The TEXAS AGGIES

The Texas A&M Aggies football program represents Texas A&M University in the sport of American football. The Aggies compete in the Football Bowl Subdivision of the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) and the Western Division of the Southeastern Conference. Texas A&M football claims three national titles and 18 conference titles. The team plays all home games at the newly redeveloped Kyle Field, a 102,733-person capacity outdoor stadium on the university campus. Jimbo Fisher is the team's head coach.

COACHES FROM THE PAST -

Homer Norton era (1934–1947), Harry Stiteler era (1948–1950), Raymond George era (1951–1953), Bear Bryant era (1954–1957) Jim Myers era (1958–1961), Hank Foldberg era (1962–1964), Gene Stallings era (1965–1971), Emory Bellard era (1972–1978) Tom Wilson era (1978–1981), Jackie Sherrill era (1982–1988), R. C. Slocum era (1989–2002), Dennis Franchione era (2003–2007)

Early history (1894–1933)

1901 Aggies players

Texas A&M first fielded a football team in 1894, under the direction of head coach F. Dudley Perkins. The team compiled a 1–1 record. W. A. Murray served as A&M's head coach from 1899 to 1901, compiling a record of 7–8–1. From 1902 to 1904, J. E. Platt served as A&M's head coach, his teams compiling a record of 18–5–3. From 1909 to 1914, A&M compiled a 38–8–4 record under head coach Charley Moran.[ Moran's 1909 team finished undefeated, and all but one of Moran's other seasons the Aggies only lost one game each year. Under head coach Edwin Harlan, the Aggies compiled a record of 12–5 in two seasons and joined the Southwest Conference.

Jimbo Fisher current coach. (2018–present)

On December 4, 2017, Florida State head coach Jimbo Fisher was formally introduced as the Aggies head coach. A splashy hire, Fisher arrived in College Station after a very successful eight-year run at FSU, leading the Seminoles to three Atlantic Coast Conference championships, six ten-win seasons, the 2013 national championship and coached Heisman Trophy winning quarterback Jameis Winston. A&M signed Fisher to a 10-year contract worth a total base salary of $75 million, the most lucrative contract in terms of guaranteed money signed by a newly hired head coach in college football history.

During his first season, Fisher led the Aggies to an 8–4 record. The season included a notable seven-overtime victory over then-No. 7 LSU. The combined 146 points scored during the game broke the NCAA FBS record for the most points scored in a game, the most points scored in a losing effort (72 by LSU), and tied the record for the most overtimes along with multiple school records for both sides.

National championships

Texas A&M has been selected national champions in three seasons from NCAA-designated major selectors.:111–112 Texas A&M claims all three championships.:45–47

The 1919 team finished 10–0–0 and was not scored upon, earning a retroactive national title by ten selectors, including the Billingsley Report and National Championship Foundation. Other systems retroactively award the 1919 National Championship to either Notre Dame or Harvard. The 1927 team finished 8–0–1, with a tie against TCU in Fort Worth, Texas, earning a retroactive national title awarded by the Sagarin Rating and the Sagarin ELO-Chess. In 1939, the undefeated Aggies were voted No. 1 by the AP Poll shortly after its inception along with No. 1 in 8 of the 12 other major polls, after the 1939 season.

Conference championships

The Aggies have won 18 conference championships; The first 17 were Southwest Conference championships, and the most recent was the Big 12 Championships won in 1998

Bowl games

Texas A&M has participated in 42 bowl games. The Aggies have a bowl record of 20–22 . During their 81 years in the Southwest Conference, the Aggies went 12–10 in bowl games, winning their AP National Championship in 1939. During their 16 years in the Big 12 Conference, the Aggies went 2–9 in bowl games. Since joining the Southeastern Conference in 2012, the Aggies have gone 6–3 in bowl games.

In the years since 1889, several organizations and publications have recognized the top players in the nation by naming them to All-America teams. To be considered an All-American, a player needs to be named to the first-team on at least one of the lists of these organizations. In addition, the NCAA further recognizes certain players by honoring them with the "Consensus" All-American title. At present, the Consensus honor is determined by referencing the first, second, and third teams of five organizations and assigning a varying number of points for each time a player appears on one of those five lists. The points are totaled and the player with the most points at his position is awarded the Consensus honor. The five organizations whose lists are used for the Consensus determination are the Associated Press (AP),[157] American Football Coaches Association (AFCA), Football Writers Association of America (FWAA), Sporting News (TSN), and Walter Camp Football Foundation (WCFF). Finally, a player can be recognized with the "Unanimous Consensus" honor if all five of the previously listed organizations have recognized that player as a First-Team All-American. Texas A&M has had 53 players that have been named First-Team All-Americans for a total of 72 seasons (19 players have been honored in two different seasons). 30 of those were Consensus All-Americans. Texas A&M has had 27 All-Americans on Offense, 34 All-Americans on Defense, and 11 All-Americans on Special Teams.

The Wall That Heals Tribute To The Military Of Vietnam War Era. Coming To Sulphur Springs!

The Wall That Heals is a traveling tribute to the US military of the Vietnam War era. It is a life-size mobile replica of the Vietnam Veterans Wall located in Washington DC. The Wall That Heals will be coming to Sulphur Springs in Autumn 2021, on display from November 4-7 and available for everyone to view free of charge. Will you plan to visit The Wall That Heals during this 50th anniversary tour? In addition to The Wall That Heals, there will be a mobile education center accompanying it, also free to all visitors. The display will be set up on the SSSH track. Also, many volunteers will be needed during the visit, as Sulphur Springs expects hundreds if not thousands of visitors. Visit The Wall That Heals Facebook page for more details.

★ PATRIOT DAY ★
WE WILL NEVER FORGET

Patriot Day is a United States national observance that honors the memory of those who were killed in the September 11 attacks. It was first observed in 2002, after the proclamation by President George W. Bush.

On September 11, 2001 al-Qaeda launched a series of coordinated terrorist attacks upon the United States, killing almost 3,000 people. In the immediate aftermath of the tragic events, President proclaimed September 14, 2001 as a National Day of Prayer and Remembrance for the Victims of the Terrorist Attacks on September 11, 2001. A year later, September 11 was made a national day of mourning referred to as Patriot Day. This observance has been proclaimed annually since 2002.

A moment of silence is traditionally observed at 8:46 AM. Many organizations and establishments hold memorial ceremonies to honor the victims of 9/11.

Tumbleweed Smith

KILGORE'S MUSEUM OF BROADCASTING

Tumbleweed Smith

When some cub scouts toured Chuck Conrad's radio station in Kilgore, Chuck showed them some equipment that dated back to the days when telephones were rare. One youngster asked a question: "If they didn't have phones, how did they get on the internet?" Chuck realized that these kids needed to learn about the early days of broadcasting and how it works today. Soon after that visit by the cub scouts, Chuck opened The Texas Museum of Broadcasting and Communications.

"We have a working TV news set," says Chuck. "We have a working radio studio so you can cue up a record or play a tape cartridge if you like. There's a lot of interactive things and our equipment works."

Chuck knows about equipment. Before he branched out into broadcasting fulltime he had a huge sound equipment company that provided public address systems for large gatherings. One popular item in the museum is a TV news bus.

"As far as I know it is the oldest fully restored television mobile news unit anywhere. I know of a couple of others that are roughly the same age but they are not restored."

TV sets play some popular old shows.

"We have Howdy Doody on one of them. Johnny Carson is on another. We've got Dick Clark's American Bandstand and the camera that was used on the Lawrence Welk Show. It's kind of ironic that the first Champagne Lady on the Lawrence Welk show was from Kilgore. It's really weird how a lot of this stuff intertwines."

The museum building has 17,000 square feet and visitors are impressed with what's in it.

"I don't think we've ever had a negative comment about it. Everybody is pretty well blown away by it. The usual comment is 'I didn't know it was this big.' More than once I've heard visitors tell me 'you know I didn't think I was going to like this but I had a really good time.'"

One item that history buffs find fascinating is a World War Two Hitler radio.

"If you were living in one of Hitler's territories and you had a radio that was capable of picking up the BBC or Voice of America you stood a real good chance of getting shot. You were supposed to buy one of these special radios that would only pick up Hitler's radio stations."

Broadcasters are always donating equipment so a second building with 8,000 square feet has opened. Some equipment is from a long time ago. Once an old broadcaster went to see the museum. He told Chuck, "I'm actually in a place where I know how to run some of this stuff." A lot of broadcasters who are familiar with the old consoles and turntables go to the museum to reminisce.

COVID-19 Vaccines

Information from CDC-Centers for Disease Control and Prevention

Cost of Vaccines

Fast, Easy, Free, and Nearby COVID-19 Vaccination

The federal government is providing the vaccine free of charge to all people living in the United States, regardless of their immigration or health insurance status.

COVID-19 Vaccines Are Free

Effectiveness--What we know

COVID-19 vaccines are effective at protecting you from COVID-19, especially severe illness and death. COVID-19 vaccines reduce the risk of people spreading the virus that causes COVID-19. If you are fully vaccinated, you can resume activities that you did before the pandemic. Learn more about what you can do when you have been fully vaccinated.

Studies show that COVID-19 vaccines are effective at keeping you from getting COVID-19. Getting a COVID-19 vaccine will also help keep you from getting seriously ill even if you do get COVID-19. Learn more about the benefits of getting vaccinated.

COVID-19 vaccines teach our immune systems how to recognize and fight the virus that causes COVID-19. It typically takes 2 weeks after vaccination for the body to build protection (immunity) against the virus that causes COVID-19. That means it is possible a person could still get COVID-19 before or just after vaccination and then get sick because the vaccine did not have enough time to build protection. People are considered fully vaccinated 2 weeks after their second dose of the Pfizer-BioNTech or Moderna COVID-19 vaccines, or 2 weeks after the single-dose Johnson & Johnson's Janssen COVID-19 vaccine.

People with moderately to severely compromised immune systems should receive an additional dose of mRNA COVID-19 vaccine after the initial 2 doses.

What we are still learning

We are still learning how well COVID-19 vaccines protect people with weakened immune systems, including people who take medicines that suppress the immune system. We're also still learning how long COVID-19 vaccines protect people.

If you have a medical condition or are taking medicines that weaken your immune system, you should talk to your healthcare provider. You may need to keep taking all precautions to prevent COVID-19 disease.

Safety-What we know

COVID-19 vaccines are safe and effective. Vaccines cannot give you COVID-19. You may have side effects after vaccination. These are normal and should go away in a few days.

Millions of people in the United States have received COVID-19 vaccines, and these vaccines have undergone the most intensive safety monitoring in U.S. history. This monitoring includes using both established and new safety monitoring systems to make sure that COVID-19 vaccines are safe. COVID-19 vaccines cannot give you COVID-19. Learn more to bust myths and learn the facts about COVID-19 vaccines.

CDC has developed a new tool, v-safe, to help us quickly find any safety issues with COVID-19 vaccines. V-safe is a smartphone-based, after-vaccination health checker for people who receive COVID-19 vaccines. Learn how the federal government is working to ensure the safety of COVID-19 vaccines.

You may have side effects after vaccination, but these are normal

After COVID-19 vaccination, you may have some side effects. These are normal signs that your body is building protection. The side effects from COVID-19 vaccination, such as tiredness, headache, or chills, may affect your ability to do daily activities, but they should go away in a few days. Learn more about what to expect after getting vaccinated.

Population Immunity-What we know

Population immunity, also known as herd immunity or community immunity, means that enough people in a community are protected from getting a disease because they've already had the disease or because they've been vaccinated.

Population immunity makes it hard for a disease to spread from person to person. It even protects those who cannot be vaccinated, like newborns or people who are allergic to a vaccine. The percentage of people who need to have protection to achieve population immunity varies by disease.
