need. They formed the Sportsmen and Businessmen's Charitable Organization (SBCO), and it's been going strong ever since. What the founders didn't know at the time was that their grassroots effort would be met with community support far beyond their wildest expectations. “I’ve never totaled the monies that have cycled through this organization, but it would be well in excess of a couple of million dollars, possibly even three million,” SBCO President Carter Sain comments.

In the early days of the organization, members met at 41 Drive-In, which is now Dotson’s Fruit Market on Hillsboro Blvd. in Manchester. For Carter, being involved with SBCO is a way of life and labor of love. His father was one of the founders, and Carter grew up helping with the annual fundraiser and volunteering in many capacities. For almost four decades, SBCO has been helping grow a strong community through the generosity of hundreds of faithful supporters. “Our niche is that we don’t have too small of a niche,” Carter explains. Sometimes, those in need aren’t always who you think they are. They can be children in a loving family that may not have the resources to meet a dental or a vision need. Whether it’s a wheelchair or bike that helps a disabled child be mobile, a wig for a cancer patient, a piece of playground equipment, student scholarships, or funds for county and city schools, the list of benefits the organization pours into the community goes on and on. “We’ve been able to help families in their time of need, and we’ve also been able to help children. Our founders designed it so that we could have flexibility,” Carter adds.

It is a mission of SBCO’s to support programs that directly assist the children in the community, including Coffee County Schools’ Family Resource Center’s ‘Coffee County Student Expo’ program, Manchester

City Schools' Family Resource Center's 'WeCare' program, and Tullahoma City Schools' Coordinated School Health. "We have our boundaries. We try to stay right here in this zip code," Carter explains. "If we didn't stay geographically centered, this money wouldn't benefit the folks here. We also don't help with sports teams or athletics. While those are very wonderful things taking place, that is not our forte."

In addition to monetary contributions and volunteering, the members play a crucial role in being part of a network that helps find referrals. Great referrals help SBCO put the money where it needs to be throughout the community. "If you've supported our organization in the past, or if you support it today, we consider you to be a member," Carter says.

In a non-pandemic year, SBCO hosts an annual fundraiser on the first Saturday of November. The event typically yields $120-150,000 in gross proceeds. Most of the funds come from members within the community, although generosity extends from members outside the area as well. "The tremendous community support for this organization and the belief in what we do makes our annual event successful," Carter says. Due to the pandemic, an envelope campaign was held instead of the 2020 fundraising event. However, even in tough times, dedicated members of the community continue to support the organization that brings so much good to Coffee County. For up-to-date news and information on how you can get involved, follow @SportBusinessCharitableOrg on Facebook, email sbco1986@gmail.com, or call (931) 728-5048.

THE SHOW MUST GO ON

In times like these, art means even more, and the Manchester Arts Center is rising to the occasion.

Text by Trish Sandora Photos by James Jordan

Art is an expression of what it means to be human. Whether it's belting out a song on a stage, admiring a piece of visual art, or learning how to draw, art makes a difference in how we live our lives. It not only helps us to understand the world around us, but it also can be a source of comfort and strength and can even reduce stress and anxiety. The Manchester Arts Center encompasses all that and more.

The Manchester Arts Center (MAC) has a story of its own, one of resilience and perseverance that stretches out over four decades. In 1995, the group purchased and renovated a building on Hillsboro Blvd. Over several years, they made substantial improvements to the building, including a new roof, theatre seating, upgraded lighting and sound, handicap accessibility, and a lighted parking area. However, in 2006, the beautifully renovated building was destroyed by fire. After such a great loss, it would have been easy to give up on the MAC, but the group continued to function and provide quality art and events for the community. Today, the arts center makes its home at 128 East Main Street in downtown Manchester.

This past year, under the stresses of a worldwide pandemic, many longstanding arts centers throughout the country have suffered from the loss of revenue. As a result, some have had to close their doors for good. Thankfully, the MAC is making the best of a tough situation and continues to do all it can to keep the arts alive in Manchester. “This past year has been the toughest, next to it burning down several years back,” MAC Board Chairman Doug Spangler comments. “COVID has deeply impacted our fundraising.”

In years past, the MAC concentrated primarily on the theater. However, in recent years, the visual arts program has expanded, adding art classes for adults and children and showcasing the work of local artisans. “A lot of people don’t realize that all the art we exhibit is for sale,” Spangler explains. “We currently have the work of fifteen different artists exhibited throughout the center.”

Awareness of the arts has taken a major leap forward.

Doug Spangler

The MAC also has a designated exhibit area called the Black Box that features a different local artist every few weeks. Recently, painter and sculptor Bill Nickels showed a few of his drawings and paintings in the Black Box. Many know Bill as a local businessman and city alderman. However, he is also an accomplished artist and a strong advocate for the visual arts. The exhibits are one of several events that help keep the doors open at the MAC. Admission is the price of a donation. Joe Django will start off the new year as the featured artist in the Black Box Exhibit. Django works with wire to create lifelike bonsai trees, mythical creatures, and fantastic jewelry.

The MAC is also home to the in-house theater company Millennium Repertory Company, Jamie Harden's Ultimate Oldies, and Duck River Dance. The repertory company has eight different productions on the schedule for 2021, including Mary Poppins, A Chorus Line, and It's a Wonderful Life. The theater sets the stage for other performances as well, including elementary school musicals, dance recitals, and a special show in June featuring well-known country music singer Ronnie McDowell.

Whether it's a Coffee County High School Art Exhibit, a monthly meet-up for local artists, an art class, or a special event in the theatre, there is always something good happening at the MAC. "So far, through the generosity of our patrons, we've been able to stay afloat," Spangler states. How can you help the MAC keep the doors open? Buy tickets for a show, attend an art show, shop for local art in the gift shop, or donate at an upcoming fundraiser. For more information, visit the website at manchesterartscenter.com and follow @thamac.tn on Facebook. Also, watch for a fundraiser golf tournament coming this spring.

The Bonnaroo Works Fund aims to change the world, and helping Coffee County thrive, is at the top of the list

The Bonnaroo Works Fund (BWF), the charitable arm of Bonnaroo Music and Arts Festival, has been investing in the quality of life in Coffee County since its inception in 2009. The fund, administered by the Community Foundation of Middle Tennessee, operates with a portion of Bonnaroo ticket sales and proceeds from the festival. Here are just a few examples of the good things BWF is doing through its many contributions.

🌱 A new solar panel system at the Manchester Coffee County Conference Center was installed. This alternative energy source helps decrease the electric bill and offset the carbon footprint. BWF also funded a portion of the Bonnaroo Wonders Lodge, a new outdoor venue behind the Conference Center.

🌱 Since 2011, BWF has partnered with We Are Neutral and performed more than 750 energy upgrades (approximately $10-$20,000 per year) for low-income households in Coffee County. The annual weatherization project lowers carbon emissions while saving residents money on their utility bills. Energy upgrades include replacing incandescent lightbulbs with LED bulbs, switching sink faucets with efficient aerators, installing low-flow showerheads, installing water heater pipe insulation, educating residents, and more. The above measures ultimately save residents 10-15% on their utilities.

 New windows and enclosures at the Manchester Municipal Arts Commission were installed. The project ensured the safety of the aging single-pane windows, bringing them up to code while helping reduce heating and cooling expenses.

 A $30,000 contribution was made in 2007-2008 to help build the Manchester Skatepark.

 Funds were provided for an outdoor portable movie projection system for Manchester Parks & Recreation. The projection system expands the utilization of the Rotary Amphitheater in Rotary Park. It is also available for concerts and corporate events at schools and other venues throughout the city and county.

 Contributions were made to a two-year Spoken Word Poetry program at the Coffee County Central High School. The program helps 196 students build strong communication and mental health skills.

 A safer playground was installed for children at the Coffee County Child Care Center. The playground helps develop and promote creative thinking, imaginative play, music and art appreciation.

 The East Lincoln Elementary School arts program was enhanced through the addition of clay. Purchases included a new kiln, clay, tools, supplies, and means to display clay projects in the school.

 Early childhood literacy in Tennessee was promoted through the support of the Governor's Books from Birth Foundation. The Foundation works in partnership with Dolly Parton's Imagination Library program. Through the program, children ages birth to five receive a book in the mail once a month.

 Contributions were made to the Highland Rim Habitat for Humanity. The non-profit, non-discriminatory, faith-based organization attempts to build lives by building homes. Since 1990, the organization has built more than 30 homes for families in Coffee and Franklin counties.

 Land conservation projects were funded through the Land Trust of Tennessee. The land trust promotes and completes land conservation projects in Coffee, Franklin, Moore, Grundy, Warren, Bedford, and surrounding counties. It works to conserve all types of land - wildlife habitat, historic sites, scenic vistas, farms, and more - before they are gone forever.

 The arts were made more accessible to area teenagers in partnership with the Millennium Repertory Company and the Manchester Arts Center. The contributions help increase free opportunities in theater arts, creative expression, and constructive community involvement for area teenagers. Events included free monthly Saturday workshops in theater and performing arts and stagecraft, along with weekend play festivals and informal coffeehouses/open mic nights.

 Production costs were funded to bring the Nashville Shakespeare Festival's Winter Shakespeare production of Macbeth to Coffee County. The performances brought professional Shakespeare to up to 2,500 Coffee County area students.

 Funds were provided for new risers and a stage at New Union Elementary School.

The new stage gives students a safe and aesthetically pleasing platform to perform musical and art-related performances. It also allows for more compact and safer storage solutions.

🌀 Contributions were made to help keep programs running at the Tullahoma Fine Arts Center. The assistance enabled the Center to make necessary repairs, freshen up the paint, add new storage options, and general maintenance. It also allowed for the purchase of a new kiln and accessories for the pottery studio.

🌀 Contributions were made to the City of Tullahoma Parks & Recreation’s Earth Day Celebration. The annual event helps to create a culture of environmental stewardship in the community, featuring earth-friendly vendors, live music, organic food, and activities for kids.

🌀 An outdoor stage was funded at the Tullahoma South Jackson Civic Association. The stage is equipped with lights and sound and provides additional space for concerts, plays, and workshops.

🌀 Contributions were made to support the VH1 Save The Music Foundation. The Foundation provides a targeted Keys + Kids Piano Grant to a qualifying school in Coffee County. The grant helps to engage the district in music, advancing the interest and eligibility towards a full district-wide music education rebuild of core band and string programs.

The BWF has also made substantial contributions to the Coffee County Soil Conservation District and the Nature Conservancy in Tennessee. Specific projects organized by the fund include a beautification project for New Union Elementary School and many others. Coffee County school libraries also have the BWF to thank for more than 4,000 new books. The ever-growing list of programs and organizations BWF helps make possible is astounding — benefits that continue to have far-reaching effects throughout Coffee County.

Downtown Manchester makes shopping small a pleasure

Shopping small indeed takes a little more effort, especially when just about everything you could want is at your fingertips. With a click of a button, you can have a birthday gift, a new outfit, or even fresh produce delivered to your door. However, something is missing when you shop from the big box stores — connection. You have a lot in common with the friends and neighbors who own local businesses. They pick the items and products they sell based on what they know you like and want. They also carry a wider array of unique products because they buy for the local market. This past year, small businesses have had to think outside the box to survive. Some have ramped up their online stores and offered curbside pick up, hand-delivering items through car windows. Others have created beautiful outdoor spaces where customers can safely social distance themselves while dining. For many, resilience has become a part of their mission statement.

Take a stroll through Downtown Manchester to see for yourself how these unique shops continue to meet the needs of our close-knit community. Most of them have a social media presence. Follow them, comment, and share their posts. While you're downtown, enjoy some of the best homecooked food around. Harvest Local offers a great selection of locally brewed beverages as well.

In the summer of 2019, the Painter Family opened the doors to Owen's Provisions & Apparel. Owen's is a lifestyle and apparel store for men and women. Whether you're looking to spend a day on the lake, a morning in the duck blind, play a quick nine on the golf course or gather

The Painters handpick every item and piece of clothing in the store with their customers in mind. Owen's is located at 104 West Fort Street. Follow @owensprovisionsandapparel on Facebook for new arrivals and the latest news.

Right next door to Owen's you'll find The Mercantile Cafe and Sweet Simplicity Bakery. It's a restaurant, bakery, and gift shop, all under one roof. They serve cafeteria-style plate lunches. The menu features handbattered meats, fresh greens, and real mashed potatoes, with baked goods and desserts made in-house. And the best part? The food is ready when you walk in the door. Customers can also order from a full menu. Sweet Simplicity Bakery offers irresistible candies, cookies, cakes, and more. The gift shop features unique treasures, including owner Renee

At the beginning of November, High Cotton hosts an annual Christmas Open House. Follow them on Facebook @highcottonvintage.

As you continue to make your way around the historic square, be sure to stop in Soul

Revival Boutique at 103 West Main Street. You'll know why this special boutique is on the must-see list as soon as you walk in the door. From the music playing in the background to the friendly staff, and one of a kind clothing pieces, this little shop is an all-around gem. The boutique features Southern chic clothing with a Western flair. It's where the styles of Southern gypsy and Western hippie mingle in a vibrant, trendy space. Owner Brooke Carmean strives to make customers feel beautiful, chosen, and unique. With every purchase, she donates a portion of the sale to a Christian mission. You can shop anytime online at shopsoulrevival.com. Also, follow @SoulRevivalBoutique on Facebook, so you don't miss a thing.

By shopping small, we embrace what makes our community unique. Show the local downtown shops some love. # HANDS-ON LEARNING

Education gives students practical skills that help them turn their passion from a hobby to a career.

Text by Trish Sandora Photos by James Jordan

For young adults, small business ownership is not out of reach, it's a viable option. Career and Technical Education (CTE) classes offered in high school can provide the skills they need to get started and prepare for success as entrepreneurs. Entrepreneurship is becoming a relevant option to young people who are looking for a career doing something they are passionate about that has the potential for personal and financial success. CTE classes can mean the difference in transforming a person's passion from a hobby into a career, as seen in the following stories. CTE can provide practical hands-on experience for all students who are motivated to be self-employed.

A BUSINESS FOR THE DOGS

For Lauren Brown, opening her own dog-grooming business was a natural course of action. After managing a doggy-daycare in Murfreesboro and working for other groomers, she knew she had something special to offer pet owners and their beloved pets. In early 2020, Lauren opened Pawfessional Grooming. Taking care of animals is more of a calling than a career for Lauren. "Dog grooming allows me to help the pets feel better or refreshed, as we do when we get our pampering at the salons,” she says. The ability to interact well with dogs is essential as a groomer. “I bond with each and every pet I groom.” From their ears to their tails and nails, Lauren washes, dries, and trims all sizes and breeds of dogs and gets them looking their best. Her work as a groomer also plays an essential role in their health. During the time spent with each animal, Lauren feels and sees things that might go unnoticed by owners. “Here at the shop, I communicate with pet owners about how grooming could help detect health issues that they wouldn’t pick up on a normal day.” She also addresses complications that can result from neglecting regular grooming, such as underlying skin conditions from matting. In addition, Lauren recommends products that can help alleviate discomfort and restore healthy skin.

However, it’s not all about the dogs, people skills are a must in her business. Lauren has to be a good listener so she can deliver what pet owners want for their animals. She also has to instill trust and comfort in customers who may be reluctant about leaving their pet for a few hours to be groomed. Ultimately, Lauren strives to create relationships that will last the lifetime of a pet. The Coffee County Animal Control brings her a few of their pets as well. “They bring me some of their dogs every now and then so they can be pampered,” Lauren says. “I don’t charge them because hopefully, the service I provide will help these pups be adopted.”

When Lauren was younger she dreamed of becoming a veterinarian. However, due to her struggle with traditional learning methods, she sought out other options. “I wasn’t a good test taker, so I knew that going to college that long would be out of the question,” Lauren shares. “That’s when I began looking for other ways to help care for people’s pets.” As an avid basketball player in high school and college, Lauren learned valuable communication skills that serve her well today.

“My experience came from getting out in the real world, getting a job that requires you to communicate with your clients in a professional manner,” Lauren says. She also learned essential business skills including payroll, ordering supplies, and scheduling employees, in addition to other responsibilities.

Communication is key for any business owner. Lauren also stresses the importance of learning how to save money and set budgets for yourself. Students who learn these skills in high school have a definite advantage when it comes to entering the workforce. CTE helps provide practical tools that will help steer young entrepreneurs in the right direction and build a strong foundation for a successful business.

THE BUSINESS OF SHOW BUSINESS

Whether it's programming animated light shows or masterfully creating illusions from the stage, Jordan Winton wants to create a little magic in your life. For as long as he can remember, he's had a passion for entertaining. Childhood photos capture a young Jordan fascinated by lights and moving parts, including the family vacuum cleaner.

Jordan grew up helping his dad string Christmas lights for the Winton Family Light Display, a holiday light show extravaganza his dad started in the '90s before Jordan was born. At the age of nine, Jordan began animating the lights, honing his skills in programming, including synchronization. In 2015, his efforts gained national attention when he got a call from ABC asking him to participate in the Great Christmas Light Fight. Jordan was the youngest contestant in the nationally televised show. Although he did not win the competition, Jordan received an overwhelming onslaught of emails and calls from people wanting him to create their own light displays. In 2016, with the unwavering support of his parents, Jordan launched his business designing, building, and programming light displays for commercial and residential properties. In his first year, he booked fifteen clients.

However, Jordan didn't stop there. Always looking for the next big idea, he revisited his childhood memories for inspiration, to the haunted houses he used to make at his grandmother's house. Following a year of research and development, Jordan opened Rigor Mortis Haunted House in 2019. The walk-through dark attraction features state-of-the-art environments and special effects. In 2020, even under pandemic restrictions, attendance doubled, and tickets sold out every night. Located in a 50,000 square foot building, Rigor Mortis is two haunted houses, with half of the space underground. The theatrical, immersive experience features 40 live actors. The attraction is open throughout the year featuring different holiday themes.

For hands-on learners like Jordan, traditional classroom learning left a lot to be desired. "I was not always a book learner. I'm more of a hands-on learner," Jordan states. In high school, he took audiovisual classes that gave him a good foundation in creating videos and voice-overs. However, what he learned most was how to work with actual clients. The interactions of taking someone else's vision and turning it into reality proved to be invaluable. “The hardest part of working with people is trying to understand their vision and how to deliver what they’re looking for within the budget,” Jordan says. Business classes also helped him learn a variety of computer programs as well as bookkeeping skills.

In 2021, Jordan will launch his new endeavor, The Magic of Jordan Winton, a Vegas-style show with a unique brand of magic and storytelling in an immersive experience of grand illusions. To say Jordan has a lot going on is an understatement. How does he find time to get it all done? “I function on about three hours of sleep,” Jordan laughs. “And as the old saying goes, ‘Do what you do best, and hire out the rest’ I do have help,” he adds. “It’s still a family-run, three-person business, but it takes an army to pull it all off.”
