Foreclosure. For most, this is a word used to define the process of losing a home due to the failure in paying the mortgage. For some, simply saying the word out loud can accompany deep feelings of angst, anxiety, and humiliation. There's no telling who may be suffering from foreclosure at any given moment.

The middleclass is vanishing. Living paycheck to paycheck is becoming ever more common. What is one to do when foreclosure proceedings are looming to boot? When life becomes all about trying to make that next mortgage payment, it's easy to lose focus and spiral. No matter how you may have gotten to where you are financially, understanding your options may provide you with solutions which could thwart foreclosure all together.

I have a client, we'll call Maria. I purchased Maria's home for cash in Arizona. Maria lived in a nice part of town. Her home is a modest three bedroom, two bath with a two-car garage. There was an open kitchen floorplan paired with a lot of character. Maria's home had vaulted ceilings with sloping entry ways and Spanish tile flooring with a brick fireplace; a noticeably used and loved backyard inground pool. Granted it was an older home, it was probably the best on the block in its time. Maria's house echoed yesterday's beauty while resonating 'real-time potential' to investors like me.

Maria reached out after receiving my "WE BUY HOMES FOR CASH...FAST!" postcard. The system I use for locating potential home selling clients is very specific. I purchase lists utilizing the county public tax record. This allows me to narrow down future customers for a variety of reasons. Maria called me because of one reason and one reason alone. Maria had failed to pay several mortgage payments and it was only a matter of time before the bank repossessed her home. Fortunately for me, Maria was very honest and forthcoming over the phone during our initial conversation. I knew that Maria didn't have long and from our conversation, she didn't have the money to prepare for a listing. I knew that I may be Maria's only hope. With great empathy and honest enthusiasm to assist, I scheduled a time to meet Maria at her home.

During my NO COMMITMENT CASH OFFER consultation, I learned much regarding Maria's current situation. Maria was raising 3 daughters. She adopted her nephew as well. They all lived together with 3 dogs and a few pet birds. Our cheerful conversation turned when we again spoke of the significance of why Maria had called in the first place.

Maria was a widow. Her husband died two years earlier. He worked full time, cared for the maintenance of the home and the vehicles. He made sure the bills were paid and on time. Upon Maria's husband's death, she learned there was no life insurance; only a small social security check which was hardly enough to pay the bills. Maria prioritized her debt, paying the most important bills first. Sadly, Maria's car had been repossessed earlier that year. It was only a matter of time before the house was taken.

Maria was running out of options. She couldn't wait for a listing. I had the cash ready to go. Maria and I signed a purchase agreement, and the rest is history. Foreclosure was around the corner and with my FAIR CASH OFFER, Maria was able to not only pay off her mortgage, she put over $40,000 in her pocket!

I'm certain there are those who would value a home buying service such as mine and now is your chance. To learn more about how to receive a NO COMMITMENT, FAIR CASH OFFER for your house or property FAST, with NO HASSLES, FEES or COMMISSIONS, call the number below or email me personally at nick.christe@betterchoicehomes.com.

My Big O-LOU-mpic Moment!!

Let's briefly consider the ordeal that many Olympic athletes face. Let's say you're a gymnast. You're entered in only one event. You step up to the apparatus, with just ONE chance to perform your routine. Years of training, vitamins, laps and reps and Wheaties-box-poses rehearsed in front of mirrors have all led up to the next 100 or so seconds!

I feel this same tremendous pressure today, as I attempt a feat virtually unheard-of in the world of dopey humor columnists. Today, I will attempt to win over a new fan. Someone who, according to vital intelligence I recently received, thinks I'm a dopey humor columnist, but without the middle adjective.

Now, I realize that there are very few readers out there who feel this way; just about everyone who has read more than a couple of my columns has placed me on a pedestal, sometimes in their minds, but usually an actual pedestal with garlands of flowers surrounding a framed photo of me.

BWA-ha-ha-ha-HA!! Of course there are readers who despise me! I know because a few have told me so.

For example, one of my earliest columns was about watching a folk-rock nostalgia concert on PBS, featuring acts like The Limelites, The Brothers Four, and The New Christy Minstrels. I wrote the following:

"The audience showed its love by singing along. . .EVERY person. . .with EVERY song.

"Imagine being in the midst of this. Your seat probably cost a pretty penny – after all, to help PBS, money is no object. You're ready to cherish live performances by beloved artists that you perhaps, in some cases, thought were dead. You can't wait to hear every mellow acoustic note.

"Then, as The Kingston Trio kicks off the show with 'Where Have All the Flowers Gone,' the couple sitting next to you suddenly starts warbling along! And they can't sing worth a good gosh-darn! Your night of warm nostalgia is doused by the tone-deaf stylings of Stan and Sally Singalong!"

Well, a reader in Michigan immediately sent a disapproving e-mail, comparing me unfavorably to the Al Bundy character from the old "Married with Children" TV show. (The note was signed "Stan S.")

Well, enough reminiscing; it's time to try to win over that aforementioned unenthusiastic reader.

I learned about her from her daughter-in-law, who wrote me that "my mother-in-law reads your column every week and wonders why you still have a column!"

(Let me hastily point out that the daughter-in-law, who we'll call "Jackie," since that's her name, was mainly writing to tell me she liked a column, because it mentioned Cocksackie, New York. Cocksackie! Hahahahaha!!! Always cracks me up!)

I replied to "Jackie" that I hope I someday write a column her mother-in-law likes. And she gave me an idea! Her mother-in-law, who we'll call "Lou," since that's her name, has a birthday coming up! It's an impressive one – her 95th! So, here's to you "Lou"! Happy Birthday to Louuuuu!

(Private note for "Lou": Hope you're not upset I mentioned your age? "Jackie" didn't tell me whether it was okay to share, I just blurted it out! I hope that being the topic of this column is mildly amusing to you! If not, uh, well, ummm, let's see. . .wait, I know! – Cocksackie! Hahahahaha!!!)

Rotary Interact Teens Return to DR After Overcoming Covid Challenges

Local Rotary sponsored Interact Clubs, usually consisting of high school students, have a long-standing relationship with Batey 106 in La Romana, Dominican Republic. A "batey" in the DR is a village or neighborhood. Long focused on providing clean water, housing, and education to the Haitian immigrant children who live in that region, the group had to shift gears in 2020, due to COVID-19.

First some background... Interact Club members started an annual trip to the Dominican Republic, starting in 2015. The work began with installing water filters in small Haitian villages among the sugarcane fields, called Bateyes. The focus has since expanded with a main goal of providing better housing and better education opportunities to the children and families of Batay 106.

When asked about her perspective on the trip, Caroline Tubman, Interact4DR Fundraising Director said "after going to the DR in 2019, coming home was uncomfortable because of the drastic difference in our privileges. I have changed my way of thinking since the trip".

The #Interact4DR effort was created after the 2019 Interact trip to the Dominican Republic. Trip chaperone Casey Tubman and his daughter Caroline, an Interact Club member, were the driving force behind the founding of the initiative with the help of Interact Advisor, Jackie Huie, a former SJ/BH Rotary Club President.

The idea was to sponsor three kids to go to school. In DR, schooling is provided by the government but the kids need supplies, backpacks, books, and a uniform. For junior high and high school age students, they also need transportation. The approximate cost per year is $60 for elementary students and $325 for junior high or high school.

The group quickly found that it was impossible to pick only three kids. By the end of the trip, the conversation had shifted to how they could fundraise to support education for all 125 students. Not wanting to do traditional, small-scale fundraising (lots of events with low dollar amounts raised), they sought out large corporate sponsorships. They were able to secure a large donation early on which allowed the students to start the school year in September 2019. They then reached out to individuals and businesses to get a match for that big initial amount. The target was to raise $40,000 and by the fall, had reached 90% of their goal.

As with many things, the COVID-19 pandemic made a significant impact on the project.

When the pandemic hit, the kids stopped going to school. By not going to school, they also lost access to food. With the donors permission, the Interact funds were diverted to supporting food needs for kids in the Batay.

Interact Club members had ongoing contact with those on-site in the Dominican Republic, evaluating the different ways to support education moving forward. The club ultimately determined that the best way to support was through the purchase of computer tablets and internet hotspots to help facilitate remote learning in this area.

Interact has recently launched a portal on OneCause to best facilitate ongoing fundraising to support Batay106:

www.donate.onecause.com/interact4dr/challenge.

They want to give the children hopes of a better future through an education.

What's next for the Rotary Interact members? The annual trip to the Dominican Republic is set to resume this week. A group of 12 students and 4 chaperones will be traveling on July 31 for 6 days. While there, they will be building a house in Batey 106, shadowing a local doctor in the Batey for basic check-ups. All travelers will be required to provide a negative covid test up to 72 hours prior to departure and again to return to the U.S.

One of the Interact Club travelers this year, Taylor Hartley, is the recipient of the Trevor Kubatzke scholarship. This scholarship was originally created in 2020 but that trip was unfortunately cancelled due to COVID. The scholarship is valued at $1,300 and covers the full cost of the trip. There were several applications submitted for this honor in 2021. Taylor is the current International Director for the Interact Club of St. Joseph High School. The scholarship is funded by Lake Michigan College President Trevor Kubatzke.

In her scholarship application, Taylor shared "going on this trip means a lot to me, not just because of the fulfilling work we do but also because of all the connections I have made." She goes on to say that "not only did it bring me out of my shell, but it gave me a sense of purpose knowing that to someone, I gave them hope for a better future. However, what they don't realize is that they taught me how to view life. Oftentimes when I'd find myself angry or upset with the world, I would just look at how the locals lived, thankful for every day and what it brings them, even if it isn't much. that is something that I will always carry with me and always be thankful for."

Director Wendy Golob tells WSJM News by the time she started, board members had stabilized the organization and gotten a handle on operations. Now things are getting back to normal. We asked if they have enough volunteers.

"We are always looking for people who are willing to come in a socialize the cats, which literally means sitting down and playing with a cat for a half hour, for an hour, and basically just getting them comfortable with being around people," Golob said.

They're also getting training to the shelter's dogs so they're more adoptable. You can make appointments to visit the dogs and can stop by the see the cats. Board member Juli Gast says it was a lot of work for the board to take over operations after little notice, but things look good.

"We are going and blowing, we are healthy, we have a great staff and a great board," Gast said. "It's an honor to be part of this organization."

Board Chair Ron Klemm says he thinks the organization is stronger than he's ever seen it, and it's reaching out to the community.

"There's just a lot of things that have been happening because people want to get involved, and people still need to stay involved because we can't function without the community's support," Klemm said.

Plans are in the works to resume some fundraisers in the coming year, and Golob says the shelter always could use donations of dog and cat food. You can see their wish list at the Humane Society's website. Golob adds their goal is also to have a role in the community helping people take better care of their pets.

Pastor

Rosenbaum

He died for all, that those who live should no longer live for themselves but for him who died for them and was raised again.

2 Corinthians 5:15

The Twilight Zone was a TV series in the early 1960s. Episodes typically included elements of science fiction or the supernatural. Almost every story ended with a twist in the plot. Many consider it one of the best-written TV shows of all time.

One particular episode featured a hardened criminal who had died but woke up in a pleasant place. A congenial host welcomed him and invited him to enjoy what he knew to be some of the criminal's favorite amusements—playing cards, playing pool, etc. At first, the criminal had a marvelous time, for he discovered that he won every game he played. Over time, however, the novelty wore off. More time passed. The irritation of always winning had now turned into drudgery. More time passed. Finally, the criminal cried out in misery, "I wish I hadn't gone to heaven. I wish I were in hell." In reply, the congenial host laughed a terrible laugh and said, "You are."

From the Bible, we know that hell is far, far worse than simple boredom. The criminal's misery, however, highlights a real curse—the curse of an empty, meaningless life that has no other purpose than to revolve around me.

That's the evil genius of sin, of course—your sin and mine. My sinful self makes a compelling case that the purpose of my life is the fulfillment of my pleasures, my dreams, my comforts, my priorities. All that creates, however, is a vacant, lonely, pointless life. My life has meaning only in connection with the God who made me. Absent that, nothing matters.

And that's why Jesus came. As my substitute, God the Son lived a life of perfect trust in his heavenly Father's will. As my substitute, God the Son went to the cross and washed away all my sins of self-absorption. Now, as the risen and ascended Christ, he sends me his Holy Spirit through his gospel, joining me to God through faith in his Son. The curse of my self-absorbed life is over.

Prayer: Lord Jesus, you have rescued me from the loneliness of self. Fill me with the joy of living for you. Amen.

Dave Says

Does my mom need long-term care insurance?

That's why, in most cases, it doesn't make sense to get long-term care insurance earlier than age 60.

Insurance isn't a one-size-fits-all kind of thing, though. If someone has a family history of illness or other health issues at a younger age, they may need to get long-term care insurance earlier. But you shouldn't buy long-term care coverage at a young age just because you're paranoid of what might happen, or because you think you'll save money. That's just not true.

In the event your mom becomes unable to take care of herself at some point, long-term care insurance would be an absolute necessity. The cost of nursing home care these days is astronomical. Again, your mom is in a great place financially, but a prolonged stay in a nursing home somewhere down the road could eat up her nest egg in a hurry.

Long-term care insurance is a wise part of any good asset management plan.

—Dave

Dear Dave,

My dad passed away about a year ago, but he left my mom in really good shape financially. They never had any consumer debt, the house is paid for, and they had about $1 million in assets. Dad also left her a $500,000 trust. Mom is going to be 60 next year. She is in good health, but considering her age and financial situation, do you think she needs long-term care insurance?

Darby

Dear Darby,

I'm so sorry to hear about your dad. Losing a spouse, or a father, is tough at any age. The good news is your dad did a great job of planning to take care of your mom. He left her in fine shape money-wise, but yes, she needs long term care insurance and a good estate planner. You need to help your mom do everything possible to handle her situation wisely.

I usually suggest folks wait until age 60 to buy long-term care insurance, because the likelihood of filing a claim before then is very slim. In fact, about 95% of long-term care claims are filed for people over 70.

Junior Achievement of Berrien & Cass Counties Announce Tapas on the Green Event

Junior Achievement (JA) serving Berrien and Cass Counties invites you and your friends to attend Tapas on the Green, an evening out to support local youth education in financial literacy, entrepreneurship, and career readiness. JA in partnership with Orchard Hills Country Club will host this fun-filled event full of food and spirit tastings from area restaurants, breweries, wineries, and cideries. Attendees will move around the course by golf cart to visit the vendors and have fun activities along the way, including magician Steve Vaught! Businesses and community members may purchase tickets at www.event.ontaptickets.com/events/tapas-on-the-green-8-7-2021. Ticket prices include a golf cart to move around the venue (while supplies last), an after-hours event from 8-11 at the clubhouse for live music by "Hey Annie", and a cash bar. Door prizes including membership to Orchard Hills Country Club will be announced during the after-hours event. (Must be present to win.)

Junior Achievement has always been about empowering youth to own their future economic success. It also connects students to area volunteers from our business community to create mentorship opportunities. These mentors share their life-experiences to inspire the next generation to turn their own "big ideas" into profitable realities. Students complete the programs feeling motivated to explore their interests and develop a plan for their futures armed with the tools needed to achieve prosperity.

This past year has inspired us to add new programs to our traditional methods to increase access for students and to meet them wherever they are. These programs are provided at no cost to students or educators due to generous area partners, grants, and fundraising events. Please contact Linda Tinsley at linda.tinsley@ja.org for further information on how you too can become a JA Ambassador.

JA would like to thank the AEP Foundation, Eagle Technologies, Mid-West Family Southwest Michigan, 98.3 The Coast, 97.5 Y-Country, and United Federal Credit Union as the presenting sponsors for this event.

About Junior Achievement

Junior Achievement (JA) is the world's largest organization dedicated to educating students in grades K-12 about entrepreneurship, work readiness and financial literacy. Locally, JA service approximately 4,200 students through experiential, hands-on programs offered via in-person, virtual, and blended-learning program delivery.
