Sunday Morning Positive Perks

from your Sassy Small Town Missus

THE EASTER BASKET

When you were a child what was in your Easter Basket? Some people have received underwear or a toothbrush from the Easter Bunny. HMMM, What? Your Easter Bunny was much more practical and cared about your hygiene much more than mine did as a kid. Phew, thankfully. We got candy! Each year when The Easter Bunny came hopping down the Bunny Trail she would bring me one special white chocolate mold from Niagara Candy on Easter Sunday Morning. She was a smart Bunny and a clever little gal too, because she made me work for it, like a little scavenger hunt. It wasn't just sitting on the table for me to easily find and eat. No. It was hidden somewhere. When we finished finding the hidden Baskets in our childhood home, we would then go in search of the dyed Eggs the Easter Bunny left hidden in little nooks and crannies around the house. If we did not find them all, one might turn up days later in a well hidden spot! Every year I put out the same Basket and each year she blessed me with sweets. The Basket was not very big, but the Joy it brought as a child into young adulthood was Very Big! I do not know what happened to that Basket, but I can picture it in my mind. It had a tall handle, bold colors and was plastic rather than bamboo. I read that the German Protestants first created the original tradition of the Easter Basket. It began with Eostre the Goddess of spring and fertility who it is believed Easter is named after. Folklore tells us that Eostre found a bird dying from frigid temperature and transformed it into a Rabbit so it could keep warm. However, the Rabbit still laid eggs as if it was still a bird, OMG. So each year children would create nests like Baskets and Bonnets so the Easter Hare could lay her eggs in it. The Easter Hare would later be known as The Easter Bunny. Fascinating! This tradition made it's way to America with the Pennsylvania Dutch Settlers. Always loved the Protestants, being an honorary member and all. Baptized Catholic, but attending the Albion First Presbyterian on occasion with My Grandmother.. always knowing that Jesus rose on this sacred day. Some traditions fill their Baskets with lace and food to be blessed before the Easter Feast and others put seedlings or eggs in them as a sign of fertility and renewal of life. A resurrection of not only God's Son, but Springtime after the harshness of Winter. One very good reason that the The Easter Basket is traditionally filled with chocolate confections is because during lent, chocolate is a common treat that people refrain from. So, may your heart and home be filled as high and plentiful as the Easter Basket this Easter with Easter Blessings. Not just with Jelly Beans, Peps, Chocolate Eggs, Games or Toothbrushes, but with the mutual love, acceptance and tolerance of Family and Friends. Happy Easter Everyone. What was in your Easter Basket as a Child? Visit My Blog live online at <https://www.positiveperksposts.com> and catch up on Weekly Photo Perks and past Sunday Posts. Like and Share Your Comments.

Truly.

Travel Thoughts By Kim

Let's go on an adventure together...to Monument Valley!

New Mexico was the last state I had to visit to complete my bucket list of visiting all 50 states and I checked it off the list in early October 2019. It was the second half of a two week trip to check off the last TWO states – Colorado and New Mexico.

I flew into Albuquerque airport and immediately took the rental car on a three hour drive to my hotel in Farmington, NM where I planned to spend two nights while exploring Monument Valley and the Four Corners area. The drive from the airport to the hotel was really nice – all good highway, but pretty much nothing but highway – lots of dirt, rock, and buttes with a few oil rigs, a couple tiny villages, several reservations, and several casinos planted smack dab in the middle of nowhere – with a lot of nothing in between. But it was a beautiful and easy drive.

The next morning, I got up about 4:00 am to start another three or so hour drive to Monument Valley. The views I had on my drive from Farmington to Monument Valley were more of the same – so far, I was really getting my fill of stunning views of buttes and wide open spaces. Absolutely breathtaking.

Monument Valley is part of a large Navajo territory that spreads across the borders of New Mexico, Utah, Arizona, and Colorado – the bulk of the land is in Utah and Arizona. The actual Monument Valley Navajo Tribal Park is a National Park that sits well within the Navajo territory and is protected by the Navajo people. The park consists of a cultural center and many natural rock formations, including delicate spires and gigantic buttes. The park spans 91,696 acres. The formations are all natural and not interfered with by humans in any way – if they erode or crumble, they remain eroded or crumbled – they believe that nature must be left to run its course.

From the moment you enter until you leave, it is very obvious why Monument Valley Navajo Tribal Park is known as the World's Largest Outdoor Museum and revered as one of the most beautiful parks in the world! Movie directors, like John Ford, shot many popular films in Monument Valley, forever immortalizing it as an icon of the American West.

I booked a tour with Monument Valley Safari Tours. It was an awesome 3.5 hour tour in a 4x4 Jeep with an amazing Navajo guide. There are parts of Monument Valley that are accessible by the public without a tour guide, but they still recommend you use a 4-wheel drive vehicle. However, much of Monument Valley is only accessible when accompanied by a Navajo guide because they want to ensure the formations and the land are respected and not desecrated in any way. And, it is so worth the cost of the Navajo guided tours – the best views are in those restricted access areas and our guide, Comasheena, gave us such an interesting education on her heritage and cultures – you can't get that when doing it on your own. She made sure we got the most amazing photos and even sang us authentic Navajo songs using vintage tribal instruments. I highly recommend using this or one of the other Navajo led tours when experiencing Monument Valley.

After I left Monument Valley, I drove about an hour to the Four Corners Monument – the only spot in the entire USA where four states border each other – New Mexico, Colorado, Utah, and Arizona. For such a famous and significant spot, it sure was a letdown to see. It is in the middle of nowhere and is just a large cement area noting the four states, a couple vendor booths with Navajo crafts for sale, a restroom with no running water, and absolutely nothing else. But, it was still really cool to say I was there and I got a photo with one foot in NM and one in CO to commemorate the last two states to visit on my bucket list. I'm glad I did it and recommend everyone do it once just for the bragging rights, if you happen to be in the area.

Then, I drove the three or so hours back to Farmington, got a good night's sleep (I was definitely exhausted after an absolutely fabulous day). The next morning, I drove another three hours back to Albuquerque, which was my home base for the rest of my time in New Mexico. I spent the next few days checking out the Indian Pueblo Cultural Center, Sandia Peak (where I rode the tram to the top for awesome views at 10,300 ft elevation), Old Town Albuquerque (very cool – definitely glad I spent time there), Historic Route 66 (including having lunch at the famous Route 66 diner), and Sante Fe (ahh-mazing). I really enjoyed everything I did in and around Albuquerque, but wasn't impressed with Albuquerque, itself – just a big, congested city with horrible traffic. But, I totally LOVED Sante Fe, about an hour drive from Albuquerque, and wished I had planned to spend more time there.

I loved my time in New Mexico – I put 894 miles on my rental car and made a ton of wonderful memories. I originally planned to do more, though. My original plan was to leave Farmington and drive about five hours south to Roswell, NM and spend a couple days there checking out the alien stuff and spend some time in Carlsbad to see the bats fly out of the caverns before heading back to Albuquerque in time for the International Hot Air Balloon Festival. BUT – best laid plans, as they say! On my last night in Farmington I was watching the news and saw that they were having severe storms, torrential rains, and flash flooding in the Roswell / Carsbad area and it was predicted to continue for several days. I decided to get on the phone and cancel and change hotels, flights, etc., skip the southern part of the trip, and cut my overall trip short by five days. Unfortunately, leaving to come home early, also meant that I missed the Hot Air Balloon Festival, too – I timed the original trip so that was the last big thing to do. I still had a fabulous trip and enjoyed my time in the Albuquerque / Sante Fe area. And that means, I have a great reason to go back so I can do the Hot Air Balloon Festival and all the alien and bat stuff another time!

Visit my blog for more photos from the stunning Monument Valley: <https://thoughtsbykim.com/2019/12/14/2019-new-mexico-adventure-monument-valley/>

And, you can read all about the rest of my time in New Mexico at this blog post: <https://thoughtsbykim.com/2019/12/15/2019-new-mexico-adventure-part-two/>

Happy Adventuring,

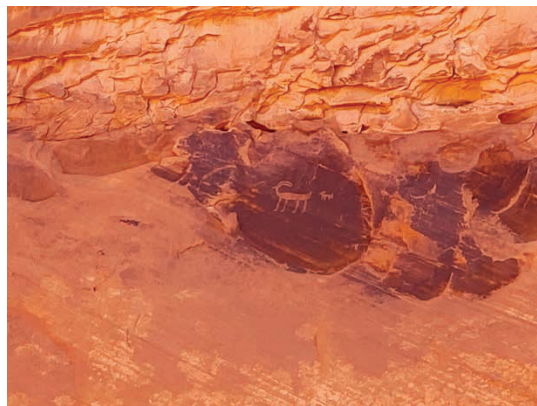

Kim Pritt

This is me in the Mitten pose in front of the buttes known as...wait for it...“The Mittens” in Monument Valley Navajo Tribal Park .

These and many other Petroglyphs are why there are areas of Monument Valley that can only be accessed with a Navajo guide – they don't want to risk having anyone destroy them by touching or defacing them. They are believed to have been created by Navajo ancestors centuries ago.

Typical Navajo dwelling called a Hogan. They are currently not usually occupied, but some Navajo do still use them as their homes. We stopped at one that is set up to show the inside of a typical Hogan with displays of how the Navajo lived and their culture - fascinating.

Did You Know?

Oxygen is essential for the roots of grass to breathe and grow strong enough to support healthy lawns. But according to the Center for Agriculture, Food and the Environment at the University of Massachusetts Amherst, compacted soil can produce a decrease in oxygen content that can make it hard for roots to thrive. Soil compaction can result from a number of activities, including walking on grass or driving or parking vehicles on grass. When soil is compacted, it breaks into small particles that reduce the amount of pore space in the soil. That makes it hard for water, oxygen and nutrients to get through, threatening the strength of the roots and putting the grass in jeopardy. Aerating a lawn can help homeowners foster strong root growth and healthy grass. When to aerate may be contingent upon local climate, so homeowners who suspect the soil in their yards is compact should consult with a local landscaping professional to determine the best time to aerate their lawns. ■

Must-haves for a Kitchen Remodel

Kitchen remodels are among the most popular home renovation projects, whether they consist of swapping out cabinet hardware or doing major demolition.

• Deep, double sinks:

Having a double sink enables you to soak dishes in one side and then wash on the other.

• Kitchen island and bar stools:

Even though many meals are enjoyed around the table, there's something to be said for the convenience of a kitchen island and some well-placed bar stools for quick breakfasts or snacks.

• Smart kitchen storage:

Slide-out shelving, nooks for a paper towel roll and custom-designed areas to store stand mixers and other necessities can make kitchens more functional.

• Outdoor access:

If possible, design a kitchen so it is easy to access the backyard via sliding doors.

• Under-cabinet lighting:

Fixtures installed under cabinets provide both ambient lighting and task lighting. Such lighting makes it easier to see what you're working on as well, as even well-placed overhead lighting can fail to illuminate dark corners and spots on the counters.

• Convenient warming drawer:

This appliance provides backup to the oven. It's a slide-out drawer that can keep prepared foods out of the way and warm until they are ready to be served.

• Beverage station:

Designate one area of the kitchen to beverages, such as coffee and tea. Or make the area an informal bar.

Kitchen remodels are exciting to envision, and several choices can make these high-traffic spaces even more coveted. ■

Surviving a Home Renovation

Homeowners invest large sums into improving their homes to make them more comfortable living spaces or to increase their odds of selling quickly.

Whether one is doing a large renovation or a small remodel, life may be turned upside down during the project. Furniture may be moved out of the room, walls may be demolished, water or electricity may be turned off, and appliances may be missing or not hooked up. Home improvements often drum up dust and disarray. Such projects can try the patience of any homeowner, and things may get worse before they get better.

Even though remodeling can be taxing, the end result is often worth it. Here's how to look forward to the silver lining and come out unscathed.

Do one project at a time.

It's tempting to want to improve as much as possible at once to maximize motivation and renovation materials. However, having no place in which to escape the mess can elevate stress levels. Do not think about renovating kitchens and bathrooms all at once, or you will not have any working fixtures for tasks like washing up.

Have everything in place ...

Before demolition even begins, have building materials bought and stored, contractors and subcontractors lined up, and see what you can do to minimize the time workers need to spend in your home.

... but expect delays.

In a world where things move at lightning speeds, renovations have not gotten the memo. Home projects take lots of time and will likely take longer if you are doing the work yourself in your free time. Build lots of extra time into the project so you are not disappointed when delays happen.

Plan an escape zone Construction environments can be messy, loud, smelly, and a host of other unsavory adjectives. Build escape moments into the plan and make sure everyone else at home is on board. During the real grind of the project, a night or two at a hotel may be a welcome respite. ■

Did You Know?

Lead is a naturally occurring element found in the earth's crust that can be toxic to both humans and animals. Lead can be found in air, soil and water, and human exposure to lead can often be traced to human activities, such as the one-time use of leaded gasolines and previous use of lead-based paints in homes. The U.S. Environmental Protection Agency notes that lead also may have been used in ceramics, pipes, plumbing materials, and even some cosmetics. Perhaps the most troubling aspect of lead is its potential effect on children. The still-developing brains and nervous systems of children are more sensitive to the harmful effects of lead because their bodies absorb more of it than the bodies of adults. The U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention notes that the use of lead in house paint, on products marketed to children, including toys, and in dishes or cookware was banned in the United States in 1978. However, lead may still be found on toys imported from countries that have not yet banned lead. In addition, toys and collectibles that were produced prior to the ban in the United States may still contain lead that can be harmful to children and adults. Parents who suspect their children have been exposed to lead can speak with their youngsters' pediatricians, who may order blood tests to check for lead exposure. ■

SHERIFF CHRISTOPHER BOURKE ANNOUNCES MEMBERSHIP DRIVE

The New York State Sheriffs' Institute will begin its annual Honorary Membership drive in Orleans County within the next ten days according to Sheriff Christopher Bourke.

The New York State Sheriffs' Institute was established in 1979. It is a not-for-profit corporation, tax exempt organization, and contributions to the Institute are tax deductible.

While the Sheriff's Office is a unit of county government, many of the concerns of Sheriffs and other law enforcement agencies are best addressed on a statewide level. The Sheriffs' Institute provides centralized training programs and services for all Sheriffs' Offices, where those programs and services would be unavailable or impractical on a single county basis.

The flagship program of the Sheriffs' Institute is the Sheriffs' Summer Camp for economically challenged children. The Sheriffs' Camp, in its 45th year of operation, is located on Keuka Lake and 840 children from across New York State attend each summer. The Sheriffs' Institute pays the entire cost of the camp stay and transportation. Most children attending wouldn't otherwise have an opportunity for vacation travel or a summer camp experience.

The Sheriffs' Camp program combines summer recreation with activities designed to teach an understanding of, and respect for, our laws and the men and women who enforce them. The strong camper to counselor ratio allows for individual attention with an emphasis on the development of self esteem.

"In these difficult economic times we cannot forget our youth who will not have the opportunity for a summer camp experience or a summer vacation," Sheriff Christopher Bourke said. "By becoming an honorary member you are supporting the Sheriffs' Summer Camp for economically disadvantaged children."

In addition, the Sheriffs' Institute operates a scholarship program that provides one scholarship to each of New York State's Community College's Criminal Justice Programs. This program is designed to help attract the best and the brightest to the criminal justice vocation.

For more information about the Sheriffs' Summer Camp and other Sheriffs' Institute Programs, visit our website, www.sheriffsinstitute.org or simply google "Sheriffs' Institute kids" and it will be your first option.

Financial support for many of the Sheriffs' Institute programs comes from Honorary Membership dues. Invitations for Honorary Membership are extended on a non-partisan basis, and the invitees are selected at random. Any persons interested in supporting the efforts of the New York State Sheriffs' Institute by becoming an Honorary Member should contact the Sheriff if they do not receive an invitation in the mail, or visit our web site at: www.sheriffsinstitute.org to download an application.

All donations made to the New York State Sheriffs' Institute are tax deductible. In addition, Sheriffs' Institute is registered with the New York State Attorney General's Charities Bureau.

I Must Tell You This

I know something so wonderful that I must tell you! It is so vital that it may change your entire future as it did mine. In fact, the decision you make about it will affect you both in life and death.

Let me emphasize that this message is absolutely true because God said it. When God makes a promise you can rest upon it because His promises can never fail. God will not make you believe this message. That is your choice but He will hold you responsible for having heard it. It is a very personal message, something you must decide. You must either say, "I will" or "I will not".

Here is the message. It is an exact quotation from God's word, the Holy Bible. "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have everlasting life." (John 3:16) Did you ever hear such wonderful words? Think for a moment what they say. They reveal three marvelous facts.

First, "God so loved the world!" Since you are in the world, He loved you. If that doesn't astonish you, remember that when God loved you, He loved a sinner! (Romans 3:23) If you are honest, you will agree.

Although God loves you, He still hates your sin. Since God is holy, He must punish sin. He had to make a holy way of saving sinners. Otherwise, the sinner must pay for his sins and that would mean spending eternity in hell. (Revelation 20:15)

The second great fact is "He gave His only begotten Son!" God loved you so much that He sent His Son to earth to become a man and die on the cross of Calvary so that you could be saved.

You see, someone must pay the penalty of sin; either you or a sinless substitute. God gave His Son, Jesus Christ, to be your sinless substitute. He shed His blood so that your sins can be put away and you can have eternal life.

And now the third tremendous fact is "Whoever believes in Him should not perish but have everlasting life!" Think of it! God gives eternal life to those who believe in Jesus Christ. The Savior has "finished" the work. He has died. He has risen from the grave and He has gone back into heaven. Now your part is to believe in Him.

This simply means that you must agree that you are a sinner, realize that Christ has paid the "full" penalty for your sins, and then receive Him as your Savior.

This is the message which I had to tell you. Now, you must make a decision. Will you accept Him or reject Him? Think of it once again: "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whoever believes in Him should not perish but have everlasting life." (John 3:16)

Your time on earth is short but your decision for Christ lasts for eternity. Will you receive Jesus Christ as your Savior and be confident in everlasting life?
