SPEAK OUT

Dear "Speak Out,"

We continue with week seventeen of our study of the United States Constitution.

Article II – Section 1 – Clause 3 was too large to be fully studied last week. It continues "But in chusing the President, the Votes shall be taken by States, the Representation from each State having one Vote; A quorum for this Purpose shall consist of a Member or Members from two thirds of the States, and a Majority of all the States shall be necessary to a Choice.

In every Case, after the Choice of the President, the Person having the greatest Number of Votes of the Electors shall be the Vice President. But if there should remain two or more who have equal Votes, the Senate shall chuse from them by Ballot the Vice President."

The 12th Amendment superseded this clause after the 1800 federal election in which Thomas Jefferson and Aaron Burr received identical votes and both claimed the office. After many votes, the House of Representatives chose Thomas Jefferson and soon thereafter the amendment was speedily approved.

Article II – Section 1 – Clause 4 reads "The Congress may determine the Time of chusing the Electors, and the Day on which they shall give their Votes; which Day shall be the same throughout the United States."

Our founding fathers wanted to ensure that every state would choose their electors and exactly when they would vote to provide for a timely process of electing the President and Vice-President.

Article II – Section 1 – Clause 5 reads "No Person except a natural born Citizen, or a Citizen of the United States, at the time of the Adoption of this Constitution, shall be eligible to the Office of President; neither shall any Person be eligible to that Office who shall not have attained to the Age of thirty five Years, and been fourteen Years a Resident within the United States."

Our founding fathers wanted to ensure that all presidents would have been born within the United States or would have been naturalized as a citizen. They believed that the age of thirty-five years would ensure that a president would be mature and hopefully of sufficient wisdom to make competent decisions. The requirement of residency in the United States for fourteen years provided a safeguard that a citizen would have demonstrated an interest in remaining a citizen for a period of time and not just a transient.

Article II – Section 1 – Clause 6 reads "In Case of the Removal of the President from Office, or of his Death, Resignation, or Inability to discharge the Powers and Duties of the said Office, the Same shall devolve on the Vice President, and the Congress may by law provide for the Case of Removal, Death, Resignation or Inability, both of the President and Vice President, declaring what Officer shall then act as President, and such Officer shall act accordingly, until the Disability be removed, or a President shall be elected."

The Congress has authority to determine who will become president when necessary. Nine vice presidents have ascended to the presidency. Eight became president due to the death of the president and they are John Tyler, Millard Fillmore, Andrew Johnson, Chester A. Arthur, Theodore Roosevelt, Calvin Coolidge, Harry S. Truman, and Lyndon B. Johnson. Gerald Ford became president due to the president's resignation.

We have already studied the role of the Congress in the event of impeachment. Lord willing, we will continue with our study next week.

Our Family is sad to announce the passing of Nancy Nichols, 74, on May 1, 2021.

She was born May 26, 1946.

Nancy loved spending time with family. Her family was her greatest purpose in life.

She enjoyed decorating, collecting "knickknacks",
cooking, listening to music and "shaking a leg".

She also camped at the Ridge Campsite for many years.

Nancy has two children; a son Richie (Marilyn) Nichols, two grandchildren: Josh and Jordan and a great granddaughter Bella; a daughter Sherry Nichols and three grandchildren: Sean, Savannah and Jeanine.

Siblings: Bob Dale, Patricia Atkins, Jerry Dale, Lois Wood, Pete Dale, Carolyn Pitoniack, Joyce, Rusty Dale and Bonnie (Scott) Letson.

Several nieces and nephews plus great...

When you were at her house, you were always welcomed with a cup of coffee and the best food.

To all who knew Nancy – they will remember her as One Fine Lady.

Pilgrim's Progress Report on Bee Hive Project

Doreen Schickling

Allow me to introduce myself! My name is Doreen Schickling and I am transplant from southern California. I moved to Cuylerville, New York almost 6 years ago. I am semi-retired and work part time as a clerk at the Wadsworth Library. My husband Tom worked as a psychiatric nurse in Rochester for many years and is now fully retired.

As an avid, if amateur, gardener, "playing" in the yard is one of my passions. Sadly, I have noticed that my garden and fruit trees just don't seem to be producing like they should, and from my reading, it may be due to the decline of honeybees.

I have been hearing for years that the bee population is falling off – in some areas they are in deep trouble. I have heard of people keeping bees and always thought it was a lot of work and kind of scary.....but still fascinating.

In fall of 2019, my husband and I visited friends in Connecticut. They live out in the country, and my friend has been a beekeeper for a few years. He had an extra bee suit and let me suit up and join him while he checked on the bees and got them ready for winter. It was an exhilarating experience – not at all intimidating. I had to do a little deep breathing with all those bees swarming around but it was....in a word....cool. . We need honeybees – they pollinate much of our food, as well as the ornamental plants we all love to cultivate and appreciate.

So that got me thinking I could do it. The third thing that made me delve into bees was the idea that this is something I can do, as an individual, to contribute to the world. To help out; make the world a better place than when I found it, to paraphrase from one of my favorite children's books. (Miss Rumphius Takes a Holiday)

So I started researching and asking questions. Beekeeping for Dummies is my bible. Ha Ha Ha – also the internet, of course. And the very patient and kind woman who works at Hungry Bear Farms, who answered so many questions.

You may have noticed, I haven't mentioned honey. I have been told THERE WILL BE HONEY, but it isn't the reason I am doing this.....it's more like an added bonus I will deal with in a year or so.

So, I sent away for beehive kits (2, as it is easier to see how your bees are doing if you have more than one hive) and put them together over the winter. Hammer, drill, nails, glue..... I am not terribly handy, but it was within my capabilities. I purchased one of those lovely bee keeper suits, a smoker and several other tools of the trade. I painted the outside of the hives pastel colors both for heat deflection and because bees like light colors. Pink and yellow.

I chose an area in the tree break between our yard/garden and the fields next to us; it gets morning sun, some shade, and is protected from the prevailing winds. I dug up rocks, weeds, shrubs, and vines, I rototilled the area and raked and tamped it down to make a level plot. Next came black plastic sheeting (re-purposed from my vegetable garden) to keep the weeds down. Then I placed the 2 heavy plastic pallets given to me by the wonderful people at the Mount Morris Shopper. I placed 4 cinder blocks (2 for each hive) in the center of each pallet, and covered the surrounding area with 6 bags of wood mulch chips. This will help with weed control and heat deflection as the plastic and pallets are very dark. It also looks nice. Then I installed the pias de la resistance, the bee hives, making sure the front is slightly lower, so rain will not collect.

I have planted 2 large patches of day lilies on either side of the hive plot, and plan to further enhance the plantings around them. I want to provide as much food source (flowers) as I can for the bees. Of course, my garden is a mere feet away, along with several other flower beds in the yard.

I have had my "girls" for a little over a month now. They seem to be happy and adjusted, and stay busy doing bee-like things (harvesting, making honeycomb, laying eggs, etc). I am learning how to work with them, when to leave them alone, and when it is ok to hang out near them. I actually spend time sitting near the hives just watching them. It is fascinating. Yes, I've been stung, though only once. From that I learned that I cannot work in the vegetable garden the same day I inspect the hives. They get territorial and cranky.

On the one hand, I have so much to learn and I am excited about this new adventure with my tiny flying incredible bees. On the other hand, they are bees - if I provide them with what they need, they will run with it and do what they do. I just have to stay out of their way!
