May is Mental Health Awareness Month

Stephen K. Griffith
Memorial Fund

Mental Health Statistics

- 1 in 6 US children between the ages of 6 and 17 has a treatable mental health disorder.
- In 2017-2018, 19% of adults experienced a mental illness.
- In September 2020, over half of 11-17-year-olds reported having daily thoughts of suicide or self-harm for a consecutive period of two weeks or more.
- 72% of parents who sought mental health assistance for their children say they have witnessed a decline in their child's emotional well being since the start of the pandemic.
- Nationally, suicide is the 2nd leading cause of death for youth and young adults between the ages of 10-34 years of age.

This May for Mental Health Awareness Month, we're sending the message that no one's mental health is fully supported until EVERYONE'S mental health is fully supported. That's why our #MentalHealth4All campaign is encouraging everyone to get involved by taking simple actions to encourage their friends, family, and community to take their own and other's mental health seriously.

1. Rely on the facts.

Being able to distinguish the difference between facts and myths about mental health makes you an ally for #MentalHealth4All. Knowing the facts makes you better able to help someone in need. Common myths and misconceptions include: "Talking about mental health causes mental health problems." FACT: Talking about mental health promotes good mental health and encourages people to talk about feelings that could be harmful. "Mental health doesn't really affect me in Cullman." FACT: Mental health affects us all. In Cullman County alone, 1,027 people sought mental health treatment in the Cullman Regional Emergency Department in 2018. "People with mental health problems don't recover." FACT: With the right supports, people with mental health difficulties can lead productive, fulfilling lives.

5 things we can all do!

2. Practice good mental health.

We all have mental health, just like physical health; and we all have a responsibility to practice good mental health. Practicing good mental health means doing things that enhance our enjoyment, increase our ability to cope with everyday stresses, and assist us in being productive. These things include eating well, keeping active, and having an outlet for your feelings. When we practice good mental health, we decrease the chances of mental illness.

3. Know the signs!

A mental health crisis can arise when we neglect our mental health. Signs of a worsening mental state include excessive worry, fear, anger, or sadness; overuse of substances such as drugs and alcohol, difficulty concentrating, and thoughts of suicide/self harm. Nationally, suicide is the 2nd leading cause of death for youth and young adults between the ages of 10-34 years of age. The Jason Flatt Act of Alabama requires all K-12 schools to establish an annual staff training program for suicide prevention services that enables Alabama school districts and their personnel to recognize and act on signs of suicide risk in order to provide prevention, intervention and postvention with students at risk, their families and the communities who may be affected.

4. Safety First!

If you do recognize the signs of someone in a mental health crisis, it is important to practice safety until help can be arranged. Offer support and resources. Remove and lock all firearms, medications, or any means that could be used to harm oneself. Firearms are used in two-thirds of all teen suicide deaths and teens who attempt suicide use medications more than any other means. NEVER leave someone alone that is showing signs of a mental health crisis.

5. Get help!

For help in a mental health crisis or for more information pertaining to mental health, please refer to the resources listed below.

CULLMAN Internal Medicine

1890 Alabama Highway 157, Suite 220
 Cullman, AL 35058

To Our CIM Rheumatology Patients,

It is with true sadness that I am announcing my leaving Cullman Internal Medicine. My husband's job is transferring our family to Charleston, SC. Although we are excited for this opportunity, it was a decision we put a lot of thought and prayer into. Mostly due to my hesitation to leave this job and leave Dr. Fernandez. However, we both feel this is the right decision for our family.

I am so thankful for the time I have spent at CIM and the relationships I have formed with our patients. I am especially grateful that patients were willing to see me and give me a chance when I first started. I am also thankful for the knowledge and experience I have gained from working with Dr. Fernandez.

One of my favorite quotes states, "I've learned that people will forget what you said, people will forget what you did, but people will never forget how you made them feel." - Maya Angelou

It is my hope that I have made at least some of my patients feel listened to, cared for, as well as optimistic about their future. I know a Rheumatology diagnosis can be scary, but with the right understanding of the disease and treatment options, there is always hope for a better future. Please know, I wish everyone the best future possible!

This has all happened quite quickly, so if I have not been able to say goodbye in person, it was truly a pleasure to be part of your health care team. If you have social media, I would love to keep up with each other via facebook!
 I will try to post pictures of this upcoming adventure!

Best Regards,
 Allison Plaster, CRNP

Many churches shout come to Jesus, but not the one that said sin no more (Jn 5:14, 8:11, 1Jn 3:3-9). The one who gives liberty from Elohim's law, forgives and saves by asking in His name (Jn 15:7, Rom 10:13-21). Yet the Holy Bible is not sacred to them for many verses against their doctrine is rejected (Dan 7:25-28, Mat 5:17-19, 7:21-27, 15:9, Heb 10:26-31, 13:8, Rev 22:14-15, 18-19, etc). So Be It!
