Wallace State Steps Up To Ease Commercial Driver Shortage; Informational Meeting Planned

A nationwide shortage of long-haul truck drivers is hitting home for trucking company owners. To help address the problem, Wallace State College "made a decision to increase the number of trucks and instructors and to build a training lot in order to accommodate a large number of students," said Melinda Edwards, Dean of Institutional Outreach. Speaking of a new large training lot, she said, "there is a critical shortage and we expect to be able to assist with training for many years to come. The lot needed to be durable so we constructed it with concrete and equipped it with lights for evening training," said Edwards.

In order to expand offerings, Wallace State is introducing a new evening/weekend program for those who work other jobs during the normal work week. Edwards said the college is also seeking contracts with companies seeking a training partner.

"Most all our motor carrier members are looking for drivers," said Tim Frazier, Director of Safety and Member Services of the Alabama Trucking Association. "A lot of our fleets have as many as 10 percent of their trucks open, and parked trucks don't generate revenue."

Truck driving can be high-paying field. For tractor-trailer drivers, the median pay — meaning half made more and half made less — was $38,200 in 2012, according to the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics. Frazier said, "drivers that are willing to work and conduct themselves in a professional manner have the opportunity today to earn quality pay. We see many of the reputable companies with the opportunity for drivers to earn $50-$70,000 dollars annually. There are specialized operations that actually can exceed these numbers." The median starting salary for graduates of Wallace State Community College's truck-driving program is $19.87 an hour — more than $41,000 a year, said Ben Matanane, CDL Instructor.

Wallace State's CDL program is four weeks for those who attend during the day, or six weeks for those who attend on nights and weekends. "The state picks up the cost for jobless people looking to get back into the workforce through WIA funding made available through the Alabama Career Center in Cullman. There are loans available through banks if a student qualifies and some local trucking companies are willing to pay for tuition for students who cannot afford it," said Edwards.

"Most of those in the program are between the ages of 35 and 55 and have lost their job or want to change careers. More than 90 percent are men. We are also interested in veterans and women who want to pursue this field as a career," said Matanane.

A free informational session is planned on Wednesday, February 24 at 1 p.m. on the 2nd floor of the Bailey Center at Wallace State. All interested in hearing about funding to pay for tuition for the CDL program and job opportunities as well as the day and evening/weekend program are invited to attend.

The U.S. Food and Drug Administration has approved Addyi (flibanserin) to treat acquired, generalized hypoactive sexual desire disorder (HSDD) in premenopausal women. Prior to Addyi's approval, there were no FDA-approved treatments for sexual desire disorders in men or women. HSDD is characterized by low sexual desire that causes marked distress or interpersonal difficulty and is not due to a co-existing medical or psychiatric condition, problems within the relationship, or the effects of a medication or other drug substance. HSDD is acquired when it develops in a patient who previously had no problems with sexual desire. HSDD is generalized when it occurs regardless of the type of sexual activity, the situation or the sexual partner. Addyi can cause severely low blood pressure (hypotension) and loss of consciousness (syncope). these risks are increased and more severe when patients drink alcohol or take Addyi with certain medicines (known as moderate or strong CYP3A4 inhibitors) that interfere with the breakdown of Addyi in the body. Because of the alcohol interaction, the use of alcohol is contraindicated while taking Addyi.

In a recent study published in The Journal of Allergy and Clinical Immunology: In Practice, researchers studied over 500 adults who suffer from allergies. The participants were divided into five groups, four of which were assigned doses of phenylephrine, a common decongestant drug ranging from 10 to 40 mg. The fifth group was given a placebo. After a week of observation, researchers found that none of the participants taking phenylephrine - even those taking the higher doses of the drug-fared any better than those taking the placebo.

Cullman Fiber Workshop

Weave On A Frame Loom

Peinhardt Living History Farm

1711 Talleyho Street

February 27, Arrive 9:30 a.m.

Cost: $15, includes loom and supplies

Weave a purse / weave a placemat on a portable frame loom. Supplies included that you get to take home with you are a frame loom with shuttle and shed. We will be using guild yarn as the warp and 1" Fabric Strips as the weft (the part you weave back and forth with.) Bring your own fabric strips (about 2 yards) or buy at the workshop for $5. For vibrant colors of your choice bringing your own fabric is best.

This workshop will teach you how to warp and weave on a frame loom. We want you to be able to do more when you get home. You will own a new loom and have the knowledge to use it by the end of the workshop.

Charlotte Cummings Memorial Sneaker Collection Exhibit Continues at Burrow Museum

Now through March 15, visitors to The Evelyn Burrow Museum on the campus of Wallace State Community College will be able to see the most complete collection of sneakers on exhibit in the Eastern United States.

Robin Cummings, in debuting the Charlotte Cummings Memorial Sneaker Collection, said this is "a dream come true." The Cummings' collection includes 536 pairs of sneakers, 430 of which will be on display at the exhibit.

"We have 12 complete sets of original Air Jordan shoes. We have complete collections of all colorways of the 7's, 10's, 11's (except 1), 15's (except 1) and 29's. Our collection includes selected Kobe, KD and Lebron releases. We also have memorabilia displays of Michael Jordan, Charles Barkley, Bo Jackson, The Birmingham Barons and Andre Agassi. The memorabilia includes game worn and signed shoes and game issued jersey (signed) and pants by Michael Jordan as well as a game worn jersey by Barkley. The exhibit will also include close to 50 original framed Nike posters and much more," Cummings said.

Charlotte Cummings, Robin's late wife, ran the family sporting goods store. In the mid-eighties when Nike first released the original Air Jordan, Charlotte began setting aside pairs for safe-keeping. "Just wait," she said, "Michael Jordan is something special." Cummings began adding to the collection nearly two years ago, and at the age of 69 has garnered widespread attention on Instagram <https://www.instagram.com/charlottes23jays/> where sneaker-culture has taken on a life of its own. This is a story that has so many layers, and is rooted in the vision of a great woman. It is truly a time capsule into the time in sports history just at the beginning of sporting-goods becoming a part of American culture.

Robert E. (Ed) Hines

We would like to thank everyone for their prayers, thoughts, words of kindness, cards and food that was given to our family during the loss of our loved one Robert E. (Ed) Hines.

Special thanks to Comfort Care Hospice of Cullman for the kind and gentle care they gave during Mr. Hines' lengthy illness. They went above and beyond with their care for our entire family. Also Hanceville Funeral Home for taking care of all our needs.

The Almighty Holy Father Elohim gave Moses Righteous Words (precept of righteousness), for His Children to live accordingly (pentateuch)! The Messiah said He did not come to destroy the law or the prophets (see Mt 5:17-19) and if you cannot believe or hear Moses (see Jn 5:46-47) and who do not hear the prophet will be destroyed (Acts 3:23)! Most so called Christian churches preach salvation is through the name of Jesus and grace of The Holy Father, without teaching the law of morality! Authenticity of these churches that call Christ Lord yet do not obey Him are not proven! Even The Holy Bible and history do not agree with them! Christians were the disciples, to whom Christ gave Holy power! So Be It!

We have HUNDREDS of non-advertised items marked down throughout our entire store. More savings passed on to our customers. Just look for blue tags on the shelves.

NO LIMITS:
Our competitors also have advertised specials. The difference is, in most cases, they have a limit on how many of an item you can buy at the sale price...we don't have any limits to family shoppers.
