Greetings

from the Fayetteville-Lincoln County
Chamber of Commerce and Tourism Bureau

On behalf of the Fayetteville-Lincoln County Chamber of Commerce and Tourism Bureau Board of Directors, I extend to you a warm welcome to our community. Fayetteville-Lincoln County is full of rich history and scenic views. The FLC Chamber & Tourism Bureau Board has an appreciation of our history and a vision for our future.

Tourism remains a very important part of our community. Last year, tourism in Tennessee accounted for $22 billion in economic impact. The FLC Chamber & Tourism Bureau is the headquarters for tourism throughout our county. The Chamber continues to partner through digital and print media with various tourism organizations and the TN Department of Tourist Development to promote our area and our region. We most recently partnered with the City of Fayetteville for the 1-65 Billboard project. Each May, the Chamber invites travelers stopping at the 1-65 Welcome Center to visit Fayetteville during the National Travel & Tourism Week.

The Chamber is also very excited to have Camp Blount recognized as a historic site by the State of Tennessee. Each phase of the project will be a great addition to our community and highlighting our Volunteer Spirit. The next phase will be a pedestrian bridge linking Camp Blount to downtown by the recently completed Green Way. In addition, with the help of Fayetteville Main Street and scores of volunteers, the Chamber brings large crowds of visitors annually to our community for various events and festivals.

Our Board of Directors is committed to promoting Fayetteville and Lincoln County as a special place to visit and live. If you are starting a new business or have an established business, we urge you to become part of our Chamber. We can work together to promote your business and help keep Fayetteville-Lincoln County a thriving community posturing for the future. We strive to be forward-thinking with programs to support our businesses and the community we serve.

Best regards,
Justin Harwell
President

A WORD ABOUT COVID-19

Along with the rest of the nation and the entire world, the small community of Fayetteville has not gone untouched by the coronavirus pandemic. Through an unprecedented time of social distancing and quarantines, we are deeply connected as a community and continue to grow stronger every day. As we explore new ways to support local businesses and gather together for area events, it's the simple acts of kindness that make Fayetteville shine — a smile, a wave, an encouraging note, and shopping local. We want you to know we're here for the long run and that the southern hospitality and small-town charm Fayetteville is known for is still very much alive.

We believe that a bright future awaits us all. And even if things look a little different, or events have to be rescheduled, we are still the small friendly community we have always been. We look forward to the time when we can once again share our beautiful corner of the world and introduce visitors to the people and places of Fayetteville-Lincoln County that are so dear to our hearts.

THE FIRST

Volunteer

Text by Trish Sandora Photos by James Jordan

For over two centuries, Tennessee has been recognized as “The Volunteer State,” and for a good reason. Tennesseans have a long history of rising to the occasion. Whether it was the overwhelming response to a call for military service during the War of 1812 or lending a helping hand in the aftermath of a tornado, they are known for showing up in a time of need. Volunteering is a way of life passed down through the generations.

One of the earliest known gatherings of “Tennessee volunteers” took place at Camp Blount, two miles south of downtown Fayetteville. In 1813-14, Camp Blount served as the location of a military training encampment. It was also a rallying point for soldiers like Sam Houston and David Crockett. Camp Blount is where General Andrew Jackson mustered troops for the Battle of Horseshoe Bend in March 1814 that ended the Creek Indian War. Once again, Jackson gathered troops for the march to New Orleans in December 1814 to participate in winning the Battle of New Orleans on January 8, 1815. Camp Blount originally encompassed approximately 200 acres. Situated adjacent to the Elk River, the site was ideal for a large gathering with access to water and plenty of room for encampments, including hundreds of horses.

Who were those early volunteers who answered the call? The First Volunteer, a beautiful bronze statue handcrafted by sculptor Wayne Hyde, features exquisite details that give us a few clues. With a bedroll slung over his shoulder, a canteen, and a rifle modeled after David Crockett's rifle, he was ready to serve. The volunteers were brothers, sons, and fathers attempting to carve out a way of life for themselves and their families. They were men of resolve and determination who were ready to take action, even if it meant risking their lives. Dr. Farris Beasley, the co-chair of the Camp Blount Historic Site Association (CBHSA), comments, "According to the state, there is no other statue in the state of Tennessee dedicated to the Tennessee Volunteer."

Today, Camp Blount Historic Site encompasses 40 acres of the original site and is Tennessee's 8th historic site. The First Volunteer statue, which can be seen from a distance, draws visitors into the Volunteer Plaza. Flags waving from nearby flagpoles, a replica War of 1812-era artillery piece, and a nearby pavilion offer up a standing invitation to take a walk through history. From there, several trails wind through the historic grounds. The Volunteer Trail highlights key historical figures including, Gov. Willie Blount; Andrew Jackson; Sam Houston; David Crockett; and Gov. William Hall. The War of 1812 Trail and the Creek War Trail offer additional insight into the timeline of events that would later write history. Plans are also in the works for a park-to-park pedestrian trail which includes a bridge spanning the Elk River, connecting the Camp Blount Historic Site with Stone Bridge Park. Two log cabins, one of which is the historic Greer cabin, are presently undergoing renovations and will soon be relocated to the site. Joseph Greer served at the Battle of Kings Mountain in 1780. After delivering the news of the American victory to the Continental Congress in Philadelphia, he became known as the "Kings Mountain Messenger."

Understanding Lincoln County's place in the story of America sheds new light on our development as a nation and the significant role of Camp Blount. History informs us how and why things change. The First Volunteer is a tribute to all volunteers - past, present, and future. It also stands as a reminder that building a strong community requires working together. Although Lincoln County may look different than it did in the 1800's when those first volunteers came together, one thing remains true. All change begins with one person, one volunteer.

THE CAMP BLOUNT VOLUNTEER DAYS

Save the date on the first weekend of October for the Camp Blount Volunteer Days. The annual celebration includes living historians; reenactments; cannon and musket firing demonstrations; military drills; authentic period clothing; lectures; arts and crafts; music from the era; and much more.

There are several ways you can support the ongoing efforts at the Camp Blount Historic Site. Memberships are available at $10 per year for individuals, $20 per year for families, and $100 for a lifetime membership. Applications are available at the Register of Deeds office at the Lincoln County Courthouse. T-shirts are also available for purchase, and donations are always welcome.

The Camp Blount Historic Site is located at 1124 Huntsville Hwy, Fayetteville, TN, adjacent to the River Oak Shopping Center. For more historical information about the site and news on current developments, visit campblount.com or follow @campblount on Facebook.

HISTORICAL Significance

THE TERM "VOLUNTEER STATE" was first used by a Nashville newspaper during the War of 1812 because of the incredible Tennessee volunteer turnout for the Creek War and Battle of New Orleans.

ALTHOUGH THE NICKNAME "Volunteer State" has been widely used throughout the years, it officially became a Tennessee statute in 2020.

GENERAL ANDREW JACKSON kept a diary during the Creek Indian War and time leading up to the Battle of New Orleans, and he often used the term "my Tennessee Volunteers."

Leading the Way

HONORING THE CONTRIBUTIONS OF EXTRAORDINARY WOMEN WHO HELPED SHAPE THE COMMUNITY

Text by Trish Sandora Photos by James Jordan

It's hard to imagine now, but there was a time when women weren't allowed to cross the Fayetteville downtown square unattended. In the mid-1800's, several saloons were located around the square, and it simply wasn't safe. However, one woman decided that the dangerous environment that existed just a few blocks from her front door was not acceptable, and she set out to change it. That woman was Silena Moore Holman.

Silena was no stranger to overcoming obstacles and hardship. The oldest of five children, she went to work as a teacher after her father died from battle wounds in the Civil War. At the time, she was fourteen. Eventually, the young woman earned enough money to buy back the family home lost after her father's death.

In 1875, she married physician and elder T. P. Holman in the Washington Street Church of Christ in Fayetteville. From her home on Mulberry Avenue, Silena not only cared for her eight children, but she also served the public for over 35 years. She advocated for women's rights and passionately promoted prohibition. For 15 years, she served as president of the Tennessee Women's Christian Temperance Union (WCTU). Under her leadership, the organization grew to over 4,000 members. The Temperance Union was one of the first organizations of women devoted to social reform.

Silena was a skilled debater and certainly wasn't afraid to ruffle a few feathers. In addition to being a strong proponent of female leadership in the church, she also took on other issues, such as the use of wine in communion services. Silena insisted that wine was not biblical and that grape juice should be used instead. Eventually, she persuaded local elders and deacons of the Christian Church (later the Church of Christ) to use grape juice instead of wine. A dedicated wife, mother, and churchwoman, Silena was highly educated, and was an eloquent speaker and an articulate writer, with over 100 published articles. When she died in 1815, over 1,000 people attended her funeral.

To date, only two portraits of women have graced the walls of the state capital. One was Silena, and the other, Rachel Jackson, wife of Andrew Jackson. Today, the original painting of Silena hangs in the Tennessee State Museum. A replica portrait created by the same Nashville company that copied the state constitution hangs in the Lincoln County Courthouse in recognition of her life's work.

Throughout history, women have played a prominent role in shaping Lincoln County, including establishing the hospital and beautiful library. The Women of Lincoln County, a committee recently formed to recognize the contributions of notable women, is on a mission to share these inspiring stories so that young girls of today and tomorrow can follow in their footsteps and become change-makers of the future. A portrait of each honoree selected by the committee will hang in the courthouse until the following year's celebration of another notable local woman. Portraits will then be moved to a special place of honor in the Lincoln County Museum. The committee welcomes suggestions and the history of other women who have made a difference in our community and beyond. Information can be given to the Chamber.

Silena Moore Holman ~ July 9, 1850 – September 18, 1915

TOUR • TASTE • SHOP

In 1997 Prichard's Distillery Master Distiller Phil Prichard set about to build the first legal distillery here in Tennessee in almost fifty years. He began his adventure by researching and deciding to make spirits like his fifth-generation grandfather Benjamin Prichard made back in the late 1700's. Now located in an old school house in Kelso, Tennessee, you can see where we make our hand crafted, award winning rums, whiskies, and liqueurs; all American spirits steeped in tradition and American history.

29th Annual
Host of Christmas Past

November 12 & 13, 2021

Friday 5:00PM - 8:00PM • Saturday 9:00AM - 7:00PM

On the second weekend in November, Fayetteville turns into a storybook Christmas village for the Host of Christmas Past. The holiday festival is a long-standing tradition that traces its roots back to more than 50 years ago when the Flower House held its first Christmas open house. Since its humble beginnings, the community celebration continues to grow, drawing visitors from near and far. For many, gathering family and friends together for this festive celebration is an annual tradition.

The 2021 Christmas-themed street festival will officially begin on Friday evening, November 12th, at 5 p.m., with an opening kickoff ceremony. Many local shops and restaurants around the downtown square stay open late for a lovely evening of leisurely shopping and dining.

Saturday's activities begin bright and early with Bella's Snowball 5K presented by Always Endure, a non-profit organization that benefits local individuals and families enduring life-altering circumstances. Throughout the day, music will fill the air while you shop for the perfect gift and enjoy tasty treats offered by a wide variety of vendors set up around the square. The fun-filled day also includes activities such as storytelling; photos with Santa Claus; craft shows; food trucks; horse-drawn carriage rides; and so much more. A Kids Village with a bounce zone and other kid-friendly activities provides hours of fun for the little ones. As evening falls, enjoy a Candlelight Walking Tour through Fayetteville's historic neighborhoods, or meet a few characters from the past during live reenactments on the Cemetery Stroll. The festivities on Saturday take place from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m.

You can rest assured that the health and safety of our attendees remain a top priority at the 2021 Host of Christmas Past (HCP). The HCP Oversight Committee continues to watch guidelines from the State of TN and CDC for Large Community Events. All events will be required to follow the guidelines in place at the time of the festival.

Non-profit organizations are encouraged to participate and raise money for their organizations through vendor booths. Vendor forms, Event forms, and Sponsorship information, as well as a complete schedule, as it is available, can be found on the website hostofchristmaspast.com or by calling the Chamber & Tourism office at 888-433-1238 or 931-433-1234. ## Industry in Lincoln County

New and existing industries play a significant role in building the county's economy.

The Fayetteville-Lincoln County Industrial Development Board (FLCIDB) is committed to fostering a dynamic and innovative business environment that supports the growth of employment and investment opportunities throughout Lincoln County and the city of Fayetteville.

With a vision for the future, the FLCIDB is setting out the welcome mat by providing the space for new industries to bring their operations into the area. Three industrial parks (Fayetteville-Lincoln County Industrial Park, Bullington Industrial Park, and Runway Centre Industrial Park) provide the opportunity for growing industries, large or small. A few of the things that influence Corporate location decisions are:

- The availability of a dedicated and highly skilled workforce for both production and plant management.
- Well-prepared sites with existing buildings or build-to-suit opportunities that meet the company's requirements.
- The timing required to get the company up and running to meet the immediate demands of the market.

- The cost and incentives available for companies expanding within the state or relocating to the state, such as tax credits, job training reimbursement grants, and public infrastructure developments around a project site.

The success of existing industries is also a key factor that drives both the local and state economy. Frito-Lay; Franke Foodservice Systems; C&S Plastics; Copperweld; JCF Housements; Direct Coil, Inc.; Hawkins Inc.; and Genesco, as well as global companies Hirotec Manufacturing America, and Grammer are just a few of the large-scale companies that call Fayetteville home and provide a host of local jobs. Through the proactive approach of the FLCIDB, more are soon to follow.

With a focus on driving opportunity, innovation, and growth, the FLCIDB has set its sights on building a solid foundation that supports a healthy job market and a wide range of employment opportunities for decades to come. For more information, contact the FLCIDB at 931-433-0607 or visit www.flcidb.com.

117th Annual
Lincoln County Fair
September 18-25, 2021

Lincoln County has a rich agricultural heritage. With forty Century Farms in the county, the oldest established in 1818, agriculture has been a way of life for generations of families. The Lincoln County Fair is a celebration that honors agricultural producers - past, present, and future. Throughout the seven-day event, there are livestock shows, horse races, carnival rides, pageantry, and much more. At the last fair, there were even dinosaur races!

The Darrell Hale Agriculture Building and Creative Living Building features exhibits by local 4H and FFA students, farmers, and gardeners who have worked hard all year to grow, sew and create works that showcase their talent and skills. Competitors vie for blue ribbons and other awards in a wide array of categories from creative writing, cartooning and computer technology to field crops, sewing, and canning.

At the Farmer for a Day display, children ages 8 and under can learn what it's like to be a farmer, and where some of their food comes from. Children can collect eggs, milk "Daisy" the cow and gather produce, sell their crops and spend the proceeds on a well-deserved snack.

The Lincoln County Fair is the only harness race track in Tennessee and it is sanctioned by the United States Trotting Association, the governing body of harness racing. People travel great distances for the chance to see these graceful horses run the half-mile track. This form of horse racing dates back to 1889. In a harness race, a Standardbred horse harnessed to a two-wheeled cart called a sulky carries a driver (not to be mistaken for a jockey). Together, they travel at speeds averaging 25-30 miles per hour. The beauty of these horses in full stride is a sight to behold, one that will have you coming back to the fair year after year.

The grandstand events begin on Saturday night September 18th, with a concert by a major touring music act and close on the following Saturday, September 25th with the loud roars and bangs of the demolition derby. The midway provides hours of fun for the whole family. Try your luck at the game booths or take a ride on one of the carnival attractions that are just your speed. A rainbow of sweet treats such as cotton candy and caramel apples are sure to satisfy your sweet tooth. For something more substantial, there are plenty of opportunities to feast at the fair.

There is something for everyone to enjoy at the Lincoln County Fair. Whether it is watching the rodeo; demolition derby; tractor pulls; monster truck show; livestock shows; pageants; big-name stars on the entertainment stage, or holding the winning ticket for one of the big giveaways, it's always exciting and fun. There is also a shuttle service available for people who are in a wheelchair, small children, handicapped individuals, and seniors.

Through the years and the changes, one thing remains true, the Lincoln County Fair is community. It's a place to meet new friends and rekindle old acquaintances. It also serves as a homecoming for many families. Thanks to the volunteer fair board members and devoted citizens that work year-round, and the sponsors, the Lincoln County Fair will come to life once again on September 18th through the 25th, 2021. Save the date now for this authentic slice of Americana.

The home of the
Slawburger Festival
August 21, 2021

Over a century ago, in the kitchen of a small pool hall located on the Fayetteville Square, the legendary slawburger was born. As the story goes, Weston James Stubblefield, the founder of Honey's Restaurant, made a mustard-based coleslaw and spread it over a burger. The combination proved to be a match made in culinary heaven. From that moment on, the slawburger had a permanent place on Honey's menu. It became a local favorite at several other restaurants around town as well.

In August, the slawburger takes center stage in downtown Fayetteville. Activities include dance performances, an ice cream eating contest, and a slaw-making contest. At the heart of the celebration is the Slawburger Eating Contest with several cash prizes and two highly coveted championship belts to the contestant who eats the most slawburgers in 10 minutes.

There are also hula-hoops, coloring pages, and pieces of sidewalk chalk for the kids. For those faithful 4-legged companions, there is the Slaw Dog Contest, where dogs of all sizes and shapes will compete for prizes in the following categories: Loveliest Lady, Most Handsome, and Best Dressed, with extra points for slawburger-themed costumes. Festival-goers will also have the opportunity to dance off those slawburgers to some great live music.

The proceeds of this festival benefit the Slawburger Downtown Revitalization Grant. The grant allocates funds to downtown area building owners to restore, preserve and maintain the historic buildings that help keep Fayetteville a beautiful, thriving downtown destination for locals and visitors.

So join the fun on Saturday, August 21, at the Annual Slawburger Festival in Fayetteville. Try a slawburger, or two, or three, and be sure to grab a dill pickle for another tasty culinary combination.

For a complete schedule, registration forms, and additional details, visit www.slawburgerfestival.com or the Slawburger Festival Facebook Page. # Carriage House Players

Eyes on the Future

Fayetteville’s own community theater, Carriage House Players, has officially kicked off their 34th season, with the fast pace comedy, Clue On Stage. Also, on slate for the 2021 season are Cinderella’s Glass Slipper and Sarah, Plain and Tall.

The community, and actors, needed something to distract their thoughts from the events of the 2020 pandemic. Many patrons have said, “This has come at a good time, thank you Carriage House Players for giving this joy to the community.” We all faced many challenges these past 12 months but, with anticipation and caution, we continue to plan for brighter days.

Carriage House Players will present An Old-Fashioned Christmas in December produced by The Voices of Carriage House. This production is a staged musical review of many of your favorite Christmas songs.

Coming up in June, Carriage House Players will have their annual Drama Camps for area youth. Lessons in theater and stage craft are taught through fun “hands on” activities.

On October 31, 2018, the group became the official owners of their new home at 301 Market Street. The new home will be called The Carriage House and will serve as the organization’s home office, rehearsal hall, ticket office, set construction workshop and costume closet. The demolition of existing walls has begun, but has been delayed due to the Covid-19 pandemic. Hopefully, the renovation will start back up very soon. Once Phase I of the renovation is completed, it will serve as an event center for community and social events accommodating 140 people. The event center will include a kitchen suitable for catered events.

Carriage House Players is the oldest performing arts organization in Lincoln County, celebrating 34 years of theatrical excellence.

Get Your Motor Runnin' for the 7th Annual
Cruzin' Downtown
September 11, 2021

Fayetteville's historic square will be buzzing with excitement as cars and trucks of all makes, models, and colors roll into town for the 7th Annual Cruzin' Downtown Fayetteville. With open hoods and polished chrome, over 200 automobiles will park side by side around the square for all to admire. The Cruzin' draws a wide range of entries, from classic cars that look like they just came off the showroom floor to rat rods covered with rust. Looks aren't everything when it comes to these cars-what's under the hood is equally important.

The annual Cruzin' Downtown Fayetteville is a day of storytelling and reminiscing about the days of fast cars and leisurely Sunday drives along scenic backroads. You might even hear a few stories about first dates, drive-in theaters, and an old-school race or two. It's a trip down memory lane where the smell of vinyl upholstery can instantly take you back to your very first time behind the wheel.

The Cruzin' continues to gain popularity with locals and visitors alike. For participants, pre-registration is encouraged for a speedy check-in and a prime parking spot. All registrants receive a commemorative dash plaque and an entry in the 50/50 drawing as well.

Plan now to attend the 7th Annual Cruzin' Downtown Fayetteville on September 11th, 2021, from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. Bring a lawn chair and grab some dinner from one of the food trucks or nearby restaurants and sit back and enjoy the music, the friendly conversation, and the remarkable cars. It promises to be an evening full of good people, good fun, and good vibrations. If you happen to catch yourself daydreaming about what it would be like to sit in the driver's seat of that '67 Corvette, you might get the chance. There will also be great shopping opportunities available at local shops and merchant tents, including Cruzin' t-shirts and cups.

For more information and registration forms, visit www.fayettevilletn.com or call 931-433-6154. Be sure to follow Cruzin' Downtown Fayetteville on Facebook for all the latest updates.

TAKE IT Outdoors

To make unforgettable memories, it takes unforgettable experiences. Sometimes what we remember most about a place is how it made us feel and the people we met along the way. As you drive through Lincoln County's beautiful rolling hills with hues in every shade of green and pass by fields of corn or pastures dotted with livestock peacefully grazing, you are witnessing the community at its source.

Getting to know a place is not only about seeing the attractions. It's also about getting off the beaten path, meeting the people who live here, and discovering their livelihoods and passions. Agri-tourism offers such an experience. It's an authentic view into the lives of the stewards of the land — people deeply invested in place. They are the families, the growers, the producers, the makers, and most of all the locals. As they open their doors and their hearts to the public, it builds a bridge directly to the food that sustains life. Agri-tourism is also a source of income that boosts rural economies and provides a means for new generations to work on the farm. Meeting the families who plant the seeds and care for the animals gives us a renewed sense of gratitude and awe for a way of life that is at the heart of Lincoln County.

Whether it's getting an up-close view of a baby pig, shopping for homegrown tomatoes at a farmers market, or floating down the Elk River, outdoor fun awaits.

Henry's Family Farm

Henry's Family Farm specializes in authentic Jamaican hot sauces, vegan desserts, and beautiful cut flowers in a rainbow of colors. Toussaint and Kenesha Henry, and their two children, Brianna and Isaiah, grow their organic produce and flowers on a 15-acre farm south of Fayetteville. Originally from Jamaica, the family settled in Lincoln County when Toussaint came out of the military after being stationed in nearby Huntsville. They grow a variety of organic produce, including kale, peppers, cabbage, zucchini, green beans, and so much more. "We strongly believe in healthy soil, healthy families, and healthy communities," Kenesha shares. They also offer a CSA (Community Supported Agriculture) beginning in March and ending on Thanksgiving. A CSA is a partnership between the farm and the neighboring community. Members purchase a "share" and receive biweekly fresh seasonal produce delivery throughout the designated time frame. What is their favorite thing about owning a family farm? "We love the scenery and being able to connect with nature. It's so peaceful," Kenesha says.

Where to find them

Henry's Family Farm has a booth in Huntsville every Friday at Oakwood Farmers Market and on Sunday at Mid City Market. Also, look for them at Fayetteville's First Fridays. For fresh produce delivered to your door, Henry's Family Farm delivers.

Pilaroc Farm

Pasture-raised, dry-aged beef, heritage pastured pork, and lamb are what Pilaroc Farms brings to the table. Owners Walt Patrick and Jennie Schutte-Patrick, with the help of a qualified team of professionals, also known as their children Wyatt, Tensie, and Colyar (ages 11, 6, and 3), are doing their best to remind folks how great meat is supposed to taste.

In 2020, Pilaroc expanded its operation to meet the increasing demand. However, they also had an even bigger picture in mind. They wanted to share their love of agriculture and livestock. “We wanted a place where people can get their kids outside and see animals being animals, on a working farm,” Jennie shares.

Their new vision is already taking shape in the form of weekend farm tours, which allow visitors an up-close view of cows, pigs, and sheep. However, keep in mind, this isn’t a petting zoo. It’s a working farm, and education is the first item of business. Tours provide an opportunity to learn about what the animals eat and how they spend their days. The Marketplace, a new retail store located on the farm, opened in 2021.

In the future, there are plans for day camps where students can experience hands-on learning. Farm to Table dinners featuring notable chefs and Pilaroc meats prepared to perfection are also on the agenda. Eventually, the Marketplace will include a custom USDA-inspected further processing—custom kitchen, where they will make their own bacon, jerky, salami, and more.

Where to find them

Pilaroc Marketplace offers packaged meats in a wide selection of cuts and several specialty items.

Visit the website for store hours and location. The mobile Pilaroc Meat Wagon is across the highway from Strong Brothers Liquor Store in Fayetteville on Fridays 1-7 pm.

Buckley Farm

Pasture-raised pork and chicken, free-range eggs, seasonal vegetables, fresh-cut flowers, and handcrafted goat milk soaps and skincare products are a few of the things you'll find at the Buckley Farm Store. For Eli and Jessica Buckley, and their four children, life on the farm is good. They raise Berkshire hogs using an agroforestry practice known as silvopasture, a system that integrates trees, pasture, and forage. The system mutually benefits both the land and the animals. It allows the hogs to forage on fresh grass, grubs, and nuts, adding a unique flavor and marbling to the meat. Chickens rotate from pasture to pasture, which gives them plenty of exercise and access to fresh grass and bugs. The natural and stress-free lives of the animals raised at Buckley Farm results in packaged meats and eggs with exceptional flavor. It's a hands-on family farm where nothing is wasted -- even their vegetables are grown with natural compost made on the farm. "Our goal for our farm and farm store is to provide Lincoln County and the surrounding areas another option for quality meat, produce, and other products, grown or made by local artisans," Jessica says. "Knowing your farmer and where and how your food is grown is an important part of keeping our community strong and growing."

Where to find them

Visit the Buckley Farm Store, located 2 miles from the Fayetteville Square at 25 Boonshill Road, on Thursdays from 3:30-5:30 pm. They also offer a farm-to-doorstep delivery service.

Lyon Family Farm

A 15-acre pumpkin patch with over 50 varieties of pumpkins and a 7-acre interactive corn maze are just two of the attractions you'll find at Lyon Family Farms, located south of Fayetteville near Taft. Richard and Shelley Lyon and their five children have created a farm destination that has become a family favorite. Their picturesque farm features a sprawling playground with larger-than-life playground amenities where kids can slide, swing, jump, roll, and zip away the afternoon. They can also take a ride on the Cow Train. At the farm animal petting zoo, kids can feel the fuzzy coat of a donkey or hear the soft "cheep, cheep" of a baby chick. A learning center located in the old schoolhouse features various displays about crops, such as corn, cotton, soybeans, and wheat. You can also learn how seeds use soil, water, bees, and the sun to make a pumpkin. There are so many things to do at Lyon Family Farms that they even have a map on the website to help you find your way around. Take home a jar of Lyon Family Farms Pumpkin/Squash Honey or homemade fudge from the gift shop. With the smell of apple cider sifting through the air and the sound of laughter echoing through the cornstalks, this festive fall wonderland is a place you'll want to come back to, year after year. For the Lyon family, this is home. "One thing I love about Lincoln County is that it feels like family, everywhere I go. Whether it's to the auto parts store, bank, or local co-op, you feel like you're doing business with friends," Richard comments.

Where to find them

Visit Lyon Family Farms in September and October. The farm is located at 130 Bellview Road, Taft.

Dennison's Family Farm

When you see Dennison's Little Red House in Fayetteville, you'll know that strawberry season has arrived, and it's time to celebrate. Dennison Family Farm is a 3-generation farm in Elora that grows some of the sweetest, most fragrant, mouth-watering strawberries you'll ever taste. Overall, the farm includes over 50 acres of fruits and vegetables. However, it's their strawberries that steal the show. Six days a week, from late-April through June, you can find their bright Little Red Houses set up at three different locations, where they sell their delicious strawberries by the basketful.

As with any crop, a good harvest depends on the weather. For Dennison's strawberries, the ideal growing season is cold weather through February and then a gradual warm-up. A chilly winter keeps the plants from blooming too soon and promises a good crop in the Spring. Strawberries thrive with clear skies and warm sunny days. On the farm, a deep well provides the berry plants with just the right amount of water through a drip-water system. They also use over seven acres of fabric row covers for late-season frost or freeze protection. As the strawberries ripen, a skilled crew harvests the berries at their peak flavor. The short window of strawberry season lasts only about two months, so make plans now to enjoy this seasonal treasure. The Dennison Farm also grows a fall crop of pumpkins.

Where to find them

Beginning in late April, look for the Little Red House at 1200 Huntsville Hwy in front of the River Oaks Shopping Center in Fayetteville. There is also a Little Red House located in Decherd, TN, and one in Madison, AL. Follow @Dennison's Family Farm on Facebook.

If you would like to buy strawberries at the farm, call 770-722-6348 for an appointment.

Floyd's Farm Food Truck

For an authentic and delicious taste of seasonal produce and locally produced meats, Floyd's Farm Food Truck is hard to beat. Owned and operated by Matt and Alexis Floyd, the bright green truck is somewhat of a local celebrity. Made-from-scratch broths, hand-pressed hamburger patties, and made-to-order farmhouse wraps are all prepared in the commercial-grade mobile kitchen. The couple sources many of the ingredients for their menu items from their family farm in nearby Dellrose and other local farms and businesses in the surrounding areas. Whether you order the Farm Burger, the Autumn Berry Chicken Salad Sandwich, the Pimento Cheese BLT Farmhouse Wrap, or any other item on the menu, you're sure to love every bite.

ABOVE & BEYOND

The Lincoln County Health Department and First Responders do whatever it takes to meet the needs of the community, one day at a time

Text by Trish Sandora Photos by James Jordan

This past year, the COVID-19 outbreak has required us all to make difficult adjustments. However, for first responders and healthcare workers, it has meant much more than making a few adjustments — in reality, everything has changed. Our deepest gratitude goes out to the Fayetteville City Police and Fayetteville Fire Departments; Lincoln County Sheriff's Department; Lincoln Health System; Lincoln Medical Center Ambulance Service; Lincoln County Health Department; Lincoln County Volunteer Fire Department; first responders; frontline workers; and many others who went above and beyond the call of duty throughout challenging and uncertain times. For all of these workers, providing essential services through a public health crisis has required long hours, late nights, and at times, an overwhelming workload. However, their willingness to go the extra mile has not gone unnoticed. Through everyday acts of service and kindness, they continue to be an encouraging source of hope and a shining example of what it means to serve one another in love.

FIRST RESPONDERS

If you have ever dialed 911 or needed immediate help in an emergency, you've met a first responder. Whether it's a fire, a car accident, or a medical emergency, they are the first ones on the scene — the law enforcement officers, firefighters, and the Emergency Medical Service (EMS). First responders are heroic men and women who make it their business to take immediate action in a time of need.

Doug Campbell, Director of the Lincoln County Emergency Management Office, understands better than most how everyone has had to make adjustments on how they do things due to COVID. "Each response that we are called to (fire, car wreck, medical, etc.) can require different levels of PPE (Personal Protective Equipment), so the mask became part of the "any call" response. We also implemented additional cleaning processes into our SOP's (standard operating procedures)," Doug shares. "On the EMA (Emergency Management Agency) side of the office, the additional workload has, at times, almost been overwhelming," he adds. "These adjustments hopefully have helped us to become better at taking care of one another."

Every responder has to consider not only protecting the individual but themselves and their fellow responders. Even after their work is done, they have to take extra precautions when they get in their vehicle to go home, so they don't carry the virus back to their family. "While some may say this is part of the job, our county fire [department] is a volunteer fire department. No one is paid anything for responding, training, cleaning, or whatever the need is. This makes getting up and going to something even more special when you consider that each one is doing this because they want to and not because they have to," Doug explains. "I would have to say that all of our emergency services have embraced this issue, rolled up their sleeves, and went to work."

LINCOLN COUNTY HEALTH DEPARTMENT

Public health is for everyone. It's a service that empowers people with information and education about making healthy decisions, like eating right, exercising, and quitting smoking. It also provides the community with access to a broad range of services that promote a healthy lifestyle, from vaccines, nutritional programs, doctors, and much more.

On a typical day, providing such services was all in a day's work for Pam Browning, Public Health County Director for Lincoln, Coffee, and Moore counties. However, these days, there is no such thing as a typical day. For Pam and her staff, daily responsibilities now include curbside service, outdoor drive-thru testing for COVID infection, and administering COVID vaccines. "We've had to adjust our day-to-day operations to work with those environmental changes to ensure the safety of our patients and staff," Pam says. "Keep in mind that the traditional work of public health did not cease because of this pandemic. We have had to be innovative in finding ways to continue services while also taking extra steps with sanitizing, masking, and social distancing," she adds.

Through hot summer heat and cold winter days, the Lincoln County Health Department does its best to keep the community as healthy as possible. "Everyone realizes the importance of this work. They volunteer to stay late and work weekends and holidays because they know what we do is saving lives," Pam comments.

Parks & Fun

Christmas Light Show

Fun for kids and adults! Ride through Stonebridge Park and look at the animated Christmas lights show during November and December. The Fayetteville Parks & Recreation Department hopes to add more lights to the show every year.

Dog Park

The dog park is Fayetteville's newest addition to our Recreation Department. Located behind the Don Davidson Complex, the park provides a fenced area for dogs to run freely, and offers water fountains, leash trees, and dog waste disposal. The park also provides a separate fenced area for dogs that are anxious or not sociable with others.

Don Davidson/Lions Club Complex

The complex has 5 softball fields and 1 baseball field. It has a newly built dog park with water stations and has a divided area to separate dogs from each other. It has a lake with a nature walking trail around it which leads into the woods below it, where you can walk around the lower perimeter of the complex.

Easter Eggstravaganza

The Easter Eggstravaganza is the Easter egg hunt celebration! Hosted at Don Davidson Ballfield, the Eggstravaganza includes bounce houses, face paintings, prize drawings and more.

Facilities: Tennis Courts, Gun Range, Skate Park

The tennis courts are available to the public 24 hours a day. You are asked, if using the courts at night to make sure you turn off the lights when leaving the courts. The gun range has three different shooting areas: two are for pistols only, one roughly 30 yards and the other roughly 50 yards. The rifle targets are roughly 100 yards. Shotguns cannot be shot at our targets, and you must bring and set up your own targets. Keys can be purchased at the Recreation Center during business hours to go to the range. A daily pass is $3 per person or a yearly pass is $30 per person.

Halloween Happenings

Held at Don Davidson Lions Club Complex in October. Door prizes, costume contest, bounce castle & big slide, mini fire truck, petting zoo, games and lots of fun. Be sure to bring your pumpkin for the pumpkin contest!

SPORTS, FISHING, PICNICS OR RELAXING... our parks have you covered!

Kid's Fish Day

This annual fun-filled event is presented by The Tennessee Wildlife Resources Agency, Fayetteville Parks and Recreation and Walmart. In addition to fishing, kids enjoy free hot dogs and drinks, as well as games, and prizes are given away. TWRA stocks the Stone Bridge Park pond with 2,500 pounds of catfish in preparation for the event.

Kid's Park

Located next to the Kiwanis Baseball Field, Kid's Park is an enclosed space that offers many different type of outdoor equipment for children to enjoy. This park became available due to numerous contributions from the community, along with a state recreation grant. This park has pavilions and benches throughout the perimeter of the park to help parents keep a good view of their children.

Kiwanis Park

The Kiwanis Park is nestled in the sub-divisions of Fayetteville, right behind Ralph Askins Elementary School. This area provides easier access for children to play after school, and has a wide area away from any major roads. The park offers wide spaces and event pavilions, with access to public restrooms.

Kiwanis Recreation Field

There are two baseball fields at this facility. One is a Little League field and below it is the Pee Wee field. Around and below the field is a asphalt, lighted, walking track that circles them and kids park. There are restrooms located at the facility. There is also a batting cage and skateboard park beside the little league field.

Municipal Swimming Pool

The pool opens May 23. It is open everyday from 1 P.M. until 6 P.M. except for Saturday, which is 11 A.M. until 6 P.M. Admission is $5 per person, while kids 3 and under get in free. Multi-visit punch cards can be purchased at the pool for a cost of $40 that will last for 11 visits. Pool parties can be booked by calling the pool at (931) 433-1612 .

S.J. King Park

Located across from Kid's Park, King's Park features wide open spaces and great views of the adjacent Elk River. The park includes several pavilions, along with a ball field that is open to the public.

Working Together

The Chamber's new LINC program builds a bridge between local educators and business leaders.

When local business leaders and schools work together, everybody wins, especially the students. To properly prepare students to meet the diverse and evolving educational demands of the workforce, educators need to know what skills to teach. And who better to inform them than the business leaders in the community who depend on a skilled, capable workforce for their success. The Fayetteville-Lincoln County Chamber of Commerce & Tourism Bureau office is coordinating this collaborative meeting of the minds through the LINC program. The program aims to serve as a clear channel of communication between the two entities which will soon be as easy as the click of a button.

The LINC webpage serves as a portal to link businesses, educators, and students in the following ways:

- Notify students of employment opportunities with instructions on how to apply
- Sign up for Grip & Grin. A program that aims to help students learn the importance of a firm handshake, making eye contact, and other skills.
- Offer the expertise of the business community
- List opportunities for business leaders to get involved as guest speakers and mentors, including classroom demonstrations.

LINC seeks to partner with organizations that have a desire to contribute to the education and progress of students in Fayetteville City and Lincoln County schools.

These are exciting times for students and LINC will help present students with possible career choices they may not have considered otherwise. Through guidance, instruction and the support of local industries, students will be better prepared to excel and have a positive effect on the local economy as well. Connecting real-world experiences with classroom learning helps students gain an advantage in high school, and inspires them to look beyond graduation and see the possibilities for successful postsecondary opportunities and careers.

TN Promise & tnAchieves

Clearing obstacles and leading the way to a brighter future

TN Promise provides every graduating high school senior in the state the opportunity to attend a local community or technical college tuition-free with mentor support. Students apply during their senior year, attend two mandatory meetings and complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) to remain eligible for the scholarship. More than 67,000 students from the Class of 2020 applied for the scholarship.

TN Promise is one initiative of Gov. Haslam's Drive to 55 Alliance — a mission to get 55 percent of Tennesseans equipped with a college degree or certificate by the year 2025. According to predictions, that goal will be reached well ahead of the deadline. Since the program's launch in 2014, TN Promise has accepted more than 170,000 students and placed more than 33,000 students into college with assistance from the scholarship. Data from the first year of the program indicates that TN Promise students are graduating at a rate almost three times their peers at the same institutions. Program administrators believe eliminating the financial barrier, coupled with support from a mentor, is the reason students are graduating at significantly higher rates.

Most of the TN Promise applicants will be the first in their family to go to college. Understanding that many obstacles can exist for first-generation college students, each applicant is assigned a volunteer mentor. Volunteer mentors provide the guidance and encouragement students often need to be successful. tnAchieves mentors support students as they navigate the college-going process and provide the nudges many need to earn a college credential.

tnAchieves has begun its effort to recruit 9,000 volunteer mentors to meet its goal of providing every TN Promise applicant from the Class of 2021 with a local support system. The time commitment is small, only about one hour per month, but the impact is significant. New volunteers are needed every year. The organization provides a one-hour training session, a handbook, and weekly communication to ensure the mentor is fully equipped to serve his/her students.

Academic Excellence

The area schools have a tradition of academic excellence. Our students score well above state average on Stanford Achievement tests and rank consistently near the top of the sixteen systems in the South Central District.

The curriculum and instructional programs are designed to meet the diverse needs of the students. A variety of extracurricular activities complement the academic offerings. Superior athletic and band programs involve a majority of students, with both programs ranking consistently first or second in the district.

Upon entering kindergarten, a child must be 5 years old on or before September 30th of the current school term. A pupil who attended an approved kindergarten in another state during the preceding year shall be enrolled in the first grade in Tennessee provided he is six years of age by December 31st of the current year.

Riverside Christian Academy

Providing students quality, faith-based education

Riverside Christian Academy is celebrating 20 years of excellence in Christian education. Countless students and families have experienced the difference that comes through robust faith, integrity, and compassion in the classroom. Students have excelled and outpaced state and national averages on the ACT, and are awarded an average of $100,000 in scholarships per graduate!

Riverside Christian Academy's mission is to fully educate our students through discipleship to Christ, academic excellence, and character formation in a loving community. The school has many athletic opportunities for student development and enjoyment. The football team recently won the state championship and the ladies basketball team was the runner up. Our families' own words are the best evidence of the Riverside difference.

"I love the smaller classes and the overall Christian environment at RCA. I believe that Riverside has helped develop the inner talents of both my children and helped mold them into strong leaders. RCA has become like a family of teachers, children, and parents who are all working together to raise faithful children in Christ. If I could slow down time, I would. My last child is about to be a senior, and my time at RCA is coming to a close," said Teresa Stewart, a parent of a current RCA student and an RCA graduate.

Mrs. Stewart's testimony is just one of many from happy RCA families. We invite you to come experience the RCA difference for yourself. Call to schedule a tour today, 931-438-4722.

Close to home

The Tennessee College of Applied Technology (TCAT) Shelbyville is one of 27 technical colleges located across the state of Tennessee. The TCAT Shelbyville Lincoln Central Academy extension campus is one of four off-campus locations available to residents of Lincoln County and surrounding areas.

The TCAT Shelbyville Lincoln Central Academy extension campus is located on the north end of Lincoln Central Academy on South Main Avenue. This building is a well-known location throughout the county as it was once a high school, a junior high school, and in later years, a ninth grade academy. TCAT Shelbyville moved into the location in January 2020 after offering classes at the Don Sundquist Center for Advanced Technologies, Motlow State Community College Fayetteville campus. Programs currently offered at the location are Industrial Maintenance Automation and supplemental pre-Practical Nursing courses. Future programs include Farming Operations Technology as well as an Information Technology and Infrastructure Management program. Students at Lincoln County High School, Fayetteville High School, Riverside Christian Academy, and area homeschool associations are welcome to enroll as dual enrollment students. MOTLOW

STATE

Motlow State

Education Entrepreneurs Tackle Emerging Technologies

Motlow State Community College has a longstanding reputation for the early adoption of new technologies. Motlow leads the state in mechatronics training, adopting healthcare training technologies, robotics, and industry 4.0 initiatives. The College deepens its reputation as a leader in technology integration by embedding Virtual Reality (VR), Mixed Reality (MR), and Extended Reality (XR), and other emerging technologies in and across the curriculum, services, and spaces.

Technology literacy is central to Motlow's plan for student success. The ability to use digital information tools, along with a solid foundation of people skills and subject matter proficiency, enables Motlow graduates to get hired first and advance quickly in the emerging technologies environment.

"We are being very intentional about crafting our reputation for embedding emerging technologies into every aspect of learning," said Dr. Michael Torrence, Motlow president. "Student success is the rudder that pilots Motlow's mission. Every vision, plan, and investment we make pivots on its ability to advance student success. Emerging technologies are a market reality in industry. That means all Motlow students must demonstrate technical acumen."

The College features Virtual Reality Labs inside libraries in both Moore County and Smyrna. Locating technologies in library spaces improve accessibility, engagement, and organic student exploration. XR technologies are multi-modal, cross-curriculum tools that accommodate both broad exposures to new topics, and deep learning of targeted subjects.

A student's introduction to XR could be through gaming, teleconferencing, virtual tourism, or guided exercise. Motlow's vision is for XR to help students learn more deeply in the classroom, engage new technologies across the spectrum of their careers, and use technology to advance their business ideas.

"The goal is to embed and infuse a variety of technologies in classrooms, across curriculum, into non-credit training, and to make it accessible in exploration spaces outside of formal learning environments," said Dr. Tony Millican, chief learning officer. "This is not a vision for the future, but rather our binding, present-day obligation to student success. We want XR to fuel student success, community development, economic development, and entrepreneurship," added Torrence.

Motlow is also developing public/private partnerships and using philanthropic grants to fund maker-spaces to fuel and inspire the deep learning required for high-wage, high-demand technology careers. Recent technology-related additions at Motlow include:

- Extended Reality (XR) Academies
- Tennessee's first Automation & Robotics Training Center
- Mechatronics Degree with Robotics Concentration
- Entrepreneurship Degree
- Cyber Defense Degree
- Logistics Degree
- Digital Engagement Initiative: Adopting electronic course materials, including e-textbooks and free Open Educational Resources to reduce student costs
- College-wide infrastructure upgrades
- New Articulation Agreements with universities in technical fields such as mechatronics, agriculture, and engineering.

Motlow's Moore County campus is nestled on 187 acres halfway between Tullahoma and Lynchburg just off Highway 55. The tree-filled, picturesque setting is home to Motlow's original campus, with additional campuses in Smyrna, McMinnville, and Fayetteville with a growing Sparta location. The College opened in fall 1969 with 551 students. In fall 2019, Motlow set a new enrollment record with over 7,000 students.

Motlow is accredited by the Southern Association of Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges. Motlow awards the Level 1 associate of arts, associate of science, associate of science in teaching, associate of fine arts, associate of applied science, and certificates. Motlow continues the community college's original mission by providing workforce development, non-credit, and personal enrichment classes to its 11-county service area residents.

Motlow has one of the highest transfer rates from a community college to universities within the state. Equally, Motlow students outperform native university students, a testament to the rigor, integrity, and sovereignty of the academic programs at Motlow. Student support is the second half of student success. Academic advising, coaching, tutoring, counseling, and workforce development are a snapshot of the many services available to students as they navigate the college experience.

Through internal scholarships, Tennessee Promise, Tennessee Reconnect, Hope, Aspire, and others, Motlow is affordable. Additional financial aid is available through Federal Pell Grant and TSAC. The financial aid staff on each campus is available to help students complete financial aid applications as needed. The cost of college should not be a barrier to becoming a college graduate.

Perhaps you are interested in attending a premier college that invests in its students, a college with purpose and direction, a college that is a leader among colleges. In that case, you are interested in Motlow State Community College. Visit us online at www.mscc.edu; follow us on Facebook, Twitter, and Instagram.

Martin Methodist College

Onward and upward!

Dear Friends,

Martin Methodist College is concluding its 151st year of mission. Our mission has always been to provide an opportunity for higher education to the citizens of southern Middle Tennessee. Our primary goal has been to develop professionals from our communities, in our communities, for our communities.

And now we have before us a historic opportunity! This past year we have been working on a partnership that could transform our institution and the region we serve. We now have the opportunity to expand and enhance the affordability, accessibility, and quality of our mission.

While this is being written, Martin Methodist College and The University of Tennessee System are awaiting final approvals for the acquisition of MMC as the fourth undergraduate of the University of Tennessee. July 1, 2021, is the projected date when Martin Methodist College will claim its new identity as The University of Tennessee Southern.

The cost of attendance will drop significantly, providing students an affordable alternative to enrolling at one of four Alabama universities that border our state. Students will also be eligible for the UT Promise Program. This innovative scholarship will cover a student's last-dollar amount of tuition and mandatory fees after other financial aid is applied (such as Pell grants, HOPE Scholarship, or other institutional scholarships) to students who qualify for HOPE and whose family household income is under $50,000 a year.

The transition will allow UT to more fully live into the promise boldly displayed on the mural in a growing number of places throughout Tennessee, including Fayetteville. "Everywhere you look, UT."

Spread the word! For more information, go to mmctout.com or call our admissions office at 1-800-467-1273. Onward and Upward!

A WORD FROM YOUR

*May your time in Fayetteville be special, and your future visits enrich your traveling experience.
Michael Wisenant, City Mayor*

Established as a city in 1809, Fayetteville has experienced a longstanding sense of pride. Starting in the early 1800's, the historical site known as Camp Blount was instrumental in the establishment of the "Volunteer" spirit that the state of Tennessee has been revered for over the years. Our community is working to make that a destination site for local and outside visitors. A day spent on the town square will entail the opportunity to visit unique locally owned eateries, antique stores, and clothing boutiques. Festivals held at various times during the year include the Slawburger Festival, an antique car show Cruzin', and our famous Host of Christmas Past. People also come from near and far to see our Fabulous Fifties Shows in the Spring that showcases our local musical talent.

The small town atmosphere is built on strong relationships that make Fayetteville a great place to live. May your time in Fayetteville be special, and your future visits enrich your traveling experience.

A WORD FROM YOUR County Mayor

*Whether it's for a day or the rest of your life, Lincoln County will find a place in your heart.
Bill Newman, County Mayor*

I am Bill Newman, the mayor of this wonderful county in southern middle Tennessee. Our county is 570 square miles of southern hospitality, from our viable, attractive and historic downtown square to our scenic countryside, you will be amazed at what Lincoln County has to offer.

We are a very diversified county with agriculture being our largest industry. Lincoln County is one of the top producers of fine cattle in the state. Our agriculture sales include soybeans; corn; hay; wheat; cotton; nursery products; poultry; and vegetables. We are fortunate to be home to manufacturers of bimetallic wire; automotive parts; snack foods; stainless steel kitchen equipment; fiberglass swimming pools; wood pallets; HVA; housing components; and two distilleries that employ our dedicated work force.

The Lincoln County Fair is one of the most decorated and recognized fairs in Tennessee. There is no better place to enjoy the variety of entertainment and displays of agricultural products than our county fair. We are the only county fair in Tennessee that has harness racing.

Education is important to our residents. Lincoln County is home to a college and technology center. Our three school systems (2 public and 1 private Christian) have great traditions of excellence in the classroom and on the playing field.

Lincoln County is the home to numerous historical landmarks. Camp Blount is one of the few historic sites in Tennessee associated with the War of 1812. History is one of our best subjects, right there next to hospitality.

Our town square is a destination for those that love antiques and good food. The Lincoln County Courthouse sits in the middle of the Square and I would like for you to come and visit me. Whether it's for a day or the rest of your life, Lincoln County will find a place in your heart.

Chamber Student Advisory Board

The Chamber Student Advisory Board was formed in 1996 as a way to strengthen the Chamber's relationship with the schools while developing the students' interest, involvement and leadership in their community. The board consists of approximately twenty high school students that meet monthly. The meetings are held every third Thursday of the month. Meetings will deal with group agenda and upcoming events, and will also feature tours and guest speakers who are familiar with different programs in Fayetteville and Lincoln County.

The board members will work on a point system throughout the year. Points for giving back to the community and different activities will be awarded based upon participation. The board member with the most points at the end of the year will be rewarded with a $500 Chamber scholarship.
