The Origin of Pets

It is reported that the following edition of the Book of Genesis was discovered in the Dead Sea Scrolls.

And Adam said, "Lord, when I was in the garden, you walked with me everyday. Now I do not see You anymore. I am lonesome here and it is difficult for me to remember how much You love me."

And God said, "I will create a companion for you that will be with you forever and who will be a reflection of My love for you, so that you will know I love you, even when you cannot see Me.

Regardless of how selfish and childish and unlovable you may be, this new companion will accept you as you are and will love you as I do, in spite of yourself."

And God created a new animal to be a companion for Adam. And it was a good animal. And God was pleased.

And the new animal was pleased to be with Adam and he wagged his tail. And Adam said, "But Lord, I have already named all the animals in the Kingdom and all the good names are taken and I cannot think of a name for this new animal."

And God said, "Because I have created this new animal to be a reflection of My love for you, his name will be a reflection of My own name, and you will call him DOG."

And Dog lived with Adam and was a companion to him and loved him. And Adam was comforted. And God was pleased. And Dog was content and wagged his tail.

After a while, it came to pass that Adam's guardian angel came to the Lord and said, "Lord, Adam has become filled with pride. He struts and preens like a peacock and he believes he is worthy of adoration. Dog has indeed taught him that he is loved, but no one has taught him humility."

And the Lord said, "I will create for him a companion who will be with him forever and who will see him as he is. The companion will remind him of his limitations, so he will know that he is not worthy of adoration."

And God created CAT to be a companion to Adam. And Cat would not obey Adam.

And when Adam gazed into Cat's eyes, he was reminded that he was not the supreme being. And Adam learned humility.

And God was pleased. And Adam was greatly improved.

And Cat did not care one way or the other.

Oversleeping

This guy had a problem of oversleeping. He was always late for work, and his boss was getting mad. So he went to the doctor and got some pills that were supposed to help. That night he slept well and woke up even before the alarm! He had a leisurely breakfast and drove happily to work.

"Boss," he said. "The pill the doctor gave me actually worked!"

"That's fine," said the boss, "but where were you yesterday?"

Shake Hands With Uncle Sam

For a penny, you can shake hands with this life-sized Uncle Sam to test your strength. The painted iron machine used in a fun house was made by Caille in the 1970s. It sold for $6,150 at auction.

How national symbols are chosen is often a mystery. Uncle Sam is not our oldest symbol. There were two other figures that represented our budding country during the American Revolution. They were Yankee Doodle, the British slang name for the disheveled Colonial soldiers inspired by the song, and Brother Jonathan, a smart, rural man who was the hero in cartoons and stories from 1771 to 1783. They were pictured as tall, thin men with beards.

Legend says Uncle Sam was a nickname inspired by the initials U.S. stamped on barrels of beef for the Army during the War of 1812 to show they were government property. That led to the joke that they belonged to "Uncle Sam." In the 1870s, Thomas Nast began depicting Uncle Sam in cartoons and posters, but the bearded figure dressed in red, white and blue didn't become an official symbol until 1961. He is now seen on labels, machines, posters, statues and political signs. This 6-foot-4-inch-tall iron figure is a funhouse grip tester made by Caille in the 1970s. For one cent, you can shake hands with Uncle Sam and see if you are strong. It sold at a Nye and Co. auction for $6,150. Large vintage mechanical machines like fortune tellers, postcards sellers or slot machines sell for high prices today. The better the original paint, the better the price.

Q. I love old games, and I recently saw a picture of an old board game called "Bulls and Bears — The Great Wall St. Game." I have never heard of this game and was curious about its history and value. Can you help?

A. "Bulls and Bears — The Great Wall St. Game" was patented in 1883 by the McLoughlin Bros. The box cover had a lithographed picture of a dapper-looking, cane-holding bull talking with an equally well-dressed bear. Bulls and bears are Wall Street symbols. A bull market refers to a market on the rise; a bear market is one declining. Inside the game was a folding board with Gilded Age stock market characters Jay Gould, Cornelius Vanderbilt and Horace Greeley. There also was a spinning board, play money, contracts and an instruction booklet. A "Bull and Bears" vintage game recently sold at auction for $20,000. It was the top seller in the toy sale that included 450 lots.

Piedmont Pets
 June 24, 2021 By Paulette Dean

In March of 2020, our volunteer program came to a sudden halt the second COVID-19 guidelines were announced. As the restrictions were lifted bit by bit, we started having volunteers come back.

The reality of a busy open-admission shelter is this: The employees stay quite busy with the tasks of cleaning, watering, feeding, vaccinating, de-fleaing, de-worming, checking on animals, etc. We do not have a large staff and with thousands of animals received each year, their days are filled with the daily care required.

That means that we rely heavily on volunteers to do the fun work of the shelter. They bathe puppies, play with kittens, take dogs for walks, and help us socialize the animals. In fact, some volunteers come so often that the dogs get excited when they see them because they know they are about to go for a walk.

Years ago, a volunteer came every Thursday to the shelter to help with laundry and to bathe a dog or comb a cat for a pet of the week picture. She thought her contribution of time and effort was small and we thought it was huge.

Other people come in for a few minutes to a couple of hours to walk dogs and play with cats. One man comes in to give every dog a treat and then he leaves.

Other volunteers prefer to spend time with cats or kittens. The ones that live in Camp Meow Meow or Kitty Corner are not in cages, but in rooms. All a volunteer needs to do is enter the room and sit down. They are quickly being climbed on and surrounded by friendly cats! The ones who are in cages in the main cat room love to have time out of the cage to wander and explore. We have a playroom set aside for that purpose. A volunteer orientation is required. It is held the first Thursday of each month at 4:00 at the shelter. We give a tour and explain our procedures, laws, and the regulations we abide by. The orientation is designed to keep the volunteers and the animals safe and lasts about 45 minutes.

We love our large group of volunteers and are always in search of ways to improve the program. Will your service have an impact? Most certainly. You will be able to have a positive impact on the lives of animals.

The next orientation is scheduled for Thursday, July 1st, at 4:00 at the shelter.

Salome's Stars

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) You feel ready to face up to a major change, although it might involve some risks. A once-dubious family member comes around and offers support and encouragement.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Move forward with your plans, despite discouraging words from those who underestimate the Bovine's strong will. Your keen instincts will guide you well.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) A misunderstanding is easily cleared up. Then go ahead and enjoy some fun and games this week. A Libra might have ideas that merit serious consideration for the future.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) You might feel as if you're in an emotional pressure cooker, but the situation is about to change in your favor. Take time out for some well-earned fun.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) A shift in your workplace responsibilities creates resentment among some co-workers. Deal with it before it becomes a threat to your success on the job.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Expect some surprises in what you thought was one of your typically well-planned schedules. Deal with them, and then enjoy some lighthearted entertainment.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Be careful: What appears to be a solid financial opportunity might have some hidden risks attached. A hazy personal matter needs to be cleared up.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) It's a good time to strengthen ties with family and friends. You might feel unsure about a recent workplace decision, but time will prove you did the right thing.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Just when you thought your relationship was comfortable and even predictable, your partner or spouse could spring a potentially life-changing surprise on you.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Your usually generous self is overshadowed by your equally strong suspicious nature. You might be judging things too harshly. Keep an open mind.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Love and romance dominate the week. Married Aquarians enjoy domestic harmony, while singles could soon be welcoming overtures from loving Leos.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) An old health problem recurs, but it is soon dealt with, leaving you eager to get back into the swing of things. A favorable travel period starts this week.

BORN THIS WEEK: You have an independent spirit that resists being told what to do. But you're also wise enough to appreciate good advice.

HOLLYWOOD — How long should someone charged with the alleged sexual assault of 20 young men be ostracized? Kevin Spacey — best supporting actor Oscar winner (for "The Usual Suspects" 1995) and best actor Oscar (for "American Beauty," 1999) — watched his world crash down in 2017 when actor Anthony Rapp alleged Spacey made sexual advances toward him when he was 14 years old. When 15 other young men came forward claiming similar abuse, filming was suspended of the fifth season of "House of Cards," and Spacey was removed as star and executive producer. He also was replaced by the late Christopher Plummer in "All the Money in the World," for which Plummer received an Oscar nomination.

The news that Spacey has been signed to do a cameo, opposite Vanessa Redgrave and Franco Nero (best known as Lancelot in "Camelot"), who also is directing the Italian film "L'uomo Che Disegno Dio" ("The Man Who Drew God"), sent shock waves through the Hollywood community. It's furious that Franco Nero has given Spacey a film when his blacklist time was definitely NOT up!

Depositphotos
Debra Messing

On a happier note: Oscar nominee Timothee Chalamet will play a young Willy Wonka (Gene Wilder was an older Wonka in the 1971 "Willie Wonka") and will unveil his singing pipes in the film. Willy Wonka is a staple in casinos, where the musical and magical slot machines entertain so many.

Also unveiling her singing pipes is "Will & Grace" Emmy winner Debra Messing, who, although she starred in 2012's 32-episode musical series "Smash" (about Marilyn Monroe), didn't sing much. She's been set to star for Netflix in "13: The Musical," based on the Broadway musical that ran from 2008-09 and served as the debut vehicle for singer Ariana Grande and actress Elizabeth Gillies.

Yet another comeback story is Lind- say Lohan, getting an assist from Netflix, which has named her to star in an as-yet-untitled holiday rom-com being directed by Janeen Damian, wife of former "The Young and the Restless" soap star Michael Damian, who co-wrote the script with her and has recently directed two films for the Hallmark Channel.

The richest man in the world, Amazon founder Jeff Bezos, has purchased MGM (formerly the greatest movie studio ever) for $8.45 billion. Among the properties he now owns are "007" James Bond, "Thelma & Louise," "Raging Bull" and "The Handmaid's Tale," as well as the reality show "The Apprentice," which gives him access to all of the show's outtakes, including off-color remarks by Donald Trump, the show's host for 14 years. Why would THE richest man in the world want to own a bankrupt movie company? There's a lot more to this story. MGM may now stand for My Goodness Me!

ON SAIL! Go it, sailfish, up, up and away. What can you draw to complete this picture? To find out, add lines dot to dot.

SIX PICK! There are six numbers between 1 and 100 that are spelled with six letters. Four of them are ninety, eighty, thirty and twenty. Quickly, what are the other two?
 Numbers eleven and twelve

SPELL OUT! Let's see if you can insert a three-letter word that will complete seven longer words in each of the posers presented at right. In No. 1, for instance, try AFT, and get craft, waft, but that's all. Similarly, in No. 2, try ALE. Result: Whale, pale, kale... but there the string ends.

Now that you have the idea, continue to try words until you find two that comply. No fair peeking at answers below.

FINGER-TRICKIN' WITS TESTER

YES, the hand is sometimes quicker than the eye, and on occasion may be shown to outwit the brain.

For instance, simply assign numbers to someone's fingers (see left), ask the person to clasp hands, and then challenge him or her to move designated fingers as you call out numbers.

Vary this, if you wish, by assigning an assortment of numbers in random order.

As a further test, ask your friend to cross wrists, then clasp hands, turn clasped hands inward (toward body), and upward toward the chin.

Now, challenge person to move a finger either by number, or when you point to it.

Fake Dog Trainer Nailed for Scamming Veterans

I'll admit, after reading about so many Department of Veterans Affairs-related crimes over the years, this is a new one. A judge has sentenced a Texas resident to 10 years in prison for scamming the VA out of a lot of money ... for fake dog-and handler-training courses.

The scammer defrauded the VA by submitting 185 claims for courses that were supposed to train dogs and their handlers. Each course cost between $6,500 and $12,000.

On his application to create a training program that veterans could attend and use their education benefits, he lied. He listed the names and certifications of four real dog trainers as the instructors. Those people hadn't given their permission, and one of them was deceased. Because of that fraud, he was ineligible to collect VA dollars.

Over time, he actually placed dogs with police departments, dogs he'd supposedly rescued from shelters and trained. Of the veterans who'd actually tried to take the course, however, 81% were dissatisfied. The scammer was nailed for two counts of money laundering, two instances of submitting a false tax return, eight counts of wire fraud and four counts of aggravated identity theft.

Not only is he going to the slammer, he forfeited a big pile of cash and property, including multiple vehicles, a luxury motor home, jet skis, a trailer and more.

He allegedly sought a presidential pardon. He didn't get it. What he did get on multiple websites were comments from people who didn't hold back in their disgust for what he'd done.

What we'd like to know, however, is whether there was ever a question of animal abuse. It was reported that 31 dogs were found in the raid of the property, but only 26 were taken to local shelters. It was also reported that some of the dogs died due to bad health. Surely that's good for another 10 years, right?

C. Diff Tricky to Treat, But Rarely Terminal

DEAR DR. ROACH: In December, I developed an abscess in my jaw from food getting caught in my tooth. I went to see a local dentist who prescribed clindamycin and metronidazole. I came down with a case of C. difficile. I have since found evidence that multiple antibiotics and clindamycin are causes of C. diff.

I am getting mixed messages about my prognosis. Some medical people are telling me it's not a big deal and to just wash my hands a lot. My primary physician, however, gave me the impression that this is basically a terminal diagnosis. She told me how sorry she was and that I had been a very healthy person but am not any longer. She told me that it will most likely recur, and every time it does it will be more difficult to treat until I become antibiotic resistant, and that people die from it. She also told me that she would set me up for the standard yearly appointment, but that I should come see her whenever I need to. I am paranoid about what my future holds and what, if anything, I can do. I would like your opinion of this situation. Any guidance you can give me would be greatly appreciated. -- Anon.

ANSWER: Clostridium difficile ("C. diff") infections are common but can be serious. As you correctly note, many antibiotics are associated with the acquisition of symptomatic C. diff infections, and although clindamycin is the best known, other antibiotics (quinolones, amoxicillin and related penicillins) are actually more common. The antibiotics kill off large numbers of healthy bacteria, allowing the unhealthy C. diff to take over.

The cardinal symptom of C. diff is watery diarrhea, at least three loose stools in 24 hours. Abdominal pain and cramping, nausea and poor appetite are common. Fever is less common. Symptoms can start during antibiotic treatment or up to a month after completing antibiotics.

Treatment is stopping the antibiotic if possible and if still being given. Antibiotic treatment against C. diff is with the newer drug fidaxomicin or with oral vancomycin; unfortunately, fidaxomicin is ridiculously expensive -- a course of fidaxomicin is $3,000 via goodrx.com in the U.S. at the time of writing. A course of oral vancomycin costs much less, often less than $200 through the same website. If neither of these is available, metronidazole is a less-expensive alternative.

Fidaxomicin has the lowest risk of recurrence of the infection, and many experts will reserve it for a person who has recurred after oral vancomycin. For the unusual person who continues to recur after antibiotic treatment, fecal microbiota transplants (processed from stool of healthy donors) have been safe and effective.

I am disturbed that you got the impression that C. diff is a terminal diagnosis. Although in rare cases, hospitalized patients can get so sick that they can die from C. diff, this would be very unusual in less severe disease, as in someone who is able to go home from the hospital.

Handwashing is necessary to reduce infection to others. Avoiding drugs like Prilosec that suppress acid can help prevent recurrences. Finally, probiotics (live healthy bacteria) may be of use in reducing infection and recurrence.

Classic Lemon Meringue Pie

Ingredients

- 1 pie crust
- 1 1/2 c. granulated sugar, divided
- 1/3 c. cornstarch
- 2 tbsp. all-purpose flour
- 1/2 tsp. kosher salt
- 1 1/2 c. cold water
- 4 large eggs, separated
- 2 tbsp. butter
- Juice and zest of 2 lemons
- 1/4 tsp. cream of tartar

DIRECTIONS

Bake crust: Preheat oven to 375°. On a lightly floured surface, roll out dough into a 12" circle. Drape over 9" pie dish and gently press to fit (don't stretch). Prick bottom with a fork, trim edge to 1", and tuck overhang under itself, and crimp. Refrigerate 30 minutes or freeze 10 minutes.

Line crust with parchment and fill with dried beans or pie weights. Bake 30 minutes, then remove parchment and weights. Return to oven and bake until crust is golden and completely baked through, 20 to 25 minutes more. Set on rack to let cool completely.

Meanwhile, make filling: In a saucepan over medium heat, combine 1 1/4 cups sugar, cornstarch, flour, and salt. Gradually stir in cold water until smooth. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture boils. Boil 1 minute, stirring constantly, then remove from heat. In a small bowl, beat egg yolks with a fork. Stir about 1/4 cup of sugar mixture into egg yolks. Gradually stir yolk mixture into remaining sugar mixture in the saucepan. Let cook, stirring constantly, until thick, about 1 minute. Remove from heat.

Stir in butter, lemon juice, and zest, then pour filling into cooled pie crust.

Make meringue: Reduce oven to 350°. In a large bowl, beat egg whites and cream of tartar until soft peaks form. Add remaining 1/4 cup sugar by the tablespoon until stiff peaks form.

Spoon meringue onto hot filling and spread to edge of crust.

Bake until meringue is golden, 12 minutes. Cool completely, about 1 hour, then refrigerate until filling is set, 3 hours.
